PROCEEDINGS AND DEBATES OF THE 105th CONGRESS, SECOND SESSION

Vol. 144

WASHINGTON, WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 23, 1998

No. 128

House of Representatives

The House met at 2 p.m.

The Reverend Dr. Warren Blakeman, St. Paul's United Methodist Church, Monroe, Louisiana, offered the following prayer:

Creator God, You have given us the precious gift of life. Between our birth and our death, we make many choices. Those who gather here make choices that affect billions beyond our shores, millions across this land, thousands in our districts and communities, and individuals within families.

We are awed when we think that these responsibilities placed upon us affect not only this time and these peoples, but also generations to come. So, humbly, we ask for Your guidance. In our choices, may truth always be combined with love, love with courage, and courage with justice and mercy. Again, we ask for Your guidance. Amen.

THE JOURNAL

The SPEAKER. The Chair has examined the Journal of the last day's proceedings and announces to the House his approval thereof.

Pursuant to clause 1, rule I, the Journal stands approved.

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. TRAFICANT) come forward and lead the House in the Pledge of Allegiance.

Mr. TRAFICANT led the Pledge of Allegiance as follows:

I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America, and to the Republic for which it stands, one nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

MESSAGE FROM THE SENATE

A message from the Senate by Mr. Lundregan, one of its clerks, announced that the Senate had passed without amendment a concurrent resolution of the House of the following title:

H. Con. Res. 326. Concurrent resolution permitting the use of the rotunda of the Capitol on September 23, 1998, for the presentation of the Congressional Gold Medal to Nelson Rolihlahla Mandela.

The message also announced that the Senate had passed a bill of the following title, in which the concurrence of the House is requested:

S. 1397. An act to establish a commission to assist in commemoration of the centennial of powered flight and the achievements of the Wright brothers.

THE HEAVY HAND OF BIG GOVERNMENT

(Mr. NORWOOD asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. NORWOOD. Mr. Speaker, first, it was the IRS. Now, if we can believe it, it is the United States Army Corps of Engineers: You are guilty until you prove yourself innocent.

When my constituent, Pamela Ham, thought the worst was over after surviving a deadly tornado on Lake Thurman last May, the Corps reared its ugly head. Even though 4 months passed since this tornado, the Corps, as managers of this lake and the surrounding lands, still had not cleaned up the public property between the lake and Mrs. Ham's house, so Mrs. Ham cleaned the property herself, with her hands.

The Corps did not like this. They retaliated, Mr. Speaker, by revoking Mrs. Ham's dock permit. They didn't even ask for an explanation; they just lowered the boom, the big, heavy hand of big government, on my constituent.

I am tired of the Corps of Engineers bullying my constituents along the Savannah River, and I am putting them on alert. Stay tuned.

CONGRESS DOES NOT NEED FAST TRACK

(Mr. TRAFICANT asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. TRAFICANT. America has a $60 million trade deficit with Japan, $50 billion with China, a $24 billion deficit with Canada, $20 plus billion with Mexico. The bleeding goes on and on, good-paying jobs lost by the thousands every week, every month.

After all this, Congress wants more fast track trade programs. Unbelievable. Congress does not need fast track; Congress needs a swift kick. What is next, our sons and daughters applying for a job in Mexico? Beam me up. Free trade, my ascot. This is a free ride for people overseas being paid for by American workers who are being retrained. Think about it.

URGING MEMBERS TO SUPPORT THE 90-10 PLAN TO PRESERVE SOCIAL SECURITY AND PROVIDE A TAX CUT

(Mr. JONES asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. JONES. Mr. Speaker, today Americans spend more money on taxes than on food, clothing, and shelter combined. That is an average tax burden of 38 percent. This Congress has introduced a plan to provide hard-working Americans some well-deserved relief. The 90-10 plan would set aside 90 percent of the 10-year, $1.6 trillion budget surplus to preserve Social Security, and would use the remaining 10 percent, or $80 billion, to cut taxes for middle-income Americans.

Under the plan, the marriage penalty and death taxes will be reduced, and tax relief will be available for education, child care, and military personnel who sell their homes. The 90/10 plan offers Americans what they have been asking for, tax relief now and saving Social Security for the future. I hope my colleagues will join us in supporting the 90-10 plan.

WHAT ARE THE CHILDREN IN AMERICA LEARNING TODAY ABOUT TRUTH?

(Mr. PITTS asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. PITTS. Mr. Speaker, there is a famous story told of George Washington when he was but a young boy. Every schoolchild in America is taught this story. It is the story of how, even as a young boy, Washington was a person of honor. When he was asked by his father if he had cut down his father's favorite cherry tree, he responded, I cannot tell a lie, father. I did chop down the cherry tree.

How forthright. You cannot get any more honest than that. Yet, with the rationalization being promoted by many in the media today, Washington could have responded like this and gotten away with it: "Well, father, I did not technically cut down the cherry tree, only the hatchet made contact with the tree. I did not touch the tree. I stand by my story and what I believe the meaning of the word 'cut' is."

How things have changed in America. What are the children in America learning today?

REPUBLICANS AND DEMOCRATS HAVE DIFFERENT VISIONS FOR WORKING AMERICANS

(Mr. GIBBONS asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. GIBBONS. Mr. Speaker, most Democrats think they are thinking, but in reality, they are merely reorganizing and rearranging their own prejudices.

For example, when it comes to working Americans, Republicans and Democrats have major differences in their visions. Democrats believe it is fair for the government to take up to one-half of a family's income to pay for big government. Republicans do not.

Democrats believe it is fair that average Americans have to work until mid-May just to pay their taxes. Republicans do not.

Democrats believe they are doing us a favor by giving us tax breaks. Republicans believe that a tax break is not giving us anything, it is merely allowing us to keep what is already ours.

Democrats believe America is undertaxed. Republicans believe America is overtaxed. The fact is, Democrats talk as if it is their money. Republicans believe that the money belongs to those people who earned it, not the politicians, not the Federal Government or Washington bureaucrats.

Mr. Speaker, it is time that thinking Democrats stop favoring bureaucracy and start giving workers a tax break.

LET'S MAKE A DEAL

(Mr. STEARNS asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. STEARNS. Mr. Speaker, the White House today is sending signals that it would like to broker some type of deal in order to avoid a full inquiry via the impeachment process. But Mr. Speaker, Congress cannot shirk from its duty. We are obliged to have a full and open debate on the merits of whether or not we should go forward with a formal inquiry on impeachment.

Let us not be unduly influenced by watching poll numbers. As the gentleman from Illinois (Chairman HENRY HYDE) has said, "Poll-taking is an art, not a science." The Framers of the Constitution knew this would not be an easy or pleasant task, but they did make provisions for such a possibility. We must remember, this is a Nation of laws, not daily opinion polls. Whether or not perjury was committed will be determined in due course, not by opinion polls, but as prescribed under the Constitution.

SAVE SOCIAL SECURITY, CUT TAXES

(Mr. KNOLLENBERG asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. KNOLLENBERG. Mr. Speaker, the Federal Government should honor the institution of marriage, not penalize it by imposing higher taxes on married couples. I urge my colleagues to support the 90-10 proposal of the gentleman from Texas (Chairman ARCHER). The bill sets aside 90 percent of the budget surplus to save Social Security, and returns the additional 10 percent to hard-working taxpayers.

The centerpiece of the tax cut of the gentleman from Texas (Chairman ARCHER) injects some fairness into the tax code, and strengthens families by providing some much-needed relief from the marriage penalty. It mirrors a provision that I introduced in a 1997 tax cut initiative. The marriage penalty is unfair, and no one should have to pay it.

Mr. Speaker, with 77 million babyboomers nearing retirement age and taxes at an all-time high, we must reject the calls for new spending emanating from the other side. We have an historic opportunity to secure the future of Social Security and provide the American people with the additional tax relief they deserve. Let us seize it now.

NO AMERICAN IS ABOVE THE LAW

(Mr. HAYWORTH asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. HAYWORTH. Mr. Speaker, I would commend to my colleagues and the citizens of this Nation the lead article in today's edition of The Hill entitled "Clinton asks Dole for help on Hill."

The reason I do this, Mr. Speaker, is apparently there is a misconception being propagated by some here in Washington. Some here in Washington have confused their occupancy of a certain office with the institution itself. Let us reaffirm at this time, in this place, that the offices we hold are a reflection of public trust, and our presence in those offices does not reflect the institution one way or the other.

Indeed, Mr. Speaker, let us reaffirm at this place, in this time, that no American is above the law, no matter what office they may hold.

IMPLORING FEMA TO BEGIN PREPARATIONS TO RESPOND TO HURRICANE GEORGES

(Ms. ROS-LEHTINEN asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Ms. ROS-LEHTINEN. Mr. Speaker, my community of south Florida is tensely gripping for a possible strike to the region from the dangerous Hurricane Georges, which has already caused great devastation in the neighboring islands of the Caribbean, including my native homeland of Cuba, which is bracing for the worst.

Those of us from south Florida still remember the nightmare of Hurricane Andrew that only 5 years ago fiercely destroyed our way of life, and from which many areas in south Florida are yet to fully recover.

I implore the Federal Emergency Management Agency, FEMA, to begin preparations to assure a swift response to this natural disaster in the event that it does make landfall in south Florida. FEMA's assistance is critical to both protect our citizens during this hurricane or fierce storm, and to help the residents of the region in the aftermath of the natural phenomenon in an expeditious manner without much red tape.

My colleagues from south Florida and I are ready to provide FEMA with any assistance on preparations to confront Hurricane Georges.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. UPTON). Pursuant to the provisions of clause 5 of rule I, the Chair announces that he will postpone further proceedings today on each motion to suspend the rules on which a recorded vote or the yeas and nays are ordered, or on which the vote is objected to under clause 4 of rule XV.

Such roll call votes, if postponed, will be taken after debate has concluded on all motions to suspend the rules, but not before 5 p.m. today.

TAX CUTS TODAY, BUT AMERICAN WORKERS WILL PAY TOMORROW

(Mr. MENENDEZ asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. MENENDEZ. Mr. Speaker, all across America, parents use the tool of allowance to teach their children the value of money, that they have to pay for what they get. If they do not have the savings, they do not buy the goods.

But over and over, Republicans ignore that basic lesson. They want to get it now and pay later. They want to get tax cuts now and pay for them later.

Mr. Speaker, make no mistake. Someone is going to pay for it. Who? America's working families who are paying into Social Security for those benefits today and for their retirement tomorrow. They will pay for it by forking over even more in payroll taxes. They will pay for it by having to retire later. They will pay for it in reduced Social Security benefits.

Democrats want to prevent this from happening tomorrow by being responsible today, and we have an opportunity to save Social Security, and we seek to seize it.

Republicans want to get political credits for tax cuts today that America's working families will pay for tomorrow, and that, to me, is the very definition of irresponsible government.

PASSENGER VESSEL ACT

(Mr. SMITH of Michigan asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. SMITH of Michigan. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to discuss the domestic deep-sea passenger cruise industry, or better, the lack of it in the United States.

Currently, there is only one ocean-going cruise ship left in the entire U.S. flag fleet. That means that millions of dollars of American tourist money which are spent on cruises each year are going to our foreign competitors.

The reason there are no cruise ships in our domestic fleet is because of an archaic protectionist law known as the Passenger Services Act. The legislation was passed before the turn of the century and requires all cruise ships in the domestic service to be built in the United States.

U.S. shipyards, however, have no interest in building these types of ships and are not competitive on the international market. In fact, the last one built in this country was the U.S.S. Independence in 1956.

Things have gotten so bad that when Disney Corp. solicited over $1 billion in contracts to build cruise ships in this country, not a single U.S. shipyard even bid on the project. Now those ships are being built in Italy, but they will be legally barred from servicing the domestic cruise market because of the Passenger Services Act.

Mr. Speaker, this act no longer serves the interests of this country. It stifles maritime job creation and does nothing to promote domestic shipbuilding. Instead, it gives away the cruise market to our foreign competitors, whose customers are mostly Americans.

To fix this problem I am introducing legislation today that will stimulate increased domestic cruise ship opportunities for the American cruising public. My legislation will allow three foreign-built cruise ships to participate in the U.S. domestic cruising market. These cruising vessels must still hire an American crew, pay U.S. taxes, and obey all U.S. environmental, labor, and safety regulations.

Senator MCCAIN has introduced the companion bill, S. 2507, and he expects the Senate Commerce Committee to take action on the bill this session.

This legislation is absolutely necessary to help create a U.S. domestic ocean-going cruise industry and I would call upon my colleagues to support this bill.

TAX RELIEF

(Mr. SAM JOHNSON of Texas asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. SAM JOHNSON of Texas. Mr. Speaker, I think a lot of people forget who is paying the taxes. It is the American citizens. For too long, the Federal Government has increased taxes on our families, our seniors, our farmers and our businesses. The Taxpayer Relief Act returns $80 billion to its rightful owners, the American people, and sets aside $1.4 trillion to protect Social Security. That is 90 percent of the total surplus.

President Clinton calls this, "a gimmick to please people." Mr. Speaker, I urge Americans, do not believe him. The President has already proposed spending billions from the surplus on bigger government. He is the one with the gimmicks. President Clinton keeps forgetting the surplus belongs to the taxpayers of America.

We can protect Social Security and give tax relief. Let us do it.

MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

A message in writing from the President of the United States was communicated to the House by Mr. Sherman Williams, one of his secretaries.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Maryland (Mr. GILCHREST) and the gentleman from California (Mr. MILLER) each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Maryland (Mr. GILCHREST).

Mr. GILCHREST. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

(Mr. GILCHREST asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. GILCHREST. Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of H.R. 1481, the Great Lakes Fish and Wildlife Restoration Act. I want to compliment the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. LATOURETTE) for his outstanding leadership and tireless commitment to moving this legislation.

This measure arose from the need to coordinate management, protection and restoration of fish and wildlife resources within the Great Lakes Basin. The Great Lakes, which cover approximately 95,000 square miles in surface area, provide unique challenges for resource managers. In many respects, the Great Lakes are more comparable to oceans than lakes and require ocean-type vessels to accomplish management and research tasks.

With respect to our fishery laws, we must remember that fish do not understand or recognize geographical boundaries. It is critical, therefore, that regulatory schemes are developed throughout their ranges. H.R. 1481 establishes necessary cooperative agreements between States and Federal agencies to ensure that fish passing through jurisdictions of many management regions get the proper attention they need to sustain viable populations in the future.

The Great Lakes Fish and Wildlife Restoration Act uses cooperative agreements between States, Native American tribes, and the Federal Government to manage Great Lakes resources. The act encourages all interested parties to participate in the implementation of recommendations in the comprehensive study. These management and restoration activities were deemed necessary to restore Great Lakes fish and wildlife resources.

Finally, this bill was designed to evaluate and, where appropriate, implement the recommendations of the Great Lakes Fishery Resources Restoration Study. This 5-year study identified 32 recommendations which should be undertaken to restore the fishery resources of the Great Lakes Basin to sustainable levels.

Mr. Speaker, while I will let my Great Lakes colleagues discuss some or all of the 32 recommendations, I will point out that one of the suggestions was to conduct a cormorant fishery predation study. Since this issue has been of interest to several Members of the House, I would hope that this study would occur.

Mr. Speaker, this legislation authorizes the Department of the Interior to spend $8 million per year to carry out fish and wildlife restoration in the Great Lakes Basin. This is a sound investment in a very important region of the country.

Mr. Speaker, I urge an "aye" vote on H.R. 1481, and I look forward to early positive action by the other body on this bill.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. MILLER of California. Mr. Speaker, I yield 5 minutes to the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. KILDEE) a member of our committee.

Mr. KILDEE. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from California (Mr. MILLER) for yielding me this time.

Mr. Speaker, I want to thank the gentleman from Alaska (Chairman YOUNG) and the gentleman from California (Mr. MILLER), ranking member, for their hard work on this bill.

The Great Lakes Basin is a vibrant and diverse environment. Ecosystems of the Great Lakes support a wide array of economic and recreational activities. The long-term health of those ecosystems is fundamental to ensuring the quality of life that Americans from the Great Lakes region have come to enjoy. Protecting these precious bodies of water is of the utmost importance, since they are the largest body of fresh surface water in the United States.

While I am pleased that this bill is coming to the floor, I am disappointed to see that the language to institute a new model for a Michigan fisheries Cooperative Unit was not included.

Michigan is home to some of the finest fisheries institutions in this country, and yet it does not have the Cooperative Unit designation given to 37 States. Despite working for more than a decade to redress this issue, it has repeatedly been blocked by some who see the benefits of a Michigan fisheries designation as a threat to their own funding.

I believe the people of the United States want us to work through these fears to ensure that their best interests are of the utmost concern. This is not just about fairness. It is about capitalizing on Michigan's fisheries expertise.

Michigan State University and the University of Michigan have proposed an alternative that will cost the Federal Government next to nothing. In return for providing staff from these universities, the State of Michigan would finally receive this important fisheries research designation. This is a very creative approach that I hope we will explore in the future.

Mr. Speaker, for that purpose, I would like to engage in a colloquy with the gentleman from Maryland (Mr. GILCHREST).

Mr. Speaker, I know that the gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. SAXTON) has been more than willing to work on addressing the current inequities in the Cooperative Unit program. I would ask the gentleman, would the subcommittee be interested in exploring this model as a new way to deal with this issue? If necessary, this could be done in the next Congress.

Mr. GILCHREST. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. KILDEE. I yield to the gentleman from Maryland.

Mr. GILCHREST. Mr. Speaker, I have spoken with the gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. SAXTON), and he agrees there is a legitimate issue of fairness involved. As the gentleman from Michigan may know, his home State of New Jersey is another State that suffers under the present system. He would be interested in working with the gentleman and other members of the committee to find an alternative in the near future.

Mr. KILDEE. Mr. Speaker, reclaiming my time, I appreciate the interest, and I look forward to working with the gentleman from Maryland and with the gentleman from New Jersey to find a sensible solution to this problem.

Mr. GILCHREST. Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. LATOURETTE) to further add to this great piece of legislation.

(Mr. LATOURETTE asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. LATOURETTE. Mr. Speaker, I want to thank the gentleman from Alaska (Chairman YOUNG) and also the gentleman from California (Mr. MILLER), ranking member, for moving H.R. 1481 to the floor so expeditiously, despite the fact that we have so many other things coming to a conclusion at the end of the 105th Congress. The resources Committee, like others, face a daunting list of requests from Members, and for the fact that this bill has moved so quickly I am grateful on behalf of myself and other Great Lakes Members.

I also express my appreciation for the work of the gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. SAXTON), chairman of the Subcommittee on Fisheries Conservation, Wildlife and Oceans. He made time in his subcommittee's schedule to hold hearings, and he has been a strong supporter of H.R. 4181 throughout the process.

I would be remiss, Mr. Speaker, if I did not thank the staff that made today's presentation possible. Many times, Members make commitments and while these commitments are honored, it is due primarily and in large part to the hard work of our staffs.

I thank the committee staffs of both the majority and the minority, in particular Harry Burroughs and Mike Oetker. Mike has done yeoman's work on H.R. 1481, putting in long hours and making sure that this bill stayed on track.

Mr. Speaker, I also want to thank Rochelle Sturtevant, who is the coordinator for the Great Lakes task force who has been working on this legislation since 1996.

Mr. Speaker, my district borders Lake Erie, a body of water that was once considered to be "dead." I paraphrase Mark Twain when I say that the reports of the Great Lakes' demise have been greatly exaggerated. This would not be possible, of course, without the efforts of the Fish and Wildlife Service, working with State and local governments, as well as Great Lakes residents.

Now, Lake Erie fishermen can enjoy catching lake trout, walleye, bass, and perch. In fact, Lake Erie is experiencing rebounds in lake whitefish populations that just 10 years ago was thought to be impossible. Last year, the Fish and Wildlife Service report that lake trout populations in Lake Superior are now self-sustaining and need no further stocking.

Basinwide, water-related recreation and tourism are valued at $15 million annually, almost half of which is derived from fishing. Moreover, the Great Lakes contain over 281 square miles of coastal wetlands which provide habitat for endangered species and breeding grounds for waterfowl, migratory birds and fish.

While this is a great success story, the job of restoring the Great Lakes is a work in progress. Yes, we have come a very long way, but considering we still face degraded habitats, reduced fish and wildlife populations and the threat from nonindigenous species, we must press on.

The Great Lakes Fish and Wildlife Restoration Act reauthorizes legislation passed in 1990, with the same title, to continue this important mission.

The original act established the Great Lakes Coordination Office and Fishery Resources Offices in Michigan, Wisconsin and New York. The 1990 act also led to the formation of a Great Lakes ecosystem team, including partners from the States Native American tribes and the Great Lakes Fishery Commission, to coordinate restoration efforts between levels of government and agencies.

Finally, the 1990 act directed that the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service undertake a comprehensive study of fishing resources in the Great Lakes. The Great Lakes Fishery Resource Study, which the Fish and Wildlife Service completed and reported to Congress in 1995, contained 32 specific recommendations for projects that would successfully restore the Great Lakes fishery resource.

The Great Lakes Fish and Wildlife Restoration Act will reauthorize the Great Lakes Coordination Office and Fishery Resources Offices of the Fish and Wildlife Service, allowing them to continue coordinating internal Fish and Wildlife Service operations and other Fish and Wildlife Service activities with State, Federal, local and international operations in the Great Lakes Basin.

These coordination efforts are critical to prevent programs from wasting resources and precious funds by working at cross-purposes.

In addition, 1481 sets up a new grant program to enable States and Native American tribal groups to carry out restoration projects that implement the specific recommendations contained in the 1995 study. On the issue of invasive and noninvasive species, the Great Lakes Fish and Wildlife Restoration Act will continue to provide the resources to help stop the influx of these creatures. And in regard to the sea lamprey, the legislation ensures that authority for sea lamprey control is retained by the Great Lakes Fishery Commission.

Additionally, the Secretary of the Army, upon request by the Great Lakes Fishery Commission, may improve water resources projects related to sea lamprey management. However, non-Federal entities will be responsible for 25 percent of the cost of implementing any proposal other than those involved in construction of sea lamprey barriers. For Members who are unfamiliar with the sea lamprey, in addition to looking like something that comes out of a horror movie, the sea lamprey is a parasite and each lamprey can destroy 10 to 40 pounds of fish during its lifetime.

The Great Lakes are an incredible success story. It is one that no one would have believed just a few years ago. The Great Lakes Fish and Wildlife Restoration Act will build upon this success.

This is bipartisan legislation. It has strong support in the other body. In fact, it is my understanding that if H.R. 1481 receives favorable consideration today, the other body will take it up immediately.

Relative to the observations made by our distinguished colleague from Michigan, I am fully aware of the fact that he has championed the cause about which he spoke today on the floor. It is only because of some resistance in the other body that we were not able to address that in this legislation. He would have my pledge that I would do everything in my capacity from Ohio to help him realize his goals and success in that regard.

I would urge all of our colleagues today to support this essential bipartisan measure.

Mr. MILLER of California. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

I rise in support of this legislation. This legislation has been adequately described by our colleagues from Michigan and Ohio. It has bipartisan support and the support of the administration. I urge its passage today.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of the legislation.

H.R. 1481, which has already been described by the gentleman from New Jersey, would greatly improve the conservation and management of the fisheries and wildlife of the Great Lakes by implementing the recommendations of the Great Lakes Fishery Resources Restoration study.

The Great Lakes provide a vast source of natural resources for the people of the United States. In 1990, Congress authorized the restoration study to assess the status and needs of the fishery and wildlife resources of the Great Lakes and to provide recommendations for better management and conservation of those resources. Now that the study has been completed, it is time to implement those recommendations to ensure the long term sustainability of these valuable resources.

The bill has bipartisan support, as well as the support of the Administration, and I urge its passage today.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. GILCHREST. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

I would like to make a very quick comment to the gentleman from Ohio who said that Mark Twain made a comment that the early demise of the Great Lakes is greatly exaggerated. I think in order to continue to make that statement humorous, those of us in the House must continue to work vigilantly, steadfastly with the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. LATOURETTE), the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. KILDEE) and other Members to ensure that we understand the nature of the mechanics of natural processes so that the Great Lakes cannot only continue to be great but we can restore them to what they were 100 years ago.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. EHLERS).

(Mr. EHLERS asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. EHLERS. Mr. Speaker, I first of all want to commend the sponsor and cosponsors of this bill as well as the committee members. It is an excellent bill. It will serve the Great Lakes well.

I particularly commend the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. LATOURETTE) for continuing in his efforts to be a conservator of the Great Lakes. He has done a tremendous amount of good work here on that score. I hope he continues.

There is one point in the bill I do want to raise because it might create some problems for Michigan. I simply want to get this on the record and perhaps get some assurances from either the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. LATOURETTE) or the gentleman from Maryland (Mr. GILCHREST) regarding the language here. The bill says that there is established the Great Lakes Fish and Wildlife Restoration Proposal Review Committee which shall operate under the guidance of the Council of Lakes Committees. The Review Committee shall consist of representatives of all State directors and Indian tribes with Great Lakes Fish and Wildlife management authority in the Great Lakes Basin.

The language in the report is similar to that in the bill but also adds, " * * * nothing in this bill shall be construed to enlarge or diminish the authority of any Indian tribe with respect to the management of fish and wildlife in the Great Lakes Basin."

There is a problem relating to this that just came to my attention during a call I received from the Governor's office in Michigan. As some of my colleagues may be aware, there have been several court cases on the issue of Indian fishing rights in Michigan, resulting in a substantial number of court decisions. And my concern is that this language in the bill might be interpreted to say that those tribes which have been given certain rights in court cases would be regarded as having management authority. If that were true, then we might well have 5 or 6 times more representatives of Indian tribes than from the State of Michigan on this commission. That would make it somewhat unbalanced.

I assume the intent was not to do that and I want to get that on the record. Perhaps both the chairman and the sponsor of the bill can assure me that that is not the intent, and that in fact we will use and interpret the language as it was originally intended.

Mr. GILCHREST. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. EHLERS. I yield to the gentleman from Maryland.

Mr. GILCHREST. Mr. Speaker, we will continue to look at this very closely. That certainly is not our intent. Our intent with this legislation is to ensure that all participating parties improve the quality of the Great Lakes Basin, not to give one any more advantage over another.

Mr. EHLERS. I thank the gentleman for his comments.

Mr. GILCHREST. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. UPTON). The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Maryland (Mr. GILCHREST) that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 1481, as amended.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended and the bill, as amended, was passed.

The title of the bill was amended so as to read: "To amend the Great Lakes Fish and Wildlife Restoration Act of 1990 to provide for implementation of recommendations of the United States Fish and Wildlife Service contained in the Great Lakes Fishery Resources Restoration Study."

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. GILCHREST. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks on H.R. 1481, the bill just passed.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Maryland?

There was no objection.

KICKAPOO TRIBE OF OKLAHOMA FEDERAL INDIAN SERVICES RESTORATION ACT OF 1998

Mr. GILCHREST. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 2314) to restore Federal Indian services to members of the Kickapoo Tribe of Oklahoma residing in Maverick County, Texas, to clarify United States citizenship status of such members, to provide trust land for the benefit of the Tribe, and for other purposes, as amended.

H.R. 2314

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the "Kickapoo Tribe of Oklahoma Federal Indian Services Restoration Act of 1998".

SEC. 2. RESTORATION OF FEDERAL INDIAN SERVICES.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Notwithstanding any other provision of law, the members of the Kickapoo Tribe of Oklahoma residing in Maverick County, Texas, shall be eligible for all Federal services and benefits furnished to members of federally-recognized tribes without regard to the existence of a reservation for the Kickapoo Tribe of Oklahoma in Maverick County, Texas. In the case of Federal services available to members of federally-recognized tribes residing on or near a reservation, the members of the Kickapoo Tribe of Oklahoma residing in Maverick County, Texas, shall be deemed to be residing on or near a reservation.

(b) COOPERATION WITH THE MEXICAN GOVERNMENT.—In providing services pursuant to subsection (a), the Secretary of the Interior (referred to hereafter in this Act as the "Secretary") and the head of each department and agency shall consult and cooperate with appropriate officials or agencies of the Mexican Government to the greatest extent possible to ensure that such services meet the special tricultural needs of the members of the Kickapoo Tribe of Oklahoma residing in Texas. Such consultation and cooperation may include joint funding agreements between such agency or department of the United States and the appropriate agencies and officials of the Mexican Government.

(c) DISCLAIMER ON NEW APPROPRIATIONS.—(1) Nothing in this section shall be interpreted to—

(A) constitute an independent authorization for the appropriation of funds for benefit of the Kickapoo Tribe of Oklahoma, or

(B) result in the diminution of funding to any other federally recognized Indian tribe.

(2) The Secretary shall, upon request of the Kickapoo Tribe of Oklahoma and subject to the availability of appropriations, provide technical assistance to prevent duplication of services for members of any federally recognized tribe in Maverick County, Texas.

SEC. 3. LAND ACQUISITION.

(a) 45 ACRES.—Pursuant to section 5 of the Act of June 18, 1934 (25 U.S.C. 465), the Secretary may accept at least 45 acres of land held in fee by the Kickapoo Tribe of Oklahoma in Maverick County, Texas, to be held in trust for the benefit of the Kickapoo Tribe of Oklahoma.

(b) ADDITIONAL LAND.—Pursuant to land acquisition authority under the Act of June 18, 1934 (25 U.S.C. 461 et seq.), the Secretary may accept in trust for the benefit of the Kickapoo Tribe of Oklahoma any additional land in Maverick County, Texas, acquired by the Kickapoo Tribe of Oklahoma.

(c) NO LIMITATION OF AUTHORITY.—Nothing in this section shall be construed as limiting the authority of the Secretary under section 5 of the Act of June 18, 1934 (48 Stat. 985).

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Maryland (Mr. GILCHREST) and the gentleman from California (Mr. MILLER), each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Maryland (Mr. GILCHREST).

(Mr. GILCHREST asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. GILCHREST. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

H.R. 2314, the proposed Kickapoo Tribe of Oklahoma Federal Indian Services Restoration Act of 1998 would restore Federal Indian services to members of the Kickapoo Tribe of Oklahoma who reside in Texas.

Mr. Speaker, I include the following letters for the RECORD:

U.S. HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES, COMMITTEE ON RESOURCES,
Washington, DC, September 18, 1998.

Hon. HENRY J. HYDE,
Chairman, Committee on the Judiciary,
Washington, DC.

DEAR MR. CHAIRMAN: Thank you for your letter regarding H.R. 2314, a bill to provide certain benefits to the Kickapoo Tribe of Oklahoma. I understand that the Committee on the Judiciary, which has Rule X jurisdiction over section 3 of H.R. 2314 providing certain immigration benefits to the tribe, requires more time to address properly the issues raised by that section.

However, I understand that the Committee on the Judiciary will not object if the Committee on Resources proceeds to the Floor with the bill with an amendment to strike section 3. This arrangement is acceptable to the Committee on Resources and the author of the bill and we will act accordingly.

Thank you for your cooperation and that of your staff, especially Daniel Freeman and Jim Wilson, in this effort.

Sincerely,

DON YOUNG,
Chairman.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,
COMMITTEE ON THE JUDICIARY,
Washington, DC, September 11, 1998.

Re H.R. 2314—Kickapoo Tribe of Oklahoma.

Hon. DON YOUNG,
Chairman, Committee on Resources,
Washington, DC.

DEAR CHAIRMAN YOUNG: I understand that the Committee on Resources wishes to proceed expeditiously to the floor with H.R. 2314, a bill to provide certain benefits to the Kickapoo Tribe of Oklahoma. The Committee on the Judiciary has jurisdiction over Section 3 of the bill, which would provide certain immigration benefits to the tribe.

A number of important immigration issues are raised by Section 3 of the bill, and the Judiciary Committee has been working toward a global legislative solution of those issues for the Kickapoo Tribe and many other similarly situated Indian tribes. To that end, the Committee requested relevant information from the Justice Department's Office of Tribal Justice, the Immigration and Naturalization Service, and the Bureau of Indian Affairs on February 11, 1998. Unfortunately, much of the requested information has still not been provided, so the Committee is not yet prepared to craft an optimal legislative solution.

However, the Judiciary Committee would have no objection if the Resources Committee proceeded to the floor, on the suspension calendar, with a manager's amendment to H.R. 2314 with the Section 3 immigration provisions removed. Please let me know if this is acceptable.

Sincerely,

HENRY J. HYDE,
Chairman.

Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from Oklahoma (Mr. WATKINS) for an explanation of the bill.

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to support and ask my colleagues on both sides to support this. I believe it has bipartisan support and understands the administration supports it.

In fact, H.R. 2314 rectifies disputes that have arisen over housing, medical and other social services for Kickapoos that are residing in Texas down in Maverick County. This will allow the services to be provided in many areas, and it is very much needed. These disputes have been discussed for a number of years.

The proposed legislation has been agreed upon by all parties involved. I know I have worked with several of them. I would just like to encourage the Members to support this bill under suspensions at this time.

Mr. MILLER of California. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from American Samoa (Mr. FALEOMAVAEGA).

(Mr. FALEOMAVAEGA asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. FALEOMAVAEGA. Mr. Speaker, this is a bill which points out how differences in cultures make it difficult to legislate on a national level.

The Kickapoo tribe is a noted tribe which inhabited lands in the States of Oklahoma, Texas and Mexico. This free lifestyle has led to questions concerning the citizenship of tribal members and the eligibility of tribal members for Federal and State health, housing and social welfare programs.

While I question the necessity of having members of the Kickapoo tribe of Oklahoma who reside in Texas apply for U.S. citizenship, it seems to me there could have been a more expedient way to handle this issue.

I strongly support the efforts being made to clarify the citizenship issue and the eligibility of these Native American Indians for Federal and State benefits. I also support the authorization for the Department of the Interior to take into trust 25 acres of land in Maverick County, Texas for the Kickapoo tribe.

This is the third of three American Indian bills being considered by the House today, and again I want to thank the gentleman from Alaska (Mr. YOUNG) of our committee and the senior Democratic member, the gentleman from California (Mr. MILLER) for their efforts in bringing this legislation to the floor. I urge my colleagues to support this bill.

I thank the gentleman from Oklahoma for his sponsorship of this legislation.

(Mr. MILLER of California asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. MILLER of California. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

As the gentleman from American Samoa has noted and the gentleman from Oklahoma, this restores the provision of BIA and IHS services to members of the Kickapoo tribe in Oklahoma. This bill has strong bipartisan support. I urge its passage.

Mr. Speaker, this bill as has already been noted, restores the provision of BIA and IHS services to members of the Kickapoo Tribe of Oklahoma, a largely migratory band of Indians, who often reside for part of the year in Maverick County, Texas.

Although Congress took steps in 1983 to ensure that all Kickapoos living in Texas would be eligible for federal services, there was internal political friction among the Kickapoos residing in Texas that resulted in the formation of the federally-recognized Kickapoo Traditional Tribe of Texas in 1989.

Some of the Texas Kickapoos, namely those who refused to acknowledge the leadership of the Traditional Tribe, chose instead to remain affiliated with the Kickapoo Tribe of Oklahoma.

The problem that we are addressing today is how to ensure that the Kickapoos in Texas who remain affiliated with the Oklahoma Tribe retain the full rights and benefits of the trust relationship with the United States. In other words, we want to ensure that they receive appropriate IHS and BIA services, even when they are residing in Texas.

The trick, of course, is to make sure that we don't diminish the limited resources of the Traditional Tribe of Texas. If there are Texas Kickapoos who chose to remain affiliated with the Oklahoma Kickapoos, then the costs of such services should be charged to the Oklahoma Kickapoos. That is why I am pleased that we are adding today a provision that clarifies that nothing in the bill will result in a diminishing of services to the Traditional Tribe or count as an independent authorization of funds for the Oklahoma Kickapoos.

I understand that the Traditional Tribe of Texas has concerns about the trust status acquisition of lands for the Oklahoma Kickapoos so close to their own reservation, and again I am pleased that we are making a change today that clarifies that the Secretary is not mandated to take a 45-acre parcel of land into trust for the Oklahoma Kickapoos. Leaving the Secretary with discretionary authority will insure that the Traditional Tribe is appropriately consulted in the land acquisition process.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. GILCHREST. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Maryland (Mr. GILCHREST) that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 2314, as amended.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended and the bill, as amended, was passed.

The title of the bill was amended so as to read: "To restore Federal Indian services to members of the Kickapoo Tribe of Oklahoma residing in Maverick County, Texas, to provide trust land for the benefit of the Tribe, and for other purposes."

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. GILCHREST. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days to revise and extend their remarks and include extraneous material on H.R. 2314, the bill just passed.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Maryland?

There was no objection.

GALLATIN LAND CONSOLIDATION ACT OF 1998

Mrs. CHENOWETH. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 3381) to direct the Secretary of Agriculture and the Secretary of the Interior to exchange land and other assets with Big Sky Lumber Co., as amended.

SEC. 7. AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.

There are authorized to be appropriated such sums as are necessary to carry out this Act.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentlewoman from Idaho (Mrs. CHENOWETH) and the gentleman from California (Mr. MILLER), each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentlewoman from Idaho (Mrs. CHENOWETH).

(Mrs. CHENOWETH asked and was given permission to revise and extend her remarks.)

Mrs. CHENOWETH. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

H.R. 3381, the Gallatin Land Consolidation Act of 1998, was introduced by my colleague, the gentleman from Montana (Mr. HILL) on March 5 of this year. The gentleman from Montana (Mr. HILL) deserves great credit for bringing a decade of negotiations to a successful conclusion in the form of this bill.

Anyone who has worked on complicated land exchange problems of this magnitude knows the daunting task of trying to forge an agreement between the environmental community, landowners, the Federal and State government, the communities and interested parties. It is usually an impossible task. I congratulate the gentleman from Montana (Mr. HILL) for this accomplishment.

Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from Montana (Mr. HILL).

Mr. HILL. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentlewoman from Idaho for yielding me this time.

This bill represents the culmination of over a decade's work to consolidate the public and private land holdings in the Gallatin National Forest. It proposes to authorize the exchange of 54,000 private acres of privately held lands for approximately 29,000 acres of U.S. Forest Service lands.

It creatively provides also for the use of timber sale receipts to bring these values into balance. The consolidation of these holdings is a win-win proposition. Taxpayers win by consolidating lands to allow for improved and more efficient management of the public lands. It means also that sportsmen and women and recreationalists will have access to more of their land.

It also consolidates private land holdings that can accommodate the better management of those lands. It allows for orderly and responsible resource management, and that means that we will be able to retain important natural resource jobs that are also vital to Montana communities. And this bill specifically protects critical wildlife habitat from subdivision.

These lands lie just north of Yellowstone National Park, Mr. Speaker. They will provide migration and winter range for deer and elk populations. This is a very popular hunting and fishing and recreation area. For this reason, this bill has the support of a broad range of citizen groups, including resource interest groups, conservation and sportsman organizations and environmentalists as well. It is also supported by private land owners and the U.S. Forest Service and the administration.

A companion measure is before the Senate and has the bipartisan support of both of Montana's senators.

Mr. Speaker, this bill provides flexibility in the implementing of this exchange option so that all the interested parties can include the agreement that is embodied in the exchange option.

I would like to just take a moment to thank all those who have worked to try to create this consensus-based solution. The Gallatin National Forest Supervisor, Big Sky Lumber Company, Governor Marc Racicot, the Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks Organization, the Greater Yellowstone Coalition, Rocky Mountain Elk Foundation, the Headwaters Fish & Game Association, the Wilderness Society, the Montana Land Alliance, the Upper Gallatin Community, the Bridger Canyon Property Owners Association, the Battleridge/Bangtail Coalition, the Gallatin Valley Snowmobile Association, the Independent Forest Products Association, and members of the Montana Delegation staff, Peggy Trenk of my staff and Sue Brook and Brian Kay of the senator's staff.

I urge all my colleagues to support this bill. It has broad bipartisan support both here in Washington and in Montana.

Mrs. CHENOWETH. Mr. Speaker, I have no other requests for time, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. MILLER of California. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume, and I rise in support of this legislation.

(Mr. MILLER of California asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. MILLER of California. Mr. Speaker, at the outset, I want to commend the gentleman from Montana (Mr. HILL) for his efforts to bring this matter before the committee and to the floor of the House.

I also want to acknowledge the leadership role of Senator Bachus in developing this agreement, which contained both H.R. 3381 and a companion bill in the Senate.

As the gentleman from Montana (Mr. HILL) pointed out, this is the second phase of the congressionally authorized acquisition of checkerboard railroad grant lands in the Gallatin Range and other areas in western Montana near Yellowstone National Park.

The first phase was authorized back in 1993, at which time we acquired 37,000 acres; and this would provide for 55,000 acres of really some of the most magnificent wildlife range and scenic areas in the western United States.

In the second phase as set forth in the current bill, the Forest Service would gain an additional 55,000 acres in the Taylor Fork and other important fish and wildlife areas within the Gallatin National Forest.

Recently, Forest Service exchanges have come under the scrutiny of the Department's Inspector General and generated controversy in Nevada, Washington, and other western states. In response, Chief Mike Dombeck has adopted new procedures which include review of appraisals and approval of land exchanges by the Washington office. I welcome this heightened scrutiny of land exchanges. I have long-standing concerns about abuses of land exchanges and prefer instead that the administration give greater emphasis to land purchases using the amply endowed Land and Water Conservation Fund.

In this case, however, we are assured by the Forest Service that the exchange fosters the public interest by acquiring critical habitat for elk, moose, grizzly bear, and other fish and wildlife. These lands have significant economic value for public recreation. The agency considers the asset swap to be a fair deal for the taxpayers, based on appraisals which have been reviewed by the Chief Appraiser. And the agency has engaged in a thorough public process in developing this exchange and has submitted a detailed report to Congress.

Mr. Speaker, we should recognize that it is very difficult to develop anything close to a consensus on many western public land use issues. To the credit of the Montana delegation, they have brought to us in this legislation an agreement which has been negotiated to the satisfaction of the Forest Service and Big Sky Lumber and which is supported by an array of diverse interests in Montana, including the Governor and environmental groups such as the Greater Yellowstone Coalition and The Wilderness Society.

I urge adoption of the bill.

I want to again thank all of the parties who worked so hard on this legislation and urge its passage.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mrs. CHENOWETH. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. UPTON). The question is on the motion offered by the gentlewoman from Idaho (Mrs. CHENOWETH) that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 3381, as amended.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended and the bill, as amended, was passed.

The title of the bill was amended so as to read:

"A bill to direct the Secretary of Agriculture and the Secretary of the Interior to exchange land and other assets with Big Sky Lumber Co. and other entities."

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mrs. CHENOWETH. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days within which to revise and extend their remarks on H.R. 3381, as amended.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentlewoman from Idaho?

There was no objection.

MOUNT ST. HELENS NATIONAL VOLCANIC MONUMENT COMPLETION ACT

Mrs. CHENOWETH. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 1659) to provide for the expeditious completion of the acquisition of private mineral interests within the Mount St. Helens National Volcanic Monument mandated by the 1982 Act that established the Monument, and for other purposes, as amended.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION. 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the "Mount St. Helens National Volcanic Monument Completion Act".

SEC. 2. FINDINGS AND PURPOSE.

(a) FINDINGS.—Congress finds the following:

(1) The Act entitled "An Act to designate the Mount St. Helens National Volcanic Monument in the State of Washington, and for other purposes", approved August 26, 1982 (96 Stat. 301; 16 U.S.C. 431 note), required the United States to acquire all land and interests in land in the Mount St. Helens National Volcanic Monument.

(2) The Act directed the Secretary of Agriculture to acquire the surface interests and the mineral and geothermal interests by separate exchanges and expressed the sense of Congress that the exchanges be completed by November 24, 1982, and August 26, 1983, respectively.

(3) The surface interests exchange was consummated timely, but the exchange of all mineral and geothermal interests has not yet been completed a decade and a half after the enactment of the Act.

(b) PURPOSE.—The purpose of this Act is to facilitate and otherwise provide for the expeditious completion of the previously mandated Federal acquisition of private mineral and geothermal interests within the Mount St. Helens National Volcanic Monument.

SEC. 3. ACQUISITION OF MINERAL AND GEOTHERMAL INTERESTS WITHIN MOUNT ST. HELENS NATIONAL VOLCANIC MONUMENT.

Section 3 of the Act entitled "An Act to designate the Mount St. Helens National Volcanic Monument in the State of Washington, and for other purposes", approved August 26, 1982 (Public Law 97-243; 96 Stat. 302; 16 U.S.C. 431 note), is amended by adding at the end the following new subsections:

"(g) EXCHANGES FOR MINERAL AND GEOTHERMAL INTERESTS HELD BY CERTAIN COMPANIES.—

"(1) DEFINITION OF COMPANY.—In this subsection, the term 'company' means a company referred to in subsection (c) or its assigns or successors.

"(2) EXCHANGE REQUIRED.—Within 60 days after the date of enactment of this subsection, the Secretary of the Interior shall acquire by exchange the mineral and geothermal interests in the Monument of each company.

"(3) MONETARY CREDITS.—

"(A) ISSUANCE.—In exchange for all mineral and geothermal interests acquired by the Secretary of the Interior from each company under paragraph (2), the Secretary of the Interior shall issue to each such company monetary credits with a value of $2,100,000 that may be used for the payment of—

"(i) not more than 50 percent of the bonus or other payments made by successful bidders in any sales of mineral, oil, gas, or geothermal leases under the Mineral Leasing Act (30 U.S.C. 181 et seq.), the Outer Continental Shelf Lands Act (43 U.S.C. 1331 et seq.), or the Geothermal Steam Act of 1970 (30 U.S.C. 1001 et seq.) in the contiguous 48 States;

"(ii) not more than 10 percent of the bonus or other payments made by successful bidders in any sales of mineral, oil, gas, or geothermal leases in Alaska under the laws specified in clause (i);

"(iii) not more than 50 percent of any royalty, rental, or advance royalty payment made to the United States to maintain any mineral, oil or gas, or geothermal lease in the contiguous 48 States issued under the laws specified in clause (i); or

"(iv) not more than 10 percent of any royalty, rental, or advance royalty payment made to the United States to maintain any mineral, oil or gas, or geothermal lease in Alaska issued under the laws specified in clause (i).

"(B) VALUE OF CREDITS.—The total credits of $4,200,000 in value issued under subparagraph (A) are deemed to equal the fair market value of all mineral and geothermal interests to be conveyed by exchange under paragraph (2).

"(4) ACCEPTANCE OF CREDITS.—The Secretary of the Interior shall accept credits issued under paragraph (3)(A) in the same manner as cash for the payments described in such paragraph. The use of the credits shall be subject to the laws (including regulations) governing such payments, to the extent the laws are consistent with this subsection.

"(5) TREATMENT OF CREDITS FOR DISTRIBUTION TO STATES.—All amounts in the form of credits accepted by the Secretary of the Interior under paragraph (4) for the payments described in paragraph (3)(A) shall be considered to be money received for the purpose of section 35 of the Mineral Leasing Act (30

U.S.C. 191) and section 20 of the Geothermal Steam Act of 1970 (30 U.S.C. 1019).

"(6) EXCHANGE ACCOUNT.—

"(A) ESTABLISHMENT.—Notwithstanding any other provision of law, not later than 30 days after the completion of the exchange with a company required by paragraph (2), the Secretary of the Interior shall establish an exchange account for that company for the monetary credits issued to that company under paragraph (3). The account for a company shall be established with the Minerals Management Service of the Department of the Interior and have an initial balance of credits equal to $2,100,000.

"(B) USE OF CREDITS.—The credits in a company's account shall be available to the company for the purposes specified in paragraph (3)(A). The Secretary of the Interior shall adjust the balance of credits in the account to reflect credits accepted by the Secretary of the Interior pursuant to paragraph (4).

"(C) TRANSFER OR SALE OF CREDITS.—

"(i) TRANSFER OR SALE AUTHORIZED.—A company may transfer or sell any credits in the company's account to another person.

"(ii) USE OF TRANSFERRED CREDITS.—Credits transferred or sold under clause (i) may be used in accordance with this subsection only by a person that is qualified to bid on, or that holds, a mineral, oil, or gas lease under the Mineral Leasing Act (30 U.S.C. 181 et seq.), the Outer Continental Shelf Lands Act (43 U.S.C. 1331 et seq.), or the Geothermal Steam Act of 1970 (30 U.S.C. 1001 et seq.).

"(iii) NOTIFICATION.—Within 30 days after the transfer or sale of any credits by a company, that company shall notify the Secretary of the Interior of the transfer or sale. The transfer or sale of any credit shall not be considered valid until the Secretary of the Interior has received the notification required under this clause.

"(D) TIME LIMIT ON USE OF CREDITS.—On the date that is 5 years after the date on which an account is created under subparagraph (A) for a company, the Secretary of the Interior shall terminate that company's account. Any credits that originated in the terminated account and have not been used as of the termination date, including any credits transferred or sold under subparagraph (C), shall become unusable.

"(7) TITLE TO INTERESTS.—On the date of the establishment of an exchange account for a company under paragraph (6)(A), title to any mineral and geothermal interests that are held by the company and are to be acquired by the Secretary of the Interior under paragraph (2) shall transfer to the United States.

"(h) OTHER MINERAL AND GEOTHERMAL INTERESTS.—Within 180 days after the date of the enactment of this subsection, the Secretary shall submit to the Committee on Resources of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Energy and Natural Resources of the Senate a report—

"(1) identifying all remaining privately held mineral interests within the boundaries of the Monument referred to in section 1(a); and

"(2) setting forth a plan and a timetable by which the Secretary would propose to complete the acquisition of such interests."

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentlewoman from Idaho (Mrs. CHENOWETH) and the gentleman from California (Mr. MILLER) each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentlewoman from Idaho (Mrs. CHENOWETH).

(Mrs. CHENOWETH asked and was given permission to revise and extend her remarks.)

Mrs. CHENOWETH. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, H.R. 1659, introduced by the gentlewoman from Washington (Mrs. SMITH) directs the Secretary of the Interior to fulfill a 1982 statutory requirement that the Federal Government acquire private lands and minerals within the Mount St. Helens National Volcanic Monument.

Eighteen years ago, this tragedy happened. Mr. Speaker, 16 years after creation of the monument and 15 years after the statutory deadline for the exchange, it will finally bring this issue to a close, finally.

This legislation has the bipartisan support of members of the Washington Delegation and the administration. It equitably and finally completes the exchange previously mandated by Congress when the monument was created.

I congratulate my colleague, the gentlewoman from Washington (Mrs. SMITH), and all parties involved for their excellent work, and I urge all of my colleagues to support this very common-sense legislation.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. MILLER of California. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, the Mount Saint Helen's National Volcanic Monument Completion Act requires the Secretary of the Interior to acquire, by exchange, the mineral and geothermal interests of the Burlington Northern, Incorporated and the Weyerhaeuser Companies in the Mount Saint Helen's National Volcanic Monument in the State of Washington.

We appreciate the interest of the Washington delegation to see this exchange executed as soon as possible, as the matter has been unsettled for too long. Therefore, we were pleased to learn that an appraisal agreement had been reached between the federal government and the private landowners involved.

The negotiations have concluded with the Forest Service and Weyerhaeuser agreeing upon a value of $4.2 million.

The Administration has indicated that they have no objection to the substitute bill which incorporates this agreement and is being offered today.

Clearly, Burlington and Weyerhaeuser should be compensated for their mineral rights within Mount Saint Helen's National Volcanic Monument. Now that the Administration is no longer opposed to the bill because an agreed-upon value for the property has been accomplished and will be included in the bill, we see no reason to oppose the bill.

We are in strong support of this legislation. The previous problems that they had with respect to value for the property have been worked out. We urge the passage of this legislation.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mrs. CHENOWETH. Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as she may consume to the gentlewoman from Washington (Mrs. LINDA SMITH).

Mrs. LINDA SMITH of Washington. Mr. Speaker, I want to thank the gentlewoman from Idaho (Mrs.

CHENOWETH) for yielding. She has been a great chairman. And I want to thank her staff. This has not been one of the easier bills, and I know that they did a lot of work in trying to negotiate the final principles and values in this bill.

I want to talk about what happened in 1980 for a moment so we understand what brings us to this day. Mount St. Helens erupted in what was one of nature's most beautiful events and also most devastating. It caused a 250-mile-per-hour avalanche and high winds that destroyed over 150 square miles of forests, and it sent a plume of ash over to the eastern side of the State that was like nothing we have ever seen. In fact, it took quite a while to clean it up.

But, after that, it took until 1982 to establish a monument. And in that process, we decided to protect 110,000 acres around the volcano for future recreation and education and research. This monument actually preserves this area, but it also has become a living classroom.

Underneath this new beautiful park and living classroom, though, has been captured the mineral rights that were supposed to be exchanged in the original agreement in 1982 so that those that owned the mineral rights got mineral rights somewhere else or some compensation.

Today, after all of this time, and this started in 1980, we are finally keeping our commitment to those that own the mineral rights to make reasonable exchanges for what is their property. So I again want to thank the chairman, I want to thank the staff and all of the members of our delegation who unanimously support this legislation in bringing us to this day; a long time, but finally fairness has prevailed and we, the government, are keeping our commitment to those various landowners.

Mr. HASTINGS of Washington. Mr. Speaker, I would like to begin by applauding my colleague from Washington State, Mrs. SMITH, for bringing this matter to the attention of the House. I also commend the hard work of Mr. YOUNG, the Chairman of the Resources Committee and Mrs. CHENOWETH, the Chairman of the Subcommittee, for their excellent work in moving this legislation forward.

I encourage my colleagues to support H.R. 1659, the Mt. St. Helens National Volcanic Monument Completion Act. This legislation completes the work begun with the creation of the monument in 1982 by bringing the remaining privately owned mineral rights within the monument into federal ownership.

Mr. Speaker, as a lifetime resident of Washington State, I remember the awesome spectacle of Mt. St. Helens' eruption and the tragic loss of lives and property it caused. The federal government created the St. Helens National Monument to preserve the unique volcanic landscape that resulted. However, it was never the intent of Congress that the creation of this monument should result in an uncompensated loss of private property. In fact, the enacting legislation required all land and mineral rights to be acquired by exchange within one year. Fifteen years later, this statutory requirement has not been met.

Mr. Speaker, the completion of the original terms of the Mt. St. Helens National Volcanic Monument is long overdue. H.R. 1659 will fulfill the commitment made by the United States in a manner which is fair to both the private landowners and the American taxpayers. This is a good bill that I urge my colleagues to support.

Mrs. CHENOWETH. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentlewoman from Idaho (Mrs. CHENOWETH) that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 1659, as amended.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended and the bill, as amended, was passed.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mrs. CHENOWETH. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days within which to revise and extend their remarks on H.R. 1659, the bill just passed.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentlewoman from Idaho?

There was no objection.

EXPRESSING SUPPORT FOR BICENTENNIAL OF LEWIS AND CLARK EXPEDITION

Mrs. CHENOWETH. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and agree to the resolution (H. Res. 144) to express support for the bicentennial of the Lewis and Clark Expedition, as amended.

H. RES. 144

Whereas the Expedition commanded by Meriwether Lewis and William Clark, which came to be called "The Corps of Discovery", was one of the most remarkable and productive scientific and military exploring expeditions in all American history;

Whereas President Thomas Jefferson gave Lewis and Clark the mission to "explore the Missouri River & such principal stream of it, as, by its course and communication with the waters of the Pacific ocean, whether the Columbia, Oregon, Colorado or any other river may offer the most direct & practicable water communication across this continent for the purposes of commerce";

Whereas the Expedition, in response to President Jefferson's directive, greatly advanced our geographical knowledge of the continent and prepared the way for the extension of the American fur trade with American Indian tribes throughout the area;

Whereas President Jefferson directed the explorers to take note of and carefully record the natural resources of the newly acquired territory known as Louisiana, as well as diligently report on the native inhabitants of the land;

Whereas Lewis and Clark and their companions began their historic journey to explore the uncharted wilderness west of the Mississippi River at Wood River, Illinois, on May 14, 1804, and followed the Missouri River westward from its mouth on the Mississippi to its headwaters in the Rocky Mountains;

Whereas the Expedition held its first meeting with American Indians at Council Bluff near present-day Fort Calhoun, Nebraska, in August 1804, spent its first winter at Fort Mandan, North Dakota, crossed the Rocky Mountains by horseback in August 1805, reached the Pacific Ocean at the mouth of the Columbia River in mid-November of that year, and wintered at Fort Clatsop, near the present city of Astoria, Oregon;

Whereas the Expedition returned to St. Louis, Missouri, on September 23, 1806, after a 28-month journey covering 8,000 miles during which it traversed 11 future States: Illinois, Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa, North Dakota, South Dakota, Montana, Idaho, Washington, and Oregon;

Whereas the explorers faithfully followed the President's directives and dutifully recorded their observations in their detailed journals;

Whereas these journals describe many plant and animal species, some completely unknown to the world of science or never before encountered in North America, and added greatly to scientific knowledge about the flora and fauna of the United States;

Whereas accounts from the journals of Lewis and Clark and the detailed maps that were prepared by the Expedition enhanced knowledge of the western continent and routes for commerce;

Whereas the journals of Lewis and Clark documented diverse American Indian languages, customs, religious beliefs, and ceremonies; as Lewis and Clark are important figures in American history, so too are Black Buffalo, Cameahwait, Sacajawea, Sheheke and Watkueis;

Whereas the Expedition significantly enhanced amicable relations between the United States and the autonomous American Indian nations, and the friendship and respect fostered between the American Indian tribes and the Expedition represents the best of diplomacy and relationships between divergent nations and cultures;

Whereas the American Indian tribes of the Northern Plains and the Pacific Northwest played an essential role in the survival and the success of the Expedition;

Whereas the Lewis and Clark Expedition has been called the most perfect expedition of its kind in the history of the world and paved the way for the United States to become a great world power;

Whereas the President and the Congress have previously recognized the importance of the Expedition by establishing a 5-year commission in 1964 to study its history and the route it followed, and again in 1978 by designating the route as the Lewis and Clark National Historic Trail administered by the Secretary of the Interior through the National Park Service; and

Whereas the National Park Service, along with other Federal, State, and local agencies and many other interested groups, are preparing commemorative activities to celebrate the bicentennial of the Expedition beginning in 2003: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives—

(1) expresses its support for the work of the National Lewis and Clark Bicentennial Council and all the Federal, State, and local entities and other interested groups that are preparing bicentennial activities to celebrate the 200th anniversary of the Lewis and Clark Expedition;

(2) expresses its support for the events to be held in observance of the Expedition at Council Bluff near present-day Fort Calhoun, Nebraska, at St. Louis, Missouri, at Portland and Fort Clatsop, Oregon, and at Bismarck, North Dakota, and many other cities during the bicentennial observance; and

(3) calls upon the President, the Secretary of the Interior, the Director of the National Park Service, American Indian tribes, other public officials, and the citizens of the United States to support, promote, and participate in the many bicentennial activities being planned to commemorate the Lewis and Clark Expedition.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentlewoman from Idaho (Mrs. CHENOWETH) and the gentleman from California (Mr. MILLER) each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentlewoman from Idaho (Mrs. CHENOWETH).

(Mrs. CHENOWETH asked and was given permission to revise and extend her remarks.)

Mrs. CHENOWETH. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I am very happy to rise in support of House Resolution 144 submitted by my colleague, the gentleman from Nebraska (Mr. BERUTER). This resolution would express congressional support for the bicentennial of the Lewis and Clark Expedition, which is without a doubt one of the most remarkable and productive expeditions in American history.

In fact, not only did this extraordinary expedition find plants and animals which were virtually unknown but also discovered new peoples and resources, all of which prepared the way for the pioneers to move westward and open up the large expanse of territory known as the American West.

The spirit that was embodied in the people who were part of this westward movement lives on with us, and all of us in the West and in America, to this very day. This resolution, therefore, offers a fitting and appropriate tribute to the great achievements of the Lewis and Clark Expedition.

Among other things, the resolution declares that the House of Representatives will support the work of all the Federal, State and local entities who are celebrating the Lewis and Clark Bicentennial, supports the events held in observance of that anniversary of the expedition and calls upon the President and the Secretary of Interior, the National Park Service and all Americans to support and participate in honoring the great accomplishments known as the Lewis and Clark Expedition.

I urge my colleagues to strongly support H. Res. 144.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. MILLER of California. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I want to state at the outset, I agree with everything the gentlewoman from Idaho (Mrs. CHENOWETH) has said. This is an historic moment, not as historic as Lewis and Clark but an historic moment.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of H. Res. 144, which is essentially a noncontroversial measure to express the support of this House of Representatives commemoration of the Lewis and Clark Expedition. The expedition, under the leadership of Meriwether Lewis and William Clark was one of the great exploratory and scientific achievements of the 19th century. The upcoming bicentennial of this expedition and the recent Ken Burns film have renewed interest among the American public in the accomplishments of this expedition, and it is wholly appropriate that we commemorate the Lewis and Clark Expedition, which nearly 200 years later still remains a notable event in the achievement of our country.

For those who have, because of the renewed interest, those who have gone out to the West and tried to follow their journey, although the landscape of the West to some extent has changed, they are able to retrace great portions of the journey, and they start to appreciate what kind of monumental accomplishment this expedition was when one considers what knowledge they had in hand when they started at the outset of their journey, how little they actually knew and then what they accomplished and how they persevered and the hardships that they endured and, of course, what this expedition meant for the expansion of the United States and the opening of the West.

It certainly is deserving of this kind of commendation from the House of Representatives but also renewed recognition by modern-day America of what these explorers were able to accomplish and what they encountered along the way and the extent of the journey that they accomplished.

Mr. Speaker, therefore, I rise in strong support of this legislation and urge its passage and hope that the Congress will vote overwhelmingly for this matter.

Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from American Samoa (Mr. FALEOMAVAEGA).

(Mr. FALEOMAVAEGA asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. FALEOMAVAEGA. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from California (Mr. MILLER) for the opportunity to speak on behalf of this legislation, and I do commend the gentlewoman from Idaho (Mrs. CHENOWETH) for bringing this legislation to the floor.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of House Resolution 144, which expresses the support of the House of Representatives for the National Lewis and Clark Bicentennial Council and the commemorative activities that it is planning for the bicentennial of this famous expedition.

The resolution also asks others to support and participate in the bicentennial celebration activities.

Mr. Speaker, this legislation was referred to the Subcommittee on National Parks and Public Lands, but neither the subcommittee nor the Committee on Resources formally considered the legislation. The bill is, however, straightforward, and I am aware of no opposition. It commemorates and supports the efforts of two Americans who helped convince the rest of the country of the benefit of, and I do not know about this word, acquiring new lands to the West, of the then existing borders, and we have all benefited from these efforts. I support the legislation, and I ask my colleagues to do the same.

Mr. MILLER of California. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for his comments and say how fortunate we are that so much of this historic journey is preserved in public lands where people can go and view and try to relive this experience.

Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from Oregon (Mr. BLUMENAUER).

Mr. BLUMENAUER. Mr. Speaker, I thank my friend for yielding time. This resolution is very important to those of us in the Pacific Northwest. I must say as the only Member of Congress to be an alumnus of the Lewis and Clark College, as somebody who was born and raised in the Northwest and steeped in the culture of that expedition, I am very pleased and proud that this is coming forward at this time.

One hundred years ago in our community, the centennial of the Lewis and Clark Expedition was celebrated with a world's fair that had a tremendous impact on our community, on the Pacific Northwest and the West Coast. I am optimistic that we can have the same sort of national celebration along the 8,000-mile expedition route. I am pleased to commend the leadership of the gentleman from Nebraska (Mr. BEREUTER) for the hard work that he has invested on the front end of the journey, and we are hopeful that we will be able to have as much energy and activity in the Northwest to complement that effort.

The acquisition of the Louisiana Purchase was more than something that simply doubled the size of the United States. It was a purchase that helped us change our perceptions of our country and how we related to the rest of the world. It was a first step towards the United States becoming a truly global power with its bicoastal borders and the critical mass it had acquired. It also triggered some activities that are not part of perhaps some of our proudest moments in terms of our attitudes towards Native American citizens that frankly haunt us to this day. Tied up in that struggle as well was the question of slavery and how we added different chapters with each State being added to the union. And it was an activity that expanded our concept of the science of the time, the exploration adding to the geology, the botany, the geographical knowledge of the United States.

It is with the spirit of discovery, in fact, the expedition itself was labeled the Corps of Discovery, that I am hopeful over the next five years that this planning process will be something that enables people from around the country to admire, to be involved with themselves. I look forward to the work that all of us in Congress can do, taking advantage of the cultural and geologic resources along this route to make it worthy of the historic journey that took place almost two centuries ago.

Mr. MILLER of California. Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from Indiana (Mr. ROEMER).

Mr. ROEMER. I thank my friend from California for yielding time.

Mr. Speaker, I just want to very briefly associate myself with this commemorative toward our great leaders Lewis and Clark. I do not know that there could be any kind of qualification for getting up to speak on a matter before Congress. Nothing seems to make us better informed than reading a book. However, if you have read the book, it does not mean that you are knowledgeable enough to get up and speak on a particular issue. I, however, take great pride in having read Stephen Ambrose's "Undaunted Courage" about Lewis and Clark's great adventure across the United States in the 1803-1804 period, of intrepid and courageous exploration, of discovery as scientists, of documenting new kinds of plant life and animal life. It is a fascinating journey that Thomas Jefferson helped argue for funding from Congress and who believed in this exploration and this courageous, intrepid, adventuresome spirit that Americans have always had. They had it then in the 1800s, they had it when we started this country, they have it today in 1998 in so many different ways. I have taken great pride and excitement in reading this book by Stephen Ambrose, "Undaunted Courage," and just want to salute my colleagues for their hard work on this bill before us today.

I have also had the pleasure of being on the Lewis and Clark trail in Montana, in following some of their path along the Madison River, in going up to some of the passes that they went through, and in really admiring what they were not only able to endure but what they were able to discover and document and take down as history for us. I think it is proof, Mr. Speaker, that providence and God have been with America for a long time. Not only were Lewis and Clark lucky and blessed in their efforts, they were skilled and talented in these efforts, to plod their way and explore their way and invent their way across America. I am very excited about this bill and this Lewis and Clark trail.

Mrs. CHENOWETH. Mr. Speaker, I yield 4 minutes to the gentleman from Nebraska (Mr. BEREUTER), the author of this resolution.

(Mr. BEREUTER asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. BEREUTER. Mr. Speaker, I thank my colleague for yielding me this time. I rise in strong support of H.

Res. 144. This resolution which I introduced with the support of many of my friends and colleagues on both sides of the aisle expresses support for the bicentennial of the Lewis and Clark Expedition. It helps put a spotlight on the important activities which are planned to observe the 200th anniversary of Lewis and Clark's remarkable journey. I thank the Committee on Resources for permitting this resolution to come to the House floor. I particularly want to thank the distinguished majority leader the gentleman from Texas for his special assistance to this Member in bringing it to the House floor.

The resolution specifically expresses support for events which will be held in observance of the expedition at St. Louis, Missouri; at Portland and Fort Clatsop, Oregon; at Bismarck, North Dakota, where the Mandans helped the expedition survive a very difficult first winter on the journey; and at Council Bluff near present day Fort Calhoun, Nebraska, and at other potential locations. Council Bluff in Nebraska was the site, for example, of the first meeting between the Lewis and Clark Expedition and the leaders of American Indian tribes during the journey. This meeting was clearly one of the most noteworthy occasions of the expedition. The events during that council and the description of it undoubtedly influenced the U.S. military to later establish something called Cantonment, Missouri, near the site and later Fort Atkinson, the first U.S. military fort west of the Missouri River.

The resolution also expresses support for the work of the Lewis and Clark Bicentennial Council and governmental entities. In addition, it encourages participation in the bicentennial activities.

The story of this incredible expedition has appeal for Americans of all ages and backgrounds and presents an opportunity for a unifying experience for our country. In the coming months and years, the public will undoubtedly increase its demands for more information about Lewis and Clark and their bold and courageous adventures. Although the bicentennial activities will not officially start until 2003, it is important to lay the groundwork now. This resolution complements another Lewis and Clark measure passed by the House on September 9 when we approved H.R. 1560, a bill introduced by this Member with over 290 cosponsors which authorizes the minting of one-dollar and half-dollar coins to commemorate the bicentennial. These measures will play an important part not only recognizing the significance of the journey and its role it played in the Nation's development but also providing some financing to the bicentennial commission and the Interior Department.

When Thomas Jefferson took office in 1801, the United States had only 5.5 million people, all concentrated in the eastern third of the continent, primarily along the coast. As a result of the Louisiana Purchase in 1803, the size of the country nearly doubled and the stage was set for a period of unparalleled development and progress. But first the new acquisition had to be explored. President Jefferson chose Meriwether Lewis and William Clark to, quote, explore the Missouri River and such principal streams of it, as, by its course and communications with the waters of the Pacific Ocean, whether the Columbia, Oregon, Colorado, or any other river may offer the most direct and practicable water communication across this continent for the purposes of commerce.

Lewis and Clark departed St. Louis on May 14, 1804, and returned to St. Louis 28 months later, on September 23, 1806. They crossed 8,000 miles, many States. Along the way they encountered formidable challenges that could easily have thwarted their mission. However, they continued to keep their focus firmly on the ultimate goal.

This Member believes that passage of H.Res. 144 will draw increased attention to the planning and celebration of the upcoming important bicentennial activities in these States. As someone with a long-standing interest in the expedition and a member of the newly formed Lewis and Clark Caucus, this Member is pleased to have this resolution considered on the floor, thanking his colleagues on both sides of the aisle, particularly the gentleman from Oregon who helped me in securing the movement of this legislation, and to the Committee on Resources.

Mr. MILLER of California. Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as she may consume to the gentlewoman from Oregon (Ms. FURSE).

Ms. FURSE. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of House Resolution 144. It expresses the support of Congress for the celebrations that will take place all across America during the Lewis and Clark Expedition bicentennial. Celebratory preparations are under way throughout my district in anticipation of the bicentennial, particularly in Astoria and all of Clatsop County. As many people know, the Lewis and Clark Expedition spent the winter of 1805 at Fort Clatsop, Oregon, which is in my district. In 1958, Congress established the Fort Clatsop National Memorial to preserve and protect this unique place in America's history. The present memorial marks the spot where Meriwether Lewis, William Clark and the entire Corps of Discovery spent 106 days during the winter of 1805, difficult days. It is interesting to note that the decision to winter at Fort Clatsop was decided by a majority vote of the Corps of Discovery. That vote included the voices of an African-American and a Native American. Long before America would grapple with the right to vote for minorities, Lewis and Clark were exercising that purist form of democracy, proving once again that we get better decisions when all are at the table.

It has been estimated that more than half a million people will visit Clatsop

County and the Fort Clatsop National Memorial during the two bicentennial summers of 2004 and 2005. I was proud to help secure funding in TEA-21 to help our region plan for the upcoming celebration. In addition, I am working with our county commissioners, with the gentleman from Alaska (Mr. YOUNG) and with the gentleman from California (Mr. MILLER) on my legislation, H.R. 3378, which will allow the last piece of the Lewis and Clark trail known today as Sunset Beach to become part of the memorial itself. It is my hope we will be able to pass this bill before Congress adjourns for the year. The Lewis and Clark bicentennial will be a tremendous opportunity to reflect upon this unique and extraordinary achievement in American history.

I commend the gentleman from Nebraska (Mr. BEREUTER) for taking the time to highlight the upcoming bicentennial celebration with this important resolution, and I urge its passage.

Mr. MILLER of California. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mrs. CHENOWETH. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume. I just want to say that this has been a distinct privilege for me to be able to help manage this bill through the floor. This Member lived on the Clearwater River close to Ahsahka, Idaho, where Lewis and Clark traveled on that waterway right after one of the most difficult periods of time in their trip, when they nearly lost their life going over the Lolo Pass because of a lack of food supply and having to suffer through the elements. Yet, undaunted courage certainly was pulled out of those people in very difficult circumstances.

In the 14 years that I spent living on that Clearwater River, living next to Ahsahka, where Lewis and Clark finally made their way to this spit of land that came out where the Clearwater joined the North Fork River of the Clearwater River, Lewis and Clark spent the winter there and carved out new canoes and reconstituted their food supply. So it has been a place of honor in my way of thinking; and, certainly, as a western woman, this has indeed been a privilege to be able to carry the bill of the gentleman from Nebraska (Mr. BEREUTER) through. I must say that the bill is constructed, the resolution is constructed and written, in a very clear and concise way and that I know and I pray that in the future it will be interpreted just as the clear meaning of the wording of the resolution simply states.

Mr. POMEROY. Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of House Resolution 144 expressing the support of Congress in the celebration of the bicentennial of the historic Lewis and Clark Expedition. Nearly two hundred years ago, Congress played a role in this historic journey by financing a small part of the expedition which was charged with finding an all water route to the Pacific. Today, Congress can again play a role in one of the most remarkable and productive scientific and military exploring expeditions in all of American history by signaling its support for the bicentennial celebration activities and events.

The Corps of Discovery contributed greatly to our knowledge of the West, not only with respect to geography but also of the natural resources, flora, fauna and animals present. Recognizing the pivotal role the journey played in our nation's history and the inevitable movement westward, the National Lewis and Clark Bicentennial Council is playing a leading role in coordinating and planning a variety of activities and events to commemorate the bicentennial. In addition, many committees and advisory boards have been formed across the country and are diligently working to ensure that the Lewis and Clark expedition is highlighted not only in the states in which the Corps of Discovery transversed, but throughout the nation.

Nearly two hundred years after the Corps of Discovery, Americans of all ages have begun a national pilgrimage to follow the steps of Meriwether Lewis and William Clark. The success of the bicentennial commemorative activities planned all along the route will require the cooperation of all federal agencies, American Indian tribes, public officials and citizens alike. I believe it is important for all Americans to join in the celebration of this important American journey. We, as Members of Congress, must do all we can to support, promote and participate in the commemorative activities of the expedition, and I urge my colleagues to support the resolution.

Mrs. CHENOWETH. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. MILLER of Florida). The question is on the motion offered by the gentlewoman from Idaho (Mrs. CHENOWETH) that the House suspend the rules and agree to the resolution, H.Res. 144, as amended.

The question was taken.

Mrs. CHENOWETH. Mr. Speaker, I object to the vote on the ground that a quorum is not present and make the point of order that a quorum is not present.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 5 of rule I and the Chair's prior announcement, further proceedings on this motion will be postponed.

The point of no quorum is considered withdrawn.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mrs. CHENOWETH. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members have 5 legislative days to revise and extend their remarks and include extraneous material on H.Res. 144, as amended.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentlewoman from Idaho?

There was no objection.

SEC. 6. CALISTA NATIVE CORPORATION LAND EXCHANGE.

(a) CONGRESSIONAL FINDINGS.—Congress finds and declares that—

(1) the land exchange authorized by section 8126 of Public Law 102-172 should be implemented without further delay;

(2) the Calista Corporation, the Native Regional Corporation organized under the authority of the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act for the Yupik Eskimos of Southwestern Alaska, which includes the majority of the Yukon Delta National Wildlife Refuge—

(A) has responsibilities provided for by the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act to help address social, cultural, economic, health, subsistence, and related issues within the region and among its villages, including the viability of the villages themselves, many of which are remote and isolated; and

(B) has been unable to fully carry out such responsibilities;

(3) the implementation of the exchange referenced in this subsection is essential to helping Calista utilize its assets to carry out those responsibilities and to realize the benefits of the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act;

(4) the parties to the exchange have been unable to reach agreement on the valuation of the lands and interests in lands to be conveyed to the United States under section 8126 of Public Law 102-172; and

(5) in light of the foregoing, it is appropriate and necessary in this unique situation that Congress authorize and direct the implementation of this exchange as set forth in this section in furtherance of the purposes and underlying goals of the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act and the Alaska National Interest Lands Conservation Act.

(b) LAND EXCHANGE IMPLEMENTATION.—Section 8126 of Public Law 102-172 (105 Stat. 1206) is amended to read as follows:

“SEC. 8126. (a)(1) In exchange for lands, partial estates, and land selection rights identified in the document entitled ‘The Calista Conveyance and Relinquishment Document’, dated October 28, 1991, as amended September 22, 1998 (hereinafter referred to as ‘CCRD’), the United States will establish a property account for the Calista Corporation, a corporation organized under the laws of the State of Alaska, in the amount identified in the CCRD, and in accordance with the provisions of this Act.

“(2) The CCRD contains the land descriptions of the lands and interests in lands to be conveyed, the selections to be relinquished, the charges to entitlement, the quantity and class of entitlement to be transferred to the United States, the terms of the Kuskokwim Corporation Conservation Easement, and the amount that is authorized for the property account.

“(3) The covenants, terms, and conditions to be used in any transfers to the United States described in the CCRD shall be binding on the United States and the participating Native corporations and shall be a matter of Federal law.

“(b)(1) The aggregate values of such lands and interests in lands, together with compensation for the considerations set forth in congressional findings concerning the Calista Region and its villages, shall be the sum provided in section IX of the CCRD. The amounts credited to the property account described in this subsection shall not be subject to adjustment for minor changes in acreage resulting from preparation or correction of the land descriptions in the CCRD or the exclusion of any small tracts of land as a result of hazardous material surveys. The Secretary of the Interior shall maintain an accounting of the lands and interests in lands remaining to be conveyed or relinquished by Calista Corporation and the participating village corporations pursuant to this section. The Secretary of the Treasury on October 1, 1998, shall establish a property account on behalf of Calista Corporation.

“(2) The account shall be credited and available for use as provided in paragraph (4), according to the following schedule of percentages of the amount in section IX of the CCRD:

“(A) On October 1, 1999, and on October 1 of each year thereafter through October 1, 2005, the amount equal to 12.69 percent.

“(B) On October 1, 2007, the amount equal to 11.17 percent.

“(3)(A) Unless otherwise authorized by law, the aggregate amount of all credits to the account, pursuant to the schedule set forth in paragraph (2), shall be equal to the amount in section IX of the CCRD.

“(B) All amounts credited to the account shall be from amounts in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated and shall be available for expenditure without further appropriation and without fiscal year limitation.

“(4) The property account may not be used until all conveyances, relinquishments of selections, and adjustments to entitlements described in the CCRD have been made to and accepted by the United States. The Secretary of the Interior shall notify the Secretary of the Treasury when all requirements of the preceding sentence have been met. Immediately thereafter the Secretary of the Treasury shall comply with his duties under this paragraph including the computations of the amount in the account, the amount that may be expended in any particular Federal fiscal year, and the balance of the account after any transaction. The property account may be used in the same manner as any other property account held by any other Alaska Native Corporation.

“(5) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, Calista Corporation on its own behalf or on behalf of the village corporations identified in the CCRD, may assign any or all of the account upon written notification to the Secretary of the Treasury and the Secretary of the Interior.

“(6) The Secretary of the Treasury shall notify the Secretary of the Interior and Calista whenever there is a reduction in the property account, the purpose for such reduction and the remaining balance in the account. The Alaska State Office of the Bureau of Land Management shall be the official repository of such notices.

“(7) For the purpose of the determination of the applicability of section 7(i) of the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act (43 U.S.C. 1606(i)) to revenues generated pursuant to that section, such revenues shall be calculated in accordance with section IX of the CCRD.

“(8) The United States shall not be liable for the redistribution of benefits by the Calista Corporation to the participating Alaska Native village corporations pursuant to this section.

“(9) These transactions are not based on appraised property values and therefore shall not be used as a precedent for establishing property values.

“(10) Prior to the issuance of any conveyance documents or relinquishments and acceptance, the Secretary of the Interior and the participating Native corporations may, by mutual agreement, modify the legal descriptions included in the CCRD to correct clerical errors.

“(11) Property located in the State of Alaska that is purchased by use of the property account shall be considered and treated as conveyances of land selections under the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act (43 U.S.C. 1601 et seq.).

“(12) The conveyance of lands, partial estates and land selection rights and relinquishment or adjustments to entitlement made by the Alaska Native Corporations pursuant to this section and the use of the property account in the Treasury shall be treated as the receipt of land or any interest therein or cash in order to equalize the values of properties exchanged pursuant to section 22(f) of the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act (43 U.S.C. 1621(f)) as provided in the first sentence in section 21(c) of that Act (43 U.S.C. 1620(c)).

“(13) With respect to the content of the CCRD, the Secretary of the Interior, the Calista Regional Corporation, and the participating village corporations agree upon the lands, interests in lands, relinquishments

and adjustments to entitlement described therein that may be offered to the United States pursuant to this section. These parties also agree with the amounts to be made available in the property account once all conveyances and relinquishments are completed, and the parties agree with the needs set forth in the congressional findings in section 6(a) of the ANCSA Land Bank Protection Act of 1998. The parties do not necessarily agree on the hortatory statements, descriptions, and attributions of resource values which are included in the CCRD as drafted by Calista. But such disagreements will not affect the implementation of this section.

“(14) Descriptions of resource values provided for surface lands which are not offered in the exchange and will remain privately owned by village corporations form no part of the consideration for the exchange.”

SEC. 7. MINING CLAIMS.

Paragraph (3) of section 22(c) of the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act (43 U.S.C. 1621(c)) is amended—

(1) by striking out “regional corporation” each place it appears and inserting in lieu thereof “Regional Corporation”; and

SEC. 14. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the “ANCSA Land Bank Protection Act of 1998”.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Alaska (Mr. YOUNG) and the gentleman from California (Mr. MILLER) each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Alaska (Mr. YOUNG).

(Mr. YOUNG of Alaska asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. YOUNG of Alaska. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, H.R. 2000 is legislation I have introduced in consultation with the Alaskan Federation of Natives. Considerable time has been spent to resolve the Calista land exchange issue, and I want to thank all parties involved for their commitment to resolve this important land exchange for Calista.

This land exchange was authorized to provide Calista with a means of economic self-sufficiency pursuant to the purposes of ANCSA. Under Section 8126 of the Defense appropriations Bill, the Secretary of the Interior and Calista were to determine a mutual agreement value for Calista's land. However, the two parties have been unable to arrive at a mutually agreeable value. Section 6 of this bill will eliminate this impasse by establishing a total value to be credited to Calista's lands and interests, as Congress has had to do in numerous other instances in 1976. In doing so Congress, will simply be providing the figure with Calista and the Secretary of the Interior were unable to determine.

I have two letters of support for section 6, the Calista land exchange, from six conservation organizations. Mr. Speaker, these organizations stated their support for the Calista land exchange when the lands offered by Calista was 28,000 acres of surface lands and 182,000 acres of subsurface lands. Calista has gone further in their commitment to address conservation issues within the region by increasing their surface acres to 56,577 and subsurface to 161,938 acres. The land package includes an overall of 218,515 acres of land, one-third the size of Rhode Island. These five conservation organizations recognize the fish and wildlife habitat of lands offered for exchange by the Calista Corporation. All of these lands, interests in land and subsurface estates in the exchange are located within the Yukon Delta National Wildlife Refuge.

I would like to point out to the gentleman from California (Mr. MILLER), my esteemed colleague, that the white-fronted geese and pacific brant are only a couple of the species which migrate to California from the Yukon Delta National Wildlife Refuge. It appears to me that Mr. MILLER and I have birds of a feather which hold strong ties between our respective States. Let us hope this will carry over to the agreement of this important wildlife refuge land exchange.

Lastly, the language contained in Section 6 of the Calista land exchange was coauthored by the Department of Interior, and the Calista Corporation reached a consensus with this important land exchange in America. At the request of the Department, Calista Corporation provided legal descriptions of lands being exchanged, a conservation easement agreement and added more surface lands. This was accomplished after intense discussion and negotiation of the Department of Interior. The language is also a product of efforts by Calista and the Department of Interior to address issues which were raised by that Department, the Office of Management and Budget, the General Services Administration, the House Committee on the Budget and the Congressional Budget Office. I urge my colleagues to support this important exchange for the good of the environment on the terms which are very extensive and lengthy negotiations to address all parties concerned. I urge my colleagues again to support the passage of this legislation.

Mr. Speaker, I include the following for the RECORD:

CALISTA CONVEYANCE AND RELINQUISHMENT DOCUMENT (CCRD)

I. PURPOSE

The purpose of this document is to identify the lands, interests in lands, and entitlements to lands owned by Calista Corporation and three Native Village Corporations which are to be exchanged for property held by the U.S. Government or otherwise conveyed to the United States, pursuant to an agreement with the Calista Corporation and the participating Native Village Corporations. The Calista Corporation represents the largest rural Native population in Alaska and includes some of the poorest economic conditions in the States. Yet, under the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act formula, Calista received less land per capita than any other regional corporation.

The underlying purposes of the Calista land exchange, authorized by Section 8126 of P.L. 102-172, include—

(1) assisting Calista to convert its principal tangible asset, its lands, to property that can be used to help the Corporation remain viable, develop economically, and continue to carry out its responsibilities as envisioned in ANCSA to the people of the Calista Region; and

(2) helping to ensure and enhance the long-term conservation of Native-owned fish and wildlife habitat located within the boundaries of Yukon Delta National Wildlife Refuge.

The Calista land exchange authorizes the exchange of interests in land largely located within the boundaries of the Yukon Delta National Wildlife Refuge owned by Calista Corporation, NIMA Corporation, Nunapiglluraq Corporation, and The Kuskokwim Corporation (Alaska native Village Corporations) for other property owned by the federal government. The Calista exchange has been modeled on other post-ANCSA property settlements.

With respect to the content of the exchange, the Secretary of the Interior, the Calista Regional Corporation and the participating Native village corporations agree upon the lands, interests in lands, relinquishments, and adjustments to entitlement that may be offered to the United States pursuant to this document and enacting legislation consistent with its terms. The parties also agree with the amounts to be made available in the property account once all conveyances and relinquishments are completed and the needs which form the basis for such amounts. The parties do not necessarily agree on the hortatory statements and descriptions which are included in this document, but such disagreements will not affect the implementation of this exchange.

Descriptions of wildlife values are provided herein for some surface lands which are not offered in the exchange and which will remain privately owned by Native village corporations. Such surface lands and any wildlife values or other surface values of these lands form no part of the consideration for the exchange.

II THE ALASKA NATIONAL INTEREST LANDS
CONSERVATION ACT

The Calista land exchange involves interest in land which are largely located within the boundaries of a National conservation system unit established in 1980 by the Alaska National Interest Lands Conservation Act (ANILCA) (P.L. 96-487). Among other things, ANILCA significantly expanded the National Wildlife Refuge System in Alaska.

Among the purpose of ANILCA are these—
"to preserve unrivaled scenic and geological values associated with natural landscapes; to provide for the maintenance of sound populations of, and habitat for, wildlife species of inestimable value to the citizens of Alaska and the Nation, including those species dependent on vast relatively undeveloped areas;

to preserve in their natural state extensive unaltered Arctic tundra, boreal forest, and coastal rainforest ecosystems; to protect the resources related to subsistence needs. . . ."

Section 103(c) of ANILCA provides that if ". . . a Native Corporation . . . desires to convey any such lands, the Secretary may acquire such lands . . . and any such lands shall become part of the unit, and be administered accordingly."

ANILCA also provides that the purposes "for which the Yukon Delta National Wildlife Refuge is established and shall be managed include—

(i) to conserve fish and wildlife populations and habitats in their natural diversity including, but no limit to, shorebirds, seabirds, whistling swans, emperor, white-fronted and Canada geese, black brant and other migratory birds, salmon, muskox and marine mammals; . . .

(iii) to provide . . . the opportunity for continued subsistence uses by local residents . . ."

consistent with the purposes of ANILCA and the Yukon Delta National Wildlife Refuge, the lands in this exchange package will become part of the Refuge upon completion of the transactions authorized in the Calista land package.

III. THE CALISTA LAND EXCHANGE

The Calista Corporation is an Alaska Native Regional Corporation organized under authority of the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act (ANCSA) whose lands are located in Southwestern Alaska. It includes more than 50 Yupik Villages in the Yukon-Kuskokwim Delta.

The Calista land exchange involves a total of approximately 218,515 acres of land or interests in land, including 46,577 acres of surface fee and conservation easements protecting the surface resources and habitat, and approximately 208,515 acres of subsurface estate, all within the YDNWR as well as 10,000 acres of entitlement to surface fee which may be selected adjacent to the YDNWR. The actual acreage in the conveyances is substantially larger than this because the computation of acreage deletes lakes more than 50 acres in size and rivers more than 198 feet in width. Title to these water bodies will also be transferred to the United States if the water bodies are not navigable. The subsurface lands in this lands package are in a very deep sedimentary basin whose geology indicates the potential for hydrocarbon deposits. Thus far, exploration on Calista subsurface lands has been minimal and at relatively shallow depths. If significant hydrocarbon deposits are discovered, however, it would be unlikely that such lands would be available for exchange or acquisition in the future.

IV. FISH AND WILDLIFE HABITAT VALUES

All of the lands, interests in lands and subsurface estates in the exchange located are within the Yukon Delta National Wildlife Refuge in southwestern Alaska. Additionally, Calista Corporation is offering an entitlement to 10,000 acres of land. The Calista Region is a sedimentary basin created over the millennia by the flow of the Yukon and Kuskokwim Rivers.

The region is composed of extensive wetlands, marshes, some highlands and mountains, estuaries, streams and riverine areas. Because of the character of the land, it has been for centuries, and is today, a highly productive and principal nesting area for countless thousands of shorebirds, waterfowl, passerines and other wildlife. (See maps following page 4)

Some of the waterfowl and other birds inhabiting this region are: Spectacled Eider, Gyrfalcon, Tundra Swans, White-fronted Goose, Steller's Eider, Bristle thighed Curlew, Northern Goshawk, Swainson's Thrush, Golden Eagle, Snow Geese, Peregrine Falcon, Gray Cheeked Thrush, King Eider, Black Brant, Great Horned Owl, Blackpoll Warbler, Northern Pintail, Cackling Canada Goose, Emperor Goose, Canvasback, Wilson's Warbler, Arctic Tern, and Harlequin Duck.

Additionally, the Calista region is also home to wolves, brown and black bear, moose, caribou, otter, fox and many other species of wildlife, as well as all major species of salmon, grayling, sheefish, rainbow trout, dolly varden, blackfish, pike and four species of white fish.

According to the U.S.F.W.S. the following are a few of the superlatives describing the Yukon Kuskokwim Delta/Calista Region:

Up to 80% of the world population of Pacific black brant breed or nest on the coastal fringe of the Yukon Koskokwim Delta Region;

Virtually the entire breeding population of cackling Canada geese nest in the Region;

Approximately 90% of the world's population of emperor geese nest in the Region;

Almost all of the world's population of white-fronted geese nest in the Region;

Sixty percent of the world's breeding bristle-thighed curlew nest in the Region;

100% of the world's black turnstone population inhabit the Region;

Nesting by a majority of world's populations of Western Sandpipers and Pacific dunlins;

Highest diversity of the world's large shorebirds;

Over 800,000 ducklings, or approximately 50% of the statewide total, were produced from the region;

Eight species of raptors breed in this region.

Disclaimer: The information in this section regarding fish and wildlife habitat values of the Yukon Delta National Wildlife Refuge is intended to provide the reader with an overview of the values attendant to the Refuge itself and is not intended to relate those values to subsurface interests offered in this proposal. Also, the fish and wildlife values discussed in connection with subsurface parcels clearly relate and are intended to relate to the overlying surface estate regardless of whether the surface estate is included in this proposal. For detailed information regarding the birds which inhabit or have been identified as using the lands in specific parcels in this lands package, please refer to the document prepared by Calista, entitled "Background Information on Fish and Wildlife Habitat Resources of the Yukon-Kuskokwim Delta Region and the Calista Native Regional Corporation Land Exchange Parcels" as revised 1997, which is based on information gathered over the years from the Yupik Eskimos who inhabit the Region and other sources.

VII. CURRENT SOCIAL CONDITIONS

The state of living conditions for most of the Native people of the Calista Region can be difficult for outsiders to comprehend. Many of the basics of life which the rest of America takes for granted—running water, flush toilets, trash collection, paved roads, neighborhood schools, a doctor in the community, an ambulance in time of medical emergency, the fire department, a regular paycheck from a job, a public library—barely exist within the region. The following disturbing statistics reflect both causes and symptoms of the problems endemic to the region. The Calista Region has:

The highest infant mortality rate in the Nation;

A concentration of the population under the age of five, approximately 14.5%, among the highest in the Nation;

Rates of hepatitis, meningitis and tuberculosis that are among the highest in the Nation;

Higher invasive cervical cancer rates than the rest of the population, growing 335% at a time when rates for U.S. whites and blacks decreased over 40%;

High rates of alcoholism, drug abuse and domestic violence;

Extraordinarily high suicide rates: 10% of all young men will commit or attempt suicide by the age of 25;

Unemployment rates of between 60% and 90%;

Inadequate sanitation with limited running water or indoor plumbing facilities;

The second highest rate of multi-generational housing in Alaska, with 16.4% of the households containing three or more generations per household;

The highest rate of household overcrowding in Alaska, with nearly 81% of the houses in the Calista Region containing less than 300 square feet;

The lowest level of education of all Americans, Alaska Natives complete only an average of 9.3 years, compared to 12.5 years for all Americans; and Teen pregnancy rates of more than twice the national average.

The Calista land exchange is being pursued by the Calista Corporation as a key element in its efforts to remain a viable Native Regional corporation with the capacity to help effectively address these social and health issues. The exchange will help the Calista Corporation work for improvements in basic community infrastructure and facilities in the region. In the Calista Region, there are, at present, few economic resources other than the fish and wildlife upon which to base the economy. In addition, the exchange has the potential to create business opportunities and expand employment for the Region, thereby providing individuals with greater means to help themselves and their communities.

The Calista Region has never experienced economic booms like other areas of the state. The Calista Region and its residents were left out of the Trans-Alaska pipeline construction boom. The Region was too far away to provide services and village residents had neither the skills nor the trade union membership necessary to get the jobs available during construction of the pipeline. As local economies in other areas of the state grew throughout the 1970's and 1980's, the Calista Region's economy, with the exception of construction, actually declined and local residents became even more dependent on state and federal monies for survival.

Government spending is the single most important component of the Regional economy, as is the case in much of rural Alaska. The stability of the Calista Region's economy has been largely dependent upon outside public funding; consequently the economy is very vulnerable to state or federal budgetary and program adjustments. In 1990, it was estimated that state and federal expenditures accounted for approximately 65% of the total wages earned by the residents of the Calista Region.

The growth of government, trade and services sectors has resulted in more white collar/professional jobs in the Region. However, most men living in the villages are trained as blue collar workers and laborers so the Region has a disproportionately high amount of blue collar labor available for the few labor related jobs available. As a result, new white collar jobs are often filled by outsiders coming into the Region with the necessary skills.

VIII. PREHISTORY OF YUKON DELTA REGION

The lands of this Region were probably inhabited from at least 10,000 years ago to about 7,000 years ago by people of the Paleo-Arctic Tradition. From about 7,000 years ago to about 4,000 years ago people of the Northern Archaic Tradition lived in the area. This tradition was followed by the Arctic Small Tool Tradition, 4,000 to 3,000 years ago, and by the Norton Tradition, from 3,000 to 1,000 years ago. The archaeological record documents the lengthy human habitation of the area and more importantly, the cultural roots of the Region's contemporary Yupik inhabitation. The cultural ancestors of present-day Western Region Yupik Eskimos were living in and utilizing the subsistence resources of the Region since about A.D. 1000.

While the Refuge has moderate populations of mammals, including small furbearers, moose, caribou, and recently re-established musk-ox, the primary wildlife resource is the enormous populations of ducks, geese, swans, shorebirds, and water birds that nest on the Delta. An estimated 100 million waterfowl, shorebirds, and sea birds representing over 50 species use the Delta for nesting and for resting and feeding during migration. A large percentage of the migrating birds of the Pacific Flyway originate from the Yukon Delta. (See maps in Appendix C).

The importance of the Delta as nesting grounds for North American waterfowl increases yearly as productive prairie pothole nesting habitats in the United States and Canada are drained for agriculture or are lost to drought.

IX. LAND TRANSACTION ACCOUNTING

The accounting, and, to the extent necessary, the establishment of a property account required by subsection (c) of Section 8126 of P.L. 102-172, upon relinquishment and conveyance by Calista (and where relevant, The Hamilton Corporation, The Kuskokwim Corporation, or NIMA Corporation) of the lands and interest in lands in this document shall be based on and credited with, respectively, a total amount of $39.4 million for the lands interests in lands and other considerations referenced in this document. For purposes of Section 7(i) of the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act (43 U.S.C. 1606(i)), "Revenues" are only those realized in excess of $20 million from the compensation received by Calista under Section 8126 subsection (b)(1) as amended for subsurface estate listed in the Calista Conveyance and Relinquishment Document.

X. DESCRIPTION OF THE LANDS, INTEREST IN LANDS AND ENTITLEMENTS TO LAND TO BE CONVEYED

HAMILTON/YUKON DELTA AREA—7,135 ACRES

Location. The Hamilton parcel is located near the delta complex at the mouth of the Yukon River between Apoon Pass and Nanvaranak Slough. It is approximately 20 miles south of Norton Sound.

General Description. The Hamilton parcel consists of 7135 acres of combined surface and subsurface estate. The lands are part of the wet muskeg coastal plain with slough, lake and pond habitats. Several small sloughs head in the parcel and dozens of small lakes and ponds and their adjacent marshes and wetlands are scattered throughout the parcel. Most of the land is less than 20 feet above sea level and the dwarf tundra vegetation is underlain by sand and silty flood plain material. The southern part of the parcel contains some areas of deciduous shrub land and has more extensive grassy marshlands and riverine habitats. The parcel is five miles south of the Yukon River Delta unit of the historic Clarence Rhode Wildlife Range and the abandoned Village of Hamilton.

Refuge Values of the Surface. The chief habitat and wildlife value of the parcel is waterfowl nesting. The parcel is contiguous to coastal plain habitat to the north and west, and is used by geese, swans, sandhill cranes, ducks, loons, and numerous shorebirds, including curlews, sandpipers, and plovers. Maps of species distribution by density blocks, produced by U.S. Fish and Wildlife, show the area to have medium range densities for pintail ducks, scaup, and tundra swans: one to four birds per square mile, and up to one per square mile densities for Canada geese, Arctic loons, and sandhill cranes. Other nesting birds include white-fronted geese, scoters, shovellers, and mallards. Shorebirds of several species are common to abundant. Whitefish, sheefish (inconnu), and northern pike are common in the sloughs and larger lakes. Furbearers such as mink, otter, muskrat, beaver, Arctic and red fox are abundant, but large mammals are rare due to the lack of protective cover. The land has been assigned a medium priority rank in the Alaska Priority System.

Hamilton Subsurface. The subsurface beneath the Hamilton surface lands is part of the Yukon Delta/Norton Sound Sedimentary Basin. Calista leased the Yukon Delta subsurface lands to Amoco Exploration in 1978. These lands have also had several generations of seismic survey work since the early 1970's and the area continues to receive oil industry attention.

HAMILTON PARCEL (NUNAPIGLLURAQ CORPORATION AND CALISTA CORPORATION LANDS)

Nunapiglluraq Corporation (for the village of Hamilton) will convey to the United States of America the surface estate for the following described lands that it received in Interim Conveyance No. 562, dated October 28, 1982. Calista Corporation will convey to the United States of America the subsurface estate for the following described lands that it received in Interim Conveyance No. 563, dated October 28, 1982. Nunapiglluraq Corporation entitlement to lands under Section 12 (a) and Calista Corporation rights under Section 14(f) of ANCSA will be reduced by the acreage specified in the below described legal description.

T. 32 N., R. 78 W.

Sec. 36.

Containing approximately 960 acres.

Aggregating approximately 7,135 acres.

DALL LAKE AREA—12,486 ACRES

Location. The Dall Lake parcel is located along the southeastern border of Dall Lake southeast of Bethel, Alaska, about 30 miles from the Bering Sea waters of Etolin Strait. It borders the eastern boundary of the Nelson Island unit of the Clarence Rhode National Wildlife Range.

General Description. The Dall Lake parcel is a surface and subsurface selection of approximately 12,486 acres. This parcel consists of low elevation wetlands dotted with innumerable lakes and ponds along the southeastern border of Dall Lake, an extremely large inland lake covering more than 150 square miles. Wet muskeg tundra vegetation and lake margins characterize the habitat at Dall Lake.

Refuge Values of the Surface. The Dall Lake parcel lies within the Yukon-

Kuskokwim lowlands unit of the Yukon Delta NWR. This unit is largely wetlands, habitat for a diversity of fish and wildlife including geese, ducks, swans, shorebirds, moose, caribou, many species of fur bearers, ptarmigan, and many other bird and mammal species.

The area is an important producer of ducks and is significant as a staging area for thousands of snow geese migrating to and from their nesting grounds on Wrangell Island in the Soviet Far East. US Fish & Wildlife Service has indicated high scaup nesting densities of four to 12 birds per square mile, and pintail and scoter densities of one to four per square mile in the area. Also occurring at densities of one to four birds per square mile are tundra swans, Canada geese, Arctic loons, and sandhill cranes. Other species noted in aerial surveys within the parcel area were red-throated loons, white-fronted geese, old squaw ducks, and mallards. Both shorebirds and ptarmigan are common in the area.

Approximately 30 musk oxen use the Dall Lake area year around. These musk oxen are part of the growing 100-head mainland herd established on Nelson Island which is currently expanding its range to inland parts of the refuge. Fur bearers such as mink, otter, muskrat, and red fox are common in the Dall Lake area and are important subsistence resources. The lakes and waterways contain resident Arctic char, whitefish, northern pike, cisco, and burbot, all used by villagers for subsistence. The land has been assigned a high priority in the Alaska Priority System.

Subsurface Values. The subsurface beneath the Dall Lake surface lands is in the central portion of the Bethel/Kuskokwim Delta Sedimentary Basin. Calista leased the Bethel Basin lands to Shell Exploration in 1974. Like the Yukon Delta area, these lands have had several generations of seismic survey work since the early 1970's and the area continues to receive oil industry attention. In 1962 a single test well was placed on the flank of what is now defined as the Bethel Basin. In the future it is likely that this sedimentary basin, which is nearly the size of Oklahoma, will receive more exploration.

DALL LAKE PARCEL (NIMA CORPORATION AND CALISTA CORPORATION LANDS)

The legal description below describes lands validly selected by NIMA Corporation (for the village of Mekoryuk) under Section 12(a) of ANCSA. NIMA Corporation will file an irrevocable prioritization with the Bureau of Land Management for all the lands described below. NIMA Corporation will relinquish any and all selections pursuant to Section 12(a) and 12(b) of ANCSA for the below described lands. NIMA Corporation entitlement to lands under Section 12(a) of ANCSA will be reduced by the acreage specified in the below described legal description. Upon filing of the irrevocable prioritization and relinquishment by NIMA Corporation, rights to the subsurface estate in the lands described below, which would accrue to Calista Corporation pursuant to Section 14(f) of ANCSA, are extinguished and Calista Corporation will not be entitled to substitute lands elsewhere by virtue of the extinguishment. Additionally Calista Corporation shall file a relinquishment to the in-lieu selections under Serial Number AA-8099-1 top filed on any lands described below that are identified for sale to the United States of America. Aggregating approximately 12,486 acres.

NIMA AREA—9,958 ACRES

Location. The NIMA parcel adjoins the Dall Lake parcel on its northern border. It is located near the southeastern shore of Dall Lake, southeast of Bethel, Alaska, about 30 miles from the Bering Sea waters of Etolin Strait.

General Description. The NIMA parcel is a surface and subsurface conveyance of approximately 9,958 acres. This parcel consists of low elevation wetlands and lakes and ponds near the southeastern shore of Dall Lake, an extremely large inland lake covering more than 150 square miles. Wet muskeg tundra vegetation and lake margins characterize the habitat at Dall Lake.

Refuge Values of the Surface. The NIMA parcel has the same habitat and subsurface attributes as the Dall Lake parcel, with which it is contiguous. Therefore, the Refuge and Subsurface values are the same as for the adjoining Dall Lake parcel.

NIMA PARCEL (NIMA CORPORATION AND CALISTA CORPORATION LANDS)

NIMA Corporation (for the village of Mekoryuk) will convey to the United States of America the surface estate for the following described lands it received in Interim Conveyance No. 453, dated November 20, 1981. Calista Corporation will convey the subsurface estate to the United States of America for the following described lands that it received in Interim Conveyance No. 454, dated November 20, 1981. Additionally Calista Corporation shall file a relinquishment to the in-lieu selections under Serial Number AA-8099-1 top filed on any lands described below that are identified for sale to the United States of America. HOOPER BAY AREA—21,190 ACRES

Location. The Hooper Bay parcel is located on Dall Point; Kokechik Bay is on the north, Hooper Bay on the south, and the Bering Sea to the west. It is adjacent to the Clarence Rhode National Wildlife Range unit of the Yukon Delta National Wildlife Refuge on its eastern border.

General Description. The Hooper Bay parcel consists of subsurface estate. The surface is owned by Sea Lion Corporation and is not offered as a part of this proposal. The surface estate is coastal plain with innumerable small ponds and lakes and several small sloughs. Most of the parcel is below 50 feet in elevation. Long shore sand spits form northern and southern extensions of the land, and dunes form Dall Point itself. The village of Hooper Bay is located at the mouth of Napareayak Slough on Hooper Bay.

Habitat Values of the Surface. Village corporation lands overlying the offered subsurface estate include Kokechik Bay frontage with some of the highest value habitat rankings on the Yukon Wildlife Delta Refuge. Although acquisition of the subsurface estate will prevent development of subsurface resources and any related disruption of the surface, the village corporation may develop the surface estate. These lands are biologically productive, tide-influenced marshlands critical to the Arctic nesting geese species. High densities of nesting emperor, white fronted, and cackling Canada geese utilize this rich marshland, and it is also important for nesting swans, cranes, ducks, loons and abundant numbers of several species of shorebirds. Northern pintails in the coastal zone occur at three times the density that they occur in the interior delta, averaging four to 12 per square mile in F&WS aerial surveys. Scaup also occur at these densities and other ducks such as old squaw, spectacled and common eider, scoters, shovellers, and mallards also utilize the habitat. The mudflats and sand spits in both bays are vital feeding and staging areas for vast numbers of migrating waterfowl and shorebirds.

Subsurface Values. These lands have been subject to oil and gas leases twice in the recent past. The geology is permissive of several mineral deposit types; however, there are no known occurrences of minerals in this poorly explored Region.

HOOPER BAY PARCEL (CALISTA CORPORATION LANDS)

Calista Corporation will convey the subsurface estate to the United States of America for the following described lands that it received in Interim Conveyances Nos. 511, dated May 28, 1982, and 579, dated December 22, 1982. The surface estate of these lands is being retained by Sea Lion Corporation (for the village of Hooper Bay). Calista Corporation rights under Section 14(f) of ANCSA will be reduced by the acreage specified in the below described legal description. The surface acreage charged against Sea Lion Corporation 12(a) entitlement will not be affected.

SCAMMON BAY AREA—77,512 ACRES

Location. The Scammon Bay parcel is located on the Bering Sea coast at Scammon Bay on the Yukon-Kuskokwim Delta.

General Description. The Scammon Bay parcel is a large tract (25 miles long by up to 12 miles across) of subsurface estate, whose surface estate is privately owned by Askinuk Corporation, the Native corporation of Scammon Bay village, is not involved in this conveyance. The parcel includes 77,512 acres of conveyed subsurface estate and remaining subsurface entitlements at Scammon Bay. The parcel includes about 20 miles of Bering Sea coastline.

The surface overlying this subsurface parcel consists of several distinct habitats. There is a prominent, rocky, mountainous upland to the south which is used by upland ground-nesting birds such as ptarmigan, rock sandpipers, golden and semi-palmated plovers, short-eared owls, and jaegers. Steep rocky bluffs, fast, clear streams, and small sheltered bays characterize the parcel's 14 miles of Bering Sea shoreline on the southern shore of the bay. The mountains rise to an elevation of 1,465 feet within the parcel. The intrusive volcanic rock that forms the mountains is useful as quarry material and is currently being extracted for an airport improvement project at the village of Scammon Bay. The southern border of the parcel is adjacent to the Kokechik Bay/Paimuit unit of the Clarence Rhode Unit of the YDNWR which has some of the most significant habitat values on the Yukon-Kuskokwim Delta National Wildlife Refuge due to its intensive use by Arctic nesting geese species.

To the north, the overlying habitat is a flat coastal plain utilized by Arctic nesting geese such as the endangered white-fronted geese, emperor geese and cackling Canada geese. The coastal plain is dissected by the large, shallow meanders of the Kun River and several smaller tributaries including the Kikneak and Ear Rivers. Habitat includes tidal sloughs and estuaries, beach ridges and swales, lake and pond shores, and sedge meadows important to nesting and brood-rearing.

Habitat Values of the Surface. The offered Scammon Bay surface parcel underlies Native land in the delta coastal plain unit of the Yukon Delta NWR. Although acquisition of the subsurface estate will prevent development of subsurface resources and any related disruption of the surface, the village corporation may develop the surface estate. The dominant feature of this unit is vast wetlands characterized by thousands of thaw lakes and ponds underlain by permafrost. The freeze-thaw cycle coupled with regular tidal and riverine flooding maintain a herbaceous wetland that is excellent waterfowl habitat. It is considered the best goose-brant nesting area in North America. Historically, one half of the continental populations of brant nested on the coastal fringe, as do nearly the entire populations of cackling Canada and emperor geese. Most of the Pacific flyway population of white-fronted geese also nest here. In addition to cackling Canada geese, two other subspecies of Canada geese—both Taverner's and lesser Canada geese—are also found within this unit. The three subspecies appear to favor slightly different zones with cacklers nesting in a ten mile wide band closest to the sea, Taverner's moving inland slightly, and lesser Canada's somewhat more inland.

These zones, however, do overlap. The area is also considered part of the largest and most important shorebird habitat in the Pacific Flyway. It is the largest single expanse of intertidal habitat in North or South America, and provides the major breeding grounds for North American populations of black turnstone, dunlin, western sandpiper, rock sandpiper, and bar-tailed godwit, as well as being an important staging area for bristle-thighed curlews.

The periodic flooding of the tidal marshes of the coastal plain creates a rich food source for nesting and rearing young and contributes to goose, swan, and crane densities of one to 12 per square mile with heaviest nesting densities along the coast (US Fish & Wildlife aerial surveys). Pintail and scaup (four to 12 per square mile), scoter (one to four per square mile), old squaw, spectacled eiders, loons (up to 12 per square mile), and shorebirds also nest on the coastal plain. Mink, otter, muskrat, beaver, and Arctic and red fox are common to abundant.

Subsurface Values. These lands have been subject to oil and gas leases twice in the recent past. The geology is permissive of several mineral deposit types; however, little is known of the occurrence of minerals in this poorly explored Region. The known current value of the subsurface estate in the Scammon Bay area is based to a large extent on the ready supply of sand, gravel and rock. This area is the only local source for these materials in a Region where such materials are scarce and costly.

SCAMMON BAY PARCEL (CALISTA CORPORATION LANDS)

Calista Corporation will convey the subsurface estate to the United States of America for the following described lands that it received in Interim Conveyances Nos. 573, dated November 19, 1982, and 959, dated September 28, 1984. The surface estate of these lands is being retained by Askinuk Corporation (for the village of Scammon Bay). Calista Corporation rights to lands under Section 14(f) of ANCSA will be reduced by the acreage specified in the below described legal description. The surface acreage charged against Askinuk Corporation 12(a) entitlements will not be affected.

KUSILVAK AREA—62,236 ACRES

Location. The Kusilvak parcel is located on the Black River several miles west of the Kusilvak Mountains and approximately twenty miles from the Bering Sea.

General Description. This parcel is a subsurface estate and subsurface entitlement of 63,236 acres. It includes 41,688 acres of conveyed subsurface estate and 21,548 acres of remaining subsurface entitlements. The surface estate is owned by Sea Lion Corporation and is not part of the lands to be conveyed. The Black River, a major waterway, runs for about 15 miles through the parcel. The parcel is characterized by coastal lowlands and river flood plains with many large lakes and innumerable small lakes and ponds. The Black River has formed numerous sloughs, oxbows, and cutoff channels.

Habitat Values of the Surface. The offered Kusilvak subsurface parcel underlies Native lands whose chief habitat and wildlife value is waterfowl nesting. Although acquisition of the subsurface estate will prevent development of subsurface resources and any related disruption of the surface, the village corporation may develop the surface estate. The Native lands are used by Canada geese, swans, loons, cranes, and many species of ducks, as well as shorebirds. Population densities of northern pintails and tundra swans have been mapped at 4 to 12 per square mile based on USF&W aerial surveys. Canada geese, scaup, scoter, cranes, and loons are common. Whitefish, sheefish (inconnu), and northern pike are important resources of the Black River and are heavily used for subsistence by nearby villages. Fur bearers such as mink, otter, Arctic and red fox are abundant in the parcel. There is moderate potential for summer and winter range for the expanding mainland musk-ox herd, which is occasionally seen in the southern part of the parcel.

Subsurface Values. These lands have been subject to oil and gas leases twice in the recent past. The geology is permissive of several mineral deposit types however there is little known about mineralization in this poorly explored Region. The current known value of the subsurface in the Kusilvak area is based to a large extent on the ready supply of sand, gravel and rock.

KUSILVAK PARCEL (CALISTA CORPORATION LANDS)

Calista Corporation will convey the subsurface estate to the United States of America for the following described lands that it received in Interim Conveyance No. 511, dated May 28, 1982. The surface estate of these lands is being retained by Sea Lion Corporation (for the village of Hooper Bay). Calista Corporation rights under Section 14(f) of ANCSA will be reduced by the acreage specified in the below described legal description. The surface acreage charged against Sea Lion Corporation 12(a) entitlement will not be affected.

KUSKOKWIM AREA—16,998 ACRES

Location. This tract is located west and southwest of Whitefish Lake, which is west of Aniak, Alaska.

General Description. This tract consists of open tundra with abundant lakes and ponds. The tract includes a conservation easement on the surface estate, which is owned by the Kuskokwim Corporation, a village corporation, and Calista Corporation's subsurface estate in the corresponding acreage.

Refuge Values of the Surface. The Whitefish Lake area is generally upland tundra with some associated wetland habitat. This is a staging area for waterfowl in the spring and fall. Unlike much of the delta, black spruce stands grow on this parcel, which harbors passerines, raptors, owls, and eagles.

The area provides habitat for populations of moose and brown and black bear. The Mulchatna caribou herd winters near Whitefish Lake. White fronted and Canada geese visit the area, as well as several species of puddle and diving ducks, including canvas back, scoter, and scaup. Fur-bearers including mink, fox, and wolves utilize the area. The land has been assigned a medium to low priority rank in the U.S.F.W.S. Refuge Priority System.

Subsurface Values. Whitefish Lake is at the eastern end of the Bethel Basin, which is prospective for hydrocarbons. There are reports of gas seeps at Whitefish Lake. The area lies just west of the mouth of the gold placer bearing Ophir Creek, where active mining claims exist.

SECTION 14(h)(8) ENTITLEMENT—10,000 ACRES

This entitlement is to surface and subsurface estate and can be selected from Federal lands within the Calista Region. Calista Corporation is currently under-selected under subsection 14(h)(8). It is Calista's position that because this entitlement predates expansion of the Yukon Delta National Wildlife Refuge by ANILCA, Calista retains the right to select in those portions of the Refuge which were not withdrawn prior to ANILCA. The U.S.F.W.S. disagrees and asserts that Section 304 of ANILCA bars the exercise of selection rights within the refuge. Even if the U.S.F.W.S. position is correct, the entitlement could be used to select lands adjacent to the Refuge.

The 14(h)(8) entitlement will be used to select Federal lands which contain prospective oil and gas horizons, potential mineral deposits, or surface estate development potential, such as real estate projects, hydroelectric power, and commercial uses such as fish processing.

Calista is currently leasing several 14(h)(8) tracts to various mineral exploration companies. Federal acceptance of this entitlement will help limit potential adverse impacts on the Refuge.

CALISTA CORPORATION 14(h)(8) ENTITLEMENT

Calista Corporation agrees to the extinguishment of 10,000 acres of its Section 14(h)(8) entitlement under ANCSA.

Recognizing that the various parcels being conveyed by Nunapiglluraq, NIMA, Kuskokwim, and Calista Corporation, which are described above, have not been surveyed, the Corporations affected shall neither receive any gain nor bear any loss, as a result of any future survey of these lands.

In those instances in which Calista Corporation is conveying the subsurface estate under retained or selected village Corporations surface lands, Calista Corporation agrees that it shall neither receive any gain nor bear any loss, as a result of any future survey of the surface of these lands.

Pursuant to Section 901 of ANILCA, 43 U.S.C. 1631 as amended, the submerged beds of meanderable lakes, rivers, or streams have been estimated using Bureau of Land Management Master Title Plats and will not be charged against the acreage entitlement of ANCSA corporations participating in this legislation. Upon acquisition of uplands which abut or surround non-navigable lakes, rivers, or streams, title to the lands under said water bodies attributable to the uplands conveyed to the United States shall vest in the United States.

The term in-lieu refers to the right of the Regional Corporation established under Section 123(a)(1) to select the subsurface estate in an equal acreage from outside the boundaries of refuges established prior to ANCSA.

Any lands hereafter conveyed by the United States to any person pursuant to the Alaska Native Allotment Act or Section 905 of ANILCA or any amendment or supplement to either such statute from the lands conveyed or relinquished to the United States pursuant to this contract shall not cause any adjustment in the acreage charged to the entitlement of any of the corporations participating in this contract nor shall any additional entitlement accrue to any of the foregoing corporations by virtue of any such conveyance by the United States.

THE CONSERVATION FUND.

Shepherdstown, WV, September 22, 1995.

Hon. TED STEVENS,

U.S. Senate, Washington, DC.

DEAR SENATOR STEVENS: As I understand it, you are considering legislative steps to implement the land exchange authorized in P.L. 102-172 for the benefit of the Calista Corporation and of the Yukon Delta National Wildlife Refuge. I am writing to you to voice my support for efforts in Congress to complete this exchange, which I believe would be of substantial benefit to the conservation of wildlife refuge resources in the Yukon Delta region.

By way of background, as you may know, I was with the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service (USFWS) for 24 years. Three of those years were spent as the Alaska Regional Director of the USFWS from 1983 until 1987 and two years as the Associate Director in Washington, D.C. Since my retirement from government, I have served as the Director of Science for the Conservation Fund, a publicly supported non-profit organization dedicated to advancing land and water conservation.

From studying the Calista land exchange, it appears that approximately 28,000 acres of fee or fee entitlement would be involved and 182,000 acres of subsurface estate. Given the nature of the lands in the Yukon Delta region, acquiring the subsurface estate as proposed will go a long way toward conserving the resources of the surface estate which contains critical fish and wildlife habitat in the northern sector of the Pacific Flyway. This is a wildlife refuge of tremendous resources clearly worthy of special conservation efforts.

The exchange would make productive and creative use of certain excess or surplus government property in exchange for lands and interests in lands to be conserved. This seems to be a sensible approach to assist conservation while at the same time providing a means to enable an Alaska Native Corporation to serve the most populous, undeveloped and the poorest Native region in the state. This is especially true considering the few dimes on the excess or surplus property dollar often associated with the sale of such lands in the Federal portfolio.

I know that it has been difficult bringing this exchange to a successful conclusion. I believe, as you apparently do, that the time has come to resolve this in an expeditious way that is fair and reasonable for the landowner and for the government. As in the past, when a process gets so bogged down for whatever reason, that is it unable to deal fairly and effectively with an issue, it is likely that the Congress will need to step in to help achieve an equitable resolution. It appears that is the case here.

Thank you again for your consideration of my views on this matter and I strongly urge you and your colleagues to take action soon to implement this land exchange.

Sincerely,

ROBERT E. PUTZ, PH.D.

NATIONAL AUDUBON SOCIETY,
Anchorage, AK, July 10, 1996.

Hon. DON YOUNG,
House Resources Committee,
Longworth House Office Building,
Washington, DC.

I'm writing on behalf of the National Audubon Society including its 2,200 Alaska members to support your legislative efforts to achieve a land exchange authorized in P.L. 102-172 for the benefit of the Calista Corporation on the Yukon Delta National Wildlife Refuge.

Audubon recognizes the Yukon Delta National Wildlife Refuge as among the premier waterfowl production areas on the continent. Its wetland habitats produce an annual fall flight of geese, ducks and swans that benefit thousands of hunters and other wildlife enthusiasts throughout the Pacific Flyway. Most importantly, these waterfowl along with millions of other migratory birds, fish and game animals constitute the mainstay of the region's subsistence economy.

After having worked with Calista and other partners for some 10 years on the Yukon-Kuskokwim Delta Goose Management Plan, we are convinced that the majority of their stockholders fully realize how essential the protection of fish and wildlife habitat through flyway-wide cooperation is to the future of their people and the wildlife that grace their lives. Through the goose management plan, and with Calista's cooperation, we are achieving great success in restoring seriously depleted goose populations to healthy levels. The proposed land exchange will further enhance these and other joint efforts to conserve refuge fish and wildlife.

We know that Calista has worked long and hard to negotiate a fair and equitable administrative land exchange with the Department of the Interior, but to no avail. Thus it appears congressional action is required to resolve the matter in a way that is most fair to Calista stockholders while providing greater protection to refuge resources of great state and national significance. We believe this can be accomplished by exchanging approximately 28,000 acres of surface and 182,000 acres of subsurface estate for certain excess or surplus government properties as P.L. 102-172 provides. With federal acquisition monies becoming increasingly scarce, this seems an innovative and practical approach to better conserve our nation's wildlife heritage while helping the Calista Corporation and its stockholders better secure their economic future. In other words, this should be a win-win solution for all concerned.

Thank you for your leadership on this important issue, Congressman Young, and for your consideration of our views.

Sincerely,

DAVID R. CLINE,
Senior Wildlife Counselor.

THE COASTAL COALITION,
Anchorage, AK, June 24, 1996.

Speaker NEWT GINGRICH,
Rayburn House Office Building,
Washington, DC.

DEAR SPEAKER GINGRICH: I am writing to you in strong support of the Calista land exchange in H.R. 2506 and urge that you act on this measure as quickly as possible. As a long time resident of Alaska and someone concerned with conservation and sustainable economic development, I cannot overstate to you how important this exchange is—to the people and the resources of the Calista region.

The Calista land exchange involves outstanding fish and wildlife habitat located within the Yukon Delta National Wildlife Refuge (YDNWR). The Yukon Delta is one of the most unique and productive delta ecosystems in the world. And, it is a place of my heart.

Twenty years ago, I first experienced the Yukon Delta as my brother and I paddled by canoe over two thousand miles from the Great Slave Lake in the Northwest Territories of Canada across the old fur-trade route to the Yukon river, and then down to the Bering Sea. To us, the Yukon Delta had become an almost mythical destination. But, by the time we had reached the delta, we had become excited about "ending" our expedition, sponsored by Old Town Canoe Company, and we were eager to fly out. What we found there surprised and delighted both of us—a gentle and calm beauty and abundance neither of us had anticipated. This was, in our two-thousand mile journey, one of the most special places we had encountered. We decided to stay awhile.

Later, as the University of Alaska's marine extension agent for western Alaska for several years based in Kotzebue. I returned to the area many times attempting to help the local people develop a commercial economy. I came to realize then what I learned at the end of our canoe expedition—that the highest and best use of this delta was in preserving it intact, just as it was.

This is something that I think the local people came to realize long ago. Thousands of geese, ducks, loons, cranes, and swans, as well as seabirds and shorebirds migrate to this spectacular refuge every summer to breed and raise their young. The wetlands that exist on the Calista inholdings with the refuge provide critical habitat for many species of birds, fish, and mammals, making these areas an integral part of the ecosystem. Because wildlife do not often subscribe to politically constructed boundaries, any consideration for conserving this extraordinary ecosystem as a national wildlife refuge must include the Calista lands. It is crucial that Calista lands be protected in a manner consistent with the management objectives of the refuge.

Unlike some Alaska Native corporations, it has been very difficult for the native people of the Calista region to translate their land endowment into financial capital that can be used to provide shareholder dividends and to develop real, long-term cash economies.

Thus, the exchange proposed in H.R. 2505 is somewhat sublime—surplus federal property for conservation. It could well become the U.S. version of the debt-for-nature exchanges now underway between international lending institutions and third-world countries to preserve dwindling habitat.

This exchange, if approved, will help to protect ancestral lands and wildlife habitat, and it will provide Calista the money with which to hopefully jumpstart profitable ventures elsewhere. I hope your action might also help alleviate other social problems in the region, such as the alarmingly high rates of suicide, infant mortality, hepatitis, meningitis, tuberculosis, alcoholism and unemployment.

This is a chance to do something right, that will be remembered as such in history. Seldom do we get such a chance. It is my sincere hope that this exchange will be the first of many, bringing conservation, social, cultural, and economic benefits to rural Alaska.

I urge that you take immediate action to ensure that this, and many other similar exchanges, are enacted.

Sincerely,

RICK STEINER.

DUCKS UNLIMITED INC.,
Washington, DC, June 21, 1996.

Hon. DON YOUNG,
Hon. GEORGE MILLER,
Committee on Resources, House of Representatives,
Washington, DC.

DEAR MR. YOUNG AND MR. MILLER: We are aware of a pending land trade between the federal government and Calista Native Corporation. The area that would be acquired by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service in this swap is land that serves as a very important waterfowl breeding area for the Pacific and Central flyways of North America. Substantial portions of the populations of several waterfowl and other bird species use the Yukon-Kuskokwim river delta for breeding and as staging and stopover habitat in their annual migratory cycle.

I understand that you have legislation under consideration that will facilitate a situation that allows the Fish and Wildlife Service to acquire these lands. Ducks Unlimited is in favor of assuring that these lands will be kept in a condition that will allow these birds maximum opportunity to complete their life cycle needs.

Sincerely,

SCOTT SUTHERLAND,
Director of Governmental Affairs.

HERNDON, VA,
September 18, 1995.

Hon. DON YOUNG, Chairman,
House Resources Committee, Washington, DC.

DEAR MR. CHAIRMAN: It has been brought to my attention that you are considering early actions to further the land exchange involving the Calista Regional Corporation (Calista) originally authorized by P.L. 102-172. As an individual with lengthy involvement in the implementation of the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act, passage of the Alaska National Interest Lands Conservation Act, and numerous related Alaska issues including efforts to achieve completion of the Calista land exchange, I am writing this brief letter to express my support for actions that will further a fair and equitable exchange that benefits both the shareholders of Calista and the conservation interests of the Federal Government. You may recall that for nearly eight years I was in charge of the Fish and Wildlife Service efforts to support the Administration's proposals under Section 17(d)(2) of the ANCSA. In that capacity, I was directly involved with many discussions in the Calista Region regarding long-term cooperation on land and resource issues between the government and the Native leaders in the region and villages. Since leaving that FWS position, I continued having periodic involvement in Alaska matters. I am thoroughly familiar with the exchange provision in law and the efforts made by Calista to reach accord with the Department of the Interior.

It has been my intent to write you a more detailed analysis of the difficulties that have afflicted the Calista exchange and to offer my support for your efforts to remove major impediments. The suddenness of the potential actions in your committee necessitate sending this shorter communication on the subject.

The Calista Corporation has invested substantial resources and time in their efforts to resolve concerns within the Department of the Interior and to move forward with an exchange that represents fairness to the corporation and reasonable benefits to the government. Unfortunately, even with those tangible and resolute overtures by Calista, the exchange process never achieved the level of meaningful two-way communications necessary to resolve serious differences in approach. Thus, although I had sincerely hoped that a beneficial and just reconciliation of differences would be negotiated, there has been no real progress in this matter for more than a year.

Mr. Chairman, even while we have had differences through the years, each of us has worked in his own way for self-determination, fairness and equity for the Native peoples of your great state. I believe that Calista has made an honorable offer of lands and interests in lands that would benefit the long-term conservation and management of the Yukon Delta National Wildlife Refuge. They have sought fairness in the terms of the exchange, but they have been unable to engage the Interior Department representatives in meaningful negotiations. It appears necessary and important for you to assist Calista toward a just exchange arrangement that also provides the refuge with benefits at a fair cost. I will strongly support actions to accomplish those worthy goals.

Sincerely yours,

WILLIAM C. REFFALT.

CALIFORNIA STATE DIVISION, THE IZAAK WALTON LEAGUE OF AMERICA,

June 11, 1996.

Hon. DON YOUNG, Chairman,

House Resources Committee, Washington, DC.

DEAR MR. CHAIRMAN: The California Division of the Izaak Walton of America is a non-profit grassroots organization who's members are dedicated to outdoor recreation and the conservation and the preservation of our natural resources. On behalf of the 500 members statewide, I am writing to offer my support of legislation that would facilitate the Calista Land transfers authorized by Congress in 1991 and urge that this important measure be enacted expeditiously.

This measure would help conserve and protect critical wildlife habitat located within the Yukon Delta National Wildlife Refuge (YDNWR) in the Calista region of Alaska. Much of the terrain involved provides a low lying coastal habitat for waterfowl, fish and other wildlife typical of the Calista Region and the YDNWR. The YDNWR was established in 1980, pursuant to the Alaska National Interest Lands Act, to protect nesting and breeding habitats for large numbers of migratory birds. Millions of geese, duck, loons, cranes, and swans, as well as shorebirds and seabirds migrate to the spectacular refuge every summer to breed and raise their young. The wetlands that exist on these in holdings are world class and serve as unparalleled habitat for many species of birds and other wildlife.

The specific wildlife that would be protected by this exchange is outstanding. For example, Pacific Bract, White Fronted Geese, Cackling Canada Geese and Emperor Geese nest on the parcels in the exchange. These birds are all "species of Concern" under the Migratory Bird Treaty Act. Their numbers have been declining precipitously. All waterfowl in the refuge, except for the Emperor Geese, use the Pacific flyway, wintering over at various locations along the U.S. West Coast and Mexico. In addition, most shorebirds nesting in the refuge also migrate along this flyway, wintering as far away as South America. Wintering over-grounds are where birds spend at least half of their lives. Securing the stability of these waterfowl populations' nesting and over-wintering grounds must remain a priority if these populations are to thrive. The Calista land exchanges would greatly enhance this overall protection.

The Calista exchange involves both surface and sub-surface estates. Given the access and other rights of the subsurface estate owner to use and otherwise disturb the surface estate, in order to adequately protect the wildlife and associated habitats, it is imperative that the subsurface estate be protected as well. Consequently, acquisition of subsurface estates is crucial to carrying out the overall purposes of the refuge.

In closing, if adequately protected, the wilderness lands offered by the Calista inholdings will create a legacy of the world class natural resources in the Yukon Delta National Wildlife Refuge that can be shared by anglers, hunters, boaters, ecotourists, wildlife viewers and subsistence users alike.

Sincerely,

SAMUEL A. CARR JR.,
National Director.

Mr. YOUNG of Alaska. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. MILLER of California. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

(Mr. MILLER of California asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. MILLER of California. Mr. Speaker, I urge strong support of this legislation, and I want to commend the gentleman from Alaska (Mr. YOUNG) for his long and difficult negotiations and successful negotiations to work out this legislation, and I want to recognize the contribution of Deborah Williams and many others at the Department of Interior who have worked hard to develop this consensus legislation.

Again, I thank the gentleman for all his efforts in developing this consensus legislation, and I urge the passage of this legislation.

Mr. Speaker, H.R. 2000 is the third generation of Alaska Native technical amendment bills. The fundamental premise is that these bills are developed on a consensus basis between the Alaska Federation of Natives, the Department of the Interior, the State of Alaska, and other affected parties. The notion is to avoid controversy, leaving those battles to other bills and other forums.

And while there have been bumps in the road, the two previous Alaska Native technical amendment bills have become law and it appears that H.R. 2000 is now also acceptable to the Administration.

One of the more difficult issues in this bill involves the acquisition of lands owned by Calista corporation and Native village corporations which lie within the boundaries of the Yukon Delta National Wildlife Refuge. This acquisition was first authorized on a rider added by the Senate to the FY 1990 Defense Appropriations Act, and the process of reaching agreement between Calista and the Department of the Interior has been far from smooth.

But we now have before us an agreement which has been carefully negotiated and is acceptable to both parties. Calista and the villages will receive federal property worth $39.4 million and in exchange the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service will acquire refuge inholdings totaling over 200,000 acres of subsurface and over 46,000 acres of surface lands and easements. The Yukon Delta Wildlife Refuge provides critical habitat for migratory waterfowl and birds on the Pacific Flyway.

The value of the Native lands is established in this legislation at $39.4 million, but does not reflect fair market value as established by Fish and Wildlife Service appraisals. Instead, in the judgment of the Department of the Interior, this is the price tag that is necessary to make this a willing seller transaction. The payments in excess of fair market value are considered to be a grant of federal assets which are needed to recapitalize Native corporations in the most economically deprived region of Alaska.

As noted in the description of current social conditions set forth in the land conveyance document, the state of living conditions for most of the Native people of the Calista region can be difficult for outsiders to comprehend. Most of the basics of life which the rest of America takes for granted—such as running water and flush toilets—barely exist within the region. Among many serious problems, this area has the highest infant mortality rate in the Nation. It is for these reasons that the Administration is willing to exchange more economically valuable assets for the Calista properties within the wildlife refuge boundaries.

Mr. Speaker, I want to especially recognize the contributions of Deborah Williams and many others at the Department of the Interior who have worked very hard to develop this consensus legislation. I thank the Chairman for bringing H.R. 2000 before the House and I urge support for the bill.

Mr. YOUNG of Alaska. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for speakers, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. MILLER of California. I, too, Mr. Speaker, yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Alaska (Mr. YOUNG) that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 2000, as amended.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended and the bill, as amended, was passed.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. YOUNG of Alaska. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks on H.R. 2000, as amended, the bill just passed.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Alaska?

There was no objection.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Alaska (Mr. YOUNG) and the gentleman from American Samoa (Mr. FALEOMAVAEGA) each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Alaska (Mr. YOUNG).

(Mr. YOUNG of Alaska asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. YOUNG of Alaska. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, H.R. 4068 would make certain technical corrections in laws relating to Native Americans. This is an extensive bill, and I will be as brief as possible.

It corrects typographical errors in existing laws. It extends the leasing authority to 99 years for the Confederated Tribes of the Grand Ronde Community of Oregon and the Cabazon Indian Reservation. It adds 0.062 acres of land, the driveway to an Indian cemetery, to the Coos, Lower Umpqua and Siuslaw Tribal Reservation. It adjusts the bearings provided for the Hoopa Valley Reservation South Boundary Adjustment Act. It expands the service area of the Confederated Tribes of the Siletz Indians. It authorizes the Lower Sioux Indian Community to sell a 13.38 acre parcel of real property which the tribe owns in fee. It approves the transfer of certain water rights pursuant to the Jicarilla Apache Tribe Water Rights Settlement Act. It amends the Native Hawaiian Health Care Improvement Act to define primary health services covered under the scholarship assistance program.

Finally, there is a section in H.R. 4068 which authorizes the disbursement of certain interest income pursuant to the San Luis Rey Indian Water Rights Settlement Act. The Committee on Resources is concerned about the delay of the implementation of that act.

In conclusion, Mr. Speaker, H.R. 4068 is an important bill for numbers of Indian tribes. It does not pertain to many acres of land, but it does solve a lot of problems that have not been able to be solved, and I urge the passage of the legislation.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. MILLER of California. Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from American Samoa (Mr. FALEOMAVAEGA).

(Mr. FALEOMAVAEGA asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. FALEOMAVAEGA. Mr. Speaker, certainly I want to thank the gentleman from Alaska (Mr. YOUNG), the chairman of the Committee on Resources; and the senior democratic ranking member, the gentleman from California (Mr. MILLER), for bringing this legislation to the floor.

Mr. Speaker, this is a bill which addresses several technical changes to existing Native American law. These are not exactly glamorous issues: boundary changes to Indian reservations, leasing authority for one of the reservations and placing into trust of additional land for another Native American tribe. There are some questions concerning sections 9 and 14 of this legislation. It is my understanding that the amendments being offered by the gentleman from Alaska (Mr. YOUNG) incorporate changes which address the concerns which have been raised.

Specifically, Section 9 which concerns 2,000 acres of land of the Cow Creek Band of the Umpqua tribe of Indians will prohibit Indian gaming on the land and the prior contents of Section 14, which would have provided tax exemption from Federal and State taxes for certain distribution funds, has been deleted. The new Section 14 addresses a different native Alaskan problem added by the Senate to Coast Guard legislation and concerning the operations of a health clinic.

Again, it is my understanding that all parties concerned with this provision support the language contained in the amendment of the gentleman from Alaska (Mr. YOUNG); and with this bill, Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to support this legislation.

I again thank the gentlemen from Alaska and from California.

Mr. MILLER of California. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

(Mr. MILLER of California asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. MILLER of California. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from American Samoa (Mr. FALEOMAVAEGA), and I rise in strong support of this legislation.

Mr. Speaker. Section 11 of H.R. 4068 authorizes a one-time disbursement of $8,000,000 in interest accrued on the Tribal Development Fund established for the La Jolla, Rincon, San Pasqual, Pauma and Pala Bands of Mission Indians pursuant to section 105 of the San Luis Rey Indian Water Rights Settlement Act of 1988 (P.L. 100-575, 102 Stat. 4000). Each band would receive $1,600,000 for investment and economic development purposes. None of the money could be used for per capita payments to Band member. The section further provides that the United States would be exempt from any liability with regard to any Band's use of the funds after the disbursement.

Full implementation of the San Luis Rey Indian Water Rights Settlement Act is conditioned on the acquisition by the United States of a source of 16,000 acre-feet of supplemental water for the Bands. However, in the decade since enactment of the settlement, no source of supplemental water has been secured, despite good faith efforts by all of the settlement parties. This delay in securing a water supply has been years longer than what the Congress and the settlement parties anticipated when the settlement was enacted.

The delay in implementing the settlement has adversely affected the five Bands. While the non-Indian communities of Vista and Escondido have continued to enjoy the use of low-cost, local water to which the Bands have a claim, the Bands have had the benefit of neither water nor funding for economic development as provided for by the settlement. Under these circumstances, the House Committee on Resources has found that the Bands' request for a one-time, partial disbursement of interest earned on the Development Fund that was establishment for their benefit is reasonable and appropriate. The other settlement parties, including the Department of the Interior, have informed the Committee of their support for the Band's request.

The San Luis Rey Tribal Development Fund was capitalized with approximately $32,000,000 appropriated by the Congress in 1989 by Public Law 101-121. The Fund has since grown to more than $52,000,000. With the distribution authorized by this section, the Fund will retain a balance of more than $44,000,000, which will continue to accrue interest and remain an incentive to the Bands to see the settlement through to full and final implementation.

The Committee on Resources expects that the factors that have prolonged fulfillment of the requirements of the settlement will not persist indefinitely. Accordingly, the Committee urges the Secretary to use the full measure of his authority to secure the acquisition of the supplemental water supply required by the Settlement Act at a cost that will enable its economical use for the benefit of the Bands and the complete implementation of the San Luis Rey Indian Water Rights Settlement.

The Committee on Resources recognizes that the Act's dual command that the Department arrange to obtain or develop not more than 16,000 acre feet per year of supplemental water, without bearing any development costs, has been a major impediment to finalizing the settlement. Nevertheless, the Committee does not agree that these requirements support an interpretation of the Act that the Tribal Development Trust Fund, which was established for the exclusive use of the Indian Water Authority on behalf of the Bands, is an appropriate source of funds to finance the delivery of water to the Bands.

Section 107(b)(4) of the Settlement Act states that all funds of the Indian Water Authority that are not required for administrative or operational expenses of the Authority or to fulfill obligations of the Authority (emphasis added) under the title, the Act or any other agreement entered into by the Authority, shall be invested or used for economic development of the Bands, the Bands' reservation lands, and their members. The Act places the obligation to arrange for the development and delivery water for the Bands squarely on the Secretary, not on the Bands. To suggest that the Tribal Development Trust Fund should be used to acquire or deliver water to the Bands is to suggest that the Bands use their own money to fulfill the Secretary's obligation to them. This suggestion is inconsistent with the content of the Act. If additional authority or funding is needed to carry out the intent of the Act, then the Department should consider submitting an appropriate request to the Congress.

Mr. REDMOND. Mr. Speaker, H.R. 4068, the Native American technical corrections bill, contains two important amendments in Section 10 of the bill. Section 10 of H.R. 4068 would

By the terms of the Settlement Act, the Jicarilla Apache Tribe may not access its "future use" water or a six million dollar water resources development fund until two partial final decrees have been entered, adjudicating the Tribe's historic and existing water rights in two stream systems in New Mexico. The current statutory deadline for entry of these two decrees is December 31, 1998. See Pub. L. No. 104-261 § 2, 110 Stat. 3176 (1996). If the deadline is not met, these monies, which have already been appropriated, will be returned to the general treasury.

One amendment outlined in Section 10(b) of H.R. 4068 would add a new section 12 to the Settlement Act to provide Congressional approval of an October 7, 1997, Stipulation and Settlement Agreement between the Jicarilla Apache Tribe, the Asociación de Acéquias Norteñas de Rio Arriba, and certain other parties to the Rio Chama general stream adjudication, State of New Mexico ex rel. State Engineer v. Aragon, No. CIV-7941 JC. This settlement agreement has been approved by the Federal district court, but the parties to the agreement are seeking Congressional approval as an extra measure.

This settlement agreement provides for the future transfer of certain water rights from the Tribe to the Acéquias Norteñas. These water rights were perfected under state law prior to the Tribe's acquisition of a ranch from private parties in the 1980s. That land was proclaimed part of the Tribe's reservation in 1988. This agreement does not alter significantly the water rights the Tribe will receive under the Settlement Act, but still provides a fair and reasonable settlement of the concerns expressed by the Acéquias Norteñas. Because the Tribe was able to settle its differences with these and other acequias in the basin, there was no need for a trial on any of the objections filed to the Tribe's proposed Rio Chama decree. This decree was approved by the Federal district court on April 6, 1998.

However, for a host of reasons entirely outside of the Jicarilla Apache Tribe's control, the other decree required by the Settlement Act, which confirms the Tribe's water rights in the San Juan River general stream adjudication, State of New Mexico v. United States of America, et al., v. Jicarilla Apache Tribe, No. 75-184-1 (11th Jud. Dist. NM), has taken far longer to complete than either the United States Departments of Justice and Interior or the Jicarilla Apache Tribe had anticipated. For this reason, an additional amendment to the Settlement Act, outlined in H.R. 4068, is necessary.

Section 10(a) of H.R. 4068 authorizes a two-year extension of the 1998 statutory deadline by which this last decree must be entered in the San Juan River adjudication. The parties are well along in the litigation, and the United States, the State, and the Tribe are actively trying to negotiate a resolution to the objections that have been filed to the decree. This is the final hurdle to conclude implementation of the Settlement Act, and although the parties are close to conclusion, there is no way for the Tribe to know whether the court will actually enter the decree before the December 31st deadline.

The delays to date have not been the fault of the Jicarilla Apache Tribe. Indeed, the Tribe has acted in good faith to fulfill the requirements of the Settlement Act. Therefore, the Tribe should not be penalized with the loss of six million dollars, which could potentially jeopardize the entire settlement. There is no justifiable reason to allow the statutory deadline to expire without an extension, especially when final settlement is so near. The Department of the Interior supports this extension, and the amendment to sanction the settlement between the Tribe and the acequias, because the Administration believes, as I do, that settlement is in the best interest of all water users in these two basins in New Mexico.

Mr. YOUNG of Alaska. Mr. Speaker, I have no requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. MILLER of California. Mr. Speaker, I, too, yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Alaska (Mr. YOUNG) that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 4068, as amended.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended and the bill, as amended, was passed.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. YOUNG of Alaska. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members have 5 legislative days to revise and extend remarks and include extraneous material on H.R. 4068, the bill just passed.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Alaska?

There was no objection.

SENSE OF THE HOUSE WITH RESPECT TO IMPORTANCE OF DIPLOMATIC RELATIONS WITH PACIFIC ISLAND NATIONS

Mr. GILMAN. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and agree to the resolution (H. Res. 505) expressing the sense of the House of Representatives with respect to the importance of diplomatic relations with the Pacific Island Nations.

H. RES. 505

Whereas the South Pacific region covers an immense area of the earth, approximately 3 times the size of the contiguous United States;

Whereas the United States seeks to maintain strong and enduring economic, political, and strategic ties with the Pacific island countries of the region, despite the reduced diplomatic presence of the United States in the region since World War II;

Whereas Pacific island nations wield control over vast tracts of the ocean, including seabed minerals, fishing rights, and other marine resources which will play a major role in the future of the global economy;

Whereas access to these valuable resources will be vital in maintaining the position of the United States as the leading world power in the new millennium;

Whereas Asian countries have already recognized the important role that these Pacific island nations will play in the future of the global economy, as evidenced by the Tokyo summit meeting in October 1997 with various Pacific island heads of state;

Whereas the Pacific has long been regarded as one of the "last frontiers", with an enormous wealth of uncultivated resources; and

Whereas direct United States participation in the human and natural resource development of the South Pacific region would promote beneficial ties with these Pacific island nations and increase the possibilities of access to the region's valuable resources: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That it is the sense of the House of Representatives that—

(1) it is in the national interest of the United States to remain actively engaged in the South Pacific region as a means of supporting important United States commercial and strategic interests, and to encourage the consolidation of democratic values;

(2) a Pacific island summit, hosted by the President of the United States with the Pacific island heads of government, would be an excellent opportunity for the United States to foster and improve diplomatic relations with the Pacific island nations;

(3) through diplomacy and participation in the human and natural resource development of the Pacific region, the United States will increase the possibility of gaining access to valuable resources, thus strengthening the position of the United States as a world power economically and strategically in the new millennium; and

(4) the United States should fulfill its long-standing commitment to the democratization and economic prosperity of the Pacific island nations by promoting their earliest integration in the mainstream of bilateral, regional, and global commerce and trade.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from New York (Mr. GILMAN) and the gentleman from American Samoa (Mr. FALEOMAVAEGA) each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from New York (Mr. GILMAN).

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. GILMAN. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days within which to revise and extend their remarks on this measure.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from New York?

There was no objection.

Mr. GILMAN. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

(Mr. GILMAN asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. GILMAN. Mr. Speaker, I want to commend the gentleman from American Samoa (Mr. FALEOMAVAEGA) for introducing this important resolution, and I want to commend the Chairman and ranking minority member of the Subcommittee on Asia and the Pacific, the gentleman from Nebraska (Mr. BERREUTER) and the gentleman from California (Mr. BERMAN), for the role they played in crafting this resolution.

Mr. Speaker, it is important that the House has the opportunity to express its support for the concepts within the resolution. H. Res. 505 expresses the sense of the House that the importance of relations with the Pacific Island Nations be emphasized. Our Nation has a long history of friendship and important alliances with many of the small island nations in the South Pacific. Their overwhelming support at the United Nations for U.S. initiatives and the strategic access we are given to their waters and ports have not gone unnoticed by this committee. Their many sacrifices during the Second World War and the aftereffects in nuclear testing created the foundation that insured world peace.

Accordingly, Mr. Speaker, I support the gentlemen's resolution, and I urge my colleagues to support H. Res. 505.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. FALEOMAVAEGA. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

(Mr. FALEOMAVAEGA asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. FALEOMAVAEGA. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in strong support of House Resolution 505. I introduced this resolution in July to recognize the importance of diplomatic relations between the United States and the Pacific Island Nations.

I am deeply appreciative of the efforts of the chairman and ranking Democratic Member of the House Committee on International Relations, the gentleman from New York (Mr. GILMAN) and the gentleman from Indiana (Mr. HAMILTON), for supporting House Resolution 505 as original cosponsors and for passage of the measure before the full committee.

Mr. Speaker, I would also thank the chairman and ranking Democratic members of the Committee on International Relations' Subcommittee on Asia and the Pacific, the gentleman from Nebraska (Mr. BERREUTER) and the gentleman from California (Mr. BERMAN), as well as our esteemed colleagues in the full committee, the gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. SMITH), the gentleman from California (Mr. LANTOS) and the gentleman from Florida (Mr. HASTINGS) for joining us as original cosponsors of House Resolution 505.

Mr. Speaker, my thanks also go to the gentlewoman from Hawaii (Mrs. MINK), the gentleman from Guam (Mr. UNDERWOOD), the gentleman from Hawaii (Mr. ABERCROMBIE), the gentleman from California (Mr. MATSUI) and the gentleman from California (Mr. KIM) for their support of this resolution.

Mr. Speaker, the United States has had a long and extraordinarily deep relationship with our allies and friends of the Pacific Islands. One need only mention the names of Guadalcanal, Midway, Wake Island, Guam and Saipan to recall the critical battles waged in the Pacific during World War II. In that terrible conflict and during the Cold War, our Pacific Island allies have fought and worked alongside Americans to preserve peace and nurture democracy in the Pacific region.

The people of the Marshall Islands, in particular, have made tremendous sacrifices which have greatly contributed to America's nuclear deterrence. During the 1940s and the 1950s the home-lands and the Marshallese people were subjected to some 67 U.S. nuclear tests, an ordeal from which they are still struggling to recover.

The contributions of Pacific islanders have truly enhanced American security and stability. Today, a half century later, Mr. Speaker, we should not forget our commitment to our friends in this part of the world.

The Pacific Ocean covers one-third of the earth's surface, and spanning it are the 7,500 islands which comprise the 22 Pacific island nations and territories.

Mr. Speaker, while budgetary cutbacks have resulted in a reduced U.S. diplomatic presence in the region, our Nation continues to have substantial interests in the Pacific, whether that be in areas of investment and trade, strategic and regional security, democratic government and human rights, or protection of the environment.

In particular, with the advent of the Law of the Sea Conference and increasing international enforcement of exclusive economic zones, the Pacific island governments wield control over vast tracks of the entire Pacific Ocean. The millions of square miles of the Pacific Ocean under the jurisdiction of island nations encompass productive fisheries, undersea minerals, and important sea lanes, increasingly vital assets in the future of a global economy.

For example, Mr. Speaker, some of the world's richest and most diverse fishing grounds are found in the Pacific region, where the United States nets the bulk of tuna consumed by our fellow Americans. I would note that much of that tuna is processed in canneries in my own district in American Samoa.

On the ocean floor by Papua New Guinea, Fiji and Tonga lie seabed mineral deposits and undersea nodules containing valuable minerals such as manganese, cobalt, nickel, copper, silver and gold. The EEZ waters of the sparsely populated Cook Islands alone are projected to contain at least $150 billion of sea bed nodules.

The lesson has not been lost on Asian nations that have invested in the region, Mr. Speaker, including China, South Korea, and, in particular, Japan. Last October, then Prime Minister Hashimoto of Japan hosted a Tokyo summit meeting with Pacific island heads of government. No doubt, Japan is making a long term investment and an economic investment for the 21st Century.

Mr. Speaker, House Resolution 505 sends the message that it is important for the United States to cultivate diplomatic relations today with the Pacific island nations to foster strong economic ties tomorrow, and this will directly facilitate access to the region's valuable marine resources in the next millennium. For economic as well as strategic reasons, the United States should not permit others to step into the vacuum created by the lack of a strong U.S. policy and presence in the Pacific region.

Mr. Speaker, in furtherance of that goal, House Resolution 505 strongly urges that the President of the United States host a summit meeting with the Pacific island Heads of State and Governments to improve diplomatic relations with the Pacific island nations.

I would humbly suggest the perfect opportunity to conduct the Pacific Island Summit would be upon the President's return from the APEC meeting scheduled for November 1999 in Wellington, New Zealand. Since it is appropriate that the summit meeting take place in the Pacific, I suggest the East-West Center in Hawaii provides the ideal forum. Since its formation in 1960, the East-West Center has been the region's most respected institution for furthering U.S. relations with the Asian-Pacific region.

Before concluding, Mr. Speaker, I would note that an identical counterpart to House Resolution 505 has been introduced this month in the Senate by my good friend and distinguished Senator from Hawaii, Senator DANIEL INOUE. Senator INOUE's measure, Senate Resolution 277, has been cosponsored by Senators DAN AKAKA, TED STEVENS, ORRIN HATCH, ROBERT BYRD, CRAIG THOMAS, ERNEST HOLLINGS, WILLIAM ROTH, WENDELL FORD, BARBARA BOXER, FRANK MURKOWSKI and JEFF SESSIONS, and is before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee now. I thank and commend Senator INOUE, who has long demonstrated commitment and unmatched leadership in the affairs of the Pacific region.

Mr. Speaker, I would urge that our colleagues support adoption of House Resolution 505 as it is in the national interest of the United States that we preserve strong and enduring economic, political and strategic ties with the Pacific island nations.

America cannot afford to neglect our friends in the Pacific. Adoption of this resolution and the holding of a Pacific Island Summit will ensure that we do not, and that our allies understand that the United States intends to remain firmly engaged in the Pacific region for our mutual benefit.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to support and adopt this resolution.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. GILMAN. Mr. Speaker, I am pleased to yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from Nebraska (Mr. BEREUTER), the distinguished chairman of the Subcommittee on Asia and the Pacific.

Mr. BEREUTER. Mr. Speaker, I want to first thank the chairman for yielding me this time.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of H. Res. 505, a resolution recognizing the tremendous importance of the Pacific island region and calling for U.S. participation and, in fact, leadership for a Pacific Island Summit.

This resolution was introduced in July, as you heard, by the distinguished gentleman from American Samoa (Mr. FALEOMAVAEGA). It is cosponsored in original cosponsorship by the chairman and ranking member of the full committee, the gentleman from New York (Mr. GILMAN) and the gentleman from Indiana (Mr. HAMILTON) as well as the gentleman from California (Mr. BERMAN), the ranking member of the subcommittee I chair, and myself, along with other distinguished members of our subcommittee and the full committee.

Mr. Speaker, we unanimously approved of in the subcommittee this resolution on September 9th, and the full Committee on International Relations followed suit the following day, September 10th.

This Member would congratulate particularly the distinguished gentleman from American Samoa for introducing this timely and important resolution. He is rightly recognized throughout this body for his commitment and support for the Pacific islands, and today's resolution certainly reflects that commitment.

Mr. Speaker, while the Pacific island nations are a vast and important region with enormous potential, it is nonetheless true that it has recently largely escaped international attention. Of late, international attention has been focused on the political and social unrest in other parts of Asia, together with the financial crisis and nuclear and missile proliferation. The gentleman from American Samoa is to be commended for reminding this body that the Pacific islands are economically and diplomatically important to the United States, and we ignore them to our detriment.

In the years since the end of the Second World War, the United States policy toward the Pacific islands has been dominated by military and security considerations. Certainly the deep water port facilities, the missile test ranges and the jungle training facilities offered by the Pacific islands were essential considerations during the Cold War. But the legislation before this body today expands the focus beyond the security arena, correctly addressing economic issues, the environment and political cooperation.

It is, I think, self-evident in this Nation's interest to pursue such a broad agenda with these small nations of the Pacific. Endowed with vast natural resources, this ocean continent of islands is poised to make valuable contributions to the global economy. U.S. fishing companies already enjoy fishing rights in certain waters controlled by these nations, and improved diplomatic ties would increase the potential for the United States to further benefit from the Pacific's wealth of resources, as well as benefiting those nations.

Similarly, there is an enormous potential to exploit the vast mineral wealth of the Pacific for the benefit of the globe and for the benefit of these Pacific island nations and their people.

House Resolution 505 also recommends that the United States host a Pacific Island Summit as a means of highlighting the myriad of bilateral-multilateral issues of the region. This Member believes that is a very important element of this resolution, and suggests indeed, as my colleague has suggested and I reiterate, that a summit is an excellent proposal. Such a summit probably could be scheduled with little difficulty in concert with the annual meeting of the Asia-Pacific Economic Community, APEC, perhaps, as the gentleman suggests, and I agree, at the East-West Center in Hawaii. This Member would urge the administration to consider and act upon such a proposal.

Lastly, I would note that the resolution's author has worked constructively with the majority, with his colleagues in the minority and with the administration to ensure that there are no unnecessary differentials in this resolution. By making this effort, the gentleman has permitted this body to speak with one voice on this important issue.

Therefore, I urge our colleagues to support H. Res. 505, and I thank the gentleman from American Samoa (Mr. FALEOMAVAEGA) for his initiative.

Mr. GILMAN. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. FALEOMAVAEGA. Mr. Speaker, I yield three minutes to the distinguished gentleman from California (Mr. LANTOS).

Mr. LANTOS. Mr. Speaker, let me first identify myself with the comments of the distinguished gentleman from Nebraska (Mr. BEREUTER), the chairman of the subcommittee, and my good friend and colleague from American Samoa.

The purpose of my rising is to commend the gentleman from American Samoa (Mr. FALEOMAVAEGA), not only for his leadership on this issue, but on a wide range of issues in the jurisdiction of the Committee on International Relations. The gentleman has not restricted his expertise to this most important region. His contributions to the work of our committee have extended across the globe.

But I think it is particularly appropriate that the gentleman has taken the lead on this issue. His idea of holding a summit at the East-West Center following the APEC meeting at Wellington, New Zealand, is an excellent one, and I strongly urge all of my colleagues to support this legislation. I also call on the administration to take the necessary steps to implement the gentleman's idea.

Mr. FALEOMAVAEGA. Mr. Speaker, I yield five minutes to the distinguished gentleman from Guam (Mr. UNDERWOOD).

Mr. UNDERWOOD. Mr. Speaker, I thank my colleague from American Samoa, my fellow islander, for yielding me time.

Mr. Speaker, I, too, want to associate myself with all of the remarks previously made by the gentleman from Nebraska (Mr. BEREUTER), as well as the gentleman from California (Mr. LANTOS), and also extend my personal congratulations to my friend the gentleman from American Samoa (Mr. FALEOMAVAEGA) for this very important and timely resolution. I want to point out to the body that the gentleman personally made this suggestion to the President in a recent meeting about having a Pacific summit that would be in concert with the APEC summit, and it was very well received, and I am hopeful that the administration will heed his request and that we will see this summit come to fruition in the future.

Mr. Speaker, on Guam, we share the Pacific Ocean with island nations like Palau and Vanuatu and many of the nations that are referred to and are being considered under this resolution, and we also share many of the same values and cultural traits which already enhance our significant bonds. Our geographical and our cultural proximity with other Pacific island nations gives Guam the opportunity to facilitate cultural, educational and economic exchanges with our Pacific neighbors.

The United States already meets with Pacific island nations through such organizations as the South Pacific Forum, Pacific Economic Cooperation Council and the United Nations, but, as we enter the next millennium, I certainly encourage the United States to continue and in fact intensify its diplomatic and economic engagement.

H. Res. 505 calls for this type of cooperation, and specifically calls for a Pacific summit. A Pacific summit would be a prodigious opportunity for the United States to dialogue with the leaders of nations which control vast marine resources, from fishing rights to sea bed minerals.

The passage of H. Res. 505 is an indication that we are committed to our friends in the Pacific. As has been pointed out, the Pacific island nations are sometimes ignored in the process of even discussing the Pacific Ocean and the Asian-Pacific region. Sometimes in those discussions we are really talking about the Pacific rim nations.

I always like to tell people it is like a big donut, and we are always concerned about the rim nations and we forget that it is the hole in the middle that makes the donut, and it is the Pacific basin and it is all those tiny little islands and tiny little nations which really are sitting on top of a vast variety of resources which need attention.

Not only are they economically important, but certainly they also have strategic and diplomatic importance, as well. It is also significant that in this, the International Year of the Ocean, we must also mean that it must be the International Year of the Islands in those oceans, and those islands whose cooperation is vitally necessary for the development and cultivation of ocean resources in an environmentally sound manner, while making sure that the islanders profit from those resources.

This is a very timely, a very necessary resolution, and I urge its adoption.

Mr. FALEOMAVAEGA. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I would really like to express my appreciation to the gentleman from California (Mr. LANTOS), and my good friend, the gentleman from Guam (Mr. UNDERWOOD), my fellow Pacific Islander, for their eloquence.

I know this is probably the last piece of legislation that we will be working on as far as the Committee on International Relations Subcommittee on Asia and the Pacific is concerned, but I certainly would like to offer my highest commendation to the gentleman from Nebraska (Mr. BEREUTER), the chairman of the subcommittee, not only for his keen insight, but the tremendous eloquence of his statement, which really, I could not have stated better, his full understanding and knowledge of what is happening there in the Pacific region.

I really, really want to thank and commend him for his assistance, for his help, not only as a friend, but for his tremendous leadership that has been demonstrated as chairman of the Subcommittee on Asia and the Pacific, and of course my good friend, the gentleman from New York (Mr. GILMAN).

Mrs. MINK of Hawaii. Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of H. Res. 505.

The South Pacific was one of the major theaters of World War II. During that time, the United States and the island nations of the Pacific established strong bonds that endure even after the passage of over half a century.

Yet, while the United States has developed and maintained a strong economic, political, and strategic interest or presence in the Pacific, the same cannot be said of the United States diplomatic presence in the region, which has diminished considerably over the decades. This resolution expresses the sense of Congress that the United States should strengthen its diplomatic presence with the Pacific island nations.

This resolution, by encouraging a greater U.S. diplomatic presence in the Pacific, recognizes that while the United States should promote and support its commercial and strategic interests by encouraging Pacific island nations to become more fully integrated into the regional and global economy, it is equally important that such integration be accompanied by the promotion and consolidation of human rights and democratic values. And, these broader developments can better be realized by reestablishing America's diplomatic presence in the South Pacific.

Mr. FALEOMAVAEGA. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. GILMAN. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. MILLER of Florida). The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from New York (Mr. GILMAN) that the House suspend the rules and agree to the resolution, House Resolution 505.

The question was taken.

Mr. FALEOMAVAEGA. Mr. Speaker, I object to the vote on the ground that a quorum is not present and make the point of order that a quorum is not present.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 5 of rule I and the Chair's prior announcement, further proceedings on this motion will be postponed.

The point of no quorum is considered withdrawn.

SENSE OF CONGRESS CONDEMNING ATROCITIES BY SERBIAN POLICE AND MILITARY FORCES AGAINST ALBANIANS IN KOSOVA

Mr. GILMAN. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and agree to the concurrent resolution (H. Con. Res. 315) expressing the sense of the Congress condemning the atrocities by Serbian police and military forces against Albanians in Kosova and urging that blocked assets of the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia (Serbia and Montenegro) under the control of the United States and other governments be used to compensate the Albanians in Kosova for losses suffered through Serbian police and military action, as amended.

H. CON. RES. 315

Whereas the ethnic Albanian population of the province of Kosova, which makes up the overwhelming majority of the population of that area, has been denied internationally recognized human rights and political rights, including the protection of life, freedom of speech, freedom of assembly, and freedom of the press;

Whereas Serbian police and military forces have engaged in brutal suppression of the Albanian people, and the number of Serbian police and military forces which have been deployed in Kosova is estimated at some 50,000 men;

Whereas human rights groups have reported and documented instances of Serbian forces conducting abductions and summary executions of innocent ethnic Albanian civilians in reprisal killings that are similar to those conducted by Nazi forces during World War II and are similar to the ethnic cleansing which was carried out by ethnic Serbian troops in Bosnia;

Whereas Serbian forces have indiscriminately shelled and burned villages, reducing them to rubble, in order to drive out the ethnic Albanian inhabitants, inflicting heavy material losses upon the ethnic Albanians in Kosova;

Whereas hundreds of ethnic Albanians, including women and children, have been killed and over 200,000 ethnic Albanians have been forced to flee and have become refugees as a result of this Serbian military action;

Whereas the stubborn denial of human rights and political rights to the ethnic Albanian majority in Kosova by the Government of Serbia has been the major factor in the radicalization of the political situation in the province and made the prospects of a peaceful resolution of the conflict there difficult if not impossible;

Whereas the dissolution of the Socialist Federal Republic of Yugoslavia (SFRY) resulted in 5 independent states and the ownership of the blocked assets of the SFRY has yet to be determined and apportioned among the successor states; and

Whereas the United States and the governments of other countries have blocked the assets of the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia (Serbia and Montenegro) as part of the blocked assets of the SFRY: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the House of Representatives (the Senate concurring), That the Congress—

(1) deeply deplores and strongly condemns the appalling loss of life and the extensive destruction of property in Kosova that is the consequence of the brutal actions of Serbian police and military forces against the ethnic Albanian population of the province;

(2) believes that the Government of Serbia is primarily responsible for the loss of life and destruction of property, and thus Serbia should bear the principal burden of providing compensation for the loss of life and for the costs of rebuilding areas which its forces have devastated;

(3) urges the President and officials he designates to work with the Congress to draft legislation and regulations which will permit the claims of ethnic Albanians from Kosova who have suffered as a consequence of the brutal actions of Serbian police and military forces in Kosova to be considered, without prejudice to the claims of United States nationals, when claims settlement negotiations involving the assets of the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia (Serbia and Montenegro) which the United States has blocked or asserted control over takes place;

(4) urges that, in drafting such legislation and implementing regulations, special consideration be given to the circumstances of the Government of the Republic of Montenegro and to persons located in and organized under the laws of the Republic of Montenegro;

(5) urges the President and the Secretary of State to urge all other countries to follow a policy which permits ethnic Albanians who have suffered as a consequence of the brutal actions of Serbian police and military forces in Kosova to make claims against the assets of the Federal Republic of Yugoslavia (Serbia and Montenegro) which are in the control of the respective country; and

(6) requests that a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the President and the Secretary of State by the Clerk of the House of Representatives and the Secretary of the Senate.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from New York (Mr. GILMAN) and the gentleman from California (Mr. LANTOS) each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from New York (Mr. GILMAN).

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. GILMAN. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days within which to revise and extend their remarks on House Concurrent Resolution 315.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from New York?

There was no objection.

Mr. GILMAN. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

(Mr. GILMAN asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. GILMAN. Mr. Speaker, this resolution, House Concurrent Resolution 315, expresses the well-founded view that Serbia is responsible for the mayhem that police and military personnel have inflicted upon the unfortunate people of Kosova, and that Serbia should be held financially responsible for the damages done to their homes and other property of the Albanian citizens of Kosova.

I commend the distinguished gentleman from California (Mr. LANTOS), a senior member of our committee, for introducing this measure. I am pleased to be listed as an original cosponsor.

This resolution calls for our President to work with the Congress to develop laws and regulations that would make it possible to utilize the Serbian blocked assets here in our Nation under the control of our government for the purpose of providing restitution to those who have suffered property losses as a result of the conflict in Kosova.

While we recognize that there may be other claimants to these assets, we want to put the House on record that Serbia is financially accountable for the damages that its police and military have caused through unrestrained use of force and willful destruction of housing and other property belonging to members of the Albanian community in Kosova.

Just last week I called upon the President to mobilize NATO to issue an ultimatum to Milosevic to permit the hundreds of thousands of displaced people in Kosova to return to their homes in safety, and to permit unimpeded access for humanitarian assistance for these people.

Winter comes early to Kosova. We can no longer play for time for other forms of diplomacy to take effect. Milosevic is completely untrustworthy, and the lives of more than 250,000 people in Kosova now hang on the credibility of the international community's pledge to permit no more Bosnians in the Balkans. We must not wait to act until scenes of human misery flash across our TV screens in the next few weeks.

Accordingly, I urge all of our Members of the House to join with the sponsors of this resolution in sending a strong message to the Serbian leadership that in addition to any legal and political penalties they may face, they will also pay a financial penalty for their actions in Kosova.

It is our hope that other governments will undertake similar measures, so that the people of Kosova may eventually receive some restitution from the government that is directly responsible for their suffering and for their tremendous losses.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. LANTOS. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, let me first express my thanks and respect to the gentleman from New York (Mr. GILMAN), the chairman of our committee, for his strong support of this long overdue measure.

If I may, Mr. Speaker, I would like to put this whole resolution in some historic context. Kosova, an Albanian province of Serbia, was a relatively peaceful, poor place until 1989. In 1989, without the slightest provocation, Mr. Milosevic destroyed whatever modicum of autonomy the people of Kosova had and created of 1,800,000 Albanian ethnic Kosovars colonial subjects within their own country.

I visited Kosova many times during the last decade. It is, without any question, Europe's poorest region. It is the only region, Mr. Speaker, where you can meet a young man or a young woman in their twenties having only one or two or three teeth, because there are no dental services available. The grinding poverty of the Albanian ethnic population of Kosova is pitiful and heartrending.

The people of Kosova have been fortunate to have reasonable, moderate, peace-loving leadership in the person of Dr. Ibrahim Rugova, a scholar of great distinction. But he could not get anyplace with the dictatorial regime of Milosevic, and gradually an extremist element emerged within the Albanian population which started military activities.

In response to this, the Serbian army not only crushed this military uprising, but caused over 250,000 civilians, men, women, children, old folks, to leave their poor villages, many of them by now destroyed. As we speak, Mr. Speaker, over 50,000 civilian Kosovars are hiding in the mountains, and last week the first snow fell in Kosova.

My resolution calls for two things. It calls for the Congress to denounce the brutal and inhumane activities of Serbian military and paramilitary and police forces against the civilian population of Kosova; and secondly, it calls on our government to see to it that Serbian assets frozen in this country be used to compensate, to whatever extent is feasible, these poor and destitute people, so that when they return to their destroyed and devastated villages, they can start rebuilding their lives.

This is the very least that we can do for an innocent, persecuted, long-suffering people, 1,800,000 ethnic Albanian Kosovars whose sole crime is that they happen to live within the boundaries of the state of Serbia. Mr. Speaker, I strongly urge my colleagues to support this resolution.

Mr. Speaker, I am very pleased to yield such time as he may consume to my distinguished friend and colleague, the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. TRAFICANT).

Mr. TRAFICANT. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding time to me. I also want to thank the distinguished Member for sponsoring this legislation, which I am a cosponsor of, and for his leadership throughout the world for freedom.

I think if there is some day a dictionary encyclopedia that says, what does a Congressman look like, we will see Mr. Bill Natcher and the gentleman from California (Mr. TOM LANTOS). I mean that.

Also, I thank the gentleman from New York (Chairman GILMAN) for all the work he has done. Naturally, I support this resolution. I think it is on target.

I, though, would also like to recommend that my legislation that would move Kosova toward an independent state be seriously considered, for several reasons. Number one, Milosevic has shown that he is a brutal dictator, and the atrocities against ethnic Albanians may in fact produce another Bosnia for the world.

Having said that, I think it is time to look at Kosova. The population consists of 90 percent ethnic Albanians, their roots, their language, and under the former state of Yugoslavia, they had an independent status.

As much as I support this, I would like to say that ethnic Albanians do not just want an opportunity to make a claim against Serbian assets in our country, ethnic Albanians want independence, and they are crying out for freedom all over this world. I believe our administration is trying to keep the lid on, in all fairness. But I believe we can coddle this guy Milosevic a little too much, and I think it is time to get stern with this man.

I would just like to recommend to the chairman and distinguished leaders of this committee to look at the matter of independence. I believe there is no other answer because ethnic Albanians will not accept anything else, and I believe if there is to be a tempest in this teapot, we should deal with it now. But this certainly is on the right track.

I am proud to join forces with the gentleman from California (Mr. LANTOS), and I am hoping that the administration and the State Department look very carefully at the recommendation coming from the gentleman from California (Mr. LANTOS), the gentleman from New York (Mr. GILMAN), and the rest of the Congress.

Mr. HOYER. Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of this resolution and urge the House to pass it by a unanimous vote.

This resolution condemns the violence in Kosovo and calls for compensation for its victims from the assets of the perpetrators. This is the just and right thing to do.

And while, Mr. Speaker, we must condemn the violence and ethnic cleansing, we must do more. As we debate this resolution, Milosevic and his thugs are conducting yet another assault against civilians in the Drenica region of Kosovo. Reports indicate that 20,000 more refugees are fleeing their homes as Serb police and military units continue their scorched Earth policy. Hundreds of people, including women and children, have been killed since the violence began. More than a quarter of a million people—one-sixth of Kosovo's overwhelmingly ethnic Albanian population—have been driven from their homes. An estimated 50,000 are living in the open, threatened by starvation, hypothermia and disease.

Last week Senator Bob Dole and Assistant Secretary of State John Shattuck testified about their recent visit to Kosovo before the Helsinki Commission. Senator Dole said that what he saw in Kosovo shares many of the worst characteristics of the war in Bosnia, including the genocide in Srebrenica. Secretary Shattuck described horrendous human rights violations, violations of humanitarian law, and acts of punitive destruction on a massive scale.

Make no mistake about it. This is Bosnia—again. And as we saw in Bosnia, the only thing Milosevic responds to is force.

In December 1992, President Bush warned that if civilians in Kosovo were attacked, we would respond with force. President Clinton reiterated that warning in March 1993. The international community has threatened, NATO has planned contingencies, we have rattled our sabers, yet Milosevic and his thugs carry on with impunity.

I call on the Congress, the administration, and our NATO allies to act now to save the people of Kosovo, to halt Milosevic's reign of terror and to finally bring a chance for peace to the Balkans.

Mr. LANTOS. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. GILMAN. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from New York (Mr. GILMAN) that the House suspend the rules and agree to the concurrent resolution, House Concurrent Resolution 315, as amended.

The question was taken.

Mr. GILMAN. Mr. Speaker, on that, I demand the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were ordered.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 5 of rule I and the Chair's prior announcement, further proceedings on this motion will be postponed.

RICHARD C. LEE UNITED STATES COURTHOUSE

Mr. KIM. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the Senate bill (S. 1355) to designate the United States courthouse located in New Haven, Connecticut, as the "Richard C. Lee United States Courthouse," as amended.

S. 1355

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. DESIGNATION.

The United States courthouse located at 141 Church Street in New Haven, Connecticut, shall be known and designated as the "Richard C. Lee United States Courthouse".

SEC. 2. REFERENCES.

Any reference in a law, map, regulation, document, paper, or other record of the United States to the United States courthouse referred to in section 1 shall be deemed to be a reference to the "Richard C. Lee United States Courthouse".

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. HANSEN). Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from California (Mr. KIM) and the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. TRAFICANT) each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from California (Mr. KIM).

Mr. KIM. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, Senate 1355, as amended, designates the United States courthouse located in New Haven, Connecticut, as the "Richard C. Lee United States Courthouse."

Richard Lee was the mayor of New Haven, Connecticut, for eight terms, comprising 16 years in office. He was a dedicated public servant who played a significant role in American urban history. Celebrated as an urban pioneer, under his leadership the City of New Haven became a model in urban renewal for cities across the United States.

Mayor Lee recognized the importance of a thriving downtown area and healthy middle-class population to ensure a city's existence. Mayor Lee is a credit to his hometown of New Haven.

This is a fitting tribute to a dedicated public servant, and I support the Senate bill, as amended. Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to support it as well.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. TRAFICANT. Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as she may consume to the gentlewoman from New Haven, Connecticut (Ms. DELAURO), the sponsor of this legislation in the House.

Ms. DELAURO. Mr. Speaker, I thank both gentlemen for the opportunity to be able to speak on this issue this afternoon. I am very, very proud to sponsor this bill which will designate the U.S. courthouse in my hometown of New Haven, Connecticut, as the "Richard C. Lee United States Courthouse."

Richard C. Lee epitomizes all that a mayor can and should be and is truly a model mayor of a city for this century.

Dick Lee's dedication to the City of New Haven is illustrated by a lifetime of public service. His career began as a reporter. He became editor of the New Haven Journal Courier. He later became editor of the Yale News Digest and director of the Yale University News Bureau. He went on to a career as a public servant after that.

After twice running and losing, he became New Haven's youngest mayor in 1953. He served for 16 years, longer than any mayor since. There is a historic dimension to Dick Lee's administration. During his tenure as a mayor, he was deeply involved with and dedicated to issues of urban renewal. He initiated an economic revitalization plan marking a turning point in New Haven's history.

He was particularly interested in the human side of urban redevelopment. He incorporated community outreach into the public school system; added staff to the public schools to facilitate relationships between faculty, students, and others; he developed job training programs; he served as President of the United States Conference of Mayors.

Because of his success in New Haven, his solid reputation led to his becoming principal advisor on urban affairs during the Kennedy and Johnson administrations, where he led the way for similar programs throughout the country.

After retiring as mayor, Dick continued to serve his community by serving as executive director of the United Way of Greater New Haven from 1975 to 1980. His later achievements included an appointment to the Committee on Judicial Review in 1976, and chairing the State Library Board from 1984 to 1986. In 1987, he was appointed to the Judicial Review Council. He later joined Union Trust as the chairman's representative in New Haven.

Let me just say that Dick Lee understood how vibrant and alive cities are and what role they can play in making sure that people have the kinds of opportunity that they needed economically and what kind of a social fabric one needs in order for a people to be able to succeed.

On a personal and political level, the DeLauro and Lee families have been close for years. I witnessed firsthand his knowledge, insight, and caring for the New Haven community. My mother, Luisa DeLauro, served on the Board of Aldermen under Dick's administration. I fondly remember Dick's relationship with my father, Ted DeLauro. They were great friends and they worked together on numerous projects for the betterment of the New Haven community. Throughout my life, Dick Lee has been both a mentor and a friend.

On September 13th, 1987, Dick was inducted into the Knights of St. Gregory, a Papal honor for "exemplary conduct as a citizen living up to his full measure of influence and creativity in the community." It is exactly this commitment to community that distinguishes the life of Richard C. Lee, and it is with great pleasure that I sponsor this legislation.

Dick Lee is now 82 years old. He probably will be angry with me for mentioning his age, but he truly epitomizes what a public servant is in our country. This courthouse will be a lasting tribute to a man who has been one of the most dedicated and effective mayors of this century, and I thank the gentlemen for allowing me this time to speak on his behalf.

Mr. KIM. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. TRAFICANT. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, Mayor Richard Lee has become known as the model mayor for our country and for this century. Having served in World War II, he returned to his hometown of New Haven and he started a lifetime of service.

There is something I would like to mention that perhaps is a little unusual as being a former sheriff. Mayor Lee petitioned the Ford Foundation and the Federal Government to join him in the fight against juvenile delinquency and urban unemployment years ago, being in advance of and understanding the unusual dynamics taking place in our country and certainly in our urban environment.

The point I want to mention to this House is during the urban unrest of the 1960s, New Haven, Connecticut, did not experience the violence which shook other major cities, now chronicled in the history of those turbulent years. New Haven, in fact, became the model for law enforcement civility without one shot being fired by a policeman during that time. Not one shot being fired.

Some of the adjectives that have been used to describe the great mayor were: Commitment, accessibility, involvement, creativity. Mr. Speaker, I believe it is prompt and proper for the House to offer another one: A great American.

I am proud to support this bill. I want to commend the two Senators from Connecticut and also the great Member here from New Haven for their bill. I support it and I urge an "aye" vote.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from California (Mr. KIM) that the House suspend the rules and pass the Senate bill, S. 1355, as amended.

The question was taken.

Mr. KIM. Mr. Speaker, I object to the vote on the ground that a quorum is not present and make the point of order that a quorum is not present.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 5, rule I, and the Chair's prior announcement, further proceedings on this motion will be postponed.

The point of no quorum is considered withdrawn.

ROBERT K. RODIBAUGH UNITED STATES BANKRUPTCY COURT-HOUSE

Mr. KIM. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 81) to designate the United States courthouse located at 401 South Michigan Street in South Bend, Indiana, as the "Robert K. Rodibaugh United States Bankruptcy Courthouse".

H.R. 81

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. DESIGNATION.

The United States courthouse located at 401 South Michigan Street in South Bend, Indiana, shall be known and designated as the "Robert K. Rodibaugh United States Bankruptcy Courthouse".

SEC. 2. REFERENCES.

Any reference in a law, map, regulation, document, paper, or other record of the United States to the United States courthouse referred to in section 1 shall be deemed to be a reference to the "Robert K. Rodibaugh United States Bankruptcy Courthouse".

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from California (Mr. KIM) and the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. TRAFICANT) each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from California (Mr. KIM).

Mr. KIM. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, H.R. 81 designates the United States courthouse in South Bend, Indiana, as the "Robert K. Rodibaugh United States Bankruptcy Courthouse."

Judge Rodibaugh served the Northern District of Indiana in the area of bankruptcy law since his appointment as a bankruptcy judge in 1960. During his tenure, he oversaw the growth of the bankruptcy court from one small courtroom with a part-time referee and a clerk's office of 4 employees in South Bend, to four separate courtrooms located throughout northern Indiana. In 1985, Judge Rodibaugh was appointed Chief Bankruptcy Judge and assumed senior status in 1986.

Judge Rodibaugh has fulfilled his duties as a referee and a judge in bankruptcy proceedings with a patience, fairness, and dedication to legal scholarship which is most worthy of recognition. It is a fitting tribute to honor him and his accomplishments in this manner.

Mr. Speaker, I support this legislation and urge my colleagues to join me to support it.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. TRAFICANT. Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as he may consume to the fine gentleman from South Bend, Indiana (Mr. ROEMER), the sponsor of this legislation.

Mr. ROEMER. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. TRAFICANT) and I also want to thank the gentleman from California (Mr. KIM) for their help on this very important piece of legislation today that we honor Judge Rodibaugh with.

Mr. Speaker, I would also like to thank the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. TRAFICANT) for his hard work on this bill. I know he has visited my hometown of South Bend a couple of different times when he played football at the University of Pittsburgh. I would like to say that he was 0 and 2 when he visited my hometown, but I think he got a win one year and was 1 and 1 against the Fighting Irish.

Mr. Speaker, I rise to salute Judge Robert Kurtz Rodibaugh, a loyal and dedicated friend, the senior bankruptcy judge for the South Bend Division of the Northern District of the State of Indiana. It is truly a great honor for me to recognize Judge Rodibaugh, who has consistently demonstrated generosity and selfless dedication to the citizens and legal community of northern Indiana.

At the beginning of this Congress, I introduced H.R. 81 to designate the recently dedicated courthouse on the corner of Western and South Michigan Streets in South Bend, Indiana, in honor of Judge Rodibaugh and his numerous contributions to the legal community. Last year, I also had the privilege to attend the dedication ceremony for the Rodibaugh Courthouse. While the courthouse has already been dedicated, I believe that H.R. 81 is an appropriate way to express our gratitude for Judge Rodibaugh's lifelong dedication to public service.

Mr. Speaker, without question, the Robert K. Rodibaugh United States Bankruptcy Courthouse is a fitting title for the new bankruptcy facility. Judge Rodibaugh is a shining example of the importance of public service whose tireless contributions provide an invaluable service to our community, my hometown, South Bend, Indiana.

Mr. Speaker, I am confident that Judge Rodibaugh will continue to play a constructive and important role in our community and will continue to serve as a powerful inspiration to all of those who come into contact with him. I thank the House of Representatives for passing this, and I thank the chairman and ranking member for their assistance, and congratulate Judge Rodibaugh.

Mr. Speaker, I rise today in appreciation of Judge Robert Kurtz Rodibaugh, a loyal and dedicated friend, the senior bankruptcy judge for the South Bend Division of the Northern District of Indiana. It is truly a great honor for me to recognize Judge Rodibaugh, who has consistently demonstrated generosity and selfless dedication to the citizens and legal community of Northern Indiana.

At the beginning of the current Congress, I introduced legislation, H.R. 81, in the U.S. House of Representatives to designate the recently dedicated courthouse on the corner of Western and South Michigan Streets in South Bend, Indiana in honor of Judge Rodibaugh and his numerous contributions to the legal community. Last year, I had the privilege to attend the dedication ceremony for the "Robert K. Rodibaugh United States Bankruptcy Courthouse." While this courthouse has already been dedicated, I believe that H.R. 81 is an appropriate way to express our gratitude for Judge Rodibaugh's life-long dedication to public service.

Mr. Speaker, as you may recall, I introduced identical legislation which was passed by the House of Representatives during the last Congress. Unfortunately, the measure was not considered by the U.S. Senate before the 104th Congress adjourned. I am honored to sponsor H.R. 81 and pleased that the majority of the Indiana Congressional delegation has cosponsored my legislation. Judge Rodibaugh is recognized by his community and his peers as an honorable man worthy of such a tribute. He is highly regarded throughout the entire country and has been a pillar of the community. Moreover, he is greatly respected by other judges and the bankruptcy bar in Northern Indiana. Since his initial appointment as a referee in bankruptcy in November 1960 and throughout his legal career as a bankruptcy judge, Judge Rodibaugh has served the citizens and legal community of the Northern District of Indiana wisely, efficiently, and honorably.

A native of Elkhart County, Indiana, Judge Rodibaugh graduated from the University of Notre Dame with a Bachelor of Science degree in 1940 and attended the University of Notre Dame Law School, where he served as the Associate Editor of the Notre Dame Law Review between 1940 and 1941. He received his Juris Doctor degree in 1941. After gaining his admittance to practice law in 1941, Judge Rodibaugh entered active duty as a private in the United States Army. He was discharged in 1946 as a Captain after serving in the infantry and armored forces during World War II. Following his release, Judge Rodibaugh entered private practice in 1946. He also served as the Deputy Prosecuting Attorney of the 60th Judicial Circuit, in St. Joseph County, Indiana, from 1948 to 1950, and again from 1953 to 1957. In addition, Judge Rodibaugh served as Attorney for the St. Joseph County Board of Zoning Appeals between 1958 and 1960.

Mr. Speaker, Judge Rodibaugh received the 33 Years of Distinguished Service to Bench and Bar Award from the Bankruptcy Judges of the Seventh Circuit in 1993, the 50 Year Golden Career Award from the Indiana State Bar Association in 1991, and the Notre Dame Law School's Distinguished Alumnus Award in 1991. Some of the significant cases that Judge Rodibaugh has decided include Papelow v. Foley and In the Matter of John Kelly Jeffers. Judge Rodibaugh has always enjoyed the challenge of bankruptcy law and has a special talent for working with corporate reorganizations. Recently, Judge Rodibaugh said: "I still think bankruptcy law is one of the most fascinating areas of the law. When a reorganization is successful, it is a satisfying feeling."

Mr. Speaker, throughout his tenure, Judge Rodibaugh has presided over the growth of the bankruptcy court in Northern Indiana from one small courtroom with a part-time referee and a clerk's office of two employees in South Bend, Indiana, to four different courtrooms in the cities of South Bend, Fort Wayne, Gary, and Lafayette, Indiana, with four full-time judges and a clerk's office of over forty employees. According to his colleague, Judge Harry Dees, also a bankruptcy judge for the Northern District of Indiana: "Judge Rodibaugh never complained about all the weekly traveling, he just did it."

Moreover, Judge Rodibaugh has fulfilled his duties as a bankruptcy judge with patience, fairness, dedication and legal scholarship which is most worthy of recognition. His high standards have benefitted the many law clerks and judicial personnel who have served under his tutelage, the lawyers who have practiced before the bankruptcy court, as well as the citizens residing in the Northern District of Indiana. In 1985, Judge Rodibaugh was appointed Chief Judge of the U.S. Bankruptcy Court for the Northern District of Indiana. He served in that position until he assumed full-time recall status as a senior judge one year later. Today, Judge Rodibaugh continues in this position, carrying a full case load, and he has no plans to cut back on his work with the court. Currently, Judge Rodibaugh and his wife, Eunice, live in South Bend, Indiana.

Mr. Speaker, it is important for me to indicate that the firm of Panzica Development Company with Western Avenue Properties, LLC, graciously agreed to name the new privately-owned courthouse building in Judge Rodibaugh's honor, owing to his unblemished character and numerous professional achievements in the bankruptcy field. I am confident that the "Robert K. Rodibaugh United States Bankruptcy Courthouse" is an appropriate title for the new bankruptcy court facility. Judge Rodibaugh is a shining example of the importance of public service, whose tireless contributions provide an invaluable service to our community. I am confident that Judge Rodibaugh will continue to play a constructive and important role in our community, and will continue to serve as a powerful inspiration to all of those who come into contact with him.

Mr. KIM. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. TRAFICANT. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Indiana (Mr. ROEMER) the young man from South Bend, was, I believe, about 4 years old when I was in South Bend. I am amazed that he has such a recollection. I know he loves football and that is what makes him so avid.

Mr. Speaker, I compliment the gentleman for recognizing this great judge. When the bankruptcy courts opened up back there, I think they had one part-time clerk and a small office. They graduated to four full bankruptcy courts in Mr. ROEMER's hometown of South Bend, and also Fort Wayne, Gary, and Lafayette.

This is a very respected judge, noted for fairness, dedication, and legal scholarship. Nearly everyone that endorsed this talked body legal scholarship and helping to bring bankruptcy matters to the forefront of consideration of the court system.

So, I want to compliment and commend the gentleman from Indiana (Mr. ROEMER) for his efforts. I want to also say that without a doubt, we not only have a great jurist, but a great American. I am proud to support the legislation.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from California (Mr. KIM) that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 81.

The question was taken.

Mr. KIM. Mr. Speaker, I object to the vote on the ground that a quorum is not present and make the point of order that a quorum is not present.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 5, rule I, and the Chair's prior announcement, further proceedings on this motion will be postponed.

The point of no quorum is considered withdrawn.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. CAMP) and the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. LEVIN), each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. CAMP).

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. CAMP. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks and include extraneous material on H.R. 4558.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Michigan?

There was no objection.

Mr. CAMP. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I want to take a moment and extend the regrets of the gentleman from Florida (Mr. SHAW) that, due to a death in his family, he could not be here personally to manage this bill on the floor today.

Mr. Speaker, this is a time-sensitive bill that makes technical amendments to clarify provisions of benefits for noncitizens and to improve the provision of unemployment insurance, child support and supplemental security income benefits.

This legislation includes a handful of seemingly minor but in fact important changes that serve several goals. Each of its provisions has drawn bipartisan support, and I see my colleague from Michigan is here as well. None of the provisions is opposed by the administration.

The bill's major provision ensures that every elderly or disabled noncitizen already dependent on supplemental security income benefits when we passed welfare reform will remain eligible. At the same time we are maintaining the underlying policy on welfare for newly arriving immigrants achieved in the welfare reform law, that those who arrived after 1996 must work or naturalize before becoming eligible for government benefits.

Second, we are making a number of common sense changes that encourage work and personal responsibility in several programs under the jurisdiction of the Committee on Ways and Means.

Finally, many people are familiar with the Make-A-Wish Foundation or the many similar organizations that fulfill the dreams of children with life threatening conditions by, for example, sending a child with terminal cancer to Disney World. Yet under current rules a sick child granted such a wish can lose some supplemental security income benefits or even lose SSI benefits altogether. We are fixing this problem so children who have their wishes fulfilled by charitable groups will no longer risk losing this critical support.

This legislation is completely paid for and has drawn bipartisan support. I urge its swift adoption.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. LEVIN. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

I join with the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. CAMP) today. I regret that the gentleman from Florida (Mr. SHAW) cannot be here because of a death in the family. We have been working together on this matter as well as other issues, and I am glad that the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. CAMP) can be here in his stead.

Mr. Speaker, the bipartisan legislation before us makes compassionate and common sense changes to several important programs. Most importantly, the bill provides for a permanent extension of supplemental security income for so-called nonqualified aliens. When we passed the Balanced Budget Act last year, we promised to continue SSI benefits for all legal immigrants who were receiving benefits before the enactment of welfare reform.

However, the statute only applied this grandfather status to qualified aliens, a criteria which excluded certain legal immigrants formerly referred to as persons residing under the color of law.

This legislation makes good on our original pledge to continue SSI benefits for all legal aliens regardless of their particular immigration status.

This bill more than offsets the cost of this change by providing the Social Security Administration with limited authority to recoup SSI overpayments from Social Security checks. In fact, as a whole the legislation will save the Federal Government $93 million over the next 5 years.

This clearly illustrates that we can both be socially compassionate and fiscally prudent if we work together on our Nation's problems.

There are a few important points to remember about the population we are helping with this legislation. First, recent studies have clearly indicated that up to 3/4 of those now classified as nonqualified aliens are, in fact, U.S. citizens or qualified aliens.

Second, many of the remaining individuals in this nonqualified group have been in our country for decades and, therefore, cannot be accused of coming to the U.S. to collect public benefits.

Third, these individuals are, by definition, poverty stricken and disabled or elderly, meaning the elimination of their SSI benefits would leave them in a dire predicament.

Beyond protecting the SSI safety net for long time legal residents of this country, the legislation we are considering includes several other beneficial provisions, as mentioned by the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. CAMP).

For example, the bill permanently extends the self-employment assistance program, which aids unemployment insurance recipients in starting their own businesses. The bill also clarifies that the 1996 welfare law does not bar foreign nationals from obtaining or renewing professional licenses in this country.

Finally, the legislation will ensure that sick children do not lose their SSI benefits when they receive gifts from nonprofit organizations such as the Make-A-Wish Foundation.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to support this legislation to strengthen our Nation's safety net for those less fortunate than ourselves. The bill is bipartisan. It is paid for, and it makes good sense and fulfills our promise.

Mr. Speaker, I include for the RECORD a Statement of Administration Policy in support of this bill:

STATEMENT OF ADMINISTRATION POLICY

(This statement has been coordinated by OMB with the concerned agencies.)

H.R. 4558—NONCITIZEN BENEFIT CLARIFICATION AND OTHER TECHNICAL AMENDMENTS ACT OF 1998

Reps. Shaw (R) FL and Levin (D) MI

The Administration strongly supports H.R. 4558. The bill would allow certain vulnerable legal immigrants to continue to receive Supplemental Security Income and Medicaid benefits for which they otherwise would be ineligible after September 30, 1998. H.R. 4558 would further the President's efforts to reverse unduly harsh benefit restrictions on legal immigrants that have nothing to do with moving people from welfare to work. The Administration applauds this bipartisan effort.

PAY-AS-YOU-GO SCORING

H.R. 4558 would affect direct spending; therefore, it is subject to the pay-as-you-go requirements of the Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1990. The Office of Management and Budget's preliminary scoring estimate is that the bill would result in a net decrease in direct spending of $5 million in FY 1999 and a total of $58 million during FYs 1999 through 2003.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. CAMP. Mr. Speaker, I include the following letters as part of the RECORD:

COMMITTEE ON THE JUDICIARY,
HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,
Washington, DC, September 22, 1998.

Hon. BILL ARCHER
Chairman, Committee on Ways and Means,
Lonworth House Office Building,
Washington, DC.

DEAR MR. CHAIRMAN: On September 18, 1998, the Committee on Ways and Means ordered reported H.R. 4558, the "Noncitizen Benefit Clarification and Other Technical Amendments Act of 1998". The bill makes technical amendments to clarify the provisions of benefits for noncitizens, and to improve the provision of unemployment insurance, child support, and supplemental security income benefits. As you know, Section 2 and 5—which relate to aliens—fall within the Rule X jurisdiction of the Committee on the Judiciary.

Given the importance of this legislation and your interest in moving the bill to the House Floor in an expeditious manner, I will agree not to request a referral of this bill. By agreeing not to exercise the Judiciary Committee's jurisdiction, the Committee does not waive its jurisdictional interest in this bill or similar legislation. Further, the Committee would preserve its prerogative to seek to be represented in any House-Senate conference committee that may be convened on H.R. 4558.

I appreciate your consideration of our interest in this legislation and look forward to working with you on its passage. Further, I would appreciate an acknowledgement of this letter and would request that our exchange of letters be included in the Record of debate on this bill.

Sincerely,

HENRY J. HYDE,

Rayburn HOB, Washington, DC.*

DEAR MR. CHAIRMAN: Thank you for your letter regarding your Committee's jurisdictional interest in H.R. 4558, the "Noncitizen Benefit Clarification and Other Technical Amendments Act of 1998."

I acknowledge your interest in this legislation and appreciate your cooperation in moving the bill to the House floor expeditiously. I agree to work with you as this legislation moves forward and also agree that your decision to forego further action on the bill will not prejudice the Judiciary Committee with respect to its jurisdictional prerogatives on H.R. 4558, or similar legislation.

Thank you again for your cooperation.

Sincerely,

BILL ARCHER,
Chairman.

COMMITTEE ON COMMERCE,
Washington, DC, September 22, 1998.

Hon. BILL ARCHER,
Chairman, House Committee on Ways and Means; Longworth House Office Building, Washington, DC.

DEAR BILL: On May 13, 1998, the Committee on Ways and Means ordered reported H.R. 4558, the Noncitizen Benefit Clarification and Other Technical Amendments Act of 1998. Among other provisions, this bill addresses the Medicaid eligibility for individuals who receive Social Security Insurance ("SSI"). As you know, standards for Medicaid eligibility fall within the Committee's jurisdiction under Rule X of the Rules of the House of Representatives.

Because of the importance of this matter, I recognize your desire to bring this legislation before the House in an expeditious manner. Therefore, I will waive consideration of the bill by the Commerce Committee. By agreeing to waive its consideration of the bill, the Commerce Committee does not waive its jurisdiction over these provisions or similar legislation. In addition, the Commerce Committee reserves its authority to seek conferees on the provisions of the bill that are within the Commerce Committee's jurisdiction during any House-Senate conference that may be convened on this legislation. I request that you support any request by the Commerce Committee for conferees on this or similar legislation.

I also request that you submit this letter for the record during consideration of H.R. 4558 on the House floor. Thank you for your attention to these matters.

Washington, DC, September 22, 1998.
Hon. THOMAS J. BLILEY, JR.,
*Chairman, House Committee on Commerce,
Rayburn House Office Building,
Washington, DC.*

DEAR CHAIRMAN BLILEY: Thank you for your letter regarding your Committee's interest in H.R. 4558, the "Noncitizen Benefit Clarification and Other Technical Amendments Act of 1998." As you know, the bill, as introduced, was referred to the Committee on Ways and Means, and in addition, to the Committee on Commerce. I understand that it is scheduled to be considered on the House floor on September 23, 1998.

I further understand that the motion to suspend the rules will include a manager's amendment clarifying that the restoration of Supplemental Security Income (SSI) benefits for certain non-qualified aliens contained in the bill applies, accordingly, to eligibility for benefits under other programs, such as Medicaid, that are based on eligibility for SSI.

I acknowledge your jurisdictional interest in this legislation and appreciate your cooperation in moving the bill forward to the House floor expeditiously. As you requested, I will insert a copy of our exchange of letters on this matter in the Record during floor consideration of the bill.

Thank you again for your assistance on this matter. With best personal regards,

Sincerely,

BILL ARCHER,

Mr. CAMP. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

This legislation, as my colleague, the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. LEVIN) correctly pointed out, was very much a bipartisan piece of legislation. I would like to particularly note that there was one provision regarding the Make-A-Wish Foundation and other similar organizations that help children who have life-threatening diseases fulfill their childhood dreams or their wishes.

Under current law, SSI benefits or supplemental security income benefits could be lost by the child receiving such a benefit. That could be a trip to Disney World, as I said, or some other type of trip. Because those were deemed as a benefit, these children were put at risk.

My colleague, the gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. ENGLISH) was absolutely instrumental in making this change. This was a problem he had heard about, he knew about. He brought this to the attention of the committee and did a tremendous job in making this change. I just wanted to make sure that the RECORD reflected his leadership on this particular issue.

Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. ENGLISH).

Mr. ENGLISH of Pennsylvania. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in strong support of H.R. 4558.

This is good legislation that does a number of things that I think Congress needs to do before we leave. Among others, it permanently reauthorizes the self-employed assistance program. This program enables individuals who would otherwise be unemployed to create their own jobs by creating microenterprises. The efforts of the Ridge administration in my home State of Pennsylvania demonstrate that this is an effective tool in helping people become re-employed.

This legislation also corrects a problem that has given bureaucrats a bad name. The Social Security Administration has a policy of cutting the SSI benefits of children with life-threatening illnesses who receive cash from tax exempt groups that grant their wish, say, to visit Walt Disney World, go on a shopping spree or meet a celebrity.

Under current policy, Mr. Speaker, accepting cash for expenses means that the family has to report it as an increase in income. This could result in the reduction of SSI benefits and, in a number of rare cases, elimination of Social Security benefits. This is an absurd situation.

Since 1980, the Make-A-Wish Foundation, as an example, has worked to grant one special wish to every child referred to them with a life-threatening illness. They give these children their fondest dream as a way of relieving the daily pain, stress and worries that their illness forces them to face daily. The Make-A-Wish Foundation volunteers make sure that every detail of the wish experienced, every phone call, every travel expense is taken care of.

Mr. Speaker, it simply is not fair to take needed benefits from sick children just because they have a dream and a charity is willing to make it come true. The Shaw-English provision of H.R. 4558 would exempt up to $2000 in cash awards given to these children and their families for incidentals when their wish is granted.

This important legislation ensures that organizations like the Make-A-Wish Foundation can continue to grant the wishes of sick children. It is wrong for bureaucrats to turn a child's wish into a parent's nightmare. I urge my colleagues to support H.R. 4558.

I include for the RECORD a statement from the chairman of the board of the Make-A-Wish Foundation:

STATEMENT FROM THE CHAIRMAN OF THE BOARD OF THE MAKE-A-WISH FOUNDATION® OF AMERICA REGARDING H.R. 4558

(By Tony Leal, Jr.)

Since its founding in 1980, the Make-A-Wish Foundation has striven to accomplish one simple task: to grant one special wish to every child who is referred to us with a life-threatening illness. Our goal is to fulfill our children's fondest dream in a way that relieves them and their families of the daily pain, stress, and worries that come when children are forced to fight a very grown-up battle. Whether the wish is to visit a theme park, meet a celebrity, go on a shopping spree or to be a cowboy at a dude ranch, our volunteers make sure every detail of the wish experience—every expense, every phone call, every travel arrangement—is taken care of. We don't want families to have a worry in the world as our wish children live their fondest dreams.

The dedicated staff and more than 13,000 volunteers of the Make-A-Wish Foundation have accomplished this task for more than 50,000 children since 1980. From time to time, we grant wishes to children whose families receive Supplemental Security Insurance benefits. Because many wishes, such as one involving travel, include providing the family with enough spending money to sustain them through the experience, we have found that an unintended consequence of the SSI eligibility rules has forced families to choose between having their sick children's wishes granted or retaining their SSI benefits. To accept any spending money as part of the wish experience forces them to report increased income, resulting in a reduction—or in rare cases the elimination—of SSI benefits.

The effect of Section 7 of House Resolution 4558 on our wish families would be to relieve them from having to make the impossible choice between SSI benefits and a wish for their children. After all, these families have enough tough decisions to make. The Make-A-Wish Foundation appreciates the dedication and attention that Make-A-Wish volunteers in our communities, as well as members of Congress, have devoted to this issue.

Mr. LEVIN. Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from California (Mr. FILNER).

Mr. FILNER. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding me the time.

I thank the authors of H.R. 4558, the Noncitizen Benefit Clarification Act, for their efforts that brought us this legislation today. When we passed the welfare reform bill in 1996, at that time I cautioned my colleagues that we were reaching too far, that we were hurting people who genuinely needed assistance, and we would have to right the bill's wrong at some point.

I am glad that today we will rein in the overreaching arm of this so-called reform, correct the overbite of this legislation and bring comfort and aid to those unjustly affected.

Among its several corrections, this bill includes one that will immediately impact and assist residents in my congressional district in San Diego, California. When Congress approved that 1996 legislation, thousands of resident immigrants who had been receiving SSI benefits had their benefit eligibility rescinded. The bill overreached and mistakenly categorized these people as nonqualified aliens ineligible to receive SSI benefits.

As I said at the time and as the Social Security Administration has since verified, the benefits of thousands of qualified recipients were swept away by the extreme nature of the 1996 legislation. While Congress has sought to correct the situation and to help those individuals with short-term benefit extensions, today we will make that eligibility permanent.

This legislation is about guaranteeing humane treatment to people who need assistance and to protect them from the unintended effects of so-called welfare reform. I hope we will remember this serious error when next we try to reform a program that provides critical assistance to our citizens and residents.

I urge my colleagues to support this vital legislation.

Mr. UNDERWOOD. Mr. Speaker, the bill before us today, H.R. 4558, is important in that it clarifies the eligibility of immigrants in receiving Supplemental Security Income (SSI) benefits. As you know, the 1997 Balanced Budget Act permanently grandfathered most but not all noncitizens who were receiving SSI benefits when the welfare reform law was signed into law on August 22, 1996. About 22,000 "nonqualified" noncitizens were grandfathered through on September 30, 1998 in order to give the Social Security Administration adequate time to determine their status. This legislation would clarify that these individuals—many of whom are elderly or disabled and who claim citizenship but lack documentation or are not capable of documenting their immigration status—will continue to receive SSI benefits from the federal government.

While there should be strong and vigorous debate on the ensuring that those most in need of public assistance not fall through the safety net, perhaps it is not clearly known that not all U.S. citizens are eligible for participation in the SSI program. SSI is available to citizens who live in one of the 50 States; however, U.S. citizens residing in Guam, American Samoa, the U.S. Virgin Islands and Puerto Rico are not eligible for assistance under the SSI program. Given the fact that the cost of living is much higher in the territories than almost any mainland location, and given the fact that we have a permanent cap on Medicaid, I sincerely believe that there is a definite need to extend the SSI program to the territories.

Citizenship in this country and the privileges associated with it should not be measured by geographic choice in residency or the size of one's pocketbook. Whether one chooses to live in Hagatna, St. Croix or Peoria, a federally funded program should be accessible to everyone.

I urge my colleagues to pass H.R. 4558 and to extend the SSI program to the American citizens in the territories.

Mr. TOWNS. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of H.R. 4558 legislation which will "grandfather" SSI and Medicaid eligibility for those elderly and disabled legal immigrants who were receiving benefits on August 22, 1996 and are designated as "not qualified" under the 1996 welfare law.

Currently, over 12,000 such immigrants nationwide, most of whom are elderly, are scheduled to lose their SSI benefits on September 30, 1998. In New York State alone, approximately 1,865 people will lose these benefits. Many in New York, and the rest of the country, will also lose their Medicaid.

Many in this group are actually qualified immigrants eligible for continuing to receive SSI benefits, but are miscoded in the Social Security Administration (SSA) files and stand to lose their benefits because of administrative error. Eighty percent or more of those coded "not qualified" by SSA are in fact qualified immigrants whom the 1997 restoration was meant to benefit. Yet they will lose their benefits unless we, their elected officials, grandfather these individuals.

Those who would lose assistance include the most vulnerable immigrants in need, the elderly and disabled, many homebound and frail, who are least able to comprehend or respond to efforts to reach out and protect them. For example, a 100 year old woman in New York receiving 24 hour home care is at risk of losing her benefits. I know none of us wants this type of tragedy to occur.

I urge my colleagues on both sides of the aisle to join me in supporting and passing this legislation before the September 30th, 1998 deadline and avoid a needless crisis.

Mr. STARK. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 4558, the Noncitizen Benefit Clarification and Other Technical Amendments Act of 1998.

H.R. 4558 will extend Supplemental Security Income (SSI) benefits for nonqualified aliens who were receiving benefits before the enactment of welfare reform.

This group of about 12,000 aliens, all of whom are elderly or disabled or both, will lose SSI and Medicaid on October 1 of this year unless Congress votes to permanently extend their benefits. The vast majority of affected recipients reside in California.

The Federal Government has a responsibility to set guidelines that protect the vulnerable in this country. As a society, we have an obligation to support the elderly, the disabled and the poor. By gouging our food stamp program and denying benefits to legal immigrants, welfare reform doesn't even come close to those standards.

Welfare reform pushes more children into poverty and leaves more of the poor without the health care they need. I support this correction and believe we should be doing more to give the needy a helping hand.

Mr. CAMP. Mr. Speaker, I have no further requests for time, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. LEVIN. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. CAMP) that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 4558, as amended.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended and the bill, as amended, was passed.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

AFTER RECESS

The recess having expired, the House was called to order by the Speaker pro tempore (Mr. HANSEN) at 4 o'clock and 47 minutes p.m.

PRIVILEGES OF THE HOUSE—
IMPEACHING KENNETH W. STARR

Mr. HASTINGS of Florida. Mr. Speaker, I rise to introduce a question of privilege pursuant to rule IX and call up House Resolution 545 for consideration.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Clerk will report the resolution.

The Clerk read the resolution, as follows:

RESOLUTION

Impeaching Kenneth W. Starr, an independent counsel of the United States appointed pursuant to 28 United States Code §593(b), of high crimes and misdemeanors.

Resolved that Kenneth W. Starr, an independent counsel of the United States of America, is impeached for high crimes and misdemeanors, and that the following articles of impeachment be exhibited to the Senate;

Articles of Impeachment exhibited by the House of Representatives of the United States of America in the name of itself and of all the people of the United States of America, against Kenneth W. Starr, an independent counsel of the United States of America, in maintenance and support of its impeachment against him for high crimes and misdemeanors.

ARTICLE I

In his conduct of the office of independent counsel, Kenneth W. Starr has violated his oath and his statutory and constitutional duties as an officer of the United States and has acted in ways that were calculated to and that did usurp the sole power of impeachment that the Constitution of the United States vests exclusively in the House of Representatives and that were calculated to and did obstruct and impede the House of Representatives in the proper exercise of its sole power of impeachment. The acts by which Independent Counsel Starr violated his duties and attempted to and did usurp the sole power of impeachment and impede its proper exercise include:

(1) On September 9, 1998, Independent Counsel Kenneth W. Starr transmitted two copies of a "Referral to the United States House of Representatives pursuant to Title 28, United States Code, §595(c)." As part of that Referral, Mr. Starr submitted a 445-page report (the "Starr Report") that included an extended narration and analysis of evidence presented to a grand jury and of other material and that specified the grounds upon which Mr. Starr had concluded that a duly elected President of the United States should be impeached by the House of Representatives. By submitting the Starr Report, Mr. Starr usurped the sole power of impeachment and impeded the House in the proper exercise of that power in various ways, including the following:

(a) In preparing the Starr Report, Mr. Starr misused the powers granted and violated the duties assigned independent counsel under the provisions of Title 28 of the United States Code. Section 595(c) does not authorize or require independent counsel to submit a report narrating and analyzing the evidence and identifying the specific grounds on which independent counsel believes the House of Representatives should impeach the President of the United States. By submitting the Starr Report in the form he did, Mr. Starr misused his powers and preempted the proper exercise of the sole power of impeachment that the Constitution assigned to the House of Representatives. Mr. Starr thereby committed a high crime and misdemeanor against the Constitution and the people of the United States of America.

(b) In his preparation and submission of the Starr Report, Mr. Starr further misused his powers and violated his duties as independent counsel and arrogated unto himself and effectively preempted and undermined the proper exercise of power of impeachment that the Constitution allocated exclusively to the House of Representatives. Mr. Starr knew or should have known, and he acted to assure, that the House of Representatives would promptly release to the public any report that he transmitted to the House of Representatives under the authority of Section 595(c). With that knowledge, Mr. Starr prepared and transmitted a needlessly pornographic report calculated to inflame public opinion and to preclude the House of Representatives from following the procedures and observing the precedents it had established for the conduct of a bipartisan inquiry to determine whether a President of the United States had committed a high crime or misdemeanor in office meriting impeachment. Mr. Starr thereby committed a high crime and misdemeanor against the Constitution and the people of the United States.

(2) Independent Counsel Kenneth W. Starr further usurped and arrogated unto himself the powers that belong solely to the House of Representatives by using and threatening to use the subpoena powers of a federal grand jury to compel an incumbent President of the United States to testify before a federal grand jury as part of an investigation whose primary purpose had become and was the development of evidence that the President had committed high crimes and misdemeanors justifying his impeachment and removal from office. With respect to the President of the United States, the only means by which the holder of that office may be called to account for his conduct in office is through the exercise by the House of Representatives of the investigative powers that the constitutional assignment of the sole power of impeachment conferred upon it. Mr. Starr improperly used and manipulated the powers of the grand jury and his office to effectively impeach the President of the United States of America and to force the House of Representatives to ratify his decision. Mr. Starr thereby committed a high crime and misdemeanor against the Constitution and the people of the United States.

In all this, Kenneth W. Starr has acted in a manner contrary to his trust as an independent counsel of the United States and subversive of constitutional government, to the great prejudice of the cause of law and justice, and to the manifest injury of the people of the United States.

Wherefore Kenneth W. Starr, by such conduct, warrants impeachment and trial, and removal from office.

ARTICLE II

In his conduct of the office of independent counsel, Kenneth W. Starr violated the oath he took to support and defend the Constitution of the United States of America and his duties as an officer of the United States and acted in ways that were calculated to and that did unconstitutionally undermine the office of President of the United States and obstruct, impede, and impair the ability of an incumbent President of the United States to fully and effectively discharge the duties and responsibilities of his office on behalf and for the benefit of the people of the United States of America, by whom he had been duly elected. The acts by which Mr. Starr violated his oath and his duties and undermined the office of President and obstructed, impeded, and impaired the ability of the incumbent President to fully and effectively discharge the duties of that office include:

(1) Mr. Starr unlawfully and improperly disclosed and authorized disclosures of grand jury material for the purpose of embarrassing the President of the United States and distracting him from and impairing his ability to execute the duties of the office to which the people of the United States had elected him. Mr. Starr has thereby committed high crimes and misdemeanors against the Constitution and people of the United States.

(2) Mr. Starr engaged in a wilful and persistent course of conduct that was calculated to and that did wrongfully demean, embarrass, and defame an incumbent President of the United States and that thereby undermined and impaired the President's ability to properly execute the duties of the office to which the people of the United States had elected him, including not only Mr. Starr's wrongful disclosures of grand jury material, but also other improper conduct, such as his actions and conduct calculated to suggest, without foundation, that the incumbent President had participated in preparing a so-called "talking points" outline to improperly influence the testimony of one or more persons scheduled to be deposed in a private civil action. By his wilful and persistent conduct in misrepresenting as well as improperly disclosing evidence that he had gathered, Mr. Starr committed high crimes and misdemeanors against the Constitution and the people of the United States of America.

(3) Mr. Starr intentionally, wilfully, and improperly embarrassed the people and the President of the United States by including in the Starr Report an unnecessary and improper and extended detailed, salacious, and pornographic narrative account of the consensual sexual encounters that a grand jury witness testified she had with the incumbent President of the United States. By including the unnecessary and improper pornographic narrative, Mr. Starr intended to and did undermine and imperil the ability of the President to conduct the foreign relations of United States of America and otherwise to execute the duties of the office to which the people of the United States had elected him, and he knowingly and improperly embarrassed the United States as a nation. By including that narrative, knowing and intending that it would be published and disseminated, Mr. Starr committed a high crime and misdemeanor against the Constitution and the people of the United States of America.

In all of this, Kenneth W. Starr has acted in a manner contrary to his trust as an independent counsel of the United States and subversive of constitutional government, to the great prejudice of the cause of law and justice, and to the manifest injury of the people of the United States.

Wherefore Kenneth W. Starr, by such conduct, warrants impeachment and trial, and removal from office.

ARTICLE III

In his conduct of the office of independent counsel, Kenneth W. Starr violated the oath he took to support and defend the Constitution of the United States of America and the duties he had assumed as an officer of the United States and acted in ways that were calculated to and that did unconstitutionally arrogate unto himself powers that the Constitution of the United States assigned to the federal courts; that were calculated to and did undermine the institution of the grand jury established by the Constitution of the United States; and that were calculated to and did undermine and bring into disrepute the office of independent counsel and offices of all those charged with investigating and prosecuting crimes against the United States. The acts by which Mr. Starr violated his oath and his duties and by which he undermined the federal courts and the grand jury and undermined and demeaned the office and role of all federal prosecutors include:

(1) Mr. Starr disclosed and authorized and approved the disclosure and misuse of grand jury materials in violation of Rule 6(e)(2) of the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure and with contempt for the federal courts and for the rights of those who appear before grand juries of the United States and of those who are subjects of grand jury investigations.

(2) Throughout his investigations, Mr. Starr abused the powers of his office and condoned the abuse of those powers to improperly intimidate and manipulate citizens of the United States who were interviewed or called to testify before a grand jury or who were actual or potential targets of his investigations and to deprive them of rights guaranteed to all citizens of the United States. Mr. Starr and subordinates for whose conduct he is responsible further abused and misused the powers of the office of independent counsel and the powers of the grand jury to improperly invade and needlessly intrude upon the privacy of individuals and to demean the rights guaranteed to all by the First and Fifth Amendments to the Constitution of the United States.

(3) Throughout his investigations, Mr. Starr has abused and misused and has authorized and approved the abuse and misuse of the powers of his office in ways that have demeaned the prosecutorial office and that have undermined and will undermine the ability of other prosecutorial officers of the United States to discharge their duty to take care that laws of the United States be faithfully executed.

(4) In his conduct of the office of the independent counsel, Mr. Starr has needlessly and unjustifiably expended and wasted funds of the United States. Over the past four years, Mr. Starr has expended more than forty million dollars ($40,000,000) in a relentless pursuit of investigations and prosecutions that he knew or should have known did not merit and could not justify such extraordinary expenditures.

By the conduct described in this Article III of these Articles of Impeachment, Kenneth W. Starr committed high crimes and misdemeanors against the Constitution and the people of the United States of America.

In all of this, Kenneth W. Starr has acted in a manner contrary to his trust as an independent counsel of the United States and subversive of constitutional government, to the great prejudice of the cause of law and justice, and to the manifest injury of the people of the United States.

Wherefore Kenneth W. Starr, by such conduct, warrants impeachment and trial, and removal from office.

ARTICLE IV

By his conduct as an officer of the United States of America, including the conduct described in Articles I through III of these Articles of Impeachment, Kenneth W. Starr has violated the oath he took to uphold and defend the Constitution of the United States of America. He has acted and persisted in acting in ways that were calculated to and did embarrass the United States and the people of the United States before the international community and that were calculated to and did undermine the ability of the Legislative Branch, the Executive Branch, and the Judicial Branch to effectively exercise the powers and discharge the duties assigned to each by the Constitution of the United States of America. He has unconstitutionally and improperly exercised powers that were not his to exercise and has acted in ways that were calculated to and did improperly demean a President of the United States and diminish the capacity of the President to effectively discharge the duties that the people of the United States elected him to perform. He has unconstitutionally and improperly exercised his powers and has acted in ways that were calculated to and did demean the House of Representatives and that have effectively deprived the House of Representatives of its right to exercise its sole power of impeachment in a deliberate and bipartisan manner that was consistent with the procedures and precedents it had established in prior proceedings and inquiries to determine whether the President of the United States should be impeached. He has unlawfully and improperly exercised his powers in ways that demeaned the institution of the federal grand jury, that demonstrated contempt of the courts of the United States and the rules that govern their proceedings, and that demeaned the office of independent counsel and offices of all those charged with responsibility for seeing that the laws of the United States are faithfully executed. By his conduct as an independent counsel, Kenneth W. Starr has committed high crimes and misdemeanors against the Constitution and the people of the United States.

In all of this, Kenneth W. Starr has acted in a manner contrary to his trust as an independent counsel of the United States and subversive of constitutional government, to the great prejudice of the cause of law and justice, and to the manifest injury of the people of the United States.

Wherefore Kenneth W. Starr, by such conduct, warrants impeachment and trial, and removal from office.

PRIVILEGES OF THE HOUSE—ORDERING IMMEDIATE PRINTING OF ENTIRE COMMUNICATION RECEIVED ON SEPTEMBER 9, 1998, FROM AN INDEPENDENT COUNSEL

Mr. CONDIT. Mr. Speaker, I offer a resolution (H. Res. 546) and ask for its immediate consideration.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. HANSEN). The Clerk will report the resolution.

The Clerk read the resolution, as follows:

H. RES. 546

Whereas the entire communication of the Office of the Independent Counsel received by the House of Representatives on September 9, 1998, includes information of fundamental constitutional importance;

Whereas the American people have a right to receive and review this communication in its entirety;

Whereas the House Committee on the Judiciary has failed to make the entire communication available to the American people; and

Whereas failure to make the entire communication available to the American people raises a question of privilege affecting the dignity and integrity of the proceedings of the House under rule IX of the Rules of the House of Representatives: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the entire communication received, including all appendices and related materials, on September 9, 1998, from an independent counsel, pursuant to section 595(c) of title 28, United States Code, shall be printed immediately as a document of the House of Representatives.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Does any Member wish to be heard on the question of whether the resolution constitutes a question of privilege?

Mr. SOLOMON. Mr. Speaker, I wish to be heard on the question of whether the resolution offered by the gentleman from California constitutes a question of privilege.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from New York (Mr. SOLOMON) is recognized.

Mr. SOLOMON. Mr. Speaker, questions of privilege under rule IX are those affecting the rights of the House collectively, its safety, its dignity, and the integrity of its proceedings, and the rights, reputation, and the conduct of Members. A question of privilege, Mr. Speaker, may not be raised to effect a change in House rules.

Mr. Speaker, House Rule 525, which was adopted by the House on September 11 by a vote of 363 to 63, delegated the authority to review and release Independent Counsel Starr's report from the House to the Committee on the Judiciary.

The House delegated this authority to the Committee on the Judiciary as an exercise in its rule-making power. Mr. Speaker, the resolution offered by the gentleman from California (Mr. CONDIT) seeks to change the rule of the House as established in House Resolution 525. Therefore, Mr. Speaker, the gentleman's resolution does not constitute a legitimate question of privilege.

Mr. Speaker, let me just cite line 15 of the resolution that passed the House. It says, "The balance of such material shall be deemed to have been received in executive session, but shall be released from the status on September 28, 1998, except as otherwise determined by the committee."

That is the rule of the House. Therefore, Mr. Speaker, the gentleman's resolution does not constitute a legitimate question of privilege in that change of House rule, and a privilege clearly is not in order.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Are there other Members who want to be heard on this question?

Mr. DEUTSCH. Mr. Speaker, I wish to be heard.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Florida (Mr. DEUTSCH).

Mr. DEUTSCH. Mr. Speaker, I appreciate the comments of the distinguished chairman of the Committee on Rules regarding the standard of what privilege is. I would agree with him completely, that is the standard of what privilege is.

I would also say, though, that I believe this resolution clearly meets that standard, because what is going on right now in the Committee on the Judiciary with the selective release of information is clearly a disservice on this House, and is clearly putting this House in disrepute, which is exactly what the rules of the House in terms of our privileged resolution are set up to deal with.

I would say to the gentleman and to the Speaker that this resolution is clearly exactly why we have privileged resolutions in the House. What is happening right now in terms of the procedures of the Committee on the Judiciary, in terms of what has happened with the release of information, in the partisanship that has occurred within that committee, is absolutely putting this House into the type of situation, the type of disrespect that privileged resolutions are exactly in purpose for using.

I would urge the Speaker to rule this in order, and I urge its adoption.

Mr. CONDIT. Mr. Speaker, I want to speak to the resolution.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from California (Mr. CONDIT) is recognized.

Mr. CONDIT. Mr. Speaker, I understand the point of the chairman of the Committee on Rules. This is an attempt to allow all the Members of this House to have access to the information. It is an attempt to speed the process along so we can bring it to closure. The American people want us to bring this issue to closure.

There is no reason why every Member of this House cannot have that information. We are not grade school kids. We understand it, and we know ultimately we need to make a decision. So my intent, Mr. Speaker, is simply to speed this process along so that we can make a decision and get back to the business of living our lives and running this country.

Mr. SOLOMON. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a ruling.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair is prepared to rule.

The gentleman from California (Mr. CONDIT) offers House Resolution 546 as a question of the privileges of the House under rule IX. The resolution would direct the Committee on the Judiciary to release all executive session material referred to the committee by the House pursuant to House Resolution 525.

That resolution was reported to the House by the Committee on Rules as a privileged rule, and its adoption governs subsequent review and release of that executive session material referred to the Committee on the Judiciary.

A resolution may not be offered under the guise of a question of the privileges of the House if it effects a change in the rules or standing orders of the House or their interpretation. This principle is annotated in section 662f of the House Rules and Manual. The House has delegated to the Committee on the Judiciary the final decision-making authority on the extent of release from executive session of materials contained in the Independent Counsel's report. Indeed, section 2 of House Resolution 525 establishes a release date for all materials contained in that report, except as otherwise determined by the Committee on the Judiciary.

In an illustrative case under the precedents, even an alleged refusal by the committee to make certain staff memos available to the public, and refusal to permit committee Members to take photostatic copies of committee files, have been held not to constitute questions of privilege. This principle is annotated in section 662d of the manual.

To rule otherwise would suggest that valid committee determinations as to the executive session nature of committee files could be collaterally challenged under the guise of questions of privileges.

In the opinion of the Chair, the resolution does not constitute a question of the privileges of the House within the meaning of rule IX, and may not be considered at this time.

Mr. CONDIT. I thank the Speaker.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 5 of rule I, the Chair will now put the question on each motion to suspend the rules on which further proceedings were postponed earlier today in the order in which that motion was entertained.

CONTINUATION OF EMERGENCY WITH RESPECT TO UNITA—MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES (H. DOC. NO. 105-315)

The SPEAKER pro tempore laid before the House the following message from the President of the United States; which was read and, together with the accompanying papers, without objection, referred to the Committee on International Relations and ordered to be printed:

To the Congress of the United States:

Section 202(d) of the National Emergencies Act (50 U.S.C. 1622(d)) provides for the automatic termination of a national emergency unless, prior to the anniversary date of its declaration, the President publishes in the Federal Register and transmits to the Congress a notice stating that the emergency is to continue in effect beyond the anniversary date. In accordance with this provision, I have sent the enclosed notice, stating that the emergency declared with respect to the National Union for the Total Independence of Angola ("UNITA") is to continue in effect beyond September 26, 1998, to the Federal Register for publication.

The circumstances that led to the declaration on September 26, 1993, of a national emergency have not been resolved. The actions and policies of UNITA pose a continuing unusual and extraordinary threat to the foreign policy of the United States. United Nations Security Council Resolutions 864 (1993), 1127 (1997), 1173 (1998), and 1176 (1998) continue to oblige all member states to maintain sanctions. Discontinuation of the sanctions would have a prejudicial effect on the Angolan peace process. For these reasons, I have determined that it is necessary to maintain in force the broad authorities necessary to apply economic pressure to UNITA to reduce its ability to pursue its aggressive policies of territorial acquisition.

WILLIAM J. CLINTON.

THE WHITE HOUSE, September 23, 1998.

SPECIAL ORDERS

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. SNOWBARGER). Under the Speaker's announced policy of January 7, 1997, and under a previous order of the House, the following Members will be recognized for 5 minutes each.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under a previous order of the House, the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. CONYERS) is recognized for 5 minutes.

(Mr. CONYERS addressed the House. His remarks will appear hereafter in the Extensions of Remarks.)

DISTURBING NEW DETAILS IN AFTERMATH OF U.S. EMBASSY BOMBINGS

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under a previous order of the House, the gentleman from Kentucky (Mr. WHITFIELD) is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. WHITFIELD. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to bring to the attention of the Congress and the American people disturbing new details of national policy decisions made in the aftermath of the bombing of the U.S. embassies in East Africa last month. This emerging information focuses on the Clinton administration's decision to retaliate against terrorists it suspected of carrying out the embassy attacks and in particular the decision to attack a pharmaceutical factory in the Sudan suspected of producing chemical weapons for the use of the terrorists led by Mr. bin Laden.

This new insight is contained in an article in the September 21, 1998 issue of the New York Times by reporters Tim Weiner and James Risen. It raises serious questions regarding the accuracy of intelligence information on which the decision was made and the credibility of statements made by senior officials in the Clinton administration as they sought to justify their decisions after the bombing in which it is estimated 20 to 50 people were killed.

The article reconstructs how a group of 6 senior administration officials and the President picked the bombing targets. It is based on interviews with participants and others at high levels of the national security apparatus and recounts how an act of war was approved on the basis of fragmented and disputed intelligence.

I quote from the article: Within days of the attack, some of the administration's explanations for destroying the factory in the Sudan proved inaccurate. Many people inside and outside the American government began to ask whether the questionable intelligence had prompted the United States to blow up this factory under false information.

I note that today former President Jimmy Carter asked for a congressional investigation about this matter.

Quoting further, Senior officials now say their case for attacking the factory relied on inference, as well as evidence that it produced chemical weapons for Mr. bin Laden's use. However, in analyzing more closely the efforts of those officials to justify their actions, it should be noted that since United States spies were withdrawn from the Sudan more than 2 years ago reliable information about the plant was scarce. In fact, in January 1996, weeks after American diplomats and spies were pulled out of the Sudan, the CIA withdrew as fabrications over 100 reports furnished to it by an outside source regarding terrorist threats against U.S. personnel in the Sudan.

A month after the attack, the same senior national security advisors, who had described the pharmaceutical plant as a secret chemical weapons factory, financed by bin Laden, are now conceding that they had no evidence to substantiate that claim or the President's decision to order the strike. It is now clear that the decision to bomb the factory was made amidst a three-year history of confusion in the intelligence community and conflicting foreign policy views within the administration regarding the Sudan.

It is with sadness that we must acknowledge the inevitable probability that these revelations will feed public suspicion that the heightened domestic turmoil enveloping the White House may cause other acts of misjudgment. This is regrettable but it is a graphic illustration of the debilitating consequences of the commander in chief's unfortunate personal behavior.

Of more concern are the important national security questions that are raised by the decision-making process that let the President target a factory in the Sudan that may not have been manufacturing chemical weapons. More hard information, however, needs to be developed and I urge the appropriate committees in the Congress to investigate this matter in more detail.

SPEAKER pro tempore. Under a previous order of the House, the gentleman from California (Mr. RIGGS) is recognized for 5 minutes.

(Mr. RIGGS addressed the House. His remarks will appear hereafter in the Extension of Remarks.)

SEPTEMBER 23 AND NO BUDGET RESOLUTION

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under a previous order of the House, the gentleman from Minnesota (Mr. MINGE) is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. MINGE. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to call attention to the fact that it is now September 23 and we do not yet have a budget resolution that has been passed by Congress. It is 7 days before the beginning of the next fiscal year and we do not have a budget resolution. We have had in place requirements that we established to follow a budgeting process that is governed by a budget resolution. We have had this in place for 24 years. This is the first time, it appears, that Congress will fail to comply with its own requirements.

I ask my colleagues, what has happened, where is the leadership in this institution, if we are not complying with the basic requirement of having a budget resolution?

I would also point out this is not a divided Congress in terms of leadership. Both the House and the Senate have leadership from the same side of the aisle. It is critical that if we are going to have fiscal integrity, if we are going to seriously commit ourselves to balancing the budget, to reducing the deficit, to not using Social Security money for other programs, that we commit ourselves to observing the principle of having a budget resolution.

It is very difficult to explain why we place budget discipline on the books and then ignore it in practice. It is very difficult to explain why we say to local communities and to States that they must have a budget plan for the use of Federal money and we do not have a budget plan. It is very difficult to say to the United Nations why it must have fiscal discipline when we fail to observe the elemental part of fiscal discipline and budget discipline in this body.

I urge my colleagues to join with me in calling on the leadership of this institution to forthwith appoint conferees so that they may meet with the Senate, reconcile whatever differences exist between the two initial resolutions, one passed on one side of the building, the other on the other, and bring to this body a budget resolution for final action.

TRIBUTE TO YOSEPH GETACHEW, NATIONAL INDUSTRIES FOR THE BLIND EMPLOYEE OF THE YEAR

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. SNOWBARGER). Under a previous order of the House, the gentleman from Virginia (Mr. GOODE) is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. GOODE. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to Yoseph Getachew who will be honored on October 20, 1998, by the National Industries for the Blind as the 1998 Peter J. Salmon National Service Employee of the Year.

At age 22, Mr. Getachew developed a massive, fast-growing brain tumor that cost him most of his vision. When hospitals in his homeland of Ethiopia were not able to perform the necessary surgery and when he lacked financial resources to have surgery elsewhere, Dr. John Jane at the University of Virginia offered to perform surgery without charge.

Following recovery from surgery, Mr. Getachew was hired by the Virginia Industries for the Blind, where he uses a computer adapted to use speech software. Mr. Getachew is independent and self-sufficient. He has expressed appreciation to Dr. John Jane and the Department for the Visually Handicapped for their compassion, support and generosity.

Mr. Speaker, please join me in congratulating Mr. Getachew.

Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to a young man of courage and fortitude, Yoseph Getachew. On October 20, 1998, in St. Louis, Missouri, National Industries for the Blind will honor Mr. Getachew as the 1998 Peter J. Salmon National Service Employee of the Year.

At the age of 22, Yoseph, then an engineering student in his homeland of Ethiopia developed a massive, fast growing brain tumor. Local hospitals were unable to perform the necessary surgery and Yoseph was forced to begin a desperate search for a capable neurosurgeon. Mr. Getachew lacked the financial resources needed to fund such treatment, but after writing to physicians and hospitals in both the United States and Great Britain, he finally received word from Dr. John Jane at the University of Virginia Medical Center who offered to perform the operation for free.

Yoseph's condition was very grave by the time he arrived in the United States; the tumor had deprived him of most of his vision and left him deaf in one ear and a few days before the operation Mr. Getachew slipped into a coma. Dr. Jane's procedure removed the tumor and saved Yoseph's life, but as he recovered, Yoseph found himself in a daunting situation. Mr. Getachew was alone in America, lacking money, friends and family, and he was blind.

A social worker for the Virginia Department for the Visually Handicapped approached Yoseph during his convalescence and arranged for a temporary home and rehabilitation training. Through the department, Mr. Getachew learned orientation and mobility, vocational and daily living skills, how to read Braille and use a specially adapted computer. Dr. Jane also stepped in with much needed financial support while he got back on his feet.

In 1995 Mr. Getachew applied for and was hired by Virginia Industries for the Blind who had just acquired a service contract with the General Services Administration in Springfield, Virginia. In his job, Yoseph uses a computer adapted to use special speech software which enables him to process orders from government customers over the phone.

Mr. Getachew has made a new life for himself here in the United States and has no plans to return to Ethiopia. "The awareness level and support of people with disabilities is very high and the technology and specialized training has enabled me to become independent and self-sufficient." Yoseph takes great pains to recognize those who supported him along the way. "Dr. John Jane and the Department for the Visually Handicapped. . . . Their compassion, support and generosity helped me beyond all my expectations. . . . I love America".

Mr. Speaker, please join me in congratulating Mr. Getachew on the receipt of this award. His courage and determination are an example to us all.

THE SURPLUS AND TAX CUTS

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under the Speaker's announced policy of January 7, 1997, the gentleman from Wisconsin (Mr. NEUMANN) is recognized for 60 minutes as the designee of the majority leader.

Mr. NEUMANN. Mr. Speaker, I rise tonight to talk about a very current issue in Washington, D.C. I spent the weekend back in Wisconsin, and back in Wisconsin it seemed like when I turned on the news almost the only thing I heard about was the Clinton situation.

I would like all of my colleagues to know that we are paying attention, and there is a lot more going on out here in Washington, D.C., right now than just the Clinton situation. As a matter of fact, we are at a point where we are going to next month, the first of October, report to the American people the amount of our first surplus since 1969.

What is going on out here right now, it is almost like a feeding frenzy where, since we are seeing this surplus, some people want to use the surplus for tax cuts, some people want to use it for spending reductions, some people say it is Social Security.

What I would like to dedicate this hour to this evening is talking about what the surplus really is, where it comes from; how we can cut taxes and how we have cut taxes in the past; in 1997 we had the first tax cut in 16 years, how did we get that done; what is different between the discussion today and last year, and how all these things fit together.

I want to start by going way back in history to just help us all remember what has happened in our country and how we got into the financial problems that were staring us in the face, the fact that we have not had a balanced budget, a situation where our government spent less money than they had in their checkbook, that has not happened since 1969.

I think before we go on in this, the fact that we are having some debates in this community about what to do with budget surpluses, we first need to put this into perspective and understand that having a surplus is a good thing. It is the first time since 1969 that that has happened. In deciding whether we are going to put it all aside for Social Security or cutting taxes or repaying debt, this is a discussion that could not have even been thought about for the last 30 years. So first I think we should give some credit to the people that took over in 1995 and led us to control spending, which we are going to talk a little bit more about here, but led us to this situation that we are right now at today where we are in fact in surplus.

Before we even get there, though, I want to go all the way back to 1982 and I want to talk about what happened in Washington, D.C., and in America in 1982. I brought with me a chart that shows the growing debt facing the United States of America. Generally when I look at this chart I do not stop at any particular date.

One can see from 1960 to 1980, the debt did not grow very much. Then all of a sudden this growing debt took a sharp turn and it started going right through the roof. What happened out here in these years that caused this debt to start growing as we can see in this picture it did?

In the early 1980s what happened is the Republicans under Ronald Reagan looked at the tax burden in America and they said this tax burden is not right, it should be stopped, we are over-taxing the people and they ought to be allowed to keep more of their own money. They were right. I was in the private sector at that point in time. I was in a situation where literally the tax rate got to 70 percent of my earnings by October. I was in the real estate business, so if I did not sell any houses, I did not earn any money. By October of that year, I started paying 70 cents out of every dollar I earned to the government so I quit working, and this is a true story. I went pheasant hunting for most of the fall because it did not make any sense to work and pay the government. The tax rates were too high. Ronald Reagan was right when he said tax rates are too high and we need reduce the tax burden on Americans.

What was wrong about it is the way they got the tax cuts passed. Because in exchange for passing tax cuts, they allowed increased spending, a massive increase in spending. So in 1982, in these early 1980 years, they did partially the right thing and partially the wrong thing. The idea of reducing the tax burden on Americans was the right thing. But the idea of getting the votes to pass the tax cuts by allowing increased spending, that was the wrong thing.

We are going to come back to that because that is really where we are right here in 1998. We are right on the edge of this whole thing and making the same mistake again. We have finally reached a balanced budget, finally reached a surplus, and there are many Republicans, myself included, recognizing that the tax burden is too high on Americans and we want to reduce taxes. The mistake we cannot afford to make again is the mistake that was made right back here in the early 1980s that turned this deficit chart into growth. We can cut taxes if we also control spending. If we both lower taxes and lower spending, that is good. That is what I came here for, because I think government is too big and it spends too much of the people's money. So to the extent we can control spending and use the savings from spending for purposes of tax cuts, this is a good thing. But what we cannot do and what we are on the verge of doing is the same mistake that was made in the early 1980s, cutting taxes and getting the votes for tax cut packages by increasing spending.

Mark my words right here and now tonight. Before this fall is over and before this Congress leaves, what is going to happen is the tax cuts that the House of Representatives wants and can pass are going to be rolled into a bill that the Senate wants to spend more money. So we are going to be right back in that situation where before this year is over, I will make the prediction here and now tonight to all my colleagues listening. Before this year is over, the tax cut package using Social Security money that the House is proposing is going to be rolled into the Senate proposals to spend more money, and before this year is over, we are going to be asked to vote on a bill that uses tax cuts, cuts revenue, and increases spending.

I keep pointing back to this turn in our deficit chart, the growing debt facing America, I keep pointing back to that year. We need to learn from that history lesson. We need to learn that lower taxes are a fine thing, but when you lower taxes you also have to control spending. Because if you do not, the debt piles up in a hurry.

I want to talk a little bit more about that debt so we know how far we came in these years basically since the early 1980s. The debt today is about $5.5 trillion. To translate that into something that is more understandable, if you divide the debt by the number of people in the United States of America, that is, the 5.5 by the number of people in our country, the United States Government has borrowed $20,500 on behalf of every man, woman and child in the United States of America. For a family of five like mine, I have got three kids and my wife back in Wisconsin, they have literally borrowed $102,000 basically over the last 15 to 20 years. It was that combination of tax cuts and getting the votes for a tax cut package by increasing spending that has led us to this mess.

The real kicker in this picture is down here, because this is the legacy we are going to give our children. This is the legacy of our generation on the next generation. The kicker is down here. A family of five in America today is literally paying $580 a month every month to do absolutely nothing but pay interest on this Federal debt. If anybody thinks they are not paying $580 a month for a family of five, just think about buying those kids shoes in the store. When you go in the store and you buy a pair of shoes, naturally the store owner makes a profit, otherwise they are going out of business, so you go in and you buy that pair of shoes and when you buy the pair of shoes the store owner makes a profit and part of that profit gets sent to Washington, D.C., in the form of taxes. In fact, one dollar out of every six that the United States Government spends today does nothing but pay interest on this Federal debt. That is what the mistakes of the early 1980s led us to. The lower taxes were a good idea, but getting the votes to pass tax cuts by increasing spending, that is a very bad idea. We are right on the verge of that again.

What happened in the 1980s? Well, the deficits grew. They kept getting bigger and bigger and bigger. Many people remember the Gramm-Rudman-Hollings Act. In 1985 under the Gramm-Rudman-Hollings Act, I was in the private sector, we were building houses by then, and I started cheering. Our government said under Gramm-Rudman-Hollings that they were going to balance the budget, that they were going to quit overdrawing their checkbook, quit spending our kids' money and get to a balanced budget. That was the promise of Gramm-Rudman-Hollings in 1985. Then 1987 came along and they said, "Well, we can't really keep that promise we made in 1985, but here's a new promise," and they gave us Gramm-Rudman-Hollings of 1987. They broke that. Then came 1990, then came 1993 and, of course, the infamous tax increases of 1993.

I brought a chart along that shows what was supposed to happen to the deficit under Gramm-Rudman-Hollings of 1987. This blue line shows how it was supposed to go to zero. Well, the red line shows what actually happened to the deficit. Again that concept of cutting taxes and getting the votes to cut taxes by raising spending, which is not what it is going to appear like initially out here in Washington, but before the year is over that is where we are going to be, that is what happened. They promised a balanced budget and we had the deficits.

I would point out that 1993 came along and those deficits were still there. We recognized that we had a serious financial problem facing our country. But in 1993 the people that were in Washington at that point made the wrong decision. They looked at this deficit and they concluded that the only thing they could do is raise taxes on Americans. So they raised the gas tax, they raised taxes on Social Security benefits, they raised small business taxes. They raised taxes to try and solve this problem. That is the wrong answer. The American people did not want higher taxes. The American people wanted less wasteful government spending. That is really what this is all about. That is what the change is about in 1994.

In 1994, America changed. I did not do it. The class with 73 new members out here, we did not do it. The American people did it. Because in the 1994 elections the American people said:

We've had it right up to here with this. We've had it with this wasteful government spending and the idea that every time the government can't control their pocketbook, they simply take more out of our pocketbooks. They collect more taxes.

It was the wrong answer in 1993. So they sent a new group to Washington, D.C., and the idea with the new group, we did not understand everything about government because people like myself, we had never been in office before, but we understood one simple concept: Higher taxes means more Washington spending, and the right answer for the American people was not higher taxes but less wasteful government spending. That was the fundamental principle that we started on in 1995.

I brought another chart with me that illustrates that about as definitively as you possibly can. In 1993, the year before the biggest tax increase in American history, this is the fiscal year going on, we had spending increases that year of 2 percent. We had a growth rate of government spending of 2 percent. What does that mean? That means if government spent $100 last year, they spent $102 this year. That is a growth rate of 2 percent. Well, in 1993 they passed that big tax increase bill and look what happened to government spending. The growth rate of government spending nearly doubled the following year. Higher taxes very simply meant more government spending. It was the wrong answer and it could not possibly solve the problem.

So in 1995 when we got here we said, "Wait a second, we can't do it that way. The right answer is getting government spending under control." Again you can see in this chart now, fiscal year 1996 was the first year that the new Republican Congress dealt with spending, you can see how the spending growth rates have now started back down again. It is that controlled growth of government spending that has put us in the position where we now have these surpluses. The economy is strong, no doubt about it, but that strong economy coupled with controlled government spending has given us these surpluses. But you see how that is the opposite of the 1982 thing. We did not go out and all of a sudden just pass a tax cut plan and increase spending to get the votes to do it. We got spending under control first so that we could get to a balanced budget.

What about 1997 and the 1997 tax cut plan? Why is it all right to cut taxes in 1997 and all of a sudden there is this debate going on in Washington whether it is all right in 1998? I brought two sheets of paper with me to help illustrate that. I am sure my colleagues are not going to be able to see them, but if they call my office they can certainly get copies of these. In one hand I have got the tax cut cost or the reduced revenue from the tax cut package of 1997. In the other hand I have the corresponding spending reductions. We cut taxes and we cut spending. If you cut taxes and cut spending, less government spending, lower taxes on the American people, this is a good thing.

This is not a bad thing. This is a good thing. If we can get government spending under control and let the people then keep the money in their own homes to decide how they are going to spend it instead of having that money come out here to Washington, D.C., this is a good thing. That is what happened.

Again I want to emphasize this. The 1997 tax cut cost was about $100 billion in revenue. The 1997 spending reductions, $127 billion. So if you take these numbers and you look at them, we reduced spending, we reduced taxes. This is a good thing. Government is too big, it spends too much of the people's money and to the extent that we can get to lower taxes and lower spending, this is a good thing. This is 1997.

But it is not, and I emphasize again, it is not 1998. The tax cut proposal that is currently out here today is going into the Social Security surplus and using Social Security surpluses for purposes of cutting taxes. I ran a business out in the private sector. I guess this is why I am so adamantly opposed to this idea. In the private sector, if you are running a pension fund for your employees, you could not possibly put IOUs in the pension fund and use the cash to go out and buy a new car for the executive. That does not work in the private sector. You would be arrested for that. So what we are suggesting out here in Washington is that somehow it is all right to go into the Social Security trust fund, that pension fund called Social Security, and take that money out and use it to cut taxes.

That is the wrong answer. Tax cuts are good. The tax cut package that the gentleman from Texas (Mr. ARCHER) wrote is dynamite, it is great. I am a hundred percent in favor of cutting taxes provided we correspondingly reduce spending. But if we are going to cut taxes by using Social Security money, you could not do that in any business in America, and government had not ought to be doing it either.

Now I want to go into detail in the Social Security discussion, and I want to make this as clear as I possibly can so that there is no mistaking where we are at in the Social Security discussion.

Mr. Speaker, where we are at now is we were about to start into a detailed discussion on Social Security, and remember we have gotten to this point, and this is a wonderful discussion. I realize I am in opposition to some of my Republican colleagues who would like to cut taxes even if it means using some of the Social Security money to do it. I realize I am in opposition with them, but before we get into this debate with my Republican colleagues and, I might add, some of the Democrat colleagues from the other side, I think it is important that we give them the appropriate amount of credit, what a wonderful opportunity that we have that for the first time since 1969 our government spent less money than they have in their checkbook.

So, before we get into this debate where we may disagree, I think it is very important we give the appropriate credit.

Also on the tax cut package that has been written by Chairman ARCHER, I think it is a tax cut package, and I think in all fairness that he should get credit for it. But I also think that we should find corresponding spending to reduce so that we are not using Social Security money to offset the tax cuts that we are about to pass, and I do disagree with some of my colleagues on that issue. Tax cuts are good provided they are paid for by spending reductions or they come from the general fund surplus. But tax cuts that come from the Social Security surplus should not be done, and I feel very adamantly about that.

Let me go to Social Security, and I am going to go into some details tonight that I do not usually go into in this discussion, but for my colleagues that might be watching this evening I want to make sure that this is clear, and Chairman ARCHER just asked me that when I do this presentation tonight that I make absolutely certain that I clarify the differences between us because there are some people on the other side of the aisle that are going to use this issue to demagogue because, after all, it is an election season.

So, I want make sure I am very, very clear.

Social Security this year will collect $480 billion in revenue. It is going to pay back out to seniors in benefits $382 billion. Now to put this in perspective as to how this thing is working, I would like to forget the billions for just a minute and forget that it is Social Security, and I would like my colleagues to think about their own personal checkbooks.

If you have 480 bucks in your checkbook, and you wrote out a $382 check, your checkbook would not be overdrawn, and in fact that is how Social Security is working right now. We are collecting more money than we are paying back out to our seniors in benefits. Social Security is collecting $98 billion this year more than it is paying back out to seniors in benefits.

Now that extra money that they are collecting that is supposed to be put away and saved, because you see the baby boom generation people in my age group, and there is lots of us; when we go to retirement, there will be too much money going out and not enough money coming in, and again if we go to the personal checkbook analysis or comparison here, if you got yourself in a situation where over a period of years you have put these surpluses away into a savings account, and then you get to a point you overdraw your checkbook, that is when the baby boom generation gets to retirement, we spend too much money and do not take enough in. The idea is that we are supposed to be able to go to that savings account, get the money and make good on Social Security, because you see if we do not have that savings account, and we get to this point, and it happens in the next 15 years where there is too much money going out and not enough money coming in, the question we have to ask is where do you think the government is going to get the money from to repay those IOUs that are in the trust fund? Where is government going to get the money to make up this shortfall in Social Security if we have not put the money away the way we are supposed to? And the alternatives, of course, are higher taxes, and I mean it is ironic we are here tonight fighting about whether we should do tax cuts with Social Security money and doing it effectively means that we are going to wind up raising taxes in the not distant future to offset the shortfalls in Social Security.

So it just does not make sense to do it. But one option is raising taxes; another is to reduce benefits on seniors because, of course, if you reduce benefits, then you do not need the money out of the savings account. Neither of those are acceptable as we look at what is happening in Social Security.

All right, back to the Social Security analysis.

They are taking in $480 billion. We are writing checks out to seniors of $382 billion. It leaves a $98 billion surplus. This money that is coming in comes from a variety of sources, and I brought with me just a little bit of discussion here on where those sources are. Part of the Social Security money, part of that $480 billion, it is money collected out of workers' paychecks. That is the bulk of it. So the largest portion of the 480 is money collected out of workers' paychecks, but that is not all. You see this surplus has been accumulating over a period of years, and there is a whole pile of IOUs sitting off here on the side that are supposed to be accumulating interest. So part of that $480 billion is interest on those IOUs.

Now it should come as no great surprise to anybody that the government is currently paying the interest on those IOUs with, you guessed it, another IOU. So when we talk about this Social Security revenue, part of the Social Security revenue is those IOUs and the interest on those IOUs. So we have got $480 billion total. It comes from workers' paychecks, comes from interest on the IOUs and one other significant source, and that is called intergovernmental transfers.

You see, if you are an employer out there in America, you are already providing a portion of the Social Security payment on behalf of your employees. Well, the government has got lots of employees. That portion of the Social Security payment for the government employees, well, that is called intergovernmental transfers. So there is really three sources for this $480 billion. One is the money that comes straight out of workers' paychecks, one is the interest on the IOUs, and one is the intergovernmental transfers.

Now the debate that is going on here, and I am going to be a little more technical than usual on this, but the debate that is going on here: the Republicans are saying that we can put all the money that is collected from workers' paychecks aside and still have a tax cut. That is true. We can put all the money that is coming in from workers' paychecks over and above what is being paid back out to seniors in benefits aside and still have a tax cut; that is true. But what we cannot do is put all the money that is coming in from workers' paychecks, plus the intergovernmental transfers that is supposed to be going into Social Security and the interest on the savings. So the debate that is going on out here is when we look at this Social Security revenue, should we count just the money that is coming from workers' paychecks, or should we count the money that is coming from workers' paychecks plus the intergovernmental transfers, plus the interest on those IOUs?

And again, you know, I am not an expert at this from the government side of it, but I can tell you in the private sector if I am looking at a pension fund and I look at how much money I have accumulated in that pension fund to pay my employees benefits, it would not be acceptable in any business practice to say I am only going to count the new money going in this year and for the interest on the pension fund I am going to write an IOU to the account. That would not work. That interest gets paid in real money to any pension fund in America, so I respectfully disagree with my colleagues when they somehow indicate that we do not have to count that interest on the IOUs or these intergovernmental transfers. From a private sector prospective running a pension fund for employees you could not possibly get away with having a pension fund there, pulling the earnings out, replacing the earnings with an IOU and spending those earnings on something different. That is just absolutely you could not get away with that in the private sector.

So again I go back to if it makes sense out there in America, and that is the way the rest of the country runs, why in the world should we just because we are government work under a different set of rules? I think we should go back to the private sector, look at how the pension funds are run and do the best we can to do the same things here that we would consider acceptable and write off in the private sector.

All right, back to this picture then. We do have $480 billion total coming in for Social Security this year. We are writing out about 382 billion in checks to our seniors, leaving a $98 billion surplus. The problem we have today out here in Washington is that $98 billion surplus is deposited directly into, and think of this middle circle as the big government checkbook. So government gets this surplus, they put the money in the big government checkbook, and they spend all the money out of that big checkbook so, of course, there is no money left at the end of the year, so they simply write an IOU down here in the Social Security trust fund.

But now this year is a little bit different because you see this year we are taking the money, putting it in the big government checkbook, but for the first time since 1969, when we get out here and look at the checkbook at the end of the year, there is money left. Now the amazing thing to me is that our government and what we are doing today is we are looking at this 98 billion, we are putting it in our checkbook, we are getting to the end of the year and there is a little bit of money left out there, and we are going, great, we got money to spend; great, we got money to reduce revenue. But the point is if we did not put that money in the big government checkbook, we would have zero left in our checkbook. It is still balanced; I mean I am very happy to report the progress that has been made here. We would still be in balance or for all intents and purposes in balance this year, but we certainly do not have money left over to do tax cuts with.

So when you hear this debate unfolding before us and you say should we do tax cuts or should we not do tax cuts, the question you have got to ask yourself is: Is it fair to take that surplus and use it for something, new spending or tax cuts, when in fact it belongs down here in the Social Security trust fund?

Now in my office we have written a bill. It is called the Social Security Preservation Act and it would effectively solve this problem. What the Social Security Preservation Act does is it simply takes that $98 billion and puts it down here in the Social Security trust fund, and to most people in America that does not look like Einstein kind of thinking. It really is not. In the private sector if I was running a pension fund and I had money that was supposed to go into the pension fund at the end of the year, I sure as shooting would not put it in my government, in my business checkbook and spend the money. I would have to put the money down here in the trust fund, where it belonged.

So what we are doing here is no different than what any company in America is doing as it relates to pension. So our Social Security Preservation Act would simply take the $98 billion and put it directly down here in the Social Security trust fund, and you can see I kind of got it walled off. The idea is we do not want that money to wind up being spent out of the big government checkbook.

Now as far as the big government checkbook, and I think this is real important in understanding because we are about to move into a new era; you see, the Social Security fund has been in surplus now for quite some years, and they have been spending the money and for the first time we are in a position we could actually put it aside, which is the right thing to do. But there is another dynamic happening here. This general fund without the Social Security money is also about to go into surplus, and that is an entirely different discussion. The Social Security trust fund is in surplus. That money should not be spent, it should not be used for tax cuts. Social Security money should be set aside for Social Security. But when the general fund gets into surplus, that is a different story, and we have got to start asking ourselves the question now, if we are not using the Social Security money, but the general fund is in surplus any way, and when we get done at the end of the year, we have got money left in our checkbook, what should we do with it?

I mean after all this money does not belong to Mark Neumann and the Members of Congress. This is the people's money. This comes from the people's paycheck. It is their taxes that we are talking about. So when we look at this general fund, assuming we set Social Security aside, what should we be doing?

And let me just lay out my plan and where I think we should be going. I wrote a bill called the National Debt Repayment Act. The National Debt Repayment Act says, if we get in surplus in the general fund, we use it really for two things. First, we use it to make a payment on the Federal debt and we pay off the Federal mortgage much like you would pay off a home mortgage anywhere in America. So as we get into surplus in the general fund, we first make a mortgage payment on the Federal debt. Under our bill we would pay off the entire Federal debt within 30 years, much the same way as any American might pay off their home mortgage.

What about the rest of it after we made our mortgage payment? Well, I think that should go back to the people in the form of tax cuts.

So you see how this picture can all work together. We can set the Social Security money aside and when we are in surplus now, which we physically are in Fiscal Year 1999 unless we go into a severe recession, and I do think that we should wait and see that we have actually got the money in hand before we go spend it, but assuming things stay as they are and we are in surplus in the general fund, not the Social Security money, in the general fund, if we are in surplus in Fiscal Year 1999, I think we should look seriously at doing tax cuts with general fund surpluses, and I think we should look seriously at starting to repay the Federal debt.

When you think about this picture for the economics of a country we are now saying that we can put the Social Security money aside because we are in that position today, and as we go into surplus, we start making payments on the Federal debt, we pay off the debt in its entirety so we can pass America on to our children debt free, and the left-over money we get to use for tax cuts so we can actually reduce the tax burden on American citizens.

That is kind of my vision for what we ought to be doing out here. Now how does that relate back then to what the discussions that we are having right now? First off, I hear it all the time. In our district the AFL-CIO started running ads implying ironically that I support the tax cut using Social Security money even after I have given several speeches like this on the floor. But at any rate the other side is basically implying that we want to cut taxes with Social Security money, and at the same time what they are not telling the American people is about all these proposals for new spending. And I keep going right back to this. It is every bit as wrong to propose new spending with the Social Security money as it is to propose tax cuts. But what the American people are hearing about, aside from Clinton, what they are hearing about is the Social Security money being used for tax cuts, and what they are not being told about is this thing called emergency spending that effectively spends Social Security money for new government spending programs, and they are both wrong.

One is as wrong as the other.

I am optimistic that as we move forward, we will move into an opportunity to stop both of those things from happening, but it is going to be a huge debate this fall.

For my colleagues that might be watching this evening, watching this floor speech, I would reiterate my prediction: That before this fall is over, you are going to be asked to vote on a joint package that includes $80 billion of tax cuts and at least $80 billion over five years of new spending.

I reiterate where we started the hour this evening, and that is that we are effectively going back to 1982. In 1982, President Reagan wanted tax cuts, and he was right to want tax cuts, but he got the votes for those tax cuts by allowing new spending, and that is exactly what is going on out here in 1998. There is such a mess going on in the media with, of course, all of the Clinton problems, that what is happening is this is being buried below the surface so the American people are really not very aware of this at this point in time, that we are about to start making the same mistakes that I think we made back in 1992.

I am optimistic we can get it under control and stop that from happening, but it is very, very important that my colleagues engage in this discussion with their constituents and that the constituents provide that feedback to my colleagues on how they feel about using Social Security money for tax cuts or about how they feel about using Social Security money for new spending.

I would hope that what would happen is as my colleagues engage in this interaction with their constituents, I would hope in their district they ask their constituents how they feel, and I think they would find they feel much the same as the people do in Wisconsin.

Tax cuts are good. No one disagrees with the facts the taxes are too high. The '97 tax cut package, and, again, I reiterate, we think of the tax cut package, here are the tax cuts, here are the spending reductions that went with them, lower spending, lower taxes, this is a good thing, no one disagrees with that.

But when you ask the other question, when you ask the question, and I have seen all the poll numbers floating around Washington, D.C., the Republicans have one set, the Democrats have a different set, but I would like to encourage our pollsters to start asking the question that I ask to normal typical people, which, by the way, all tell me they never get these poll calls, but I think what they ought to start asking is, okay, you support tax cuts, and I think you will find most people believe taxes are too high and they support tax cuts. But then you ought to ask the next question: Is it all right to use the Social Security money for tax cuts? I think you are going to find a dramatic answer "no." I think it is our responsibility to see to it that we start treating Social Security properly.

One more thing before I end this hour this evening that I would like to talk a little bit more about, because I found when I traveled Wisconsin, there are so few people talking about the tax cut package that is already passed. It is like there is this frenzy out here, it is election season, we have to pass another tax cut package. When I go around Wisconsin, most of the people do not know about the package passed already. So I would like to stop talking for a minute about what we might do this fall and talk about what has already happened and what has already been passed into law.

Last year, 1997, we passed a tax cut package for middle income Americans. When middle income Americans do their tax returns next April, they are going to find that they get a $400 per child tax refund. This is not an additional deduction or anything like that. You do your taxes, you get to the bottom line, and when you get to the bottom line you get $400 back in the form of a refund for each child under the age of 17.

If you have a college student, and costs of college are astronomical, it is very difficult for middle income families to pay for college today, if you have a freshman or sophomore in college, you get to the bottom line on your taxes and subtract 1,500 off. You get literally a tax-free fund of $1,500 to help pay college tuition. If you are a junior or a senior, it is 20 percent of the first $5,000, but basically it is $1,000 for most middle income families.

Let me put that in perspective. For a family of five in Janesville, Wisconsin, with two kids at home and a freshman in college, they would expect a tax refund of $2,300 next April. This is real money. We are talking middle income, $50,000 a year family in Janesville, Wisconsin, with two kids at home and a freshman in college, they are going to get a $2,300 refund next year.

I will tell you, this is not really about just the money. It is not about money. It is about those families having the opportunity to spend more time with their kids, because, you see, when they keep that $2,300, they might be able to make a choice of not taking an extra job, and when they do not take the extra job, they have more of an opportunity to spend time with their kids and their families, and that really is what the tax cuts are all about.

Then I hear well, but that is only for families with kids, Mark. What did you do for the rest of us?

They do not know at this point, some people know that the capital gains tax has been reduced from 28 to 20, and it is going to 18. That has already passed into law and is on the books. Some people, especially our young people, and some middle income people my age, especially when they get to be empty-nesters, when you turn 45, 46, 47, a funny thing happens, when your kids start leaving home to go to college or maybe they get married and start their own families, all of a sudden you realize you are a full generation now closer to retirement yourself.

We start looking at these empty-nesters and we start saying, what is happening with empty-nesters? A couple things happen. One is many of them sell their home and buy a smaller home, that is one, and another thing is they start saving money for their own retirement.

There are two significant changes passed last year. The first is the Roth IRA. For those empty-nesters, that are now with the kids in college or out of college even starting their own families, and they are thinking about their own retirement, those empty-nesters can now put $2,000 each into an account; the interest accumulates tax-free all the way to retirement; and when they take the money out at retirement, there is no taxes to pay. So they can start saving in a much better way for their own retirement.

One more thing on the Roth IRA that I think is real important, because I saw it with my own family, I have a 21-year-old son who started his own Roth IRA. The Roth IRA for young people is very, very important because it allows them to put money away that they can later take out tax-free to either buy a home or continue their education.

So when my Andy literally gets out of school and decides it is time to buy his own home, the money he put into the Roth IRA, whatever it has earned, he can take it back out tax-free and use it to purchase his first home, up to $10,000, or he could use it to return to college as well. So that Roth IRA is very important for the young people, it is also very important for the empty-nesters starting to think about taking care of themselves in their own retirement.

But there a second thing that I mentioned with the empty-nesters happening to lots of people between 45 and 55. That is that their home that they had when they had their kids is too big, so they buy a smaller home to now maybe help save additional money as they move toward retirement. There is no longer any Federal taxes due on the sale of virtually any home in America. There is a way-high like $500,000 top end cap on this, but if you sell a home for less than the $500,000 number, virtually all homes in Wisconsin, if you sell a home for less than that, there is no Federal taxes due. So if an empty-nester makes the decision to sell the larger home and move into a smaller home, there is no taxes due when you sell that house.

One more thing. For senior citizens who may have made that decision in the past, they sold that larger home and moved into a smaller home, they took the onetime age 55 exclusion which would have allowed them to avoid paying taxes at age 55 on a certain amount of the profit they made only their home. For our senior citizens who sold their home, took the one time exclusion and bought another home, when those seniors make the decision to sell their home again now, there are no taxes due.

So this tax cut package of 1997, very, very few people even know what was in it at this point in time, and I think what we should be doing, to my colleagues that are listening this evening, is rather than make a decision to cut taxes using Social Security money, let me give you my first choice. My first choice would be to do the tax cuts, find corresponding spending reductions, so we have less spending and less taxes. That would be my first choice.

But if we find that this body between the House and Senate does not have the will power to find the corresponding spending reductions in order to reduce taxes, if we do not have that will-power today, and, by the way I would do it in a heartbeat myself, but it takes 218 votes to pass these things, so if we do not have the will and we do not have the votes to find the spending reductions, for goodness' sake, let us not go and cut taxes using Social Security money. That is the wrong answer.

Let us just give this thing a little chance. Let us talk about the tax cuts of '97, let us let America know what we have already accomplished in reaching a balanced budget. Let us let America know we have actually taken passed a tax cut package that going to significantly impact them. Let us let our country know about the improvements that have been made in Medicare, where diseases and testing for diseases that were never covered in the past are now covered, and how we save money by doing things like testing for diabetes ahead of time, instead of making the senior get sick before Medicare kicks in and covers that.

Let us get that information out to the American people during this fall, as opposed to going ahead and doing something that I think repeats the mistakes of 1982, and that was decreasing taxes effectively using Social Security money to do it. Decreasing taxes while we increase spending is such a bad precedent to set and that is not what we came here for in 1995. That is not what the American people elected us to do. I sincerely hope as we look at this fall and we look at the days ahead of us this fall, I sincerely hope we make the right decision and do not allow that to happen.

I would just like to conclude with my vision of where I hope we go as we move forward. I think from the economic side of a vision for the future of this country, I think the first thing we need to do is make sure that Social Security is safe and secure for our senior citizens.

We talked about the Social Security Preservation Act. That extra money coming in for Social Security, this needs to be used for Social Security. It needs to go into a safe, secure savings account for our senior citizens. That is goal one.

Goal two: This debt that we have accumulated, we need to start making payments on the debt. The National Debt Repayment Act would repay the Federal debt, much like you would repay a home mortgage over a period of 30 years. So goal two for the future of this country, wouldn't it be great if our generation, while we are still in the work force, could pay off the bills that we have run up over the last 15 years and give America to our children absolutely debt free? Remember, that means that you can simply reduce the tax burden by $1 out of every $6 simply by not having the debt, because that is how much the interest on the Federal debt costs today.

So the second goal that I would make on the economic side, let us pay off the Federal debt and leave our children the legacy of a debt-free Nation, where they do not have to pay $580 a month to do nothing but pay interest on the Federal debt.

The third goal, and I think it is equally important, the tax burden today is nearly 50 percent higher than it was a generation ago. When my parents had me 40-odd years ago in the fifties, the bottom line was the tax burden then was about 25 cents out of every dollar they earned. Today that number is all the way up to 37.

So I keep asking this question, what is it that government is doing today that is so much more important that they did not have to do before, that my parents were doing for themselves back in the fifties that now government can do better than my parents could do for themselves back in the fifties? What is it that would allow your government to collect this extra 12 cents on the dollar, forcing so many second and third jobs in our families all across America?

So when I look at our goals as we move from this generation forward, I think we need to get the tax burden down to where it was in the fifties, not more than 25 cents out of the dollar at all levels of taxation, state, Federal, local, property taxes, the whole shooting match, not more than 25 cents out of the workers' paycheck out of a dollar should be used for taxes. So that is the economic side.

On the social side, I think the most important issue facing America today is education. We look at our kids and where they were once up here ranking in the world, we are now down in the twenties, depending on which study you look at, as to where we rank in the world. And, you know, government's answer to this education problem has been hey, I am out here in Washington and I know how to educate your kids, so I am going to start a new government program; and when I get done, because I am in Washington and know how to educate your kids, education will improve.

Well, education did not improve. Government started 760 different programs with a course of bureaucracy to go with every one of those 760 programs, and our kids just kept dropping in the rankings more and more and more.

The reason they kept going down in the rankings is because every time government takes a responsibility away from the parents, the parents have less say in the education of their kids, and the less the parents are involved in that education, naturally the poorer the success rate with education.

So I think as we look at this education problem, the right answer is to do everything we can to get the Federal Government out of the way and return the power of education to decide what the kids are taught, where it is taught, and how it is taught, that needs to be returned to our parents, to our teachers, to our communities, to our school boards, and not be controlled out here.

There is an interesting side benefit from this, and we voted on this bill last week. If we could get that money back to the control of the local schools, and we get these bureaucracies, because, remember, 760 different education programs, 760 different bureaucracies, all the bureaucrats getting paid before any money gets to the classroom to help the kids.

If we could require that 95 cents of every dollar that the Federal Government spends on education actually winds up in the classroom, it would mean there would be an additional $9,000 for every school in the country without raising taxes open the people, $400-plus for every classroom in America if we just get the Federal Government out of the way. That money today is paying government bureaucrats in Washington.

Again, I just keep going back, I almost think of Washington people kind of grabbing their coat and saying well, I know better about education than all you people out there in America. Why in the world would anyone believe that just because you are here in Washington, you know better how to educate Wisconsin kids than people in Wisconsin do? It just makes absolutely no sense to me.

So when I look at the education, how we are going to fix the problem, get control of education back in the hands of the parents, let us let our parents decide what the kids are taught, where it is taught and how it is taught, there is a huge by-product if we can do that.

We looked to the study of thousands of teenagers, and what we found was not unexpected. Some had drug problems, there were crime problems, there were teen pregnancies, there was teen smoking, but there was also a whole mess of good kids. There was a whole bunch of good kids that we found. So we started looking at the difference between the ones that had crime problems and the ones that did not; the ones that had drug problems and the ones that did not; the ones that had teen pregnancies and the ones that did not; and teen smoking, and the list goes on.

The single most important factor in determining which group these kids are going to be in, and, again, this does not come as a surprise, it is the amount of involvement of the parents in the kids' lives.

So when we look at our social problems facing America, if we could solve the education problem, or at least move in the right direction by reempowering our parents to be more actively involved in our kids' education, we would also see significant improvement in areas of crime, drugs, teen pregnancies and teen smoking.

One other thing on the social side that I think should be mentioned, today we have a practice in America called partial birth abortions. The Senate just voted last week to not override the President's veto of a partial birth abortion ban.

Many people in America still do not know exactly what a partial birth abortion is. This is not going to be anywhere near as graphic as what we have seen about the President, but I do think it is important we understand what it is.

In a partial birth abortion, it occurs as late as the 7th, 8th, or 9th month of a woman's pregnancy. The child is partially delivered feet first, all the way up to the head. The delivery is stopped, the child's life is ended, and they then complete the delivery. Remember, just seconds more on that delivery and the child lives. We are talking about a healthy baby whose life is ended just before it takes its first breath.

Folks, I think when we look at America, this partial birth abortion issue, it is not about Republicans or Democrats or even pro-choice or pro-life. Many pro-choice Democrats voted the same way as pro-life Republicans like myself to end the practice of partial birth abortion.

We can have this other abortion debate, and I at least understand, I do not agree with, but I understand the other side in the abortion debate. But when we talk about partial-birth abortions, it says something about us as a Nation. If we are going to allow this sort of a practice to continue, what does it say about America as a country? What does it say about us as a people? That is why we need to keep at that, on the social side of problems facing this country, and we do need to end partial birth abortions.

Let me paint this picture and just kind of wrap up tonight with a total picture, here. If we can pay down the Federal debt, the government no longer needs to pay the interest on the debt. That interest money makes it easier to put the money away for Social Security that should be put away so our seniors are safe. They get up in the morning knowing their Social Security is safe. It also makes it easier to lower taxes, because we do not need the interest money. That is $1 out of every $6 the government is spending today. It makes it much easier to lower the tax burden on all Americans.

Let us think about lowering the tax burden for just a minute, because those ramifications are great. When we lower the tax burden, families can make decisions to not take second and third jobs, because they will be keeping more of their own money, rather than go out and earn that extra money they were sending to Washington before.

As we lower the tax burden, parents will be able to make the decision to spend more time with their families, and when they spend more time with their families, hopefully they are actively involved in their kids' education. So we have reempowered the parents to have control of their kids' education, what they are taught, how it is taught, and where it is taught. They now have more free time.

As we reduce this tax burden, they are not forced into the second, third, and fourth jobs, so they are more involved in their kids' education. It solves the education problem, or at least moves in the right direction of solving the education problem.

Of course, the by-product is that those other social problems we mentioned, we expect to see lower crime rates, less drug use, fewer teen pregnancies, less teen smoking.

When we put this picture together, we pay off the debt, no interest payments, it is easy to put money away for social security. Lower taxes empowers parents not to have to take a second and third job. It puts us in a position where we can now start seeing solutions to social problems, not by Washington mandates or somebody out here grabbing their jacket and say, I know how to do it, but rather, empowering parents to be actively involved in the kids' lives.

The greater involvement by the parents in the kids' lives, the farther we move down the road towards solving the social problems facing our country. That is how we spend the majority of our time.

I should conclude by saying I am not so naive to think that I or somehow somebody in this city or any of my colleagues can wave a magic wand of some sort and say, okay, it all happens. I am not that naive.

But when we start thinking about goals for a generation, paying off debt, restoring Social Security, reducing the tax burden so parents can have more time with their families, improving the involvement of parents in the education process, and as parents are more involved in their kids' lives, lower crime rates and fewer drugs, fewer teen pregnancies, those are the goals we need to be working for as a country.

We need as Americans to focus on a positive bright light out there, and start looking again as to what we can do for the good of the future of this country over the course of the next 5, 10, 15, 20 years, over the course of the next generation.

BOLSTERING OUR COUNTRY AGAINST THE EFFECTS OF THE GLOBAL ECONOMIC CRISIS

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. SNOWBARGER). Under a previous order of the House, the gentleman from New York (Mr. HINCHEY) is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. HINCHEY. Mr. Speaker, I want to spend the next several minutes talking about something that is very important to all Americans, but something that is being, at least until recently, largely ignored here in our country; that is, the global economic crisis that originally expressed itself in Japan some 7 years ago, and then gradually swept across all of east Asia, and is now expressing itself in Russia, with the devaluation of the ruble and other economic problems in that country, and also in countries in South America and Latin America and elsewhere around the world.

We, as the strongest economy in the world, have been somewhat insulated from the first direct effects of this global economic crisis. But the fact of the matter is that we are not immune from its effects, and we need to begin to bolster ourselves against it if we are going to maintain strength in our own economy.

One of the most important things that we need to do is to reduce our real interest rates. That will enable our economy to strengthen by making money less expensive, so people can make the purchases they need, the longer term purchases they need to make, so that business can strengthen themselves and be prepared for the impact of this economic onslaught.

Real interest rates, adjusted for inflation, are currently at a 9-year high. Federal Reserve Board Chairman Alan Greenspan admitted as much to the House Committee on Banking earlier this year when he said the following: "Statistically, it is a fact that real interest rates are higher now than they have been on the average of the post-World War II period."

We may wonder why short-term interest rates can be so high when the Federal Reserve has held them steady at 5.5 percent since March of 1997. The answer to that question, of course, is inflation, or more precisely, the lack of inflation in our economy.

As measured by the Consumer Price Index, the rate of inflation is currently at 1.6 percent. The CPI in fact has been below 2 percent for many months. When we factor in this low inflation rate, real interest rates currently are more than 4 times as high as they were in 1992 at the end of the last recession. We are paying more in interest than we should be paying.

The Federal Reserve Board has been hypervigilant about wringing inflation from our economy. They interpret every positive indicator, low unemployment, rising wages, increasing productivity, every one of those indicators are interpreted by the Fed as a sign that prices are going to rise. Of course, they have been wrong every time.

The Fed, in fact, in its fixation on inflation, is fighting, in effect, the last major war on inflation, which occurred back in the 1970s. Their mindset is a 1970s mindset. The economy has changed, of course, dramatically since that period.

I began calling for the Federal Reserve to lower interest rates more than a year ago, last summer, when it became clear that falling unemployment was not going to cause inflation to rise. I was concerned at that time that the Fed would see the first real, albeit modest, increase in workers' wages in almost two decades as a precursor to inflation, and that they would act to slow the economic growth, either by raising interest rates or not by lowering them. This was before the east Asian economic situation was a factor in the rest of the world, and particularly, in our economy.

At the end of the last October, when the dimensions of the Asian crisis became apparent, I urged Chairman Greenspan to hold the line on interest rates until we knew how Asia would play out here in this country. I was concerned that disinflation or even deflation due to the strong dollar and increased imports might be the real problem facing us. In fact, currently our trade deficit is the major economic deficit we are confronting as a Nation.

Since that time, the situation in Asia has not gotten any better. In fact, it continues to worsen. Barely a month ago the Russian government devalued the ruble and defaulted on their obligations, setting off another global economic problem. Latin America is already the next trouble spot, as investors are beginning to pull their money from emerging markets there and elsewhere around the world.

The down side of living in a global economy has finally hit home, and we are unprepared for it. We have rushed into this global economy without our eyes open sufficiently. Interest rates on 30-year Treasuries are at record lows, and are actually below the Federal funds rate. Corporate earnings were down in the second quarter and are likely to be off again in the third quarter, judging from the early reports of many companies. The farm debt is at its highest level since 1985, as commodity prices slide and the global markets for goods dry up. Our trade deficit is the highest it has ever been, and it keeps increasing at record increments each and every month, month after month.

The stock market seems to be on a daily roller coaster ride, and a decline in equity values, which is apparent, could dampen confidence and slow consumer and business spending as people watch their wealth evaporate.

Mr. Speaker, this is why I am introducing a sense of the Congress resolution calling on the Federal Reserve Board to lower the Federal funds rate promptly. I hope that this resolution will be supported by all the Members.

DUTY, HONOR, AND COUNTRY

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under the Speaker's announced policy of January 7, 1997, the gentleman from Colorado (Mr. MCINNIS) is recognized for 60 minutes.

Mr. MCINNIS. Mr. Speaker, as I begin my remarks this evening, I know some Members may have to leave the floor. Some may have other business. But there are three words that I ask Members when they leave this evening to remember: duty, honor, and country. Those words obviously come from the speech given in 1962 by General MacArthur: duty, honor, country.

Our country right now is not in a constitutional crisis. Our country right now is not like the situation in Russia, where, because we have a bump in the road dealing with the highest levels of our government, our government is on the verge of collapse. It is not on the verge of collapse.

Our country has the strongest economy yet remaining in the world. Our economy has the strongest military in the world. Our economy has the strongest educational system in the world. Our economy has the strongest health care system in the world. Our country clearly has more freedoms than any other country in the world. Our country helps more immigrants than any other country in the world. Our country welcomes more immigrants than any other country in the world.

So as we go through these times, trying times in Washington, D.C., do not be mistaken, for there is a lot more that is going right in our country than there is that is going wrong. But tonight, by necessity, I want to talk about some of the things that I think are necessary for this country to continue to have that reputation, that reputation being that there are more things going right in this country than there are going wrong.

I think, as an elected official, and this would apply to any publicly elected official in this country, we must remember three other words: always for them. Always for them, that is our duty, that is our obligation, and that is our commitment. We come second, you come first: always for them.

Let us go back to duty, honor, and country. As some watch the news here, as we watch it here in the next few days, and hopefully we can expedite through the difficulties we have back here in this city, but as it goes on for months, as we watch it through the months, if we have questions about integrity, if we have questions about actions, if we have questions about commitment, if we have questions about leadership, I think we can always safely return to General MacArthur's words: duty, honor, and country.

I am not going to go through all of General MacArthur's speech this evening, but I think there are some appropriate spots to talk about within this speech, and then we can get to a little more of the substance of the other issues which I earlier discussed.

The address by General of the Army Douglas MacArthur to the cadets of the United States Military Academy, on May 12, 1962, was a memorable tribute to the ideals that inspired America. As long as other Americans serve their country as courageously and honorably as the general did, our country will remain great, and General MacArthur's words, duty, honor, and country, will live on.

Let me take an excerpt from the speech: "Duty, honor, country. Those three hallowed words reverently dictate what you ought to be, what you can be, and what you will be."

"They are your rallying point to build courage when courage seems to fail. To regain faith when there seems to be little cause for faith. To create hope when hopes become forlorn.

"Unhappily, I possess neither the eloquence of dictation, that poetry of imagination, nor the brilliance of metaphor to tell you what they all mean. The unbelievers will say they are but words, but a slogan, but a flamboyant phrase. Every pundit, every demagogue, every cynic, every hypocrite, every troublemaker, and I am sorry to say some others of entirely different character, will try to downgrade them even to the extent of mockery and ridicule. But those are some of the things they do.

"These words build your basic character. They mold you for your future roles as custodians of the Nation's defense. They make you strong enough to know when you are weak and brave enough to face yourself when you are afraid.

"What the words teach. They teach you to be proud and unbending in honest failure, but humble and gentle in success. Not to substitute words for actions, not to seek the path of comfort, but to face the stress and spur of difficulty and challenge. To learn to stand up in the storm, but to have compassion on those who fall. To master yourself before you seek to master others. To have a heart that is clean, a goal that is high, to learn to laugh, yet never forget how to weep. To reach into the future, yet never neglect the past.

"To be serious, yet never to take yourself too seriously. To be modest so that you will remember the simplicity of true greatness, the open mind of true wisdom, the meekness of true strength.

"They give you a temperate will, a quality of the imagination, a vigor of the emotions, a freshness of the deep springs of life, a temperamental predominance of courage over timidity, of an appetite for adventure over love of ease. They create in your heart the sense of wonder, the unfailing hope of 'what next?' and joy and inspiration of life."

Those words should be read by everybody in this country who is running for public office in this November's election. These words should be read by every teacher, every college professor, every minister, everybody who has someone younger than they or everybody who has somebody looking to them for advice.

Those words should be read, because this country is a country of standards. This country is a country of expectations. This country is a country of great people. But it is a country that is tested at every turn. And if we do not meet these standards, truthfulness, dedication, patriotism, and it goes on and on, if we do not meet those simple standards, this country will go around a bend and go right off the curve.

Now, we have been tested, as I said, for 300 years. Tested before the country became a country. Tested when we came to this land. Tested throughout this history. And, of course, overall we have succeeded. But most of the time if we look at our success, it is not a matter of luck. It is a matter of standards.

When we talk about some of the areas that we need to look at that make this country great, there are three areas I think are specific. One of them is called the rule of law. Now, the basic philosophy of the rule of law in our country is that the law is king. Remember that. The law is king. The king is not the law.

Now, there are other countries in the world, and of course throughout our history, where the king was above the law. In our country, we do not make that exception. In our country, the law is the king. Nobody is above the law. It is elementary for the success of this country.

Mr. Speaker, I want to visit for a minute, we have had lots of discussion in the last few weeks about telling the truth, about fundamental honesty, about a word called "perjury." I have here the definition of perjury. For the rule of law to work, we have got to have a system that demands honesty.

In our system, we have an oath that we take before we testify in court. We have all heard that oath 100,000 times on TV shows. Some have experienced that oath in a court of law. Those who, like me, went through law school and were accepted by the local courts went through an oath with that court. We swear to tell the truth. We swear to it.

Those who serve in public office were sworn to an oath and in that oath if it was not explicit, it was certainly implied that they had a commitment and a duty to tell the truth.

Perjury: False declarations before a grand jury or court, or a court, any jury, any court. Whoever, under the oath at any proceeding before or any ancillary to the court or grand jury of the United States, knowingly makes any false material declaration.

Notice that for our rule of law to prevail, we do not put a comma there and we do not put the words after the comma, "except when it is uncomfortable." We do not allow an exception to perjury if it is uncomfortable to tell the truth. We do not allow an exception to perjury. We do not put a comma there and allow an exception to perjury if it is embarrassing to tell the truth. We do not allow an exception to perjury if it is a private matter and we do not want to share it with anybody. We do not allow someone not to tell the truth because they do not want to share it with anybody. We require, it is very simple, that they must tell the truth and the reason is that our system has to work.

Those out there could put a lot of blanks behind this comma. We could come up with any kind of exception we want. But at end of the day, we are going to find out that it is very simple. There are not exceptions. At the end of the day, we will say to ourselves: It is a beautifully designed definition.

Because, Mr. Speaker, if we allowed exceptions, how could we stop? And certainly if we allow an exception for one person, let us say we have somebody who is a great friend, a good citizen in the community, he has done a lot for the community. We do not put a comma on there that says, "Except for Scott McInnis." We do not put a comma on there that says, "Except for Good Guy John" or "Good Lady Jane." We cannot do it. It will not work. The system cannot afford a leak like that. Through years and years, our system, our court system, public officers, publicly elected officials, have sustained this definition by following it.

Recently, I have gotten some interesting correspondence, as some might guess, from constituents regarding issues. Let me say this evening and make it very clear, there may appear to be gaps in my comments tonight. As we all know, we have the strictest protocol in the country as to what we can and cannot say on this floor, and I am doing everything I can to stay within those rules. It is my obligation as a Congressman to follow the rules of this House. So, the comments I am about to make have been heavily edited so as not to offend the protocol or the rules of the House of Representatives.

Mr. Speaker, this is a constituent letter:

"I've never written to any elected official before." By the way, this is dated Friday, September 11. "I've never written to any elected official before. But in light of current events, I find it necessary to write now. I am a resident of Denver County and currently not registered as either a Republican or an Independent. I am a swing voter, since I usually vote for the person and not the party, having voted for Bill Clinton in 1992, Bob Dole in 1996, Dukakis in 1998 and anybody but Reagan in 1980 and 1984.

"I do not know the answers yet to the action that should be taken about the current presidency. I do not know whether impeachment is the ultimate answer until all the facts have come out. But I do feel strongly that hearings should commence. If nothing else, if no action winds up being taken, this country needs to address morality and honesty for all of us.

"What is it that makes this country great? I used to be a court reporter and administered the oath daily and it means something to me. It is hard for me to hear anyone saying, "Everybody does it. Nobody prosecutes people that do not tell the truth under oath." If that is so, why do we, Mr. Congressman, bother to even administer the oath?

"I have two young men that I am raising as a single parent. One is 12 years old and one is 8 years old. My 12-year-old son, Alex, and I were talking about the current events one evening and he remarked, 'Can someone not tell the truth and get away with it?' When I said it is possible and I do not know that they will be punished for not telling the truth, he had a stunned look of disbelief and it was somewhat painful to me.

"This is a young man who cannot lie. He has a job walking dogs and one day he forgot to do his job. He did not try to hide or conceal it. He called up the woman he works for and he told her what had happened. He was sorry; to not pay him for that day because he had been careless and irresponsible. He could have committed a lie of omission, but he did not. He fessed up immediately and he took responsibility.

"That is the kind of adult I want him to become. Though I did not tell him right when he made his decision on what course to take, I would have made him quit his job immediately had he not done the right thing. I am trying to raise children in a society that is coming apart in many ways. But I will raise them like my parents raised me. To respect the truth, to take personal responsibility immediately and effectively.

"The greatest sin of character in my mind is to take the easy path, the path of least resistance, the popular way.

"Holding hearings, Mr. Congressman, may not be popular, but it may be the only way we the American people can sort out who we are and what it is that means something. Can our leaders take as much responsibility as my 12-year-old son? Make no mistake, Mr. Congressman, that job means as much to my son as the President's job probably means to him.

"This country must find the will to figure out who we are again. Do we make excuses for everything and everyone, or do we take the more difficult path? We are trusting you, Mr. Congressman, to do what is right, not what is expedient or popular. I am not sure I know what that is, but I know this country cannot crumble just because of a scandal. This must be looked into and the facts must be determined."

Mr. Speaker, John Adams wrote a dissertation on the canon and feudal law and the rule of law, and I quote from John Adams: "The people have a right, an indisputable, unalienable, indefensible, divine right to that most dreaded and envied kind of knowledge. I mean of the characters and the conduct of their rulers."

Let me repeat that. "I mean of the characters and the conduct of their rulers. Rulers are no more than attorneys, agents and trustees for the people. And if the cause, the interest, and the trust is insidiously betrayed or wantonly trifled away, the people have the right to revoke the authority that they themselves have deputed and to constitute and have abler and better agents, attorneys and trustees."

The people have that right. Remember, you can always come back, throughout this speech this evening, if you are leaving us midspeech, walk out of here with just those three words: duty, honor and country. For those of you who have to leave tonight that want to continue your public service, remember the other three words: Always for them, always for them.

I want to say to some of you, as an elected official, let me tell you, I am not perfect. I had some entertaining days in my younger days. I was one of those people that got out of high school and people said I could not wait to get out. I had a blast. I had a great time in college. In fact, every day I have had the opportunity and the privilege by the Good Lord to be on this earth, I have enjoyed it.

Sure, we have gone through some tragedies, but I am not pretending to be perfect. I remember one time when I was young, lying in my folks' hammock with my air gun, it is like a BB gun, that is what they used to call it. I was shooting through the hedge.

What I did not think about was, as I shot through the hedge, I was shooting out the neighbor's windows.

Now, I can tell you that when the neighbor came over, alarmed and, of course, the police came because they thought somebody was shooting at them, I thought they had kind of over-exaggerated the situation, but now when I look back, I wonder why they did not shoot back. But when they came to my folks and my folks got me, I told my folks I was sorry. My dad said to me, that is good. We forgive you. But there are consequences. Just saying you are sorry does not mean you get to keep your BB gun. You do not, son. Give us the BB gun. We are locking it up. And by the way, locking up the BB gun is not your only consequence. You not only give up the privilege that we trusted you with, and that was that gun, but, son, you have damages. You have consequences. We have got some windows over there in the neighbor's house that you broke. Your apology does not go far enough. You will go out and work to pay for the cost of those window repairs.

What am I alluding to? I am alluding to the fact that as a public official, our private lives are to an extent private. For example, I do not think that the public that I represent as a Congressman, mind you, I am a Congressman from the State of Colorado, I am voted for by the people of the 3rd congressional district of the State of Colorado, but I represent the United States of America. I am a Congressman of the United States, not just Colorado. Obviously, I would love to tell you more about Colorado. That is a lot of my heritage and so on and so forth, but the fact is that my constituents in Colorado or constituents throughout this country should not have the right to go in and photograph me going to the bathroom. My private matters with my wife are not necessarily matters of the public. But when we step up to the plate to represent you, there are matters of our private life that do become public business.

You have a lot of trust in us. You have a lot of faith in us. So do not let somebody say to you, well, their private lives are of no consequence. What if SCOTT MCINNIS was a sleeping Chinese spy? That is of consequence. What if I was driving a brand new Rolls-Royce every day and you knew my income was $136,000 a year? You have a reasonableness to inquire as to, SCOTT, where did this money come from.

What if I do not show up in Congress to represent you. I show up for roll call and leave the day after. And when you say, where have you been all day, you are missing a lot of votes? Sorry, that is my private life. That is my private life, my private life. You have no right to inquire just because you elected me as to what I do with my day if I am doing it privately. Of course, our private lives have windows in them. That is to be expected. We knew that in advance. Sometimes that can go too far.

Let me move on to the next part that I spoke of, I think it is important to address tonight. That is moral character. There are 6 pillars of character, core elements of character. Not too many years ago an organization called Character Counts, which is a bipartisan organization, had people like Congresswoman Barbara Jordan, actor Tom Selleck and many other people from across the country, sat down and said, as I said earlier in this speech, the pillars of this country are based not on the person but the character of the person. It is character that builds a person.

And our country, to assure ourselves of the future as much as we have had comfort and satisfaction out of the past, must continue and enhance its obligation to character.

And they outlined 6 areas that I think we should look at every time we question somebody who serves you. If we have a general in the military, we should question about these 6 pillars. If we have a private in the military, we ought to ask, we ought to look at it. If we have a school teacher, we ought to look at it. If we have a Congressman, we ought to look at it. The President? We ought to look at it. These are 6 standards of character.

Let me say to you that if we drop any of these standards, you have created not a small leak, you have just put a gap in the Titanic. You have got to have standards. I am not saying perfect. I have already told you, I shot out the windows of my neighbor's house sitting in a hammock, not knowing what I was doing, when I was 8 or 10 years old. Of course, we do not have perfect leaders, but we all know right here in the gut, we know in the gut what common sense tells us is a good leader. What common sense, right here in the gut. You know when you are doing something wrong. You know when somebody else is doing something wrong. You also in the gut know when it is about time to stand up and say, what about the 6 pillars of character.

Trustworthiness. You have every right in private life, in public life when you elect somebody to serve you in public office, when you appoint a public official to serve you, when you have a police officer that is hired, when you have a school teacher, your clergy, you have every right to trust them. You have every right to have an expectation from them flowing to you of trustworthiness, respect. How can you have leadership without respect?

Let me bring this point up. Do you know that since about August 17th, every group of people that I have met with, say, three people or more, there has not been one group that somebody has not pulled me aside and told me a joke, not to be mean or anything, but told me a joke degrading the Presidency of this country. We cannot do that. We have to have respect for that highest office. If we do not have respect for the highest office in the country, then we have got to sit down all of us, Democrat, Republican, unaffiliated, nonregistered, we have to sit down and we have to say, what do we need to repair a model? The model has to have respect.

Responsibility. Obviously, you have responsibility. You have to be responsible for your actions. I used to be a police officer. That is why I keep coming back with these police officer examples. If a police officer goes through town and he runs through a red light, he has got lights and sirens, you have a code 1 call, an officer is down, you have the responsibility to drive that vehicle at a safe speed in a safe manner to get to the scene where you are going. You have a responsibility with that job.

In the letter that I just read to you from a constituent, that young man had the responsibility to walk his dogs, walk the neighbor's dogs. His mother had a responsibility to make sure that when her son did not carry out his responsibility, that it was her responsibility to tell him about that and fill the gap. Responsibility. It comes from the top down.

Remember the boy that walked the dogs. He looked from the top and said, what if at the top there is not responsibility? Do I have to have responsibility? That is the consequences of not keeping this pillar of responsibility strong.

Justice and fairness. We talked about justice and fairness. The rule of law. Let me repeat that for those of you who have just come on to the floor, the rule of law. Remember, in our country justice and fairness says that the law is king. The king is not the law.

Caring. Caring is important. There are not a lot of people that I have met in my life, met one or two that I have seen through the criminal court system that were not caring, but I have met very few people outside of that that did not have a caring bone in them. Of course, they care, either a death in the family or somebody, despite the stories you read about once in a while in the newspapers. When I travel the highways, as I do extensively in the State of Colorado, whenever there is an accident, usually the biggest problem the police have is there is too many volunteers. There is too much help. So people in this country care. That is an important pillar.

I think our country has a lot of it, and it is demonstrated by what we do for hungry people. We feed more hungry people than any other country in the world. I am talking about hungry people in other countries as well as our own country.

Civic virtue and citizenship. Of course we need to have citizenship. Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, we will talk about them in a few minutes.

Mr. Speaker, we are going to talk about here in a minute about the Boy Scouts and the Girl Scouts and some other societies and our clergy. We have civic virtue and citizenship. We talk about that. We talk about that in schools.

I commented to my wife, Lori, the other day, I said, do you know something, is it not neat to go to any event where they play our national anthem? You do not see anybody sitting. They all stand. You do not see anybody that has to be helped up, hey, stand up, stand up, this is our national anthem. It is automatic. There is a lot of pride. There is a lot of citizenship. What builds that? Greatness. What builds greatness? These 6 pillars.

Let me talk about integrity for a moment. I was going through the different books and looking, I love quotes. I love reading quotes. I found one on integrity by John F. Kennedy, our President. Let me read it:

For of those to whom much is given, of those to whom much is given, much is required. And when at some future date the high court of history sits in judgment on each one of us, recording whether in our brief span of service we fulfilled our responsibilities to the State, our success or failure in whatever office we hold will be measured by answers to four questions. First, were we truly men of courage? Second, were we truly men of judgment? Third, were we truly men of integrity? And finally, were we truly men of dedication?

Every one of us on this House floor, every one of us and everybody in public service, whether elected or appointed, should ask those four. First, were we truly men of courage? Second, were we truly men of judgment? Third, were we truly men of integrity? And finally, were we truly men of dedication?

There are lots of questions that we need to ask when we talk about integrity. There are lots of questions that we need to ask when we talk about these 6 pillars of character.

Today, Mr. Speaker, let us ask them of ourselves. What would happen and what should happen to us in the United States Congress if we did not tell the truth, if we did not have that kind of integrity? Unfortunately, as you and I know, in the past, as in any profession, whether it is the clergy or whether it is any profession, some people have not lived up to that standard. Thankfully, during my tenure here, when some of our colleagues have failed to live up to that standard, the process has stood up to them. So we have had accountability.

Let us ask about the rule of law. We need to ask ourselves about the rule of law. How is not telling the truth any different than a burglar? In fact, my way of looking at things, it could be much, much more significant, because we all hold positions of trust. There are a lot of people that depend on us. There are not a lot of people in this country who watch what we do day-to-day. Why? Because they depend on us. There are not a lot of people who do not have to go to work, who can sit and watch C-SPAN or read books or read reports on us or come observe us here on the House floor every day. Why? Because they have other things to do. They expect us to do our job.

Is it asking too much of us to do our job right, to do the thing that is right?

Oh, sure, we are going to have disagreements on philosophy. Somebody may agree with welfare reform; somebody may oppose it. Somebody may want to spend more government money, raise taxes; somebody may want to cut taxes. That is not what I am talking about, not honest dispute. What I am talking about is integrity.

I am talking about these pillars of character counts. Does not the character of our leaders reflect the people that they represent? It does, and it can be seen here.

I have been lucky enough to serve with my colleagues. I consider it a privilege. I consider myself very, very fortunate. As John F. Kennedy said, for those of us to whom much is given, much is required. I, like my colleagues, work many, many long hours. I, like my colleagues, travel to the district, travel throughout, listen to lots and lots of people. Not because we are great leaders but because we have great people that we represent.

What is the difference between us and others? We actually have a higher standard. The average person, for example, a few minutes ago my colleagues will remember we were talking about the private life and the public life of an elected official, well, the average citizen has a much larger parameter protecting their private lives. In fact, in our Constitution we go to great length to make sure that the government cannot, without warrant, knock down a door and come into someone's house.

When we are serving the public, we give up a portion of that. When we give up a portion of that, we come to those standards I talked about, and we have standards and we have standards that are fairly uniform.

Let us take a couple of examples. In the military, in our military academies, we have all dreamed at one time or another probably of our kids having the privilege to go to a military academy; one of the highest honors in your college, when you go to college, one of the highest honors you can achieve in this country. Let me say, those standards are impeccable, impeccable. If someone lies at the academy, they are out; if they go out and do something they are not supposed to do, they are out. Why? Because these people will go on to be great leaders.

Well, it ought to go on up the ladder and it does go on up the ladder.

Not long ago we had a military pilot. This military pilot flew nuclear bombers. This military pilot was alleged to have an affair, something else on the side. It was against the rules. We could not risk it. We cannot risk that high standard because of the consequences of what could happen. It may not have happened with that particular individual but it could happen if we allowed this standard to be lowered, if we put a comma behind the definition of perjury.

We have other military examples. We have people that go through a pretty rough sledding, for example, our Supreme Court appointees, before they get put into their slot.

Ladies and gentlemen, we have an obligation in this country, Democrat, Republican, whatever, we have an obligation in this country to make sure that that standard becomes higher and higher as it goes up the ladder of leadership. They should expect it of us and we should expect it of the leaders that we have amongst ourselves, and the people have every right to expect that. We want it from our teachers, we want it from our coaches, we want it from our policeman.

Listen to Thomas Jefferson, "He who permits himself to tell a lie once, finds it much easier to do it a second and a third time, till at length it becomes habitual; he tells lies without attending to it, and truths without the worlds believing him. This falsehood of the tongue leads to that of the heart, and in time depraves all its good disposition."

Ralph Waldo Emerson, not referring specifically to these six character, pillars of character but referring to character in general, said, and many of my colleagues know this, if you act, you show character; if you sit still, you show character; if you sleep, you show character.

Thomas Jefferson again: "Sometimes it is said that man cannot be trusted with the government of himself." Let me repeat that. "Sometimes it is said that man cannot be trusted with the government of himself. Can he then be trusted with the government of others?"

That is the first inaugural address, March 4, 1801, Thomas Jefferson.

We have certain standards in our society. We have oaths that we take. You remember the letter I read earlier. I have other letters I will comment on but the one that says, hey, not everybody does it. Why do we administer an oath? I was a court reporter. I gave those oaths.

I was not, but I am quoting from this letter.

We have standards in office. We have the oaths to the office of the presidency, I do solemnly swear that I will faithfully, faithfully, faithfully, execute the office of the President of the United States and will, to the best of my ability, preserve, protect and defend the Constitution of the United States.

We have standards for many other jobs, which are very important, and in their own regards, as important as perhaps the office of the presidency is to the occupant of that office. Remember the lady who wrote about their 12-year-old that walked the dog and she said, you know, to that 12-year-old boy of mine his job was as important to him as the President's job is to him.

Well, let us look at what we have. Policemen, remember, policemen, 24 hours a day, I used to be one, 24 hours a day, you are on duty 24 hours a day. You are expected to respond to the standards, to the needs of the citizens, to the commitment to this country, to the commitment to your department, 24 hours a day. That does not mean you have to be perfect, but it does mean you have to come in above those standards. Firemen, same thing; minister, rabbi, my gosh, what a crushing blow it would be to any one of us to find out that our rabbi or our priest or our minister did not meet the standards of which he spoke to us, of which he taught us, of which he guided us.

The coach, the teacher, the CEO, chief executive officer, the judge, a supervisor at any level, a supervisor at any level, we all have standards. If any of these people worked for you, think about that, if any of these people worked for you, what would you do?

By the way, I work for the people. We all work for the people of this country. The President works for the people of this country. Police officers work for their community. A coach works.

Let us take an example. You all know a good teacher. You all know that your communities had good teachers and good coaches. Think what would happen in your community if you had the best teacher you had ever had in the history of your school, best teacher you had ever had and let us say that allegations of sexual impropriety between that teacher and a student became known in your community and were factually shown to be true.

How long, despite the fact that this teacher was an excellent teacher, despite the fact that this teacher was your good friend and a friend of many people in the community, how long would it be before that teacher or that coach lost their job?

It would happen like that. You cannot show me one school district in this country where a teacher would get a report like that on a Friday and be in a classroom teaching again on a Monday. It does not happen. We have basic standards.

I can tell my colleagues that we cannot have higher standards for our teachers than we do for our congressmen. We cannot have higher standards for our teachers than we do for the President of the United States. It is called the rule of law. It is called the greatness of this country. It is called the standards of character. We are role models. Every one of us in this chamber is fortunate to be here. Every one that I know, and I know every one of the Members personally, some not as well as others but I know my colleagues well enough to know that they take their oath seriously; I know them well enough to know that they work a lot of long hours in here.

Sure, we get a lot of criticism, some of it deserved, a lot of it not, but the fact is I know that there are a lot of dedicated people on both sides of the aisle. That is what it should be. That is how it ought to be.

Remember that when Kennedy in his speech, again going back to those words he said to us, for of those to whom much is given, much is required.

What are one of the elements that is required? I will tell my colleagues what is required: Be a role model, to be a role model.

Now, our Boy Scouts take oaths, our Girl Scouts take oaths, our students stand up for the National Anthem because we have role models in this country. If we have a role model who for some reason can no longer be a role model, it is incumbent, it is incumbent upon us, it is our responsibility right there, it is our responsibility to get a new role model because we cannot afford to have poor role models in this country.

Take a look, for example, about the Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts principles. The Boy Scout law, do you know what the first element of the Boy Scout law is? Trustworthy. A scout tells the truth. He keeps his promises. His honesty is a part of his code of conduct. People can depend on a scout.

Girl Scout law, I will do my best to be honest. It is honesty. It is honesty.

Let me go back and talk about the scout for a moment, a letter that I got recently, very, very discouraged because the Eagle Scout award is signed by elected officials in our country. In fact, the Boy Scout, Eagle Scout award is signed by the President of the United States. The question that came in on this was, my son just got his Eagle Scout award. What does this certificate mean?

We should ask ourselves, should the certificate that has our signatures on it meet those standards? I think it should. It is kind of automatic that we put the President's signature on something like that because we expect the office of the presidency to meet those kind of standards.

Have they been met? I do not know. I do not think so. Do we have a role model? If we have a problem with a role model, are we ready to look at the role model? What do we need to improve the role model? Because we want the future Boy Scouts to be proud of that. We want, when you go in a classroom anywhere in this country, and you ask these young people, name the 5 people for which you have the most respect, we want the very highest elected officials in our country to be on that list of 5.

How did you get on that list of 5? By fulfilling standards, by living up to those standards, by being great. That is what takes you to greatness.

I want to talk now and switch gears for a minute and talk about integrity and honesty. We have said they are the key components of leadership, obviously. We said that the key components of leadership are not a private matter but it is of extreme public interest, whether our elected leaders have such characteristics and use them daily in their important decisions. We talked about that. We talked about standards. We talked about duty, honor, country.

Now let us talk about something very practical: Effectiveness. You may be an honorable Congressman. You may be a well liked Congressman. You may be a well liked president. The question is, are you effective? And I think the best example to use when we talk about this is to talk about football.

This is football season right now. We have a pretty clear understanding of what football is, and what we need. Now, from Colorado, of course, I take great pride in John Elway of the Denver Broncos. I probably just lost some of my colleagues here on the floor, but that aside, I want them to know I think we are going to have a repeat year for the Broncos, for those who might be interested, but let us talk about a football example. Let us say we have got a great team, that is the United States of America, and let us say that our line people, the people that defend and allow us to move forward in progression or stop our opponents from moving against us, let us say those line people are your elected officials or your appointed public officials.

Let us say that for a minute on this example. Let us say we have got a quarterback that is a very popular quarterback, and a quarterback who, in some people's mind, a quarterback who has performed very well in his past performances, a matter of controversy but let us just say for the sake of the argument the quarterback was well liked and performed well. The quarterback shows up one day and kind of has hidden in his coat his arm, he will not bring his arm out. Finally the fact comes out that the quarterback has a broken arm.

Now, you may disagree but we all huddle together and we argue and say, well, how did he break his arm? Well, I happen to think, says one, he broke it himself but somebody else says, no, no, it got broken but it was not his fault. The guy has been such a great quarterback, he should not have a broken arm.

The bottom line is our quarterback has a broken arm.

Now, no matter how much you like the quarterback, no matter how unfortunate you think it is that the quarterback got his arm broken, no matter what party affiliation you are, no matter whether or not you are a registered player or a voter, the fact is you have got a lot of risk, you have got a lot invested in this football team. It is your team. It is the greatest team in the world.

Now, do you put the quarterback with the broken arm back on the field no matter how much you like him? The fact is with a broken arm, the quarterback cannot pass, the quarterback cannot hand off, the quarterback cannot run with the football, and because the quarterback came into the locker room kind of concealing the fact that he had a broken arm, not everybody is sure what the quarterback is up to. So our line, our front line is beginning to say, "Wait a minute. Wait a minute. You know, if I had to ask, maybe that quarterback would have come on the field or maybe the quarterback did come on the field and it was not until we started running plays that we figured out he had a broken arm."

That is what we have got here. Let me come back to saying that our quarterback has to be extremely effective. Now, the beauty of what our football team has, again comparing it to our country, is that we have got a backup quarterback. We do not have to give up and forfeit our game. We do not have to walk off the football field because our quarterback has got a broken arm. We have got a backup quarterback. Without missing one beat, without missing one play, we can put a backup quarterback in that slot and our team can continue with its great progress forward, or it can stop with great strength the progress of the other team or the attempted progress coming this direction. The system has got checks and balances in it.

Folks, we need to think about what is the effect of the difficulties that our country is now facing. We need to ask ourselves the question, does our quarterback have a broken arm? We need to also say to ourselves, "I love that quarterback. I like the guy. You know, it's not right that he got his arm broken." But even those of you who say that, and I do not think that is widely shared, but even those who say that, I think you especially have an obligation to step forward to the rest of the team and say, "Look, I love the guy, I love the quarterback, but he can't pass the ball. He can't be top-notch. He can't deliver as he has delivered in the past. It is time to bring the backup quarterback onto the field."

Now, I should tell you that effectiveness is questioned in a number of editorials across this country. Let me just for a couple of minutes say to all of you, I hope that tonight you have gotten the gist of my comments. As I have said to you, my comments have been highly edited. Not because there was nasty language, not because there were sexual terms that should not have been used. None of that was in the speech to start with. None of it. But we have very strict protocol. I agree with that. I have an obligation and a duty to follow it. But I hope you have gotten the gist of it. The gist of it is that we have a moral duty in this country to make sure that the leaders that you elect are there and there for you. We have the rule of law that we have to live by. And we have the standards of conduct that we have got to stand by.

Let me just say to you that our effectiveness at this level has been called into question by probably 166 major newspapers. This is a list of calls for resignation:

Asheville, NC; Appleton, WI; Amarillo, TX; Albuquerque; Cincinnati Enquirer; Columbia, SC; Los Angeles;

Lynchburg, VA; Kingston; Hamilton, OH; Franklin, IN; Rocky Mountain News, CO; Denver Post, CO; Durham, NC; Douglas, AZ; Des Moines Register; Dalton, GA, Daily Citizen; Mobile Register; Monroe, LA; New Orleans; New London; New Orleans Times; Newport News; Newton Kansan; Norfolk; North Platte; Ogden, UT; Orange County; Rochester; St. George, UT; San Antonio, TX; Washington; Watertown, NY; Wisconsin; Topeka; Stockton, CA; Oregon; South Carolina; South Dakota; Washington; Seattle, WA; Nebraska; Savannah. You name it. One hundred sixty-six major players in this country are saying to us, "Your quarterback has a broken arm. This team needs to get the backup quarterback onto the field."

Mr. Speaker, let me conclude the same way that I started. That is, with six words. First of all, the three words of General MacArthur's speech. As I said earlier, those three words. Any time that you have got a question about what is occurring here, anytime that as you go through the pressure that we are talking about, that we are seeing here in the next few days, anytime any of you out there have a question about the standards and the character and the ethics and can our quarterback play, remember, let me forget the other three words, let me just talk about the three most important words: Duty, honor and country. Let us do what we can do. Let us do what we were elected to do. Let us do what we are committed to do, to be sure that General MacArthur's words live on: Duty, honor and country.

“(i) the term ‘exempt H-1B nonimmigrant’ means an H-1B nonimmigrant who—

“(I) receives wages (including cash bonuses and similar compensation) at an annual rate equal to at least $60,000; or “(ii) the term ‘Nonexempt H-1B nonimmigrant’ means an H-1B nonimmigrant who is not an exempt H-1B nonimmigrant.

“(C) For purposes of subparagraph (A)—

“(i) in computing the number of full-time equivalent employees and the number of H-1B nonimmigrants, exempt H-1B nonimmigrants shall not be taken into account during the longer of—

“(ii) does not include any situation in which the worker is offered, as an alternative to such loss of employment, a similar employment opportunity with the same employer (or, in the case of a placement of a worker with another employer under paragraph (1)(F), with either employer described in such paragraph) at equivalent or higher compensation and benefits than the position from which the employee was discharged, regardless of whether or not the employee accepts the offer.

“(B) The Attorney General shall establish a process for the receipt, initial review, and disposition in accordance with this paragraph of complaints respecting an employer's failure to meet the condition of paragraph (1)(G)(i)(II) or a petitioner's misrepresentation of material facts with respect to such condition. Complaints may be filed by an aggrieved individual who has submitted a resume or otherwise applied in a reasonable manner for the job that is the subject of the condition. No proceeding shall be conducted under this paragraph on a complaint concerning such a failure or misrepresentation unless the Attorney General determines that the complaint was filed not later than 12 months after the date of the failure or misrepresentation, respectively.

“(C) If the Attorney General finds that a complaint has been filed in accordance with subparagraph (B) and there is reasonable cause to believe that such a failure or misrepresentation described in such complaint has occurred, the Attorney General shall initiate binding arbitration proceedings by requesting the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service to appoint an arbitrator from the roster of arbitrators maintained by such Service. The procedure and rules of such Service shall be applicable to the selection of such arbitrator and to such arbitration proceedings. The Attorney General shall pay the fee and expenses of the arbitrator.

“(D)(i) The arbitrator shall make findings respecting whether a failure or misrepresentation described in subparagraph (B) occurred. If the arbitrator concludes that failure or misrepresentation was willful, the arbitrator shall make a finding to that effect. The arbitrator may not find such a failure or misrepresentation (or that such a failure or misrepresentation was willful) unless the complainant demonstrates such a failure or misrepresentation (or its willful character) by clear and convincing evidence. The arbitrator shall transmit the findings in the form of a written opinion to the parties to the arbitration and the Attorney General. Such findings shall be final and conclusive, and, except as provided in this subparagraph, no official or court of the United States shall have power or jurisdiction to review any such findings.

“(ii) The Attorney General may review and reverse or modify the findings of an arbitrator only on the same bases as an award of an arbitrator may be vacated or modified under section 10 or 11 of title 9, United States Code.

“(iii) With respect to the findings of an arbitrator, a court may review only the actions of the Attorney General under clause (ii) and may set aside such actions only on the grounds described in subparagraph (A), (B), or (C) of section 706(a)(2) of title 5, United States Code. Notwithstanding any other provision of law, such judicial review may only be brought in an appropriate United States court of appeals.

“(E) If the Attorney General receives a finding of an arbitrator under this paragraph that an employer has failed to meet the condition of paragraph (1)(G)(i)(II) or has misrepresented a material fact with respect to such condition, unless the Attorney General reverses or modifies the finding under subparagraph (D)(ii)—

“(i) the Attorney General may impose administrative remedies (including civil monetary penalties in an amount not to exceed $1,000 per violation or $5,000 per violation in the case of a willful failure or misrepresentation) as the Attorney General determines to be appropriate; and

“(ii) the Attorney General is authorized to not approve petitions filed with respect to that employer under section 204 or 214(c) during a period of not more than 1 year for aliens to be employed by the employer.

“(F) The Attorney General shall not delegate, to any other employee or official of the Department of Justice, any function of the Attorney General under this paragraph, until 60 days after the Attorney General has submitted a plan for such delegation to the Committees on the Judiciary of the United States House of Representatives and the Senate with respect to such delegation.”

“(i) knew or had reason to know of such displacement at the time of the placement of the nonimmigrant with the other employer; or

“(ii) has been subject to a sanction under this subparagraph based upon a previous placement of an H-1B nonimmigrant with the same other employer.”

(d) SPOT INVESTIGATIONS DURING PROBATIONARY PERIOD.—Section 212(n)(2) (8 U.S.C. 1182(n)(2)), as amended by subsection (c), is further amended by adding at the end the following:

“(F) The Secretary may, on a case-by-case basis, subject an employer to random investigations for a period of up to 5 years, beginning on the date that the employer is found by the Secretary to have committed a willful failure to meet a condition of paragraph (1) (or has been found under paragraph (5) to have committed a willful failure to meet the condition of paragraph (1)(G)(i)(II)) or to have made a willful misrepresentation of material fact in an application. At the request of the source, the Secretary may withhold the identity of the source from the employer, and the source's identity shall not be disclosable pursuant to a Freedom of Information Act request.

“(ii) The Secretary shall establish a procedure for any individual who provides the information to DOL that constitutes part of the basis for the commencement of an investigation on the basis described above to provide that information in writing on a form that the Department will provide to be completed by, or on behalf of, the individual.

“(iii) It shall be the policy of the Secretary to provide to the employer notice of the potential initiation of an investigation of an alleged violation under the authority granted in this [ ] with sufficient specificity to allow the employer to respond before the investigation is actually initiated unless in the Secretary's judgment such notice would interfere with efforts to secure compliance.

"(iv) Nothing in this section shall authorize the Secretary to initiate or approve the initiation of an investigation without the receipt of information from a person or persons not employed by the Department of Labor that provides the reasonable cause required by this section. The receipt of the l.c.a. and other materials the employer is required in order to obtain an H-1B visa shall not constitute "receipt of information" for purposes of satisfying this requirement."

Senate

The Senate met at 9:30 a.m. and was called to order by the President pro tempore [Mr. THURMOND].

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Dr. Lloyd John Ogilvie, offered the following prayer:

God our Father, we pause in the midst of the changes and challenges of life to receive a fresh experience of Your goodness. You are consistent; You constantly fulfill Your plans and purposes; and You are totally reliable. There is no shadow of turning with You; as You have been, You will be forever. All of Your attributes are summed up in Your goodness. It is the password for Your presence, the metonym for Your majesty, and the synonym for Your strength. Your goodness is generosity that You define. It is Your abundant, unqualified love poured out in graciousness and compassion. You are good when circumstances seem bad. When we ask for Your help, Your goodness can bring what is best out of the most complicated problems.

Thank You for Your goodness given so lavishly to our Nation throughout our history. Today, we turn again to You for Your guidance about what is good for our country. ### RECOGNITION OF THE MAJORITY LEADER

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The able majority leader, Senator LOTT of Mississippi, is recognized.

SCHEDULE

Mr. LOTT. Mr. President, this morning, the Senate will immediately resume consideration of S. 1301, the Consumer Bankruptcy Protection Act. At long last, I think we are going to be able to complete action on this legislation and get it into conference and give us a good opportunity then to get this work completed by the session's end.

It is expected that several amendments will be offered and debated this morning, with a stacked series of roll-call votes occurring at approximately 11:45 a.m. It looks like there will be two votes, probably, in that sequence, at 11:45. Those votes will hopefully include passage of bankruptcy legislation. Following disposition of that bill, the Senate may consider any other legislative or executive items cleared for action.

At this time, I believe we will probably go to the Internet taxation bill. Although we have had discussions with the Democratic leadership, no further agreements have been reached on other bills. I wanted to put the managers of that legislation, Internet taxation, on notice that we may very well go to that, which would be shortly in the afternoon.

From 10 until 11 o'clock, there will be a ceremony in the Rotunda where the Hon. Nelson Mandela will receive the Congressional Gold Medal. A number of Senators will be involved in that ceremony. We will continue to work on this bill, but we will defer votes until after that ceremony is over.

I yield the floor.

CONSUMER BANKRUPTCY REFORM ACT OF 1998

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. BENNETT). Under the previous order, the Senate will now resume consideration of S. 1301, which the clerk will report.

The assistant legislative clerk read as follows:

A bill (S. 1301) to amend title 11, United States Code, to provide for consumer bankruptcy protection, and for other purposes.

The Senate resumed consideration of the bill.

Pending:

Lott (for Grassley/Hatch) Amendment No. 3559, in the nature of a substitute.

Mr. DURBIN addressed the Chair.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Illinois is recognized.

Mr. DURBIN. Mr. President, I thank the majority leader for announcing the schedule this morning. Those who have followed the last few days of Senate debate know we are considering a reform of the bankruptcy code. We will be joined shortly by the Senator from Connecticut, Senator DODD, who will offer an amendment.

For those who have not paid attention to this debate, I hope that they have followed at least the outline of it and understand that what we are about is to try to change the bankruptcy code in a way that will reduce abusive filings—in other words, people who may be going into bankruptcy court to file for bankruptcy in a situation where they can, in fact, pay back either their debts or a sizable portion of those debts. We have tried to address this at several different levels. We have had a spirited debate about how to do it.

We understand the complexity of this. Historically, there has been a national commission which has taken a look at this rather complicated area of the law. I find myself in an unusual position here, having worked with my staff and studied this issue for a year, because I come to this with an interesting experience when it comes to bankruptcy law. Thirty years ago, I took a course in bankruptcy in law school. Twenty years ago, I was appointed trustee of a bankruptcy in my hometown of Springfield, IL, in one case. Now I bring that wealth of experience to this debate in an attempt to try to find our way through a very complicated area of the law. It was interesting.

Yesterday, when I spoke to a colleague of mine about bankruptcy, she had said that she was surprised to learn how few people file bankruptcy with incomes over $50,000 a year. I told her that the average income of a person filing for bankruptcy in the United States of America is less than $18,000. So folks who are going into bankruptcy court, by and large, are people of very limited means. The average debt of the person going into bankruptcy court is about $28,000.

So if we are out to stop the high rollers and the abusers of the system, I hope that we take care in this bill, as well as in conference, to protect the vast majority of people petitioning the bankruptcy court for relief of their debts, who are, in fact, in lower-income categories, with a debt that is beyond their comprehension or at least their control.

As we go about these changes, I am glad to see that we have included amendments that not only try to tighten up the procedures in the bankruptcy court, but also say to the people in the credit industry that they have an equal obligation here. We want you to continue to extend credit across America so that American families and businesses can use credit cards and second mortgages and other things to finance their lives and businesses; but we want you to be certain that you follow some rules, too.

We have talked a lot about personal responsibility here when it comes to consumers. I think that is a valid observation. We also want to speak to corporate responsibility, so that those who are peddling these credit cards around the country, in fact, give full disclosure to the would-be consumers about the terms. Many of us will go home tonight and look through the mail, and you know what you are going to find—a stack of preapproved credit card applications. It is luring. People say: This can be easy. I will take all my debts and put them on one card. Look at this low interest rate; this is terrific. Let's do this right away.

Yet, they find that it is a teaser rate and only applies for a few months. If they decide in some instances to pay off their credit card at the end of each month, they may face a penalty. Yes, a penalty for paying off the balance on your card because, of course, the company makes money if you continue to really roll over the debt month after month and pay interest.

Senator REED of Rhode Island successfully offered an amendment that said that you have to have full disclosure if that is going to occur, and other amendments in this bill try to say to the consumers that you have a right to know, too. For example, if you pay the minimum monthly balance on your credit card, we have a provision in this bill that says you should state right under it how long it will take to pay off the credit card debt and how much you will pay in interest if you pay the minimum monthly amount.

So we are trying to strike a balance here—a balance that says those who come into court have to be, in fact, deserving of bankruptcy procedure, and that those who extend credit in this country have to be more open and honest in the way that they deal with consumers. I think that is the right balance. It still puts the burden on each of us to make the right decisions for ourselves and our families. It gives us the information about the credit card companies to make that decision more knowledgeably and with an understanding of what we are getting into.

At this time, I see my colleague from the State of Connecticut is here to offer his amendment under the unanimous consent agreement.

Mr. DODD addressed the Chair.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Under the previous order, the Senator from Connecticut is recognized to offer an amendment regarding student loans on which there will be 15 minutes: 10 minutes under the control of the Senator from Connecticut, and 5 minutes under the control of the Senator from Iowa.

The Senator from Connecticut.

Mr. DODD. Mr. President, first of all, we want to wrap this bill up, I gather, fairly quickly. I want to extend my congratulations to Senator GRASSLEY of Iowa, Senator HATCH, my colleague from Utah, and Senator DURBIN, the manager for this side of the aisle on this legislation. It has been a long journey for them, I know, in committee in trying to deal with this legislation. I am particularly grateful for the courtesies which they have extended to me, and for the various ideas we have had for inclusion in this legislation.

AMENDMENT NO. 3614 TO AMENDMENT NO. 3559

(Purpose: To improve certain bankruptcy procedures relating to dependent children)

Mr. DODD. Mr. President, with that in mind, I send an amendment to the desk.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will report.

The assistant legislative clerk read as follows:

The Senator from Connecticut (Mr. DODD) proposes an amendment numbered 3614 to amendment No. 3559.

Mr. DODD. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that reading of the amendment be dispensed with.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The amendment is as follows:

At the appropriate place, insert the following:

SEC. . PROTECTION OF SAVINGS EARMARKED FOR THE POSTSECONDARY EDUCATION OF CHILDREN.—Section 541(b) of title 11, United States Code, as amended by section 403 of this Act is amended—

(1) in paragraph (6), by striking the period at the end and inserting a semicolon; and

(2) by inserting after paragraph (6) the following:

“(7) except as otherwise provided under applicable State law, any funds placed in a qualified State tuition program (as described in section 529(b) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986) at least 180 days before the date of entry of the order for relief; or

“(8) any funds placed in an education individual retirement account (as defined in section 530(b)(1) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986) at least 180 days before the date of entry of the order for relief.”.

Mr. DODD. Mr. President, this amendment is a third amendment to two others that have been offered and have actually been included in the managers' amendment.

I thank, again, Senator HATCH, Senator DURBIN, Senator GRASSLEY, and others for their consideration.

This amendment, the third, is designed to protect children who through no fault of their own are involved in bankruptcy. It provides legal and legitimate college savings accounts established for the benefit of children which will be beyond the reach of creditors.

This amendment parallels Senator HATCH's provisions to protect retirement savings accounts, and particularly contains measures to prevent fraudulent transfers of assets intended solely to avoid the rightful reach of creditors. So we have written into this the exact same kind of parallel provisions that the seniors' retirement accounts include.

The amendment complements other provisions that are included in the managers' amendment. Those provisions ensure that the lawful funds for the benefit of children—such as child support, disability payments, and foster care payments—would also be preserved for children and not creditors.

Again, that goes back almost 100 years in trying to see to it that innocent children are not going to be harmed and hurt as a result of this process.

In addition, we agreed that household goods exclusively and primarily for children, such as toys, children's furnishings, and items used by parents provided for their children, would also be protected.

Again, it was a consensus. I commend my colleagues for recognizing that these issues are important as well.

Taken together, the provisions of this amendment and the managers' amendment will continue the 95-year-old principle of the bankruptcy code that women and children must be first in bankrupt credit alliances.

I believe that these important improvements in the bill reinforce the historic protections that are given families in bankruptcy proceedings. Those who are innocent and most vulnerable deserve the most protection.

I am very grateful, as I said a moment ago, to the chairman of the full committee and the subcommittee and the ranking member, Senator DURBIN, who has worked hard to ensure these protections for children and families were not weakened in the pending legislation.

In the rush that was going on around here a number of weeks ago, we almost blew by these historic protections which we provide for families. As a result of their leadership, these protections have been included in legislation. I am confident that in conference they will preserve them.

This amendment would strengthen the principle that children ought to come before credit card companies. Legal proceedings, including bankruptcy proceedings, should be designed to protect against the impoverishment of children and innocent adults. Otherwise, impoverishment will produce dependency, in which case no one wins—neither the individual impoverished, nor the credit card company.

I also would like to express for the record my concern that my colleagues in conference firmly support the Senate legislation. I think it is critically important that we hold these provisions.

Again, we all recognize the importance of this legislation. There has been a flood of people taking advantage of the Bankruptcy Act. Too many have been doing that. This legislation is going to tighten that up considerably. But I think as we call for a higher degree of responsibility on the part of our citizenry when it comes to their fiscal and financial responsibility, it is also incumbent that we ask the credit card companies to exercise responsibility as well.

This legislation, I think, strikes a good balance between stopping the incredible amount of people taking advantage of the Bankruptcy Act with little or no repercussions, it would appear, and also seeing to it that the innocents—particularly children—are not going to be adversely affected by this process.

As has been noted by some of our colleagues over the last week or so, as you consider this bill, just last year alone 3 billion credit card solicitations were sent out across this country, many with already preapproved proposals.

I hope that credit card companies will exercise some restraint and responsibility in trying to slow down what is an exploding amount of consumer debt in this country. During good times, no one talks about it much. But when you get a downturn in the economy, it becomes a major problem. There is corporate debt, and consumer debt. We have to try to get a better handle on it.

I am very grateful to the managers of the legislation—I see my colleague from Iowa has arrived on the floor as well as the Senator from Utah—and for their consideration of this amendment.

As I said, it tracks Senator HATCH's very good amendment on seniors' retirement accounts to see to it that education is going to be something that we continue to support as strongly as we have for the 21st century because of rising college costs, to see to it that these educational accounts are going to be for the children that need them. I think it is a very wise decision. Indeed, I am grateful for their support.

Mr. HATCH addressed the Chair.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Utah.

Mr. HATCH. Mr. President, I would like to commend my colleague, the distinguished Senator from Connecticut, for his initiative on this particular amendment, as well as his contributions to this legislation as a whole.

We have worked closely on several issues on this bankruptcy legislation, including providing for enhanced protection of domestic and child support payments in bankruptcy. And I have appreciated both his and his staff's dedication, sincerity, and cooperation on this important bankruptcy legislation.

I am sure my colleague, the chairman of the subcommittee, Senator GRASSLEY, feels the same way.

Mr. President, this amendment is well intentioned. I fully support the policy of providing enhanced protections for educational savings accounts in bankruptcy. That is why we have agreed to this amendment. However, Senator DODD is aware that I have some concerns with the amendment as currently drafted, because it may have the unintended consequence of encouraging and rewarding fraud and abuse in bankruptcy.

I thank the Senator from Connecticut for agreeing to work with us on this amendment as this legislation progresses to ensure that it will do just what it is intended to do; that is, protect funds that have been set aside for the education of the child of the debtor.

Some of my specific concerns include the fact that under the amendment as currently drafted the debtor will not have to disclose the existence of these accounts in any way in the bankruptcy case, or the schedules filed with the court because they are deemed "not the property of the estate." The trustees will not even know these accounts exist, and they cannot be audited.

I would like to see these accounts to be created exempt properties of the estate of the bankrupt similar to the treatment we have given pension plans and retirement savings accounts in this legislation.

Moreover, we need to place some limits on these accounts to prevent them from becoming bankruptcy shelters for those seeking to abuse the bankruptcy system as a financial planning tool.

Again, this could be done by placing limits similar to those we have imposed on individual retirement accounts and the way we have done that.

Finally, we need to ensure that the funds protected in such accounts will actually be spent on the education of the bankrupt's child, not simply withdrawn after bankruptcy to be used as the bankruptcy wishes, leaving the future education of the child in jeopardy.

I know that the Senator from Connecticut shares my concerns that this amendment not provide a new means for fraud and abuse.

Again, I thank him and his staff for their willingness to work with us to address these concerns.

Mr. GRASSLEY addressed the Chair. The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Iowa is recognized.

Mr. GRASSLEY. Mr. President, before we accept this amendment—I understand that we will do that, and I prefer that we do—I commend the Senator from Connecticut for his hard work on this issue. I have to say that I think the Senator is on to something here. We ought to encourage parents, obviously, to save for education and to protect these savings in bankruptcies. So philosophically we are all on the same page.

The problem in a situation like this is the devil is in the details, especially when it comes to making changes to the bankruptcy code.

I want to express my concern that the amendment of the Senator from Connecticut could unintentionally open a loophole for abuse. I understand that the Senator from Connecticut is also concerned about this and that he does not want any unintended consequences of his amendment which would allow for more bankruptcy abuse.

Accordingly, I intend to continue working to improve this amendment so that it accomplishes its goal without giving crooks an opportunity to hide and shield their assets during bankruptcy proceedings.

I had similar concerns about the amendment that Senator HATCH offered to protect retirement savings. I think we worked hard and good and accomplished a lot with Senator HATCH to tighten up that amendment.

As a result, the amendment that we passed to protect the retirement accounts is better and less subject to abuse. I am sure that we can improve the amendment by Senator DODD in the same way.

I yield the floor.

Mr. DODD. Mr. President, I ask my colleague to yield for a minute on that point, if I could. Let me again thank him for his courtesies and his staff's courtesies over the last number of days in working this out. He has made a very good point. What we will certainly try to do here—and I agree with him—is to see to it that this amendment, the safeguard aspects of it, conform in many ways—exactly, if it is not the case—with the retirement savings accounts since both are parallel ideas. I have instructed my staff to work with the Senator's staff to iron out those details, to check this out thoroughly. Obviously, I think we all agree this is needed to protect the long-term education needs of families, but obviously—and I want to state it very clearly—it certainly also is our intention to see to it that people are not given an opportunity to avoid their responsibilities when it comes to their financial matters. So we think we can do that pretty effectively.

My intention and that of the Senator from Iowa is to see that it is done before this bill goes to the President for his signature. I thank him again for his support.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Who yields time?

Mr. GRASSLEY. We will yield back the time, if there is any on this side, on this Dodd amendment.

Mr. DODD. I yield back the time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Under the previous order, the Dodd amendment No. 3614 is agreed to and the motion to reconsider the vote is laid upon the table.

The amendment (No. 3614) was agreed to.

AMENDMENT NO. 3599 TO AMENDMENT NO. 3559

(Purpose: To express the sense of the Senate regarding misuse of the homestead exemption to the bankruptcy laws)

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Under the previous order, the Senator from Wisconsin, Mr. KOHL, is recognized to offer an amendment under a time limit of 10 minutes under his control and 5 minutes under the control of the Senator from Iowa.

Mr. KOHL. I thank the Chair.

Today I rise to offer an amendment to reaffirm the Senate's commitment to cap the homestead exemption. The Kohl-Sessions homestead cap is already in the bill, but a sense of the Senate on this issue is important. It sends a message to the House, which does not have a homestead cap in its bill, that this provision is essential to meaningful bankruptcy reform. The $100,000 cap in the homestead exemption is a bipartisan measure I offered with Senator SESSIONS which was endorsed by Senator GRASSLEY and was approved unanimously in subcommittee. It also has the endorsement of the congressionally appointed National Bankruptcy Review Commission.

Our bipartisan measure closes a loophole that allows too many debtors to keep their luxury homes while their legitimate creditors, such as children, ex-spousal alimony, State governments, universities, retailers, and banks, get left out in the cold. Currently, five States—Florida, Texas, Kansas, Iowa, and South Dakota—allow debtors to protect their homes no matter how high their value. And time after time, millionaire debtors take advantage of this loophole by moving to expensive homes in these States, especially Florida and Texas, and then declare bankruptcy, yet continue to live in a style which is not appropriate to their circumstances. Let me give you just a few examples.

A failed Ohio savings and loan owner, who was convicted of securities fraud, wrote off almost $300 million in bankruptcy claims but still held onto the multimillion-dollar ranch that he bought in Florida. A convicted Wall Street financier filed bankruptcy while owing at least $50 million in debts and fines but still kept his $5 million mansion with 11 bedrooms and 21 bathrooms. After his law firm went bankrupt and creditors were already in the process of seizing his two homes in the New York area, former Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn fled to a new $1 million home in Florida although he and his partners were on the line for $100 million. This may not be the most common abuse of the bankruptcy system but it is the most egregious. And given this record, it is not surprising to hear complaints that bankruptcy is no longer used as a tool of last resort and that it has become just another kind of financial planning. If we really want to restore the stigma attached to bankruptcy, these high-profile abuses are the best places to start.

Mr. President, our $100,000 homestead cap will stop these abuses, and unless we keep it in the bill in conference we will not really have bankruptcy reform at all, in my opinion. So I urge my colleagues to support this resolution.

At this point I send my amendment to the desk.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will report.

The assistant legislative clerk read as follows:

The Senator from Wisconsin [Mr. KOHL] proposes an amendment numbered 3599 to Amendment No. 3559.

Mr. KOHL. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that reading of the amendment be dispensed with.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The amendment is as follows:

At the appropriate place, insert the following new section:

SEC. —. SENSE OF THE SENATE REGARDING THE HOMESTEAD EXEMPTION.

(a) FINDINGS.—The Senate finds that—

(1) one of the most flagrant abuses of the bankruptcy system involves misuse of the homestead exemption, which allows a debtor to exempt his or her home, up to a certain value, as established by State law, from being sold off to satisfy debts;

(2) while the vast majority of States responsibly cap the exemption at not more than $40,000, 5 States exempt homes regardless of their value;

(3) in the few States with unlimited homestead exemptions, debtors can shield their assets in luxury homes while legitimate creditors get little or nothing;

(4) beneficiaries of the homestead exemption include convicted insider traders and savings and loan criminals, while short-changed creditors include children, spouses, governments, and banks; and

(5) the homestead exemption should be capped at $100,000 to prevent such high-profile abuses.

(b) SENSE OF THE SENATE.—It is the sense of the Senate that—

(1) meaningful bankruptcy reform cannot be achieved without capping the homestead exemption; and

(2) bankruptcy reform legislation should include a cap of $100,000 on the homestead exemption to the bankruptcy laws.

Mr. KOHL. I believe that Senator SESSIONS is prepared to come down to the floor to talk on behalf of this amendment, and while he is on his way I suggest the absence of a quorum.

Mr. GRASSLEY. Mr. President, before that happens, could I have the floor, please.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the Senator withhold his request?

Mr. KOHL. I will.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Iowa.

Mr. GRASSLEY. First of all, before I speak on this amendment, I want to make clear that everybody in this body ought to know that this issue is before us both as part of the bill and now on a motion to instruct because of the hard work of the Senator from Wisconsin. He is to be commended for that because there is abuse in this area and our bill reflects that.

So I say to the other 99 Members of this body—and also it would include people who are helping Senator KOHL on this amendment—Senator KOHL should be recognized as a leader in this area to bring some uniformity to our bankruptcy code among the 50 States to stop a very serious abuse. I have been trying to work with the Senator from Wisconsin, supporting his amendment to cap homesteads since he offered that amendment in the subcommittee markup. In fact, he was the very first Senator to be recognized in our subcommittee when we had the markup of this bill. He was successful there.

In the last Congress, I accepted Senator KOHL's amendment to cap homesteads at $500,000. This principle actually passed the Senate unanimously at the end of the 104th Congress, but the House failed to act on the technical corrections bill to which the homestead matter was attached.

In this Congress, the idea of capping homesteads is a genuine bipartisan one, and I know both the Senator from Wisconsin and the junior Senator from Alabama are strong supporters of the $100,000 cap currently in this bill. But the fact is that the other body has passed a bill which does not have homestead caps. In other words, we have a key difference between House and Senate bills on this point.

Obviously, I support the Senate bill, which I have worked on so hard with Senator DURBIN, but I don't want to go into the conference situation with my hands tied in any way. Some have tried to get me to do this on other provisions in this legislation, and to do so prior to conference. I have resisted all efforts in this area. I am compelled to resist this effort of instructing conferees. However, I am not going to object to this sense of the Senate going into my bill since it restates what is already in the legislation, and I think that restatement is a perfectly legitimate thing for us to do this way. And so from that standpoint, I compliment Senator KOHL for his continued hard work and his efforts.

I yield the floor.

Mr. KOHL. I yield to Senator DURBIN. Mr. DURBIN. I thank the Chair.

I thank the Senator from Wisconsin and I rise in strong support of his resolution.

Let's understand what we are talking about. We decided long ago that if a person filed bankruptcy, we would allow them to protect certain things that we considered essential, and one of those things was a home. Now, of course, that is understandable; 50 percent of the people filing for bankruptcy are homeowners; but we left it to the States to come up with the amount of money that your home could be worth, and you could exempt it.

As a consequence, with 50 different States, we have basically 50 different approaches. Some of these approaches, unfortunately, have led to abuse. The Senator from Wisconsin described two or three cases where people literally owed millions of dollars and quickly raced out to buy a multimillion-dollar home to put everything they could into it and to basically guard it away from any creditor in bankruptcy. I do not think that is what we had in mind when we put the homestead exemption in place. It was a legitimate effort to protect someone's home.

I see the Senator from Alabama has taken the floor. I congratulate him, Senator SESSIONS, as well as Senator KOHL for their leadership here.

Let me tell you why I think this is important. The idea behind this bill was to stop the abuses in bankruptcy. Professor Elizabeth Warren of Harvard Law School, whom I have really come to respect for her knowledge of this subject, calls the disparity among State homestead exemptions "the biggest single scandal in the consumer bankruptcy system."

To think, in the instance of a doctor in Miami who refused to carry malpractice insurance, who was sued by four different people, one of them a person who lost a leg, and then when they went to collect against the doctor personally, because he had no insurance, he basically hid behind the homestead exemption and said, "Everything I own is in my home and you cannot touch it"—that really is an abuse of the system. I am glad Senator SESSIONS and Senator KOHL have shown leadership on this and I am happy to support their efforts.

Mr. KOHL. Does Senator SESSIONS wish to speak?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Alabama is recognized.

Mr. SESSIONS. Mr. President, I thank Senator KOHL and Senator DURBIN for their leadership and commitment on this issue and others. This is simply a matter of fairness. The Constitution of the United States authorizes the bankruptcy system and provides for Congress to establish uniform bankruptcy laws. That is a matter that is without dispute. All bankruptcy cases are held in Federal court. It is not too much to ask, since we set every other rule involving bankruptcy, that this body would consider the abuses that arise from the disparity in treatment of homesteads throughout the country. It is really a shocking matter.

The New York Times has written about this on a number of occasions and has given some of the examples that are afoot.

The First American Bank and Trust Company in Lake Worth, FL, closed in 1989, and its chief executive, Roy Talmo, filed for personal bankruptcy in 1993. Despite owing $6.8 million, Mr. Talmo was able to exempt a bounty of assets. During the proceedings, he drove around Miami in a Rolls-Royce and tended the grounds of his $800,000 tree farm in Boynton Beach. Never one to slum it, Mr. Talmo had a 7,000 square-foot mansion with five fireplaces, 16th century European doors and a Spanish-style courtyard, all on a 30-acre lot. Yet in Mr. Talmo's estimation, this was chintzy. He also owned an adjacent 112 acres and he tried to add those acres to his homestead.

The court finally refused to allow this 112 acres, but he was able to keep his homestead, live in this huge house, and keep all this money that ought to have been shared with his creditors. Bankruptcy is to help people start over again. It is not to help them defeat their creditors and remain millionaires.

There is example after example in this New York Times article. Talmadge Wayne Tinsley maintained his house during bankruptcy and then he sold his house for $3.5 million, using the proceeds to write a check to the Internal Revenue Service and another one to pay off the mortgage. That left him $700,000 after closing costs and other expenses were deducted from the proceeds.

In other words, if you have a multimillion-dollar mansion and go into bankruptcy, you put all your money—except what is in your house—into the bankruptcy pot that trickles out to the people to whom you owe money. You keep the house. As soon as your bankruptcy is over, you can turn around and sell this multimillion-dollar house and live like a king. That is why people are moving to Florida and Texas on the eve of filing bankruptcy.

I live in Alabama. We have a very low homestead exemption, but it is only 50 miles from my home of Mobile to Pensacola, FL. Somebody from Mobile could easily move to Pensacola, buy a huge beach home, and then defraud his Alabama creditors.

Some think this is a State matter. Senator KOHL talked about this. They say it is an advantage to the State. But the truth is, 90 percent of the people who abuse this system on the homestead—90 percent of their debts are going to be debts in their own State. So really it is a situation in which we have some Senators who are supposedly protecting State interests, but really they are not. I encourage these Senators to think about it. They are not protecting State interests because what this does is allow a scandal to take place. The people who most frequent lose in this process will be the lenders in their own States. That is just not fair. I believe the Bankruptcy Commission has listed this as one of their top priorities for reform.

I can see how some Senators may not really be familiar with the bankruptcy process and might think they want to preserve their State systems. But bankruptcy is a classical Federal matter. It is set forth in the Constitution as a Federal matter. All bankruptcy cases are handled in Federal court, not State courts, and the bankruptcy court sets all the rules in almost every category. This is just one that we have, by tradition, allowed to be nonuniform. As a matter of fact, it has been challenged in the Supreme Court, on the basis that the nonuniformity violates the Constitution.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. BROWNBACK). The time of the Senator has expired.

Mr. SESSIONS. Mr. President, I thank Senator KOHL for his leadership.

Mr. KOHL. Mr. President, I end by suggesting this is a very important piece of legislation. I am concerned, if we do not have it in the final piece of legislation, that the administration will veto the Bankruptcy Reform Act. So I stress, we need to see to it that the conference report contains this homestead cap of $100,000.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Iowa has 1 minute 30 seconds.

Mr. GRASSLEY. Mr. President, I yield back the remainder of my time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. All time is yielded back. Under the previous order, the KOHL amendment, No. 3599, is agreed to. The motion to reconsider the vote is laid upon the table.

The amendment (No. 3599) was agreed to.

AMENDMENT NO. 3615 TO AMENDMENT NO. 3559

(Purpose: To provide for a study and report by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System regarding credit industry practices)

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The hour of 10 a.m. having arrived, under the previous order, the Senator from California, Mrs. FEINSTEIN, is recognized to speak for up to 10 minutes.

Mrs. FEINSTEIN. Mr. President, on behalf of Senator DURBIN, Senator JEFFORDS, and myself, I send an amendment to the desk.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection to considering this amendment at this time?

Mr. GRASSLEY. Mr. President, reserving the right to object.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Without objection, the clerk will report.

The assistant legislative clerk read as follows:

The Senator from California [Mrs. FEINSTEIN], for herself, Mr. DURBIN and Mr. JEFFORDS, proposes an amendment numbered 3615 to amendment no. 3559.

Mrs. FEINSTEIN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that reading of the amendment be dispensed with.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The amendment is as follows:

At the appropriate place in title VII, insert the following:

SEC. ENCOURAGING CREDITWORTHINESS.

(a) SENSE OF THE CONGRESS.—It is the sense of the Congress that—

(1) certain lenders may sometimes offer credit to consumers indiscriminately, without taking steps to ensure that consumers are capable of repaying the resulting debt, and in a manner which may encourage certain consumers to accumulate additional debt; and

(2) resulting consumer debt may increasingly be a major contributing factor to consumer insolvency.

(b) STUDY REQUIRED.—The Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System (hereafter in this section referred to as the "Board") shall conduct a study of—

(1) consumer credit industry practices of soliciting and extending credit—

(A) indiscriminately;

(B) without taking steps to ensure that consumers are capable of repaying the resulting debt; and

(C) in a manner that encourages consumers to accumulate additional debt; and

(2) the effects of such practices on consumer debt and insolvency.

(c) REPORT AND REGULATIONS.—Not later than 24 months after the date of enactment of this Act, the Board—

(1) shall make public a report on its findings with respect to the credit industry's indiscriminate solicitation and extension of credit;

(2) may issue regulations that would require additional disclosures to consumers; and

(3) may take any other actions, consistent with its existing statutory authority, that the Board finds necessary to ensure responsible industrywide practices and to prevent resulting consumer debt and insolvency.

Mrs. FEINSTEIN. Mr. President, I support S. 1301, and intend to vote for its passage. It gives bankruptcy judges the tools they need to require that capable debtors take responsibility for their debts. Furthermore, it does so in a manner that empowers bankruptcy judges to seek solutions to consumer insolvency, rather than straitjacketing them with a strict formula. Finally, S. 1301 contains strengthened provisions to protect the priority of child support and spousal support, which I supported in the Judiciary Committee.

Responsibility cannot be a one-way street, however. The blame for the current record number of consumer bankruptcies lies not only with unsound consumer spending habits, but often with unwise and irresponsible lending practices that facilitate and even foster such recklessness. This amendment aims to deter such recklessness in credit practices.

It authorizes the Federal Reserve Board to conduct a study of industry practices of soliciting and extending credit indiscriminately, without taking steps to ensure that consumers are capable of repaying their debt, or in a manner that encourages consumers to accumulate additional debt. The Federal Reserve Board is further authorized to study the effects of such practices on consumer debt and insolvency.

Within two years of enactment, the Federal Reserve Board will make public a report on its findings, regarding the credit industry's indiscriminate solicitation and extension of credit.

The amendment allows the Federal Reserve Board to issue regulations that would require additional disclosures to consumers, and to take any other actions, consistent with its statutory authority, that the board finds necessary to ensure responsible industrywide practices and to prevent resulting consumer debt and insolvency.

This amendment directly addresses one of the major causes of personal bankruptcies: bad consumer debt.

It's a simple matter of arithmetic. The typical family filing bankruptcy in 1997 owed more than one-and-a-half times its annual income in short-term, high interest debt. This means that the average family in bankruptcy, with a median income of just over $17,500, had $26,500 in credit card and other short-term, high interest debt.

Studies by the Congressional Budget Office, the FDIC, and independent economists all link the rise in personal bankruptcies directly to the rise in consumer debt.

Last year, the credit card industry sent out a record 3.1 billion unsolicited offers. That's 30 solicitations to every household in America. The number of solicitations jumped 20% last year alone. Based on industry estimates, between 1992 and 1996, credit card companies offered about a million dollars of credit to every household in the United States.

There are well over a billion cards in circulation—a dozen credit cards for every household in the country. Three-quarters of all households have a least one credit card, and three out of four of them also carry credit card debt from month to month.

Not surprisingly, credit card debt has increased accordingly. Credit card debt doubled between 1993 and 1997: The amount of credit card debt outstanding at the end of 1997 was $422 billion, twice as much as the amount in 1993.

Credit card usage has grown fastest in recent years among debtors with the lowest incomes. Since the early 1990's, Americans with incomes below the poverty level nearly doubled their credit card usage, and those in the $10,000–25,000 income bracket came in a close second in the rise in debt. The result is not surprising: 27% of the under-$10,000 families have consumer debt that is more than 40% of their income. Nearly one in ten has at least one debt that is more than sixty days past due. These are the families for whom real income has actually declined since 1989.

Credit card issuers earn about 75% of their revenues from the interest paid by borrowers who do not pay in full each month. Several companies have instituted charges or even canceled credit cards for customers who pay in full each month, preferring customers with large credit balances who pay minimum monthly payments.

As bankruptcy levels have risen, total credit card profitability has grown—credit card lending is now twice as profitable as all other lending activities. In the third quarter of 1997, credit card banks showed a 2.59% return on assets, compared to a 1.22% return on assets reported by all commercial banks.

This amendment most likely would not affect the vast majority of the credit card industry, who responsibly check consumer credit history before issuing or "pre-approving" credit cards. Representatives of large credit card issuers such as Bank of America have assured me and my staff that they do not provide credit cards to consumers without a thorough credit history check.

However, I should note that every credit card issuer that I and my staff spoke with said that one thing they do not check is income. In other words, credit card issuers have no idea whether persons to whom they issue credit cards have the means to pay their bills each month.

Furthermore, major credit cards such as Visa and Mastercard do not require banks who issue their cards to check credit history.

This bill would affect lenders who fail to even inquire into a consumer's ability to pay, or those who specifically target consumers who can't or won't repay balances.

A growing segment of the credit industry known as "sub-prime" lenders increasingly searches for risky borrowers, who they know will make inappropriately low minimum monthly payments, carry large monthly balances from month to month, and pay high interest rates. Such lending has become the fastest growing, most-profitable subset of consumer lending. Although losses are substantial, interest rates of 18 to 40% on credit card debt make this lending profitable.

Many of these often relatively unsophisticated borrowers don't realize that minimum monthly payments just put them deeper in a hole, which in many cases leads to bankruptcy. For example, industry analysts estimate that, using a typical minimum monthly payment rate on a credit card, in order to pay off a $2,500 balance—assuming the consumer never used the card to charge anything else ever again—it would take 34 years to pay off the balance, and total payments would exceed 300% of the original principal.

The FDIC observes that by marketing high-risk debt to customers who are at substantial risk for non-payment, credit card issuers have contributed to the rise in consumer bankruptcies.

On May 2, 1997, the FDIC issued warnings to banks about the risks posed by increased subprime lending. Some industry analysts predict that overall loan default rates will double by the year 2001 and thus warn that "by lowering their credit standards and saturating the market with loans, many banks will be unable to avoid potentially enormous delinquencies and write-offs."

Subprime lending is growing even among reputable lenders. Senator LAUCH FAIRCLOTH, who notes that he "abhors . . . constraints on the private sector," recently stated about the subprime market: "We have very reputable, very fine institutions, spinning off subsidiaries to get into what I would consider very precarious, reckless, bordering on sleazebag lending."

Since the Senate Judiciary Committee considered this bill in June, I have received examples from constituents of credit card companies who offer credit cards to persons who are wholly unable to afford them. I have also had my staff review solicitations they have received.

I want to give you some examples of the sort of inappropriate credit card solicitations my constituents and my staff have received.

A constituent from San Ramon, CA, wrote that her 7-year old son received a "charter membership offer" for a Visa Signature Card. The constituent writes:

If banks are offering bankcards to small children, who else (or what else) are they offering them to. This kind of unsolicited mail is ridiculous.

This is not an isolated occurrence. Both sons of a staff member who works in my San Francisco office received credit card offers—and they're 12 and 15 years old. The 12-year-old is an eighth grader, with no income other than a $25 a month allowance and gifts from his grandmother and holiday and birthday gifts. He is a Star Trek fan, and he was offered a "Star Trek Platinum Plus MasterCard," with up to $100,000 in credit. The card features discounts on Star Trek merchandise and entertainment events. The solicitation noted an introductory 3.9 percent annual percentage rate in large, bold print. The small print on the back explains that the rate applies only to initial balance transfers and cash advance checks. The actual annual percentage rate is 14.99 percent.

The 12-year-old's 15-year-old brother was also offered a credit line of up to $100,000 on the "First USA Platinum MasterCard for Science Fiction Enthusiasts." This card offered a free space pen and a 9.99 percent "fixed" annual percentage rate. The small print explained that if payment is received "late" twice in any 6-month period, the annual percentage rate balloons to 19.99 percent. If payment is not received for 2 consecutive months, the rate balloons further to 22.99 percent.

It's not just children. A constituent from Lakewood, CA, wrote to me last month:

I am sending to you [a solicitation] which I received in the mail yesterday. It was addressed to my mother and was offering her a platinum credit card with a $100,000 credit line. What's wrong with this? My mother's been dead for seven years!

The constituent continues:

What really bugs me about this is that credit card companies send out these solicitations for their plastic cards and then when they get burned, they start crying foul. They want all kinds of laws passed to protect them from taking hits when it's their own practices that caused the problem.

A 22-year-old constituent from Pacifica, CA, who makes $25,000 a year, was offered 3 platinum cards with a credit limit of up to $100,000 on each card. Two of the cards advertised in large, bold print, "introductory" annual percentage rates of 3.9 percent for cash advance checks and balance transfers. The fine print on both cards disclosed the actual annual percentage rates on purchases of 14.99 percent. The other card offered free mileage on US Airways. The fine print disclosed its annual percentage rate as 18.4 percent; 21.9 percent if the account is in default.

Another constituent, also from Pacifica, CA, who is unemployed, was offered a platinum card with an up to $50,000 credit line. As with a number of these offers, the solicitation boldly advertised an "introductory" annual percentage rate of 3.9 percent for cash advance checks and balance transfers, but the fine print on both cards disclosed the actual annual percentage rate on purchases of 14.99 percent. The other card offered free mileage on US Airways.

Besides low introductory interest rates, which inevitably balloon, and frequent flier miles, the range of gifts offered to induce people to take on new credit cards is incredible. In the past couple of months that I have been asking my staff to save solicitations, "free" gifts offered to them—and to me—to take on new credit cards, have included everything from: free telephone calling cards, to transistor radios, attaché cases, Godiva chocolates, Waterford crystal, and electronic organizers.

And the credit card companies are anything if not persistent. Over the past couple months, one of my staff members has received 4 offers for second mortgages, totaling $75,000 in credit, one of which was sent twice; $230,000 in credit, with free gifts as incentives; and a "college alumni" card, offering a "third opportunity" to apply.

These sort of come-on's, targeting people who oftentimes are simply incapable of affording the credit card, are by no means unique to Californians.

Bankruptcy Judge John Akard of the Northern District of Texas wrote that the attorneys for one couple who filed Chapter 13 bankruptcy asked them to record solicitations received after filing for bankruptcy. The received over 50 solicitations over the next 24 months, offering cumulatively over $2 million in credit; 25 of these were "pre-approved."

Consumer bankruptcy attorneys tell my staff that some companies send credit cards to bankruptcy filers courtesy of their bankruptcy attorneys.

In fact, a staff member informed me that when he did pro bono work for indigent people filing bankruptcy, the pro bono attorneys had to constantly tell the bankruptcy filers not to take on new credit cards, which credit card companies targeted to them, knowing that they could not disavow their debt for a period of six years following bankruptcy.

In many cases, credit cards offered to consumers who have no ability to repay them and no reason having them is a direct cause of personal bankruptcy. The U.S. Bankruptcy Trustee for the Southern District of California provided my office with some examples, taken directly from the rolls of recent bankruptcy filers in San Diego: One bankruptcy filer had $41,989 in debt, run up on 25 retail and credit cards—but only $17,520 in yearly income; another bankruptcy filer, had $23,826 in debt, run up on 6 credit cards and 7 retail cards—and only $4,320 in yearly income; still another bankruptcy filer had $28,054 in debt, run up on 6 credit cards and 9 retail cards, but only $11,520 in yearly income; and in the most egregious case, one filer had $97,372 in debt, run up on a total of 26 cards—13 credit cards and 13 retail cards—and had no yearly income. Another filer had over $50,000 in debt run up on 7 credit cards—and no yearly income.

Similarly, the United States Trustee for the Northern District of California provided my office with a case study of some of the recent bankruptcy cases filed in San Francisco; a "naturopath" with an annual income of $8,100, accumulated $44,690 in credit card debt, on 13 credit cards before declaring bankruptcy; a truck driver with $22,368 in annual income, accumulated $102,645 in credit card debt on 14 credit cards before declaring bankruptcy; an unemployed person with no annual income, accumulated $50,927 in debt on 14 different credit cards before declaring bankruptcy; and the list goes on.

U.S. bankruptcy trustees have also provided my office with letter after letter, originally sent by U.S. bankruptcy panel trustees to creditors, alleging "bad faith" on behalf of consumers, because the debtor accumulated credit card debts they could have had no realistic expectation of repaying. For example, one letter notes that the debtor accumulated over $110,635 in credit card debt, but had $500 in monthly income, and had incurred a net loss in income in 1996 and 1997.

If the consumer acted in bad faith, one wonders about the faith of the credit card companies that issued the credit cards in the first place and allowed the consumer to continue to accumulate debt.

Obviously, in each of these cases, banks kept on issuing credit cards, and kept on allowing consumers to rack up still more debt on the cards, despite clear evidence that the consumer would never be able to repay the debt.

During the debate on this bill, we have heard much about the financial burden that consumer bankruptcies levy on each of us as consumers. Clearly, part of the responsibility for that financial burden rests with the credit card companies and retailers who irresponsibly continue to issue credit in such cases. Indeed, industry consultants have estimated that credit card companies could cut their bankruptcy losses by more than 50% if they would institute minimal credit screening.

As I mentioned at the outset, I support S. 1301, which gives bankruptcy judges effective tools to require responsible behavior from debtors once bankruptcies occur. This amendment is necessary to promote the responsible behavior needed to prevent such bankruptcies from occurring in the first place, by preventing the runaway consumer debt that is one of the principal causes of the rise in personal bankruptcies.

I urge my colleagues to vote for the adoption of this amendment.

I end my comments with one statement: Responsibility is a two-way street. And what is sauce for the gander is also sauce for the credit card company.

Mr. President, it is my understanding that the amendment has been accepted by both sides.

I yield the floor.

Mr. GRASSLEY addressed the Chair. The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Iowa.

Mr. GRASSLEY. Mr. President, this amendment will be accepted. And I would like to say, after listening to Senator FEINSTEIN's statement, as well as studying the legislation in great detail, we can enthusiastically back this and fight for its retention in conference as well. I was not that certain when I visited with the Senator privately, but I would like to state publicly that we think she has a very good idea here and that we can work to keep it in conference. I cannot guarantee anything, but at least I feel very strongly about it.

It kind of backs up some of the things that we have done on disclosure in the managers' amendment as well. Those things will probably be much more controversial in conference than what the Senator from California is trying to do. She, from my standpoint, through the year that we have worked on this legislation, and being prodded also by the Senator from Illinois about the problems that we have or the potential problems we have with credit card companies, and they not being too careful in their anticipation of who they take on to give credit to, does back up the study that the Senator from California has called for.

She does not give new statutory authority to the Federal Reserve. She does give the Federal Reserve authority, after the study, if the Federal Reserve wants to do it, to issue regulations that would require additional disclosure to consumers, then, within their existing statutory authority, if the board finds necessary, "to ensure responsible industrywide practices and to prevent resulting consumer debt and insolvency."

This is all based upon a study which we believe, based upon our year's consideration of this legislation, probably is a very worthwhile thing for us to have and to promote. So with those ideas in mind, we accept the amendment and congratulate the Senator from California. Most importantly, we thank her for her cooperative attitude toward our resolving a lot of differences we have had with her original legislation.

Mrs. FEINSTEIN. I thank the Senator.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there any further debate on Feinstein amendment No. 3615?

Hearing none, the question is on agreeing to the amendment No. 3615.

The amendment (No. 3615) was agreed to.

Mr. GRASSLEY. I move to reconsider the vote and to lay that motion on the table.

The motion to lay on the table was agreed to.

Mr. GRASSLEY. I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. BROWNBACK. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. HUTCHINSON). Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. BROWNBACK. Mr. President, I rise to make a few remarks on the Consumer Bankruptcy Reform Act, which is the pending business at this point in time.

I commend the hard work of Senator GRASSLEY and the Senate Judiciary Committee for crafting this much-needed reform of our bankruptcy laws. Bankruptcy filings rose to almost 1.4 million last year. That is up from 172,000 in just 1978—enormous growth in bankruptcy filings. More than 70 percent of those who filed for bankruptcy last year did so under chapter 7 of the U.S. bankruptcy code, which erases most debt incurred.

The cost of these bankruptcies to the U.S. economy last year has been estimated at more than $44 billion—enormous cost. And these losses are passed on to consumers, costing every household that pays its bills $400 in hidden taxes. That is not fair to the millions of families who pay their bills—mortgages, car loans, student loans, and credit card tabs—every month.

This legislation goes a long way in addressing the fraud and abuse of our bankruptcy system while ensuring that people who are in considerable economic pain will be protected.

However, I am extremely concerned about a provision in this bill which places a cap on the homestead exemption. My State of Kansas has a homestead law in our State constitution dating back to 1859. Many farmers have used this law during times of economic hardship to protect their farms, their homes and their 160 acres. While the Consumer Bankruptcy Reform Act exempts family farmers from the homestead provision, many small farmers would not qualify under the bankruptcy code as a family farm because they or their spouse earn off-farm taxable income.

I might note for my fellow Members that over half of the people involved in agriculture today in my State and in many States across the country have considerable off-farm income from either themselves or their spouses and yet are full-time involved in agriculture. They have the outside income for various numbers of reasons, but this provision will not allow them to qualify for that agricultural exemption, the family farm exemption, if it remains as we have it in this particular act.

Many farming States have similar homestead laws dating back frequently to the time of statehood and of the settling of many places in the Midwest, where people could keep their home and 160 acres if they would just settle this land for a period of 5 years. That is the basis of this homestead law. This provision that is in the bankruptcy code and the changes that we have before us today could have a significant impact on farmers who are already faced with cash flow problems caused by low commodity prices.

This bill also does not take into consideration the vastly different property values in various States that will be affected by this particular homestead provision.

While I believe we should prevent fraud and abuse of our bankruptcy system, preempting State homestead laws and imposing a one-size-fits-all approach is not the answer. I hope that my colleagues will consider this as we look forward in dealing with this provision and working together with the House to get a fine Consumer Bankruptcy Reform Act put together. We should not penalize, we should not usurp, the States that have put forward a particular homestead exemption.

With that, Mr. President, I yield the floor.

I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

The assistant legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. DORGAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. DORGAN. Mr. President, I understand debate on the Harkin amendment was to begin at 11 a.m.?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator is correct.

Mr. DORGAN. I ask unanimous consent that the full 45 minutes allowed for debate on the Harkin amendment begin now.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. DORGAN. Mr. President, Senator HARKIN is on his way. He spoke briefly on this amendment yesterday afternoon, and I would like to make a couple comments on it. This amendment is very simple. It is an amendment that expresses the sense of Congress that the Federal Reserve Board, through the Federal Open Market Committee, should reduce its Federal funds rate. The Federal Reserve Board will meet soon and consider once again what it wishes to do with monetary policy, and especially with short-term interest rates.

I would like to show a couple of charts just to describe where we are at this point with the American economy.

"Consumer Price Index." As we know, the Federal Reserve Board has been chasing inflation now for, oh, 4 years or so. Every quarter they have another discussion and wring their hands and gnash their teeth and fret and worry and sweat about what is happening to inflation and when the next wave of inflation is going to hit. Of course, inflation has gone down, down, way down.

The Federal Reserve Board told us, by the way, at the start of this, that the inflation rate would jump up almost certainly if the unemployment rate went below 6 percent. Of course, the unemployment rate has been below 6 percent for over 4 years and the inflation rate keeps coming down. The Federal Reserve Board was dead wrong on that issue.

But the Federal Reserve Board sits in that house of theirs on a hill impenetrable by the American public, closes its doors, makes its decisions in secret about interest rates. Only, and then tells us after the decisions are made what the interest rates in this country will be.

The Federal funds rate set by the Federal Reserve's Open Market Committee is much higher than it ought to be. Prior to Mr. Greenspan becoming Chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, from 1950 to 1987, the average real Federal funds rate was 1.8 percent; for 37 years on average. The real Federal funds rate, the economic rent for money, adjusted for inflation, that was set by the Federal Reserve Board, was 1.8 percent. Today that short-term interest rate, after inflation, is 3.9 percent—the highest level since just before the last recession in 1990.

One must ask the question, Why, why are the American people in effect being taxed with higher interest rates? Why is the Federal Reserve Board punishing the American people with interest rates that are higher than they should be? The answer: Because they have served their constituent interests, which are the large money center banks; they want the higher interest rates. But that moves against the interests of the American people, of the people who produce and work and borrow.

I have brought to the floor from time to time pictures of the Federal Reserve Board of Governors and the presidents of the regional Fed banks, and the reason I have done that is because they control monetary policy and nobody knows who they are. So I thought we should probably have pictures of all of them, when they were appointed, where they were educated, what their background is, and how much money they make. And so here, once again, is a picture of the Federal Reserve Board of Governors and the regional Fed bank presidents. On a rotating basis, these regional Fed bank presidents join the board of governors, they go into a room, shut the door, and in secret determine what our interest rates are going to be in this country. Here is who they are. You could put them all in a barrel, shake it up, roll it downhill, and you would always have somebody with a gray suit on top. They are economists. They all come from the same background. They all pretty much look the same, and they all pretty much think the same. There is not a person among them who represents somebody who manufactures something or fixes something or sells something, but that is the way the Fed is.

When I was a kid in a town of 300 people in southwestern North Dakota, we had a circus come to town. That circus—it was a very small circus because you do not get a big top in a town of 300 people—but that circus had an elephant. It was the first elephant I had ever seen, and the first elephant, I think, that had ever come to my hometown. The thing that interested me as a little boy is that that big old elephant would stand out there by the tent and he had a steel cuff around his foot and a chain of about 6 or 8 feet attached to a stake that was pounded into the ground. I thought to myself, how on Earth can that little stake hold that big elephant? How can that work?

Then I was told later, when I grew up, about that elephant and that chain and that stake. They say that when they capture wild elephants in Thailand, they get a wild elephant and they put a big metal cuff around the elephant's leg, put a chain on that cuff, and then they tie the other end of that chain to a big banyan tree. And for 6 days, 10 days, 12 days, maybe 2 weeks that elephant will pull and struggle and grunt and groan and try to pull that chain away from that big banyan tree. Of course the banyan tree doesn't budge an inch. After a certain period of time, the elephant understands that the elephant cannot move. Then they take the chain off the banyan tree and just put a stake in the ground and the elephant stands there with a cuff around his leg and a chain and a small stake. The elephant is chained to his habit. His habit is he knows he cannot move.

I was thinking about that the other day and I was thinking about the Federal Reserve Board. What a wonderful analogy, chained to his habit. You talk about a board chained to their habits, the Federal Reserve Board has been, for 4 or 5 years—despite all the evidence to the contrary in this country that the global economy is putting downward pressure on wages, that there are no new fires of inflation out there in the country, that the inflation rate is coming down even as the unemployment rate has come down. These gray-suited folks, chained to their old habits, have continued to insist, no, they must keep interest rates higher than they ought to be because they are worried about some future specter of inflation despite the fact that inflation is running in the opposite direction.

What does that mean? What does it mean when these folks lock their doors and in secret say, "We are going to keep interest rates higher than what it ought to be"? What it means is everybody who owns a house, everybody who is paying off a credit card, anybody who has any debt at all of any type is paying higher interest rates than they ought to pay. In a number of cases it means some homeowners might be paying $100 or $200 a month more in interest than they ought to pay. Somebody is just taking it out of their pocket. In effect, they have taxed them—to the detriment of the individual, to the reward of the lender. That is why I asked the question earlier: Whose interest does this Fed serve?

Some say its constituent's interest is that of the big money center banks. It looks that way. How else would they justify interest rates that are more than 2 full percentage points above the real rate of inflation, when in fact for nearly 40 years prior to Mr. Greenspan joining the Federal Reserve Board the real interest rates above inflation set by the Board were 1.8 percent? How else would you justify that kind of massive overcharge of the American people through higher interest rates?

The Federal funds rate is not charged to everybody. It happens to set the fee, set the charge. The prime rate comes off the Federal funds rate. Other rates come off the prime rate. The fact is, when the Federal Reserve Board decides in secret to set interest rates that are higher than they ought to be, then everybody else ends up paying more than they should pay. And who benefits? The big money center banks.

It is interesting, these folks who will be in that room making the decision when the door is closed—the last dinosaur in America that makes decisions in secret, the last dinosaur that exists in our Government—when they go into a room and close that door and make decisions in secret, they will be representing—who? Who hired them? Their boards of directors. Who hires the regional Fed bank president? The regional board of directors. And who is that? The regional bankers. Whose interests are they going to look after in that room when the door is locked? They are not accountable. Their names did not come here for the Senate to say, yes, we would like to sanction you to go into a room and make decisions about monetary policy. They are not accountable to anybody. They were not confirmed by anybody. They are not accountable. Yet they go into a room with a locked door and make a secret decision with others and tell the American people what they are going to pay in interest rates.

We have people come here and talk about taxes forever—that is a tax. A higher interest rate than ought to be paid is a tax; it is a big tax on almost all working families in this country. So who are these people going to represent? Are they going to be sent to the Open Market Committee to make decisions that contradict the interests of their boards of directors? I don't think so. Would it be logical to assume that they would come to this decision-making point representing the interests of those who gave them their jobs? I think so.

The amendment to be offered by Senator HARKIN and myself and a couple of others is an amendment that asks the Congress to express itself to the Federal Reserve Board. I know we have people who say, "Oh Lord, the last thing Congress ought to be involved in is monetary policy." Why should we not be involved in making our views known to the Federal Reserve Board? Anybody who comes out here opposing this, I would like to ask them this: If for 40 years the real economic rent for money set by the Fed through Federal funds rate is 1.8 percent, if that is the rate for 40 years, how do you justify having a rate that is nearly 2 points higher, on average during the Greenspan years? How do you justify it? Do you think it is fine? If so, how do you justify taxing your constituents with the higher interest rate because the Fed decides it is going to represent their interests, not ours?

I am not here arguing for easy money, easy credit. I am here arguing for fairness. I am here asking the Federal Reserve Board to represent the entire public interest here, not just their interest.

Our economy, from most recent evidence, looks to be slowing down some. Our economy faces a number of international threats. We have an Asian economy that is in shreds—Korea, Japan, China, Indonesia. The difficulty in the Asian economy, a very significant difficulty, is beginning to be felt in this economy. It seems to me, when we have a Federal Reserve Board that imposes higher interest rates than are justified, much higher interest rates than we have historically had with respect to real economic rent for money, it seems to me when they do that at a time when we begin to face what appears to be some significant difficulty from external economic forces, the Fed ought to take a look at doing what it should have done long ago, and that is reduce real short-term interest rates to where they ought to be.

I know this discussion causes a lot of people just to fog out and glaze over and go to sleep because, frankly, it is in the interests of those who make monetary policy to keep the monetary policy questions outside of the purview of public discussion. A century ago you could go to a barber shop or a bar in this country and get into an aggressive, interesting, lively discussion about interest rates. All over the country they talked about interest rates. Mr. President, 35 years ago there was going to be a one-quarter percent increase in the Federal funds rate. And the fellow who was heading the Federal Reserve Board was thinking about the one-quarter of 1 percent increase. There were front page headlines all across the country. Lyndon Johnson invited this fellow, the head of the Federal Reserve Board, McChesney Martin, invited him down to the ranch at Perdinales, in Texas, and they say almost squeezed the barbecue sauce out of that guy, he was so upset the Federal Reserve was going to increase interest rates by one-quarter of 1 percent.

Interest rates used to be part of substantial discussion and lively interest in this country, but we now have a Federal Reserve Board, as I said, that is the last dinosaur. It wants to keep monetary policy outside the purview of normal public debate. It wants to do what it wants to do in a locked room behind a closed door, and decide to keep interest rates about 2 full percentage points above where they ought to be given the real rate of inflation in this country today.

The Senator from Iowa will offer an amendment. The sense of the Congress at the end is very simple. It is one short sentence:

It is the sense of the Congress that the Federal Open Market Committee should promptly reduce the Federal funds rate.

It is very simple. That is preceded by a series of pieces of information that make the case.

Let me finish, Mr. President. I know Senator HARKIN is on his way. I know Senator DOMENICI is also scheduled to speak. We have a vacancy on the Federal Reserve Board. There is one seat vacant. The Federal Reserve Board of Governors has seven people, all appointed by the President, confirmed by the Congress. The confirmation process requires there be accountability, so that is what we have, a Presidential appointment with confirmation.

That is not the case with regional Federal bank presidents. They serve on the Open Market Committee and make decisions, but they are not confirmed by anybody.

We have one vacancy. I have come to the floor to say I would like my Uncle Joe to be considered. My Uncle Joe is retired. My Uncle Joe used to fix generators and alternators in his shop behind his house. He is pretty good with his hands. He knows how to fix things. My theory is, there is nobody on the Fed who has ever fixed anything or ever manufactured anything or ever been in a part of the business where one is actually involved in a consumptive use of credit to make a business work.

For a couple of centuries, we had tensions in this country between those who produced and those who financed production, and in some decades those who produced have had an upper hand, and in some decades those who financed production have had an upper hand. With the help of the Federal Reserve Board, in most recent years those who finance production have had the upper hand. That ought not be the case.

There is a clear and compelling case, made by Senator HARKIN yesterday, and I hope by myself, that the current Federal funds rate established by the Federal Reserve Board responds to a threat that does not exist and, as a result, keeps interest rates substantially higher than they should be on a real basis. As a result of that, the Federal Reserve overtaxes every American family that pays a higher cost for credit than can now be justified.

The Congress has every right to send a message to the Federal Reserve Board that: "When next you meet and close that door and begin deciding in secret the fate of this country's monetary policy and interest rates, we encourage you, given all the evidence, to decide to reduce interest rates."

Mr. President, I notice Senator HARKIN has not yet arrived on the floor. Let me go down the findings briefly while we are awaiting Senator HARKIN to come to the floor.

While interest rates, we hear on the news, continue to decline, long-term mortgage rates, and so on, the inflation rate, of course, is way, way, way down. The question is the real interest rates, the economic rent for money. And also the question is, What is happening to our economy? Is it slowing down? And if so, would paying higher interest rates, as imposed by the Federal funds rate, be beneficial to this economy?

Real interest rates are at historically high levels, the highest in 9 years—real interest rates. The Federal funds rate is 5.5 percent. It has been there since March of 1997, despite an inflation rate of 1.7 percent. Between 1992 and 1994, the Federal funds rate averaged 3.6 percent, while inflation was at 2.8 percent.

The Chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, Mr. Greenspan, said during his testimony before the House Banking and Financial Services Committee on February 24 of this year:

Statistically, it is a fact that real interest rates are higher now than they have been on the average of post-World War II periods.

Actually, real interest rates are higher now than they have been prior to Mr. Greenspan becoming Chairman of the Fed. Inflation over the last 2 years, preceding the date of enactment of this act, was at its lowest level since the 1960s. Corporate earnings are down 1.3 percent from a year earlier, and, as I mentioned, farm debt is at its highest level since 1985. Broad commodity price indexes are extremely low. There are signs of global depression or at least severe recession and the potential of depression in parts of the economies of Asia, and there are signs that that will negatively impact this country through fewer purchases of U.S. exports and through a greater influx of cheap imports to the United States.

We, as a result of this resolution, want to put the Senate on record as saying to the Federal Reserve Board: "You ought to do what the evidence requires you to do; you ought to do what the American people know you should do; you ought to do what most good economists would advise you do now, even though you have not done it for sometime now; you ought to reduce the Federal funds rate to a level that is fair and fairly reflects the economic rent for money relative to the real rate of inflation."

The Federal Reserve Board has kept the Federal funds rate artificially high because it has worried about inflation. As I indicated in the chart, the rate of inflation has come down, down, way down, even as unemployment has come down. The Federal Reserve Board, predicting new waves of inflation at every step along the way, has been consistently wrong about this. Some say the Federal Reserve Board should be given credit for the fact it is down. The Federal Reserve Board did nothing but predict this was going to be different. It requires no credit to be wrong.

So I ask, and I think Senator HARKIN would ask, the Federal Reserve Board to do the right thing when it meets in the Federal Open Market Committee, and make the reduction in interest rates that is justifiable and is important to this country.

Mr. President, I reserve the remainder of the time, and I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

The assistant legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. DOMENICI. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. DOMENICI. Mr. President, may I discuss with Senator DORGAN the current situation? We have a unanimous-consent agreement that says at 11:45 a.m. I am to be recognized to move to table the amendment. I am here. I only have 5 minutes to speak, and I don't choose to use that at this moment.

What is the Senator's understanding about how we are going to handle this unanimous-consent agreement that sets 11:45 a.m. as a vote time?

Mr. DORGAN. Mr. President, the 11:45 a.m. time has been extended, I think, by about 8 minutes by unanimous consent.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. By 5 minutes; the Senator is correct.

Mr. DORGAN. By 5 minutes. That would be 11:50 a.m. I am waiting for Senator HARKIN to arrive on the floor. He is the principal sponsor, along with myself, on the legislation. He wants to speak on it. I just finished speaking. I am waiting for Senator HARKIN. I suspect he will want to provide some remarks, after which the Senator from New Mexico can proceed.

Mr. DOMENICI. I appreciate that. I guess while we are in a quorum call, time is not running. I ask unanimous consent that up to 5 minutes of the quorum call not be charged and, thus, we will have 5 additional minutes before the time the Senator from New Mexico makes a motion to table.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. DOMENICI. I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

The assistant legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. HARKIN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. HARKIN. Parliamentary inquiry. What is the floor situation right now in terms of time under the unanimous-consent agreement agreed to yesterday?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator has the right to offer an amendment and the Senator has 15 minutes remaining on his time.

Mr. HARKIN. I did not hear that. How much time?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Fifteen minutes.

Mr. HARKIN. On our side?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. That is correct.

Mr. HARKIN. Fifteen minutes left on this side?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. That is correct.

Mr. HARKIN. Mr. President, I yield 7 minutes to the Senator from Minnesota, Senator WELLSTONE.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Minnesota is recognized.

Mr. WELLSTONE. Parliamentary inquiry, Mr. President. Has the amendment been called up?

AMENDMENT NO. 3616 TO AMENDMENT NO. 3559
(Purpose: To express the sense of the Congress regarding the reduction of the Federal Funds rate by the Federal Open Market Committee)

Mr. HARKIN. Mr. President, before I yield to the Senator, I ask that the amendment be called up at this time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will report.

The assistant legislative clerk read as follows:

The Senator from Iowa [Mr. HARKIN] for himself, Mr. DORGAN, Mr. CONRAD, Mr. WELLSTONE, Mr. BRYAN and Mr. KERREY, proposes an amendment numbered 3616 to amendment No. 3559.

Mr. HARKIN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that reading of the amendment be dispensed with.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The amendment is as follows:

At the appropriate place, insert the following:

SEC. . SENSE OF THE CONGRESS REGARDING INTEREST RATES.

(a) FINDINGS.—The Congress finds, as of the date of enactment of this Act, that—

- (1) real interest rates are at historically high levels, the highest in 9 years;
- (2) the Federal Funds rate is 5.5 percent, where it has been since March 1997, despite an inflation rate of 1.6 percent;
- (3) between 1992 and 1994, the Federal Funds rate averaged 3.6 percent, while inflation was at 2.8 percent;
- (4) to confirm that real interest rates are historically high, the Chairman of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, Alan Greenspan, said during his Humphrey-Hawkins testimony before the Committee on Banking and Financial Services of the House of Representatives on February 24, 1998, "Statistically, it is a fact that real interest rates are higher now than they have been on the average of the post-World War II period.";

(5) inflation over the 2 years preceding the date of enactment of this Act was at its lowest level since the 1960's;

(6) interest rates on 30-year Treasury bonds have sunk to record lows and are below the Federal Funds rate, a signal that the United States economy could be headed for a recession;

(7) United States corporate earnings in the second quarter of 1998 were down 1.3 percent from a year earlier;

(8) a reduction in interest rates would increase resources for business growth;

(9) the farm debt is at its highest level since 1985, and broad commodity price indexes are extremely low;

(10) there are significant, widespread signs of global deflation, to which the United States has not been exposed since the Great Depression;

(11) there has been a deterioration in a number of economies around the world, which will negatively impact the United States through fewer purchases of United States exports and a greater influx of cheap imports to the United States;

(12) the United States economy is a large, healthy economic engine, and if the United States economy does slow, it would be exceedingly difficult for the worldwide economy to recover;

(13) a decline in equity values could dampen confidence and slow consumer and business spending, which together represents four-fifths of the United States economy;

(14) a decline in United States interest rates would help bolster the currencies of countries throughout the world suffering from economic hardships; and

(15) a reduction in interest rates would strengthen the United States economy over the next year while the world's weakened economies recover.

(b) SENSE OF THE CONGRESS.—It is the sense of the Congress that the Federal Open Market Committee should promptly reduce the Federal Funds rate.

Mr. HARKIN. I yield to the Senator from Minnesota 7 minutes.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Minnesota.

Mr. WELLSTONE. I thank the Chair. I thank my colleague from Iowa.

I do not think I am going to be able to do justice to the question that is before us. There was a bit of confusion. We were over hearing President Nelson Mandela and lost some valuable time on the floor, although I must say I would have never traded that experience to hear President Mandela.

Mr. President, for the last few months, we have been so absorbed with the crisis at the White House I am afraid we have neglected another crisis that might end up having a far greater impact on ordinary working Americans. I am talking about a global economic crisis whose effects are already being felt on our shores.

The situation in the global economy today is much more than troubling; it is dangerous. I believe we must act now to stop the world from slipping into a deflationary spiral. And by the way, I would like to give Bill Greider, and his book "One World: Ready or Not," just a little bit of mention. I think Bill Greider deserves a tremendous amount of credit. That book, written about two years ago, was really prophetic about where the international economy might go.

As I said, I believe we must act now to stop the world from slipping into a deflationary spiral. Surely part of the solution—not the whole solution—is for the Federal Reserve to cut short-term interest rates significantly.

I hope that Alan Greenspan, Chairman Greenspan, today in his testimony will, indeed, signal that he is ready to do that. This may be only one part of the solution, but it is an important part, and that is what this Sense-of-the-Congress resolution is all about.

Mr. President, this global economic crisis is unlike anything many of us have ever experienced in our lifetimes. For the first time since the 1930s, we see the GDP falling in over one-quarter of the world economy. Last week, President Clinton called this “the greatest financial challenge in the last half-century.” And he was right.

If we choose to do nothing, we will have little hope of escaping from this crisis unscathed. As Chairman Greenspan recently testified, we cannot forever be an oasis of growth when so much of the world’s economy is contracting.

Lowering interest rates will address the global crisis in several ways. It will supply some much needed liquidity to a world economy starved by massive currency devaluations. It should help restart capital flows to crisis countries. Lower rates should also weaken the dollar, making it easier for foreign borrowers to repay their dollar-dominated debt. Boosting the yen against the dollar should make other Asian countries more competitive and help stabilize their economies. The end result should be higher world economic growth and less instability in the financial markets.

Mr. President, I cannot emphasize enough how important this Sense-of-the-Congress amendment is, because we are attempting to send a signal here. I come from the Midwest. We see a contraction in the farm economy. We see farmers driven off the land because of record-low prices. But what I also see is an absolutely impossible situation right now where what is happening in this world economy is surely going to affect us. And there is no question that, by lowering interest rates in coordination with other countries—like Germany and the G-7 countries—we can at least increase demand.

If there is one thing we must do, it is increase demand in all of our economies so that people will be able to consume, so we will have markets to sell to. Bill Greider was right. The major threat right now, not only to the international economy but to our own economy, is not inflation. It is deflation.

All the arguments about the NAIRU—the Non-Accelerating Inflation Rate of Unemployment—don’t stand up. It is not true that when you have low levels of unemployment you automatically set into gear an inflationary spiral in your economy. That has not happened. There is no evidence that it will happen.

The No. 1 enemy right now is not inflation, but the whole question of deflation, the whole question of a depression in a good part of the international economy which is going to dramatically, crucially, affect the quality of our lives, our children’s lives and our grandchildren’s lives.

The Federal Reserve Board, led by Mr. Greenspan, must lower short-term interest rates. They are too high. It makes no sense whatever—from the point of view of the best macroeconomic management, from the point of view of economic performance, from the point of view of stimulating demand in these economies, from the point of view of coordinating with other countries like Germany—for the Federal Reserve Board not to lower the federal funds rate. That is what this resolution calls for. That is why I am pleased to join my colleague from Iowa.

This is why a rising chorus of voices is now calling for lower rates. Many of them are conservatives. They include the Wall Street Journal, Jack Kemp, the National Association of Manufacturers, the Business Roundtable, Stephen Roache, C. Fred Bergsten, Roger Altman, Steve Forbes, and many others.

But there are also many who don’t share my sense of alarm. A few may simply be afraid to say anything that could trigger a panic. Others may not see any need to take precautions against a forecasted hurricane—especially when the skies directly above us are sunny and clear. Well, maybe they are right. Maybe this storm will veer off course. But what if they’re wrong?

Some of my colleagues may well say, “We already have low interest rates. The Fed hasn’t raised short-term rates for a year and a half.” True enough. But if you adjust those rates for inflation, they’ve actually been rising for some time. Chairman Greenspan himself testified earlier this year that “Statistically, it is a fact that real interest rates are higher now than they have been on the average of the post World War II period.” In fact, the inflation-adjusted federal funds rate hasn’t been this high since 1989.

Unfortunately, there has been a strong bias, at the Federal Reserve and elsewhere, against lowering rates, though this may be changing as we speak. The reason for this is simple: an inordinate fear of inflation. But inflation today stands at 1.6 percent, down from 3 percent in 1996. Where is the evidence of any inflationary pressure on the horizon? This downward trend cannot be attributed solely to the Asian crisis, either: the producer price index fell for the first seven months of 1997, before the crisis even began. To quote Bruce Steinberg, chief economist at Merrill Lynch, “People who cry about inflation are in some other universe of reality right now.”

Moreover, an expected slowdown in economic growth should douse any possible inflationary pressures. Corporate earnings in the second quarter were down 1.3 percent from the previous year. Economic growth slowed from 5.5 percent in the first quarter to 1.6 percent in the second. The OECD predicts lower U.S. growth next year. Chairman Greenspan himself has acknowledged that “there are the first signs of erosion at the edges, especially in manufacturing.” Manufacturing capacity utilization is at a six year low, commodity prices are falling, and farm debt is the highest it’s been since 1985. And the Fed says its monetary policy must be based on forecasts of economic conditions 6 to 9 months in the future!

In his speech last week, President Clinton recognized that these new circumstances call for a reexamination of some of our most basic economic assumptions. “For most of the last 30 years, the United States and the rest of the world has been preoccupied by inflation,” he said. “But clearly the balance of risks has now shifted, with a full quarter of the world’s population living in countries with declining economic growth or negative economic growth. Therefore, I believe the industrial world’s chief priority today, plainly, is to spur growth.”

The Federal Reserve’s obsession with inflation-fighting can be traced back to the so-called NAIRU [Non-Accelerating Inflation Rate of Unemployment] theory. What NAIRU boils down to is this: it’s a belief that lowering unemployment too much will cause inflation to spiral out of control. Tragically, this theory has too often stood in the way of policies that would reduce unemployment.

Yet it seems to have little, if any, correlation to our actual economic experience. For four years now we’ve had unemployment rates below 6 percent. They’ve been under 5 percent for well over a year. During that time, inflation has been falling, not rising. The fact is, there’s little reason to believe low unemployment causes inflation to come unhinged. It seems to me that this NAIRU theory is about as out-moded as the Nehru jacket. And frankly, I have serious doubts whether either of these fads was ever really defensible.

In the past, the Fed has focused on fighting inflation over all other considerations, which puts it at odds with its own statutory mandate. Let me remind my colleagues, once again, that the Federal Reserve is a creature of Congress. The 1946 Employment Act directs the Fed to pursue policies of “maximum employment, production, and purchasing power.” The 1978 Humphrey-Hawkins Act amendments call for policies of “full employment,” “balanced growth,” and “reasonable price stability.” Instead, it seems the Fed sees its mandate as stifling real wage growth.

Sometimes Washington seems like a different world than the one where most Americans live, and never more so than when it's engulfed in scandal. But it can seem like a pretty odd place even in more normal times. In testimony before Congress, Fed Chairman Greenspan has seemed to express satisfaction that job insecurity keeps workers from demanding higher wages. More recently he has voiced concern that wages are rising, despite the fact that wage growth has not kept up with productivity. I'm not sure which is more outrageous: that anybody in a position of power in this country would say such things, or that so few people would be bothered by them.

In all fairness, the Fed has resisted the temptation to raise short-term rates for some time now. That's probably because falling unemployment has not led to higher wages until very recently, and inflation has continued on its downward path. But now, in the seventh year of this economic recovery, we are finally starting to see signs of wage growth. Real wages have risen 2.6 percent annually for the typical American worker since 1996, though they have still not regained their 1989 levels. And the trend toward income inequality has also begun to slow.

This is good news, and it is a tremendous breakthrough. The mystery of falling wages and rising inequality over the past three decades turns out to be not so mysterious after all. The fact is, we know how to raise wages and reduce inequality. We do not have to reinvent the wheel. Among other things, we need to maintain low unemployment over a sustained period. We've done this before and we can do it again. Surveying the U.S. economy since World War II, economist James Galbraith finds that income inequality has generally risen when unemployment was above 5 percent and fallen when unemployment was below 5 percent.

Simply put, we need to pursue a policy of full employment. The 1998 Report of the Council of Economic Advisers hails recent trends in income inequality and concludes, "Maintaining a full employment economy is essential if this progress is to continue." The experience of the last two years should drive that lesson home. It would be a tragedy if an unjustified fear of rising wages or an economic downturn kept us from continuing that progress. With economic growth falling overseas and the growing danger of deflationary aftershocks here at home, I believe the Fed needs to cut interest rates now.

There are few things, I think, that would improve the lives of ordinary working Americans more than full employment. As the 1998 Report of the Council of Economic Advisers says:

A high employment economy brings enormous economic and social benefits. Essential to personal economic security is the knowledge that work is available to those who seek it, at wages sufficient to keep them and their families out of poverty. A tight labor market encourages the confidence of job losers that they will be able to return to work, lures discouraged workers back into the labor force, enhances the prospects of those already at work to get ahead, enables those who want or need to switch jobs to do so without a long period of joblessness, and lowers the duration of a typical unemployment spell. . . . Wasted resources from not producing at potential, together with the human cost of unemployment, are intolerable; the elimination of this waste is the principal benefit of a sustained return to full employment.

As James Galbraith argues in his powerful new book, Created Unequal, lower interest rates and full employment help sustain not only a healthy economy, but also a healthy society. Lower rates make it easier to balance the budget. They help reduce inequality by lowering unemployment and reducing poverty, by preserving a competitive dollar that doesn't destabilize wages, and by checking the unearned income of top earners. They ease social strains by pushing up wages and lifting the burden of private debt. For all these reasons, in a full employment economy, citizens are more able and willing to make necessary investments in education, training, infrastructure, research, and other public goods.

But the flip side of this picture is not so rosy. Inequality has been rising since about 1970, and today is the highest it's been since the Great Depression. Growing inequality brings out the worst in us. It eats away at middle class solidarity. It encourages those who feel secure about their life chances to disavow any connection to their brethren in need. Growing inequality finds expression in bitter struggles over issues such as affirmative action, welfare, crime, entitlements, and even intelligence. And if income inequality had not so undermined middle class solidarity, I don't think the campaign to privatize Social Security would have ever gotten off the ground.

There are specific responses to each of these challenges, but the larger issue is the erosion of solidarity among Americans of different economic circumstances. The answer, it seems to me, is clear. We must rebuild that solidarity with higher wages and lower inequality. These lessons have a direct bearing on one of the paramount issues before Congress today: an America with rising wages and declining inequality is an America that need not worry about the future of Social Security.

What is true for the American economy is equally true for the world economy. The best global citizens are countries that generate their own domestic demand, and healthy demand depends on rising wages and lower inequality. There's been a lot of talk about virtuous cycles lately. Well, when income gains are broadly shared, it creates a virtuous cycle of mass purchasing power, growth, savings, and new investment. We can promote this kind of good citizenship by helping other countries raise their wages from the bottom up—through higher minimum wages, recognition of labor rights, and fiscal and monetary stimulus.

This kind of policy would be good not only for them, but for us too. And it would be good for the global system as a whole. We cannot forever be the buyer of last resort. We cannot forever help other countries develop economically by absorbing all their manufacturing exports. They need to create their own domestic demand. Trade should be a complement to healthy demand at home, not a substitute for weak demand. Otherwise we cannot escape the trap of excess production and overcapacity, with too many goods being produced and not enough prosperous consumers to buy them. As the AFL-CIO urged back in January, "The United States, Europe, and Japan must work together to stimulate domestic demand in the developing economies and avert a dangerous tendency toward global deflation."

Needless to say, we haven't been doing that. It certainly hasn't helped that, working through the IMF and other multilateral institutions, we have imposed deflation on countries in Asia and the rest of the world. We have depressed foreign demand by insisting that other governments cut spending, close banks, weaken labor laws, and raise interest rates. And we've insisted that they deregulate financial markets to remove any checks on often destabilizing flows of foreign capital. As the AFL-CIO said back in February, "These terms may solve some short-term credibility problems with foreign investors, but will necessarily exacerbate the tensions, inequality, and instability of the global economy." That, I believe, is exactly the problem facing us today.

This is a time for bold new thinking. In his speech last Monday, President Clinton called on Chairman Greenspan and Secretary Rubin to convene a meeting of their counterparts in the G-7 and key developing countries within the next 30 days to strengthen the international financial architecture for the 21st Century. Fifty years ago, he said, we learned to tame the cycle of booms and busts that had plagued national economies, and we must now do the same for the international economy.

But what does that entail, exactly? Countries must be able to reap the benefits of free-flowing capital in a way that is safe and sustainable, the President said. The IMF should emphasize pro-growth budget, tax, and monetary policies. The World Bank should embark on a new "social compact" initiative focusing on job assistance and basic needs of children and the elderly. The World Bank and the Asian Development Bank should both double their support for the social safety net in Asia.

Meanwhile, it was reported yesterday that British Prime Minister Tony Blair has joined the call to restructure the institutions and rules governing the global financial system. And the IMF just released a report endorsing the kind of capital controls Chile has maintained for years to discourage destabilizing short-term capital inflows.

This appears to represent a 180 degree about-face from its previous dogged insistence on liberalizing capital markets.

These are extraordinary developments. I believe they are a sign of the seriousness of the crisis we face. They also indicate that deeply entrenched assumptions are now being reexamined. That's something we should welcome and encourage.

I believe we can prevent the worst from happening, but we must act now. These are times that cry out for American leadership. The most pressing need, and our most immediate priority, must be to deliver a preemptive strike against deflation. At the next meeting of the FOMC, Federal Open Market Committee, on September 29, the Fed should lower interest rates significantly.

Mr. HARKIN. How much time do I have remaining?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator has 7 minutes 38 seconds remaining.

Mr. HARKIN. I yield whatever time I consume.

Mr. President, this amendment that we have offered is cosponsored by Senators DORGAN, CONRAD, WELLSTONE, ROBERT KERREY, and Senator BRYAN.

Because of the actions of the Federal Open Market Committee, real interest rates are rising. In fact, real interest rates are at historically high levels, the highest in 9 years, because inflation has fallen while the Federal Reserve failed to lower the Federal funds rate.

This chart points it out. The Federal funds rate continues to go up at about 3.9 percent. Fed Chairman Greenspan said in February of this year:

Statistically, it is a fact that real interest rates are higher now than they have been on the average of the post-World War II period.

I have said time and again that the high interest rate policy being imposed by the Federal Reserve is a stealth tax on hard-working American families, and I believe it is a contributing factor to the near collapse of several economies worldwide.

Again, interest rates have a significant impact on virtually every family in America, every producer, business, and family farmer in this country. Lower rates have been needed for some time, but now quick action is truly crucial for our country's well-being. The economic signs not only in the U.S. economy but in economies worldwide demand swift and appropriate action.

I note in the front page of the Washington Post this morning it says, "Signs Point to Interest Rate Cut," and:

Federal Reserve Board Chairman Alan Greenspan will testify before Congress today amid growing signs that he may propose cutting interest rates when Fed policymakers meet next Tuesday.

And it goes on to say how many executives and economists have called for that.

Now, the amendment that I have at the desk reads that we ask the Federal Open Market Committee to promptly reduce interest rates. Now, the Senator from New Mexico had suggested that perhaps we might want to alter that a little bit to just say that perhaps we should advise them or urge them to do something like that.

I refer back to a congressional resolution passed by the Senate on December 18, 1982. It passed by 93-0. I believe the Senator from New Mexico may have been here at that time. I didn't check that, but I think he may have been here at that time. It passed 93-0. That resolution also called on the Fed to reduce interest rates. I will just read one sentence of it:

It is the sense of the Congress that they should continue to take such actions as are necessary to achieve and maintain a level of interest rates low enough to generate significant economic growth, and thereby reduce the current intolerable level of unemployment.

At that time, December 18, 1982, the Senate saw fit by a vote of 93-0 to tell the Federal Open Market Committee that they should do something. That is what we are saying here in this resolution. They should promptly reduce interest rates because every sign points to the need to do so. Again, we could say that they should consider doing it, but I am just saying in 1982 we didn't say they should consider taking such actions. The resolution said, "They should continue to take such actions."

So there was a direction from the Senate at that time to the Fed. To those who say we shouldn't interfere with the Fed, I say where in the Constitution of the United States is the Federal Reserve system given such a standing? It is nowhere to be found in the Constitution. Article I, section 8 of the Constitution gives the power to coin and regulate the power of money to Congress. We have, of course, delegated that power to the Federal Reserve System under the Federal Reserve Act, as amended, many times. Obviously, I don't believe Congress should coin money or regulate the value it. We couldn't do it. That is why we have the Federal Reserve.

However, as policymakers, because the Federal Reserve is a creature of Congress, it exists only because of an amended law, passed by Congress. We have the right, and I believe the obligation, to tell the Federal Reserve what we feel, what we hear, what we see, what we think is happening in the economy. We are the policymakers and we should give them that guidance and direction when and if we believe that we should do so.

Again, if there are those who don't believe that we should reduce interest rates, that we shouldn't tell the Federal Reserve that they should reduce interest rates, that I can understand. That is a clear policy difference. But to say that we shouldn't tell the Fed what to do flies in the face, I believe, of our responsibilities and our obligations as policymakers here in the U.S. Senate.

Policy wise, I believe they should lower interest rates. So does the head of the National Association of Manufacturers, the president of General Motors, and a number of other economists both on the conservative side and on the liberal side. They are saying that we should lower interest rates.

I think the purpose of this resolution and why I am offering it is to back up what I understand Chairman Greenspan is attempting to do. I understand there are still some members of the Federal Open Market Committee who don't believe we should lower interest rates. I think we should send them a very strong signal. We should back up what I understand Chairman Greenspan is now saying that they probably ought to do, and that is lower interest rates. That is the purpose of this amendment.

Mr. ABRAHAM. Mr. President, although I agree with the economic case for lower interest rates made by the Senator from Iowa, I must vote to table this amendment. While Members of Congress and Senators certainly have the right to express their opinions about the conduct of monetary policy, it is highly inappropriate for the Congress as an institution to take formal legislative action designed to influence decisions made by the Federal Reserve board members. To do so would undermine the political independence of the Fed and thus the stability of our financial and monetary system.

Having said this, Mr. President, I am concerned about the volatility and uncertainty enveloping worldwide financial markets and the role that U.S. monetary policy is playing in our global financial system. There are proliferating signs of deflation that many economists suggest are at least partially responsible for the recent market turmoil.

Gold prices have fallen by more than 30% since early 1996, commodity prices have fallen to 21-year lows, the yield curve has now inverted and real interest rates remain very high. Chairman Greenspan himself has said in the past that these indicators were important signals of the direction of inflationary pressures.

Nonetheless, rather than focusing on these market indicators, some members of the Fed appear to have placed more focus on the unemployment rate, rising stock prices and wage growth. In the meantime, corporate profits have declined on a year-over-year basis for the first time in a decade, farm prices are plummeting, bankruptcies have accelerated and now the stock market is reflecting slower growth ahead.

Mr. President, in my judgment, the best environment for business is an environment of price stability. Price stability should be the Federal Reserve's number one priority. And this means avoiding both inflation and deflation. Today, it appears that the risks of deflation have risen excessively.

History clearly shows that when monetary policy is focused on managing stock markets, wages or unemployment, mistakes can be made. I do not believe that higher rates of economic growth creates inflation. In my view, rising stock prices, rising wages, and falling unemployment reflect the incredible wealth creating capacity of a free market system, not the artificial result of an easy monetary policy. In today's high-tech world of higher productivity, using discredited models of the economy, based in the Phillips Curve, seems archaic.

The recent currency devaluations in emerging economies has also increased deflationary pressures. As these currencies decline in value, the worldwide demand for U.S. dollars has dramatically increased. However, because there has been no matching increase in the supply of dollars, the global economy faces a severe liquidity squeeze. And as Mr. Greenspan said during his recent remarks at the University of California, Berkeley, "it is just not credible that the United States can remain an oasis of prosperity unaffected by a world that is experiencing greatly increased stress."

Given the mounting evidence of deflation and the growing global financial difficulties, I believe the Federal Reserve should seriously consider reducing short-term interest rates at this juncture. The "real" federal funds rate has steadily increased as inflation has declined, implying a continued tightening of monetary policy. A rate cut would provide much needed liquidity to global economy, stabilize world-wide financial markets, and ensure continued non-inflationary economic growth.

Mr. President, in summary, while I personally believe that the economic case for lower interest rates is strong, I do not believe it is the proper role of the Congress to dictate that the Fed implement a specific monetary policy action through formal legislative action.

Mrs. FEINSTEIN. Mr. President, I will vote to table this amendment to S. 1301, the Bankruptcy Reform bill, which expresses the sense of the Congress "that the Federal Reserve Open Market Committee should promptly reduce the Federal Funds rate." My vote to table this amendment should not be construed as opposition to lower interest rates. Rather, I do not believe it is the duty of this body, nor do I believe that it is appropriate for this body, to tell the Federal Reserve Open Market Committee what to do.

Mr. HARKIN. How much time remains?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator has 50 seconds remaining.

Mr. HARKIN. I reserve my 50 seconds.

Mr. DOMENICI. Mr. President, the question before the U.S. Senate is not whether the Federal Reserve Board should reduce interest rates; it is whether or not the U.S. Senate should say that the Federal Open Market Committee should promptly reduce the Federal funds rate.

Any Senators who have traveled the world, including Europe, and are asked what institution that the United States has in place that is the best thing going for global success, American capitalism and prosperity, guess what they will say? They won't say the Senate, they won't say the House, they won't say the President; they will say the Federal Reserve Board and its Chairman, who have been permitted, by act of Congress, to act independently of political pressures.

Now, frankly, there is a very serious problem with global economic faltering. Nobody has an answer to it. There are many suggestions as to what we didn't do that we should do. But I submit, for the world to find out, after Alan Greenspan and this Federal Reserve Board have done a most marvelous job in controlling interest rates and monetary policy that the whole world is looking at and saying they did it perfect, absolutely right—for us to come along now and say, "Well, look, that is really so, but we would like to tell them right now"—in a way taking away some of their independence because we want to put political pressure on them—"that they should promptly reduce interest rates," frankly, I believe we will send the wrong signal, because I think the signal we need is the stability of the Federal Reserve Board making decisions on behalf of America, and America in a global market. That is the kind of stability that the world is looking for.

You know, I don't think anybody believes—and I am not saying Senator HARKIN does—that we should regularly on the floor of the Senate be critiquing the Federal Reserve Board and then telling them what they ought to do. I don't think anybody thinks that. But I think we are falling right into that trap here.

I have suggested—and I give it again to the sponsor—why don't we do what we ought to do and say the Federal Open Market Committee should seriously consider reducing the Federal funds rate? That way, we would be chiming in by whatever vote occurs with many people who think that, but we would not take this time in economic history to say that we are opting to say that the U.S. Senate says you should do it promptly. That is my argument. The Senate can do what it would like. I believe we ought not adopt it. If we want to state our case in this regard, we ought to state it another way, so that we are just joining in with comments and observations, but not drawing a conclusion that says if we were doing it, we would change it right now and we urge that you do that and do it promptly.

That is essentially the issue.

Mr. President, we are in the most complicated quasi-world recession that we have been in perhaps in modern times because capitalism is faltering around the world—not because capitalism and entrepreneurship doesn't work, but there are institutions that have fallen apart in other countries that are affecting us. I have no doubt that the Federal Reserve Board is going to do the right thing. There is no doubt in my mind that they are. I also suggest that if they reduce interest rates, everybody should not expect that the world economy is going to get fixed. There are many serious problems that it won't fix.

I reserve the remainder of my time.

Mr. HARKIN addressed the Chair.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Iowa.

Mr. HARKIN. Mr. President, this amendment does not set monetary policy. It is a nonbinding sense of the Congress. William Gaston from the Congressional Research Service writes in a CRS report that, "Congress has enacted nonbinding language to express its monetary policy preferences to the Fed."

The last time this Senate debated a sense-of-the-Senate resolution to ask the Fed to lower interest rates was December 18, 1982. Again, I will read—it did not say it should seriously consider, it said, "It is declared that it is the sense of the Congress that they should continue to take such actions as are necessary." That is what it said in 1982. It didn't say they should "seriously consider," but they should "take such actions."

That is what this amendment says. It says they should reduce interest rates. The Business Roundtable said, "The President and Congress should encourage the Federal Reserve to lower U.S. interest rates. . ." not to seriously consider it.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator's time has expired.

Mr. HARKIN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent for 1 more minute.

Mr. DOMENICI. Mr. President, it is not that I am worried about arguments, but we have been changing to accommodate. But I will not oppose the Senator having 1 more minute.

Mr. HARKIN. I thank the Senator.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator is recognized for another minute.

Mr. HARKIN. This says, "The President and Congress should encourage the Federal Reserve to lower interest rates." It didn't say we should have them consider it. That time has passed. I might have agreed with the Senator from New Mexico a year ago, that they should consider it. Now the time is critical. If the Federal Open Market Committee doesn't act next week, they don't meet again until November. That is why it is so crucial that we, as policymakers, send a strong signal, not that they should consider reducing interest rates, but they ought to do it. We ought to back up what we know is right, back up what the Business Roundtable and almost every economist is saying that we have to do. Is that interfering with the Fed? Not at all. But it is telling them what we, as polymakers, believe and feel they should do at their next meeting, and that is to promptly reduce interest rates.

I thank the Senator from New Mexico.

Mr. DOMENICI. Mr. President, I have been here a long time and I voted on that resolution that the Senator is talking about. I didn't think I ever voted on a resolution that told the Federal Reserve Board what to do in precise terms like, "Lower the interest rates." The resolution that we adopted overwhelmingly was much more in the tone and tenor and words of what I recommended. It says: "They should continue to take such actions as are necessary to achieve and maintain interest rates low enough to generate significant economic growth."

Frankly, that is precisely what we ought to be doing. We ought to be saying take whatever action is necessary; we should not say to them that we are saying, as a matter of policy, you should lower the interest rates. We ought not do that to the Federal Reserve. It will not do anything but discredit them over the long run and add instability where stability is needed.

Mr. HARKIN. Maybe we could reach an agreement on language here.

Mr. DOMENICI. I gave the Senator the language. I believe I am entitled to make a motion to table.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Under the previous order, the Senator is recognized to move to table the amendment.

Mr. DOMENICI. I would like to do this, because there is a desire to talk for a minute. Without losing my right to move to table this when we come out of a quorum call, I ask unanimous consent that we can have a quorum call and that I may reserve the right to move to table. Is that language precise enough?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Yes. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. DOMENICI. Mr. President, I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

The assistant legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. DOMENICI. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. BURNS). Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. DOMENICI. Mr. President, pursuant to the order, I have a right to move to table at this point.

I move to table the amendment, and ask for the yeas and nays.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there a sufficient second?

There is a sufficient second.

The yeas and nays were ordered.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The question is on agreeing to the motion of the Senator from New Mexico to lay on the table the amendment of the Senator from Iowa. On this question, the yeas and nays have been ordered, and the clerk will call the roll.

The assistant legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. NICKLES. I announce that the Senator from Virginia (Mr. WARNER) is necessarily absent.

Mr. FORD. I announce that the Senator from Ohio (Mr. GLENN) is necessarily absent.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Are there any other Senators in the Chamber who desire to vote?

The result was announced—yeas 71, nays 27, as follows:

NOT VOTING—2

Glenn Warner

The motion to lay on the table the amendment (No. 3616) was agreed to.

Mr. DOMENICI. Mr. President, I move to reconsider the vote by which the motion was agreed to.

Mr. GRASSLEY. I move to lay that motion on the table.

The motion to lay on the table was agreed to.

Mr. DOMENICI addressed the Chair.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from New Mexico. Will the Senator from New Mexico withhold? May we have order in the Chamber, please? All conversations should be moved to the cloakrooms. The Senator from New Mexico deserves to be heard.

The Senator from New Mexico.

Mr. DOMENICI. Mr. President, a number of Senators who voted on the motion to table which I proposed indicated that they would like to see an expression regarding the interest rates, but not a mandate. I ask unanimous consent—I am not sure I will get it—but I ask unanimous consent that it be in order that I offer a similar resolution, but the resolve clause would state:

It is the sense of the Congress that the Federal Open Market Committee should consider reducing the Federal funds rate.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Mr. HARKIN. I object.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Objection is heard.

Mr. DOMENICI. Mr. President, I say to Senators, I will speak to the leader and maybe we can offer it somewhere else. We cannot offer it on this bill. I regret we cannot vote on it. I yield the floor.

Mr. HARKIN addressed the Chair.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Iowa. Will the Senator suspend? May we have order in the Chamber, please? All conversations in the aisle should be moved to the cloakrooms.

The Senator from Iowa.

Mr. HARKIN. Mr. President, usually when votes are cast, I don't like to revisit them. People have their reasons; we vote and we move on around here. But I heard so much in the well from people voting on this last sense-of-the-Senate resolution that I felt I should take a little bit of time to perhaps clarify a couple of things and to make an additional point.

First of all, this was a sense-of-the-Congress amendment. It was non-binding. Someone said, "We shouldn't be legislating what the Federal Reserve should do." With that I wholeheartedly agree. We were not legislating a law to tell the Federal Reserve what to do, No. 1. That is my first point. This was a nonbinding sense of the Congress—we adopt those all the time around here—basically to say, "Here is what I, a policymaker, think should be done."

Secondly, this is not without precedent. This body has in the past voted on sense-of-the-Congress amendments and resolutions that have told the Fed what we believe they should do.

Third, I heard it said that we should not be politicizing the Fed. With that I wholeheartedly agree. But article I, section 8 of the Constitution gives the power to coin money and regulate the value thereof to the Congress of the United States. It did not give it to the Federal Reserve System.

The Congress, in its wisdom, in the past set up the Federal Reserve System to do that. We delegated our powers to the Fed to do that. Over the intervening years, we have amended the Federal Reserve Act. It is not carved in stone. It has been amended and changed several times since 1913. But the Federal Reserve System remains a creature of Congress. It exists only by the laws passed by the Congress. It is not a separate branch of Government.

It is not some kind of supreme being, some kind of item of sanctity that we can never touch. I believe it is not only our right but our responsibility as policymakers at certain times, if we feel a certain way, to be able to tell the Federal Reserve System what we believe they should do.

So on this past vote I have no quarrel with anyone who believes the Federal Reserve should not lower interest rates. I may debate that point with them, because I believe they should lower interest rates. That is a good debating point. But if someone voted on this and said no, the Federal Reserve should not lower interest rates, that I believe is a valid position that someone might hold, of which I disagree.

Mr. REID. Would the Senator from Iowa yield for a question?

Mr. HARKIN. Let me finish this, and I will.

But to say we cannot vote to tell the Fed what to do because it would be politicizing it or we cannot interfere I believe somehow is an abdication of our responsibilities, not only our rights but our responsibilities as policymakers to tell a creature of the Congress what we believe they should do. We do not do it very often in terms of the Fed. In fact, I pointed out the last time we had a Sense of the Congress calling on the Fed to lower interest rates was in 1982. So this is not something we take lightly.

But I believe at this point in time, with the world economy being what it is, with the tremendous drop in commodities and commodity prices here and around the world, with the specter of depression and deflation facing us—almost every economist, conservative, liberal, head of the Business Roundtable, head of General Motors, head of the National Association of Manufacturers, all say the Fed should lower interest rates.

I offered this amendment, along with others, in good faith, to back them up to say, yes, you should lower interest rates. And that is what this was meant to do, to send that sense of the Congress that that is what we believe they should do. Obviously, we did not prevail. So I can only assume that most people do not believe they should lower interest rates.

I would be delighted to yield to my friend from Nevada for a question.

Mr. REID. Does the Senator from Iowa realize that Senator DORGAN and I have offered legislation on several occasions to have the Federal Reserve System audited on a yearly basis? Is the Senator aware we have done that?

Mr. HARKIN. This Senator is not aware of that specific legislation, no.

Mr. REID. Would the Senator acknowledge that the Federal Reserve Board—it would be a good idea to see how they spend their money?

Mr. HARKIN. We don't know that?

Mr. REID. The Federal Reserve System is not audited.

Mr. HARKIN. No. I ask the Senator—I am not being facetious. Is the Senator from Nevada telling me that the General Accounting Office, the GAO, does not audit—

Mr. REID. Absolutely not.

Mr. HARKIN. Can the Senator tell me why the GAO does not audit the Federal Reserve?

Mr. REID. The Senator from North Dakota and I have been wondering for a couple of years. We have offered legislation time and time again to have the Federal Reserve System audited, like every other Government entity in this country. But no. In fact, we asked for a General Accounting Office study to find out a little bit about the inner workings of the Federal Reserve System, and we found, among other things, they have what we refer to as a "slush fund," what they refer to as a "rainy day fund" that they have kept there for 80 years, or thereabouts, 70-some-odd years. It is billions of dollars that they just keep there.

That money, we believe, should be taken out of the Federal Reserve System and applied toward the deficit to take down the debt that we owe. But no, they keep hanging on to that money year after year.

I appreciate, very much, this amendment having been offered by the Senator from Iowa, because, if nothing else, it allows me the opportunity to ask the Senator from Iowa a question: Shouldn't we audit the Federal Reserve System? The American public thinks so, but here the message is without response. We cannot get people to support us on that.

Mr. HARKIN. This Senator was not aware of that.

Is the Senator telling me that the Federal Reserve, which I have just stated is a creature of Congress, and exists by law, that the General Accounting Office, our accountant, cannot audit the Federal Reserve?

Mr. REID. Cannot, does not, and will not.

Mr. HARKIN. I would respond to the Senator by again asking the Senator a question. Have we ever tried to pass something here to have an audit done for the Federal Reserve?

Mr. REID. Yes.

Mr. DORGAN. I wonder if the Senator would yield for a question.

Mr. HARKIN. I yield to the Senator from North Dakota for a question.

Mr. DORGAN. The Senator from Nevada talked about this audit that was done of the Fed by the GAO. What the audit showed was a $3.7 billion fund accumulated at the Federal Reserve Board—$3.7 billion. And they pointed out that the Fed has not had a loss for nearly 80 years—will never have a loss. You can't lose money when you create money. So there was no reason to have a rainy day fund or some sort of provisional fund of $3.7 billion. And the GAO recommended that it be returned to the Treasury. It belongs to the American people.

Not only has it not been returned, the $3.7 billion has now been increased to $5.2 billion. So you have to say to somebody, if you think there is reason to get some of these resources to do something with it—pay down the Federal debt or to do some of the other issues—there is $5.2 billion down at the Fed that they have for a rainy day fund, and they never have rain down there. They create money. They make their own money. And they have never had an annual loss, and will never have a loss; and yet they have squirreled away $5.2 billion of resources. And we have raised this issue.

The GAO—not us—the GAO says that ought to be returned. But it will not be, I assume because this Senate—Congress says, "Gee, we don't want to touch that house on the Hill that's got those big gates around it, the big fence. And it's an American dinosaur. We can't crawl in there and see what's going on." But the GAO did a 2-year study. I would commend my colleagues to take a look at what they found in that study.

There is plenty wrong down there. There is not good accounting. There is not good contracting. There is a rainy day fund of billions of dollars. So there is plenty of work to do with the Fed.

I ask the Senator from Iowa, isn't it the case that all we were doing today was to say, "Gee, we think it's time for you to reduce interest rates the next time you meet, given all the evidence that exists"?

Several Senators addressed the Chair.

Mr. HARKIN. I yield to my friend from Nevada.

Mr. REID. I say to my friend from Iowa, I do not think the Senator from Iowa realizes, in the GAO report we also found that the governors of the Federal Reserve System, some of them fly first class, some of them fly whatever class they want. We found the most interesting things there, how they have no rules or guidance, how they travel, how their expenses are determined.

I recommend to my friend from Iowa, and everyone within the sound of our voices, that we need to take a better look at the Federal Reserve System. I commend and applaud the Senator from Iowa for bringing this amendment here today because it gives us a chance to focus, as you have said, on a creature we created. Congress created this. And we have statements here: "Hey, we can't suggest to the Federal Reserve System because it might hurt us internationally." Congress created the Federal Reserve System. Can't we do a little bit about it, for example, to see how they spend their money? The answer to this point is no.

Mr. HARKIN. I hope that the Senator, then, would try again to bring up some legislation to provide for an audit of the Federal Reserve. I honestly cannot believe we are not doing that. I appreciate the Senator for his enlightenment on that issue.

I yield to the Senator from Utah for a question.

Mr. BENNETT. I cannot let this exchange go without giving a word or two of explanation. The Federal Reserve Board, as the Senator from Iowa has accurately stated, was created by the Congress, and presents to the Congress an audited statement of its financials every year. It is addressed to the Speaker of the House.

It is true that it was not done by the General Accounting Office, but they are audited by a legitimate outside auditor, and their activities, down to the penny, are reported to the Speaker of the House in a written document every year. I will be happy to supply it to any Member of this body that may wish it.

Mr. HARKIN. I thank the Senator for this enlightenment.

I am responding to what the Senator from Nevada said, that they were not audited.

Mr. BENNETT. The Senator from Nevada is correct; they are not audited regularly by the General Accounting Office, but it is audited. A copy of the audited and exact financial activities of the Federal Reserve Board are submitted in writing to the Speaker of the House every year.

I have constituents who are constantly saying to me that the Federal Reserve Board is owned by a group of Swiss bankers or foreign interests somewhere and that it has never been audited. I always send them a copy of the audited report of the Federal Reserve Board that is submitted to the Speaker so that they can know that this creation of the Congress does not go unexamined by an appropriate auditing firm.

It is true to say that it is not audited regularly by the General Accounting Office. I think that is the point the Senator from Nevada was making. However, I think we should not let people be under the assumption that the Federal Reserve Board goes without anybody paying any attention to how they handle their money.

Mr. HARKIN. Without losing my right to the floor, I yield for a further answer from the Senator from Nevada.

Mr. REID. I say to my friend from Utah through the Senator from Iowa that I think this is something that really deserves a debate. I hope that when our bill is offered on a subsequent occasion that the Banking Committee will at least give us a hearing on this.

I say to my friend from Utah, yes, there is a document that they call an audit, but it is a self-audit. You cannot audit yourself. That is, in effect, what has happened. We think there should be oversight by the Congress of the United States which created the Federal Reserve System. They shouldn't be able to hire whoever they want to look at their books. They may do a great job, but from a perception standpoint it doesn't look great.

When the General Accounting Office tried to get the information requested by the Senator from Nevada and the Senator from North Dakota, it was extremely difficult to get. The Federal Reserve System is an island to itself. They don't like to be messed with, bothered, or give information.

Mr. HARKIN. If I might yield further without losing my right to the floor, I yield to the Senator.

Mr. BENNETT. Mr. President, I am happy to have a debate about this with the Senator from Nevada or anyone else. I think it is a legitimate issue to be aired, but I did not want to let the opportunity go by with the misimpression that some might have gathered. I know it was not intended for the Senator from Nevada to grant that misimpression, but some might have the misimpression that the Federal Reserve Board does not respond to the Congress that created it in an orderly fashion.

Mr. HARKIN. If I might say to my friend from Utah and Nevada, is it proscribed by law that the GAO cannot audit the Federal Reserve? Is that proscribed or is it just that they don't do it until we tell them to do it?

Mr. REID. I say to my friend from Iowa, I can't answer that question. I just know they don't do it. They have never done it.

When we asked for the review by the General Accounting Office of the Federal Reserve System, they fought us every step of the way. It took 2 years to get information that should have been obtained in a matter of a couple of months.

Mr. HARKIN. I ask the Senator from Utah if they do this audit that the Senator says is done what would be wrong with having the GAO do their own separate audit? What is wrong with that?

Mr. BENNETT. I don't know, either. I say to the Senator from Iowa. I have not looked into that.

Frankly, I have examined the annual report that the Fed submits to the Congress, addressed, as I say, to the Speaker of the House every year. They do it in accordance with law. They respond to the law that created them in that fashion. At least to my satisfaction, after examining that document, I haven't felt the need for any additional information.

As to whether there is a legal prescription against GAO, I have no knowledge one way or the other.

Mr. HARKIN. I thank the Senator from Utah.

Again, this raises another issue that was not in the sense-of-the-Congress amendment that I sent to the desk on which we just expressed ourselves.

I wanted to get back to the point, again, that it is a creature of Congress. I am somewhat disturbed, not so much by the outcome of the vote. I have lost votes around this place before. That is not the point. But the issue is the kind of talk that I heard among Senators after voting on this that, (a) we shouldn't politicize the Fed; (b) we shouldn't tell the Fed what to do; (c) the Fed is a separate entity and we shouldn't have anything to do with them.

I just don't understand where this comes from. I don't understand why this is the perception of so many people. I don't know why the Federal Reserve System has become so sacrosanct that we simply cannot deal with it. It is like the "Holy of Holies."

I find it strange that, as policymakers, we can't stand up and tell the Fed what we think they should do. That is not politicizing it. To politicize it would be for us to pass a law mandating that interest rates be at a certain level, or a law mandating that the Federal Reserve should vote this way or that. That is politicizing. That is what this Senator would even vote against.

But for the Senate to say to the Federal Reserve, a creature of the Congress, we have looked at the landscape, we see what is happening in our economy, we see what is happening worldwide, we don't like what we see. We believe that the time has come to lower interest rates. We believe something should be done.

Now, again, I see nothing wrong with this debate. I think that is part not only of our rights, but our responsibility.

I want to take a couple more minutes to say why I believe so deeply and so strongly that we should be saying to the Fed that they should lower interest rates. Sometimes you would think this is a liberal proposition. I don't define it in terms of left, right, liberal, conservative. I really don't define it in that way. I define it in terms of whether or not we believe interest rates should be lower or whether we think they shouldn't be lower; whether we think the economy is going into a recession, or whether we think the economy may be verging on inflation. If you think the economy is experiencing an acceleration of inflation, you would not want to cut interest rates; if you think the economy is verging on recession, you would want to lower interest rates.

That is where I believe we are. Don't take my word for it. I will point out what the Business Roundtable said on September 16, last week:

The President and Congress should encourage the Federal Reserve to lower U.S. interest rates. In addition, the President, Congress and the Federal Reserve should work with our international trading partners to stimulate their domestic economies.

... should encourage the Federal Reserve to lower U.S. interest rates.

It doesn't say we should ask the Fed to "consider." It doesn't say that. It says they should "lower" the rates, not "consider."

There is talk that the Senator from New Mexico wants an amendment to say that we would just consider, that we should tell the Fed they should consider lowering interest rates. I don't believe that language is strong enough. Again, it is as if for some reason we almost have to ask the Fed for their permission to tell them what we think they should do.

Mr. WELLSTONE. Will the Senator yield?

Mr. HARKIN. I yield for a question to my friend from Minnesota.

Mr. WELLSTONE. Mr. President, for some reason I don't understand, as well, why Senators are unwilling to speak to this issue and provide our judgment about what should be done. We don't talk about monetary policy much.

The Business Roundtable says, "The President and Congress should encourage the Federal Reserve to lower U.S. interest rates." The Business Roundtable doesn't fit into the label "liberal," although I think that label is irrelevant. Why has the Business Roundtable taken that position? What is it about real interest rates that is so important to the people you represent in Iowa and the people I represent in Minnesota? Can we talk for a moment about that?

Mr. HARKIN. Sure. I thank the Senator. That is really the point. I have a chart to show that the real Federal funds rate is at its highest level in nine years. What does that mean? What that means is that real rates of interest are at a very high point. For example, even Chairman Greenspan said earlier this year that real interest rates are at a historically high level, compared to all the years from World War II until now.

What does that mean? Well, that means that the farmers in America whose commodity prices are going down all the time, our livestock producers and our farmers have to pay exorbitantly high interest rates—real interest rates—when they are already squeezed with low prices. It means that our business sector, small businesses, and others who are creating jobs, who need to borrow money for expansion or even for job training or retraining, find that they are squeezed because of high interest rates. So they don't do it. So what happens then is our economy starts to slow down.

I will point out that in the first quarter of this year, our growth was 5.5 percent; it was 1.6 percent in the last quarter. Many economic signs point to a possible recession, possibly a downward spiral in prices. Then we see what is happening in foreign economies and in foreign currencies. Because of our high interest rates, we find that their economies are going down and they, in turn, can't buy any of our products because of the excessively strong dollar that we have. So when you add it all up, because of the insistence of the Fed to keep a tight money policy, high interest rate policy, they have moved us to the brink of recession.

In further responding to the Senator's question, from 1994 to 1995 the Federal Reserve raised interest rates by 100 percent, from three percent to six percent. They raised interest rates because they were beholden—most of them, or at least the voting majority—to an economic theory called NAIRU, Non-Accelerating Inflation Rate of Unemployment. That is a fancy term. What some economists have believed in the past is if unemployment fell to a certain level, inflation would take off and it would spiral upward and accelerate—it would not just rise, it would accelerate, if unemployment got to a certain level.

Well, a couple years ago, economists said they thought that rate was 6 percent. They thought that if unemployment went below 6 percent, we would be in deep trouble. Then unemployment went below 6 percent and the Fed said, "Oh, my gosh, we have to tighten monetary policy," and they started raising interest rates. Inflation never went up. Then unemployment went down. And, they said, "Well, we changed our minds. The natural rate of unemployment is actually 5.5 percent." Well, then unemployment went below 5.5 percent. Now we are at 4.5 percent unemployment, and still no inflation. Yet, the Federal Reserve has continued to keep a tight money, high interest rate policy in effect, because they were afraid; they felt that because of this economic theory, inflation was going to take off.

What happened is, because of that high interest rate policy, our farmers are squeezed, our consumers are squeezed, homeowners have to pay more monthly interest on mortgages on their homes, small businesses pay more money when they borrow to expand, or they just don't do it. A larger business, whether it is General Motors or Ford, would have to pay higher interest rates. The economy starts to slow down. That is exactly what happened.

I submit further to my friend from Minnesota that because of their policies over the last couple years, because they would not move, it has helped generate the kind of economic collapse we have seen in other parts of the world. The high interest rate policy at the Fed is a contributing factor to the continual decline of the Asian economy.

Mr. WELLSTONE. If the Senator will yield, I will not take much more time. I have two quick questions, I say to my colleague from Florida, because I know he is waiting. I will ask the question to the Senator from Iowa who gives the lengthy answers. I think it is just incredible, I say to my colleague from Iowa, it is just incredible how this whole issue of real interest rates and monetary policy—which has such a critical impact on small business, on farmers, and on industry and housing—is taken off the table. We are even unwilling to give our best judgment as to what the Federal Reserve ought to do. It is amazing to me.

Let me ask you this question: Would you agree—

Mr. HARKIN. I will keep it short.

Mr. WELLSTONE. I want to hear the Senator's answer, because this is a critical issue. Would you agree that our taking the lead in lowering short-term interest rates also would be critical to what the Germans might do, what the other G-7 countries might do? Shouldn't this be put in the context of a coordinated response at an international level, dealing with this contraction of the international economy, dealing with this problem of deflation? Maybe you could spell out a little bit what you mean.

In other words, the Senator talked about the effects of high real interests rates within our country, but could we not also say another part of the argument is the effect on exchange rates? That a strong dollar ultimately means other countries will try and export their way out of crisis? That they will dump a lot of products on our market and end up competing with workers in our country?

Aren't you really saying that, in the absence of something being done through monetary policy, we are not going to be able to get enough demand going in these countries? That we are not going to have enough economic stimulus? That people are not going to have money to buy products, which would help create jobs? And that the major problem is not going to be what you were talking about—inflation, which the Fed seems to be excessively focused on—but deflation? Am I not correct that that is part of what is going on?

Mr. HARKIN. Absolutely.

Mr. WELLSTONE. Bill Greider, who wrote, "One World: Ready or Not," has been talking about this for some time. In part, you are talking about the effects of monetary policy within our country. But you are also talking about our taking the lead in trying to fashion a coordinated response at an international level to deal with what has happened. We have a depression in part of the international economy.

Mr. HARKIN. The Senator is right. I wish the Fed would pay more attention to Bill Greider's writings. Monetary policy has to work for all of our people, not just a few. It has to be cognizant of what is happening to ordinary people in this country.

As the Senator spoke about what is happening internationally, I was looking through the papers. The Wall Street Journal pointed this out in an editorial on August 31, calling for the Fed to lower interest rates. They said, "Since last year, currencies in emerging markets, from Thailand to Russia, have been collapsing like popped bubble wrap." This is a significant threat to us and people in those countries. Our dollar is much too strong right now. Because of that, they can't get the kinds of foodstuffs and things they need for their own people.

(Ms. COLLINS assumed the Chair.)

If we want to help the Japanese economy and the Asian economy, what we should do is lower interest rates. Many economists have noted that the value of currencies in several countries will not only reduce the rate of inflation but also sharply increase our trade deficit, eliminating many jobs and slowing growth in the process.

Again, if we don't address this because of their slowdown, because they are not buying our products, we are going to lose jobs in this country. We are going to have a drastic slowdown.

The fear I have, I say to my friend from Minnesota, is that we may have waited too long. The Fed was so frozen by this outdated, outmoded economic concept called NAIRU that they couldn't see what was really happening because they only focused on the rate of unemployment, and that caused them to be blind to everything else that was going on.

Mr. WELLSTONE. I ask my colleague, this concept that he is talking about—NAIRU—is the idea that if you reduce employment too much, you automatically set off an inflationary spiral?

Mr. HARKIN. Inflation would not only start but accelerate.

Mr. WELLSTONE. My last question, I say to my colleague—and I look forward to coming to the floor and having a further discussion about this. I hope we are wrong. But I think this discussion of political economy, both in terms of what is happening to the global economy and also what is happening in our own economy, is going to become a very, very critical issue. We are seeing it already in agriculture. But this is just the beginning.

But this is my last question. Is it not also true that, when they talk about the alleged danger of unemployment continuing to go down, that this would also bring up the bargaining power of wage earners? It wouldn't be just a matter of unemployment going down. This would also mean that people in a tight labor market would see their wages go up and would have a better chance of working at living-wage jobs? I think the Federal Reserve Board tends to be more responsive to bond holders, financial people, and the creditors, and they want to keep interest rates up.

Isn't it also true that having real interest rates so high is one of the reasons we have a maldistribution of wealth and income today in this country? We have this paradox of some people being able to purchase all the goods that make life richer in possibility. But then we also have so many families—maybe the majority of families in our country—who cannot. Maybe this is one of these hidden issues that we don't talk about, with everything swirling around in Washington, that so many families are still struggling to make ends meet and do well by their kids.

What would be the harm in moving toward full employment? What would be the harm in making sure that wage earners make better wages? What would be the harm in having more people have access to living-wage jobs? Isn't the whole question of real interest rates one piece of it?

Mr. HARKIN. I say to the Senator from Minnesota that he is absolutely correct.

Mr. WELLSTONE. I agree.

Mr. HARKIN. It is bigger by a tremendous magnitude.

We deal here in budgets in terms of billions of dollars. I know it sounds like a lot of money. But what the Fed does affects the entire $7 trillion economy.

The Senator from Minnesota is absolutely right, what the Federal Reserve System does has a more profound effect on the daily lives of our citizens—how they live, how they are able to take care of their families, what kind of jobs they have, and what they have paid—than anything that we ever vote on around here in terms of budget matters.

I thank the Senator for his inquiries and enlightenment on this issue. He has been a long-time fighter for the average working families and making sure that working people get a fair deal. I know the Senator from Minnesota understands that if you have lower interest rates, that helps working families. It helps families.

The Senator from Minnesota also knows, as most of us know, that in the last couple of years, with this tight money policy, this high interest rate policy at the Federal Reserve, some people have said, "Well, gee, whatever they have done has been good. Our economy is great. Whatever the Fed has done is good. Look at what is happening in our economy. Look what is happening in our economy. Unemployment is down."

That is true. But if unemployment is so low, I ask you, why is it that when I went to Sioux City last Friday and visited the food bank, or earlier on when I visited the food bank in Des Moines, I was told by the directors of those two food banks that their demand for commodity foods—that the USDA commodities plus the food they get contributed from businesses, churches, and schools—is skyrocketing higher than ever?

I did some checking. It is not only in Iowa, but in almost every State, the demand for food at our food banks has gone up in the last year or so. Why? If everyone is working, unemployment is so low, and the Fed has done such a great job, it is because, as I have been told and as I have found out, many of these people are working—usually single parents, usually single mothers with one or more children. They go to work every day. They work every day. They make a paycheck. They qualify for food stamps. They get food stamps. And then the food stamps run out before the end of the month. The only place they have to go is to the food bank to get free food.

Don't take my word for it. Ask your staffs. Go out and ask your food banks. In any State, go out and ask those food banks. Find out what is happening. You will find that it is true. The demand for food from those food banks has gone up and continues to go up, and they are concerned about what is going to happen this winter.

What has that to do with the Federal Reserve System? I am just saying, if they have done such a good job in this economy, why are they falling below the safety net? Because the high interest rate policy has ignored what is happening to the working families of America. A lower interest rate policy, everyone agrees, might mean that wages might go up and that businesses might be able to pay more in wages. I don't see anything drastically wrong with that. I think it would be a good thing for this country if wages went up. It would give people a little bit more buying power.

Again, what we are seeing happen in our country happened in the 1920s. Fewer and fewer people are making more and more money. More and more people are making less and less and having less of a stake in our economy. It is true. It is happening in the agriculture sector, too.

Neil Harroly, the distinguished agricultural economist at Iowa State, said what we are seeing in agriculture is not like the 1980s, it is like the 1920s. I think that is also what we are seeing happening in our country, too. So that is why I make the strong case that we have an obligation.

I see my friend from Florida is ready to speak. I am going to wrap up very shortly, but I just want to make a couple of points.

The Federal Open Market Committee may or may not be in a mode to lower interest rates. I quote the September 18 issue of the Christian Science Monitor, which noted that some Fed policymakers "remain in a hawkish anti-inflation mode rather than worrying about the impact of deflation."

These include William Poole, president of the St. Louis Regional Fed; Fed Governor Edward Gramlich; and an analyst, Jerry Gordon, president of the Cleveland Fed.

I don't say that. I am just quoting from the Christian Science Monitor.

Madam President, I ask unanimous consent that the article be printed in the RECORD.

There being no objection, the material was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

[From Christian Science Monitor, September 18, 1998]

NEW SIGNS OF WEAKNESS IN U.S. ECONOMIC 'FORTRESS' FORECAST FOR SLOWDOWN
(By David R. Francis)

Concern is growing in the top echelons of Wall Street and Washington that cheap exports from overseas—everything from shovels to chopsticks—may drive down the American economy. The "R" word—recession—is now being heard more often.

As troubles persist in East Asia, Russia, and Latin America, US companies are finding fewer buyers for their goods overseas while foreign products are filling US shelves and showrooms. The concern was reflected on Wall Street Thursday, as stock prices plunged in early trading.

It was a "double whammy," says Joel Prakken, chief economist of Macroeconomic Advisers in St. Louis. Investors were disturbed by new statistics on the American economy and by unsettling testimony to Congress by Federal Reserve Chairman Alan Greenspan and Treasury Secretary Robert Rubin Wednesday.

Though terming the United States economy strong, Mr. Greenspan noted, "There are the first signs of erosion at the edges, especially in manufacturing."

A plunge in prices on the Tokyo Stock Exchange to a 12-year low didn't help. In New York Thursday, the Dow Jones Industrial Average dropped more than 200 points in early trading.

Economists still are forecasting moderate economic growth in the US this year and in 1999. "The slowdown is a little worse than we thought," says David Wyss, chief economist of Standard & Poor's DRI, an economic consulting firm in Lexington, Mass. "And the risks of a recession are rising."

Nonetheless, DRI sees growth in the national output of goods and services at about a 2.5 percent annual rate the rest of this year, helped by a rebound from the General Motors strike. Mr. Wyss predicts 1.5 percent growth next year.

He would like to see the Federal Reserve cut interest rates. Wall Street would, too. It wants interest rates lowered by other industrial nations as well. One reason for the less-than-happy face of many investors yesterday was Mr. Greenspan's testimony that, "at the moment, there is no endeavor to coordinate interest-rate cuts" among the major powers.

Wyss hopes for and expects lower U.S. rates by the end of the year, though not necessarily at the Fed's next gathering Sept. 29.

Some of those policymakers remain in a hawkish anti-inflation mode, rather than worrying about the impact of falling prices (deflation). These include William Poole, president of the St. Louis regional Fed, Fed Governor Edward Gramlich, and, analysts say, Jerry Jordan, president of the Cleveland Fed. "They have got to come around," says Wyss. "I'm not sure what it will take."

Some, though, oppose a Fed rate cut at this time. They don't see the economy slowing that much. Prakken, for one, expects a 2 percent growth in gross domestic product next year.

One concern of economists is that the decline in stock prices itself will hurt growth. Wyss figures $2 trillion in paper household wealth disappeared between the July 17 peak in the stock market and the end of August. If the downturn lasts, it could trim consumer spending by as much as $50 billion.

The Asian crisis has hit U.S. exports hard, too. "The trade data were terrible," says Wyss.

The U.S. trade deficit widened to $13.9 billion in July. Currency devaluations and depressed economies in Asia resulted in exports hitting a 17-month low.

So far this year, the trade deficit in goods and services is running at a record annual rate of $185 billion, 68 percent higher than last year's record deficit of $110 billion. America's deficit with Pacific Rim countries hit $87.8 billion in the first seven months—42 percent above the imbalance for the period in 1997.

"The trade balance could get a lot worse if there is another round of devaluations," warns C. Fred Bergsten, director of the Institute of International Economics in Washington.

The inflation news was not so bad. In August, the Consumer Price Index was up a seasonally adjusted 0.2 percent, same as in July. For the year, inflation is running at a 1.6 percent annual rate, compared with 1.7 percent for all of last year.

Prakken expresses concern that the "core" inflation rate—a measure that removes volatile energy and food prices—is up 2.5 percent for the past year. His partial explanation of the stock market decline is that Wall Street is finally recognizing that corporate shares have been overpriced, and that earnings will not rise nearly as much as analysts had anticipated.

He expects a "virtual stall" in earnings. The reasons: reduced profits from overseas operation as well as rising wages at home and difficulties in cost cutting.

Mr. HARKIN. I thank the President. As David Wisk, chief economist of Standard & Poor's DRI, has complained, "They have got to come around. I'm not sure what it will take."

Let me repeat that. As David Wisk, chief economist of Standard & Poor's DRI, said, "They"—the Federal Reserve—"have got to come around. I'm not sure what it will take."

I thought one of the things it might take is for the Senate of the United States to clearly express itself to the members of the Federal Open Market Committee to lower interest rates now.

There are increasing signs of a possible recession. Thirty-year Treasury bond rates have sunk to record lows and are now below the short-term Federal funds rate. This is a drastic warning signal.

Again, I would point to the chart here "30-year Bonds" now lower than the Federal funds rate. That should scare us all. That should point to what we have to do in terms of lowering our short-term interest rates. Wholesale prices slid a steep 0.4 percent in August. In fact, for the first 8 months of this year producer prices have fallen at a 1.4-percent annual rate, compared with a 1.2-percent rise in 1997.

Again, I have talked about our farmers at great length and about what is happening to them and what is happening to our commodity prices.

I would start to wrap up my comments again just by saying that if someone voted because they don't want to lower interest rates, that is fine. While I think they are wrong, I will be glad to debate that, if we could ever get a debate on this issue in the Senate; no one seems to want to debate that issue.

Do we say somehow we can't express ourselves in telling the Federal Open Market Committee that they should lower interest rates—our language said promptly reduce interest rates—that somehow we can't say that because the Fed is independent, because the Fed is so sacrosanct that we can't touch it, that somehow we have to couch it in weak terms such as the Fed should only "consider" lowering interest rates? Why do we have to beg the Federal Open Market Committee to do something? Does the Congress of the United States work for the Federal Reserve System? Are they our bosses? Are they the ones who pull the strings and tell us what we can and cannot do?

We seem very reluctant in even expressing our views, because somehow it would politicize the Fed. We were not politicizing the Fed; that would take legislation. This was a sense-of-the-Congress, a non-binding resolution.

I hope that the members of the Federal Open Market Committee will promptly reduce interest rates six days from today. Unfortunately, as the Christian Science Monitor recently reported, there are members of the Fed Open Market Committee who still believe we should worry about an acceleration in inflation. I am just hopeful that Mr. Greenspan and others do not take this vote as a vote that they should not reduce interest rates.

A number of Senators said to me, "Well, that's what they are going to do anyway." Well, I am not so certain. I hope they will. They should have reduced interest rates two years ago when I took to the floor at that time and started calling on the Fed to do that because there were drastic signs in our economy, that there was little inflation in the economy, that there was no reason for them not to reduce interest rates at that time to help our farmers and our working families out there. I just hope it is not too late. I just hope that the Federal Reserve does not misinterpret this vote.

One of the reasons that I objected to the Senator from New Mexico bringing up this other sense of the Senate that would just ask them to consider lowering interest rates is that I personally believe it is beneath our dignity and our responsibility and rights as Senators to go hat in hand to the Federal Reserve and sort of beg them to do something when we ought to be able to stand on our own two feet and tell them what we believe they should do.

I yield the floor.

Mr. GRAHAM addressed the Chair.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. SANTORUM). The Senator from Florida.

PRIVILEGE OF THE FLOOR

Mr. GRAHAM. Mr. President, before proceeding with my remarks, I ask unanimous consent that Ms. Allison Morgan, of my staff, be granted floor privileges during the remaining consideration of the bankruptcy reform bill.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

FEDERAL DISTRICT COURT JUDGES

Mr. GRAHAM. Mr. President, today I rise to discuss the issue of the congressional response, or in this case, the lack of response to the need for additional Federal district court judges. We are facing an increasing disparity between the judicial resources available at many of our Federal district courts and the workload imposed upon those judges.

The question might be asked, "Why are you offering this amendment to a bankruptcy reform bill?" It is interesting to note that the underlying legislation would create 18 new Federal bankruptcy judgeships. The basis of those 18 new Federal bankruptcy judgeships is that this legislation is created in response to additional workloads requiring that additional number of judges in order to discharge their responsibilities.

I suggest that, similarly, we should apply the same rationale to our Federal district court judges, and that is—that as their workload increases, either because of demographic or economic or social circumstances, or because we add to their workload by expanding their jurisdiction, it is our commensurate responsibility to increase the number of Federal district judge positions. These judge positions are responsible for handling some of the most complex civil and criminal cases in our judiciary.

In recognition of that, in March of 1997, the Judicial Conference of the United States, chaired by the Chief Justice of the U.S. Supreme Court, recommended the creation of 24 additional permanent and 12 additional temporary Federal district court positions. The Judicial Conference also recommended the establishment of 12 additional judges to the circuit courts of appeals. However, my remarks this afternoon are confined to the needs that exist with the U.S. district court judges.

Mr. BRYAN. Will the Senator from Florida yield for a question?

Mr. GRAHAM. I will yield to my friend and colleague from Nevada.

Mr. BRYAN. I appreciate the courtesy of the senior Senator from Florida.

I note from the chart the Senator has brought to the floor that the State of Nevada is included. The Judicial Conference has recommended, as I understand, two additional district court judges for Nevada. Would it be the Senator's intention to include in the amendment that he is about to discuss with greater particularity the two additional judges that were recommended by the Conference for Nevada?

Mr. GRAHAM. Absolutely, I say to my friend. I am not proposing that this Congress insert its greater wisdom for that of the Judicial Conference. I am proposing that we accede to the wisdom of the Judicial Conference and where it, for instance, has recommended two additional permanent Federal judgeships in Nevada, that the Congress should sanction them. The reason for the recommendation of two additional judges in Nevada is that, of the 93 districts, including those in the 50 States plus the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico, of that number, the Nevada district ranks eighth in terms of caseload. Its caseload of 736 cases per judge is 171 percent of the stated standard that is used by the Judicial Conference to indicate that new judges are needed.

Mr. BRYAN. I appreciate the statesmanship my friend has provided and the information that is made available with respect to the situation in Nevada. I might just add to the comments of the Senator that, having lived in Nevada for more than 57 years and knowing each of our four district court judges personally, I do not know of a harder working bench at either the State or Federal level anywhere in America. Frankly, it required considerable statesmanship of the former chief judge in Nevada in electing to take senior status, which the Senator from Florida fully understands, that allowed a new district court judge to come on board. That senior judge, together with another colleague of his who is a senior judge, maintains an extraordinarily active caseload. So that has helped but has not eliminated the backlog to which the Senator has addressed his comments.

I must say, "justice delayed is justice denied." The State of Nevada has the fastest growing population in the country over the past decade. That is reflected in the litigation in the Federal court system, based not only in the demographics but other situations which I am sure the Senator will allude to. So I want to join with the Senator from Florida in calling this very important issue to the attention of our colleagues and the American people. This is not an issue about lawyers or judges per se. What we are talking about are the needs of people who have their issues brought to the Federal court system and who are entitled to have those issues resolved in a prompt manner. With respect to those who violate Federal law, they need to have those matters addressed promptly in the interests of justice for all Americans. I think the proposal the Senator is about to unveil and explain in greater detail is entitled to the support of our colleagues. I wish him well and pledge my support in his efforts.

I thank him again for his leadership on this issue.

Mr. GRAHAM. I appreciate those very generous comments of the Senator. As my colleague knows, his State is not alone. This map indicates in blue those States that have been determined by the Judicial Conference, chaired by our chief justice, to require one or more additional Federal judges in order to keep pace with that particular judicial district's workload.

The States of Alabama, California, Florida, New Mexico, North Carolina, Texas, Arizona, Colorado, Nevada, New York, Oregon and Virginia would all receive permanent additional judges under the Judicial Conference's report.

Mr. BRYAN. I thank the Senator for his comments.

Mr. GRAHAM. As an example—I see we are joined by the Senator from Alabama. The middle district of his State happens to be the seventh busiest district in the country with a workload that is 176 percent of the standard which the Judicial Conference utilizes in assessing whether an additional Federal district judge is appropriate.

Mr. SESSIONS. Will the Senator from Florida yield?

Mr. GRAHAM. I yield to the Senator from Alabama.

Mr. SESSIONS. Mr. President, I do respect the concern of the Senator from Florida. As a Federal prosecutor for almost 15 years in Alabama, which is part of the 11th circuit, of which Florida is a part—the 11th circuit, I have come to admire and be extremely impressed with the workload and work ethic of the Florida Federal judges, as well as the Alabama Federal judges. Both groups have very high caseloads, higher than the national average. I think probably the middle district of Florida, and maybe the southern district of Florida, are two of the top districts in the country in so needing additional judges. The middle district of Alabama, as you noted, has one of the very highest caseloads.

I would share, this bankruptcy bill actually reduces the workload for Federal district judges a bit by not having them handle appeals from bankruptcy. That is the only thing it really affects for Federal district judges, because bankruptcy judges are separate.

I would just want to advise the Senator from Florida, I share his concern, but I have been working with Senator GRASSLEY, who chairs this subcommittee involving courts and administrative matters. He has been studying this. We have been having some hearings from judges, particularly courts of appeals. But we have not, in depth, analyzed this problem yet. I know Senator GRASSLEY intends to.

I would like to share some things. If a business had a court like the middle district of Florida that not only has a heavy caseload—it has complicated, big drug cases, international cases—they would probably look at the D.C. circuit that has 15 judges and they average 259 cases per judge instead of 855 in Florida and they might decide the taxpayers—or their business—would be better served if we shifted some from places that are not so busy to those that are more busy. I hope we will be able to analyze that, because a Federal judgeship, once you approve it, is a lifetime appointment. They get it for life and it costs $1 million a year for each Federal judge. What we need to begin to look at is some of those circuits that need to shift some judges to high-work districts. We could do that over the years. I think Senator GRASSLEY is committed to this. I am on that subcommittee so I am concerned about it. If we do it right, we can improve justice with a minimal cost to the taxpayer. I think that is what we are called to do and I thank the Senator from Florida for raising the problem.

Mr. GRAHAM. Mr. President, I appreciate the comments of the Senator from Alabama who, from his long experience in a variety of significant legal positions, is very familiar with the basic principle of my remarks, which is the relationship between changing workload and demand on judicial resources.

The Judicial Conference has proposed as a method of balancing that workload of judicial resources—a formula. That formula essentially takes the number of cases filed within a particular Federal district, weights those cases based on their complexity, and then divides that number by the number of judges currently assigned to the district. The standard for each Federal district judge is 430 weighted cases per year. When the caseload exceeds 430, that district is entitled to be reviewed for purposes of an additional judge. These judgeships are needed to help the Federal judiciary, a co-equal branch of our Government, to fulfill its constitutional obligations. It should be understood that Congress has not granted the Federal judiciary any additional Article III judges since 1990.

During the previous three occasions on which Congress has authorized new Federal judgeships under the standards of the Judicial Conference, the cycle for such authorization has been six years. For instance, in September of 1976, the Judicial Conference recommended 106 permanent and 1 temporary Federal district judge. Congress considered that recommendation and, on October 20, 1978, approved 113 permanent and 4 temporary judges. That was done under a Senate which was in Democratic control.

Mr. President, 6 years later, in September of 1982, the Judicial Conference recommended 43 permanent, 8 temporary, and 2 conversions from temporary to permanent. On July 10, 1984, a Republican Senate authorized 53 permanent, 8 temporary, and 2 temporary to permanent conversions.

In 1990, June, the Judicial Conference recommended 47 permanent, 29 temporary, and various conversions. Then on December 1, 1990, a Democratic Senate approved 61 permanent and 13 temporary and various conversions.

The point of this is that on a bipartisan basis, whether it was a Republican Senate or a Democratic Senate, every 6 years since 1978, the Congress has responded to the Judicial Conference's recommendation. It is also significant that in each one of those cases, the Congress actually approved more judges than the Judicial Conference had recommended.

However, the last recommendation that was made was in March of 1997, following recommendations that were unheeded in September of 1992 and in September of 1994. There were recommendations made in March of 1996 to convert a temporary judge to a permanent judge and to convert a temporary extended to a permanent status. But there have been no new judgeships created since December 1, 1990. So we are now 2 years past the point which has been the standard for the creation of new Federal judgeships as recommended by the Judicial Conference.

Mr. President, I submit that it is high time for us to respond to the need for more U.S. district court judges in accordance with the Judicial Conference's recommendation. Today, many of our district court judges are strained beyond capacity in trying to meet the increasing caseloads which they face.

For example, in 1997, the Federal judiciary saw increases in both criminal and civil cases.

The number of cases filed in the district courts increased by 24 percent.

The most significant increases occurred in drug and immigration cases, particularly, as this chart will indicate, in many of our border States which are the front lines for drug and immigration litigation.

This growth in Federal caseloads has been coupled with a growing trend by the Congress to federalize an increasing number of laws that have traditionally been considered State responsibilities. These new laws have opened our courts to more cases without the requisite judges to meet the demand. For that reason, it is essential that we take this opportunity to eliminate the disparity between resources and workload in the Federal judiciary by an expansion in the number of judges at the earliest possible time.

I do not submit my word as being final in this matter. Let me quote the December of 1997 statement by the Chief Justice of the United States Supreme Court and the Chair of the Judicial Conference, The honorable William Rehnquist. This is what the Chief Justice had to say about the current status of our Federal judiciary:

Fiscal year 1997 saw courts of appeals and bankruptcy filings at the highest rates in history. District courts also were very busy. In addition to a small increase in civil filings, there was a five percent increase in criminal cases in 1997, producing the largest federal criminal caseload in sixty years.

The Chief Justice went on to say:

Many factors have produced this upward spiral, including laws enacted by Congress that expand federal jurisdiction over crimes involving drugs and firearms, Supreme Court decisions, large class-action litigation, and changes in executive prosecution policies.

I think our Chief Justice's statement is a strong message to the Congress, Mr. President.

If I can illustrate what is happening on a national basis by reference to what is happening in my home State of Florida, I have seen the strain placed on the judiciary due to lack of adequate judicial resources needed to fulfill its constitutional obligations.

Two of Florida's three districts are feeling the crushing pressure of this strain. These two districts have one of the highest caseloads per judge in the Nation. Under the Judicial Conference recommendation, Florida should receive six additional judgeships that include two additional judges in the southern district of Florida, three permanent judges in the middle district of Florida, and one temporary position in the middle district.

In the southern district of Florida, the court's weighted filings stand at 590 per judgeship. This is in contrast to the average used by the Judicial Conference of 430.

In the middle district, the story is even worse. This court's weighted filing is 809 filings per judgeship, which is 88 percent above the acceptable levels the Judicial Conference has established, and is the third highest number in the Nation.

Mr. President, if I can make reference to this chart which indicates that as recently as 1990, the number of weighted cases in the middle district of Florida were 509 as against a national average of 448. At that time, the middle district was overburdened but not in a crisis situation.

By 1993, the number had increased to 729, while the national average had dropped to 417. It is significant that there were additional judges added as a result of that December 1990 act of Congress, but it took a full 3 years before the effect of those additional judges had the consequence of reducing the average in the middle district of Florida to 575. No new judges have been added since that period, and currently, at the time of the preparation of this chart, the number was 812 weighted cases per judge in the middle district. I have heard that this figure may have now grown to 855.

As a result of this, a significant case backlog has developed. Currently, the middle district has 1,200 criminal cases pending and over 6,000 cases pending on the civil side.

In response to this growing backlog of civil cases, Florida's middle district chief judge, Elizabeth Kovachevich, was forced this summer to declare a state of emergency. She closed the Federal courthouses in Jacksonville and Orlando and reassigned these district judges to work with the Tampa district judges in an aggressive targeting and disposing of the oldest pending civil cases. While such innovative measures may be effective in the short term, Congress will need to find the long-term solution of providing adequate judicial resources.

This increase in caseload is not only a problem for the Florida courts, but nationally. This chart, again, illustrates the number of States which the Judicial Conference has found additional judicial resources are required.

The southern district of California is 100 percent above acceptable levels of the Judicial Conference; the district of Arizona, 83 percent above acceptable levels. As our friend and colleague from Alabama has already spoken, the middle district of Alabama is 76 percent over acceptable levels. The western district of North Carolina, 70 percent over acceptable levels.

The caseload in all of these districts, and all the other districts the Judicial Conference has recommended for additional judgeships, only stand to get worse until Congress acts and acts with a sense of urgency.

The U.S. Federal district courts are the first line of defense for most of our citizens involved in the Federal judicial system. Most Federal cases are disposed of at the district court level. But by not acting soon, we make it harder for thousands of crime victims and civil litigants in our district courts to receive the justice which they deserve.

Mr. President, as I have indicated, I am prepared to offer my amendment to the bankruptcy bill to authorize additional Federal judgeships. Before proceeding, however, I would like to inquire as to the plans for consideration of this issue by the Judiciary Committee next year.

I wonder if my distinguished colleague from the State of Utah, chairman of the Senate Committee on the Judiciary, which has oversight on these matters, could engage me in a discussion regarding this matter.

Mr. HATCH. Mr. President, I am pleased to engage in a discussion with the distinguished Senator from Florida on the substance of this matter.

Mr. GRAHAM. Mr. President, I thank the Senator for his time.

I ask the chairman, is it his assessment that a number of Federal district court jurisdictions face a growing disparity between resources and workload?

Mr. HATCH. I agree with the view that there appears to be a workload problem facing a number of district courts in Florida and some other areas. The Senate Judiciary Committee intends to act to review the matter and where necessary provide the additional judicial resources to those jurisdictions in need, if warranted and appropriate.

Mr. GRAHAM. In my home State of Florida, I have seen the strain placed on the Judiciary due to the lack of judicial resources needed to fulfill its constitutional obligations.

Will the Senator from Utah agree to review the Judicial Conference recommendations and the need for additional judges early next year?

Mr. HATCH. As I have indicated to my colleague, I will, as the chairman of the Judiciary Committee, review this matter early next year and work with my colleague from Iowa, Senator GRASSLEY, in a good-faith effort to consider this issue early next year.

Mr. GRAHAM. I thank Senator HATCH for his support and for his work in this area critical to the State of Florida and the Nation.

I also thank the Administrative Office of the U.S. Courts for their assistance during this process.

I look forward to working with all my Senate colleagues in considering this important issue in future.

Mr. President, in our colloquy, Senator HATCH recognizes, as he has done on many previous occasions, the importance of a strong judiciary in order to meet our Government's responsibility of equal justice to all of its citizens, and indicates that it is his intention that the Judiciary Committee consider this urgent need for additional judicial resources early in the next Congress. So I will desist from offering an amendment at this time on this legislation to that effect, and look forward to working with Senator HATCH and the other members of the Judiciary Committee to see that this important responsibility of the Congress is discharged as quickly as possible.

Thank you, Mr. President.

Mr. MACK. Mr. President, I come before the Senate in support of today's colloquy regarding Federal judgeship needs in Florida. Although I was unable to participate in the colloquy between my esteemed colleagues, Senators HATCH and GRAHAM, I wish to express my support for their position. It is my hope that the Judiciary Committee will lend serious consideration to Florida's unique and acute judgeship needs.

The pressures currently upon Florida's court system, particularly in the Middle District, are some of the most severe in the nation. The Judicial Conference of the United States has recommended three permanent district judgeships and one temporary judgeship for the Middle District. This is the most judgeships recommended for any federal district in the nation.

Statistics kept by the Administrative Office of the U.S. Courts underscore the need for additional judgeships in this district. Recent statistics place Florida's Middle District second in the nation in weighted case filings per judge, with an average of 855. This is far above the national average of 519 weighted case filings per judge. It is expected that these numbers will continue to climb, given this area's explosive population growth. Although fifty-five percent of Florida's population currently resides in the Middle District, the district is home to only one-third of the state's federal judges. According to projected population growth figures, the Middle District will comprise two-thirds of the state's population by the year 2005.

The Middle District contains some of the world's most frequently visited cities, beaches and tourist attractions, including Disney World in Orlando and Busch Gardens in Tampa. The heavy flow of both tourists and the "snow-bird" population serve to make the needs of this judicial district unique.

Adding to this problem, what will be the nation's largest federal prison, the Coleman Prison Complex, is scheduled to be completed in 1999 in the Middle District. This will place an additional strain on the already overburdened courts of this district due to increased prisoner petitions. Further complicating the problem, a portion of the Middle District has recently been designated a High Intensity Drug Trafficking Area. An increase in drug cases will result as criminals are apprehended and prosecuted, placing additional demands upon this district.

It is not possible to provide Floridians with a safe environment and access to justice unless there is a court system in place which can handle the demands of this dynamic and growing part of our country. Increased judicial resources are integral in providing such a court system.

Mr. GRASSLEY addressed the Chair.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. ROBERTS). The distinguished Senator from Iowa is recognized.

Mr. GRASSLEY. I listened to everything that the Senator from Florida has said and of course, have had to be considering the points of view that he makes, as well as a lot of my colleagues, and will be happy to continue working with him.

Mr. President, my subcommittee has been looking at the need for increased or decreased numbers of judges across the country.

I've been looking at the middle district of Florida for some time, and have corresponded and met with the chief judge.

At this time, I am still not clear on what the needs of the district are or how its caseload is being managed. For instance, how are the many senior judges in the district helping with the caseload? I asked the chief judge this, and all I got were the judges certification papers that didn't say much of anything about caseload. It mostly mentioned what conferences they attended. I would ask the proponents to explain to us how the senior judges and magistrates help in reducing the caseload? Do the proponents realize that the senior judges in the middle district don't even take full cases?

Nevertheless, I will continue working with my colleagues regarding judgeship needs. I will soon be releasing a subcommittee report on our efforts to review the circuit courts.

The bottom line I've been advocating is that if we increase judges, we need to also decrease judges where they're not needed. I know this is a new concept, and one that has been met with some resistance. But, I intend to continue this effort in the next Congress.

Mr. GRASSLEY addressed the Chair. The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Iowa is recognized.

Mr. GRASSLEY. I urge adoption of the amendment.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. If there is no further debate on the amendment, the question is on agreeing to the amendment.

The amendment (No. 3617) was agreed to.

DEFINITION OF HOUSEHOLD GOODS

Mr. DODD. Mr. President, a provision of this bill that the Senator from Illinois and I drafted and had put into the Managers’ Package would require the Federal Trade Commission to promulgate regulations to define household goods “in a manner suitable and appropriate for cases under Title 11 of the U.S. Code.” What would be “suitable and appropriate” in the bankruptcy context?

Mr. DURBIN. The Federal Trade Commission should keep in mind that the definition will define the household goods that a debtor may keep after the bankruptcy, as part of the debtor’s fresh start. The defining regulations should specify any tangible personal property reasonably necessary for the support of the debtor and the debtor’s dependents.

Mr. DODD. May I add something?

Mr. DURBIN. Certainly.

Mr. DODD. My concern with the definition is particularly for children, and is about personal property of little value to creditors. Would you agree that the Federal Trade Commission should promulgate regulations that will allow debtors to keep property that is commonly used by children or commonly used for the upbringing of children?

Mr. DURBIN. Are you talking about items like bicycles or toys or washing machines?

Mr. DODD. Yes. A debtor’s child and parent should be allowed to keep these items. Children’s property generally has no resale value, but replacement costs can be substantial.

Mr. DURBIN. I would agree. Similarly, I believe the Federal Trade Commission should keep in mind that when we talk about a dependent of the debtor or we are referring to people like an elderly parent or relative, or a disabled person. Property belonging to a dependent elderly or disabled person should also figure into the definition.

Moreover, I would note that although some members of the Judiciary Committee have tried to tell the FTC what to do, this provision ultimately leaves the decision in the hands of the FTC. We have never had hearings or conducted any inquiry whatsoever into what household goods are necessary or appropriate in bankruptcy. The point of this provision is to ask the FTC to make the necessary inquiries and provide a suitable definition. As the lead Democratic co-sponsor of this bill, as the author of this provision—which I proposed during the Committee debate—and as the ranking member on the Subcommittee with jurisdiction over the bankruptcy code, I believe the FTC is much better suited to do this than we. In addition, I would note that the definition of dependent must be drawn from the bankruptcy code itself in order for any FTC definition to be at all meaningful or useful.

Mr. DODD. As the co-author of this provision, I concur.

Mr. DURBIN. Let me take this opportunity to compliment the distinguished Senator from Connecticut for all of his hard work on this issue. He identified the unique problems of children in bankruptcy before anyone else, and no one has worked harder on this problem than he. We both had different approaches to the household goods issue, and the provision in this bill blends our two approaches.

Mr. DODD. And I think we have achieved a sensible result. In light of the fact that we have taken no testimony on this issue and have no real expertise in this area, it only makes sense to have the FTC attempt to craft a definition. I compliment the Senator from Illinois for his efforts. It has been a pleasure working with him.

PATENT REFORM LEGISLATION AMENDMENT

Mr. HATCH. Mr. President, let me take a moment to speak about an amendment that has not been discussed in the last several days. Under the unanimous-consent agreement, I am permitted and had planned to offer a scaled-down version of broadly supported and bipartisan patent reform legislation, which was favorably reported to the Senate by the Judiciary Committee more than a year ago. Nevertheless, having spoken with the majority leader, and in the interest of expediting activity on pending Senate business, I have agreed to withhold my amendment.

But I want to take a moment to clarify why I believe this amendment is so important. In short, the provisions of this amendment represent the most important and most comprehensive reforms to our nation’s patent system in nearly half a century. In the last 50 years, our nation has witnessed an explosion of technology growth and a tremendous expansion of the global market for American intellectual property. Yet our patent laws have remained largely unchanged. My bill would effect those changes that are necessary to bring our patent system up to speed with the growing demands of the global economy, to preserve American competitiveness into the 21st century, and to ensure adequate protection for American innovators, both at home and abroad.

In all, there have been nine days of hearings and 78 witnesses who have testified in the House and Senate on the provisions of this legislation. Seventeen of those witnesses appeared before the Senate Judiciary Committee. In addition, I have engaged in endless negotiations to address concerns regarding the effect of the bill on small businesses and independent inventors. The result of that process was a comprehensive package of amendments that was endorsed by the Judiciary Committee, including several outspoken opponents of the original bill, in an overwhelming bipartisan 17-1 vote last year. Since then, I have sought a vote on the Senate floor for this legislation, thus far without success.

The failure to bring this bill to a vote in the Senate has largely been the result of the opposition of a very few Senators who have objected to even its consideration by the full Senate. Over the past year, I have made numerous additional changes to the bill in an attempt to address their concerns. As a result of those changes, the bill now enjoys even broader support, ranging from the smallest of American entrepreneurs and innovators to Fortune 100 companies. It is endorsed by the small business community, as well as by the experts on the subject, including 5 of the past 6 commissioners of the Patent and Trademark Office and thousands of patent practitioners and patent owners. Unfortunately, despite my efforts, and despite this broad support, a vocal minority, which apparently opposes any patent reform, continues to object to this bill. Repeated invitations to sit down with them to fashion a reasonable accommodation have been rejected.

Mr. President, at some point, the interests of inventors, the continued strength of our intellectual property base, consumers, and an overwhelming majority of the Senate must prevail over the interests of the few who would oppose any patent reform. I believe that this legislation must be debated and real patent reforms enacted if America is to retain its competitive edge into the next century.

In acceding to the majority leader's request to refrain from exercising my rights in offering this bill as an amendment to the bankruptcy bill, I am relying on his assurance that this patent reform legislation will be brought up for floor consideration and a vote early next year, with the expectation being that we complete action on the measure prior to March 1999. I would reiterate my willingness and desire to work with my colleagues to resolve any outstanding concerns, and I hope any Senator who still has genuine concerns with this bill will take me up on my offer.

I look forward to working with my colleagues and to seeing reasonable patent reforms enacted by the Senate next year.

DRUNK-DRIVING VICTIMS

Mr. LAUTENBERG. Mr. President, I would like to commend the authors of this legislation, Senators DURBIN and GRASSLEY, for their efforts on this legislation and their acceptance of my amendment which will help prevent drunk drivers from escaping the debts they owe to their victims by filing for bankruptcy.

As my colleagues know, Congress has always worked in a bipartisan way when working to protect the victims of drunk-drivers under the Bankruptcy Code. In 1984, Congress passed the Bankruptcy Amendments and Federal Judgeship Act of 1984 which contained provisions to prevent drunk drivers from avoiding their debts to victims by filing for bankruptcy under Chapter 7. Although that Act closed a loophole in Chapter 7 of the Bankruptcy Code, drunk drivers began to file for bankruptcy under Chapter 13. Consequently, in 1990, Congress passed another measure to protect drunk-driving victims under Chapter 13.

As originally drafted, S. 1301 contained a number of provisions that would have diluted the ability of drunk-driving victims to receive damages. Consequently, I drafted an amendment designed to ensure that victims would be paid for their injuries when the drunk driver filed for bankruptcy. Additionally, the amendment extended protections to victims of drunk boaters. The Coast Guard reports that drunk boating continues to be a problem with more than 200 fatalities in some years, and I thought it was important that irresponsible boaters not be able to escape liability by filing for bankruptcy.

I am pleased that Senators DURBIN and GRASSLEY have incorporated my amendment into the managers' amendment. I appreciate their efforts and cooperation. We must ensure that the victims of drunk drivers and drunk boaters are protected in bankruptcy and I urge the conferees to make this issue a priority when working out differences with the House bill.

Mr. LEAHY. Mr. President, I urge my colleagues to support the Consumer Bankruptcy Reform Act, S. 1301. Senator DURBIN and Senator GRASSLEY have worked together to mold a bipartisan bill that seeks to correct abuses in the bankruptcy system while preserving access to it for honest debtors. Every American agrees with the basic principle that debts should be repaid. The vast majority of Americans are able to meet their obligations. But, for those who fall on financial hard times, bankruptcy should be available in a fair and balanced way.

Unfortunately, more and more Vermonters and more and more Americans are filing for bankruptcy. The numbers are disturbing. While the unemployment rate keeps going down and inflation remains low, the nation's personal bankruptcies keep going up. Thus, this rise in bankruptcy filings has occurred at the same time that we enjoy a robust economy. If fact, Vermont's unemployment rate hit a 10-year low just the other day. Vermont's personal bankruptcy rate increased by about 40 percent for each of the last two years.

Still, Vermont was ranked next to last among the 50 states in personal bankruptcy filings last year. In most other states, personal bankruptcy rates increased even more dramatically while unemployment rates declined. I do not know all the answers why more and more Americans are filing for bankruptcy. I think some may be abusing the system. I think most are not. My guess is that stagnant wages and more consumer credit card debt are the primary reasons.

Where there are abuses in the bankruptcy law, we should move to correct them. I believe that this bill does that by establishing standards for bankruptcy judges to consider with respect to Chapter 7 and 13 filings and by discouraging bad-faith repeat filings. This bill also includes better bankruptcy data collection procedures so that we can learn more about the root causes of the recent rise in bankruptcy filings. Accurate data will also allow us to better evaluate the impact of this reform legislation.

But we must also remember that bankruptcy serves as a safety net for many of our constituents. Those who use bankruptcy are the most vulnerable of the American middle class. They are older Americans who have lost their jobs or are unable to pay their medical debts. They are women attempting to raise their families or secure alimony and child support after a divorce. They are individuals struggling to recover from unemployment. This bankruptcy reform bill protects them.

As we move forward with reforms that are appropriate to eliminate abuses in the system, we need to remember the people who use the system, both the debtor and the creditor. We need to balance the interests of creditors with those of middle class Americans who need the opportunity to resolve overwhelming financial burdens.

Unfortunately, the House-passed consumer bankruptcy reform bill requires an arbitrary means testing of debtors to be eligible for Chapter 7 filings. Many bankruptcy practitioners and bankruptcy judges predict that the radical means-testing requirements in the House bill would swamp the bankruptcy process with a flood of new litigation over a debtor's filing status. Indeed, the Congressional Budget Office estimates that H.R. 3150 would cost taxpayers up to $16 million a year for new bankruptcy judges and other court administrative expenses. Moreover, CBO estimates that the House bill would impose new private sector mandates, as defined in the Unfunded Mandates Reform Act, of at least $100 million on our economy. We need balanced bankruptcy reform, not more unfunded mandates and costs to taxpayers.

The House bankruptcy reform bill also fails to adequately protect our most vulnerable citizens—our children. More than one-third of the one million annual bankruptcies involve spouse and child support orders. But the House bill proposes profound changes to the bankruptcy code for spouse and child support obligations by placing them on an equal footing with some consumer debt. As a result, custodial parents and ex-spouses may have to fight in court against the deep pockets of corporate lenders with little chance of success. This is unacceptable for America's children.

I believe that the Senate version of the Consumer Bankruptcy Reform Act, S. 1301, carefully balances the competing interests of debtors and creditors. The bankruptcy reform bill passed by the House of Representatives, H.R. 3150 is not a balanced piece of legislation. The Administration has promised a veto if the House bill were to be adopted by Congress.

I have already spoken to the other Senators who will serve on a House-Senate bankruptcy reform conference about holding firm to the Senate bill in conference. If we want to enact balanced bankruptcy reforms into law this year, the Senate bill is that measure. If this Congress wants to enact consumer bankruptcy reforms into law, then the conference report must be along the lines of S. 1301. I am glad to report that a majority of the Republicans who will serve on the conference with Senator DURBIN and me agree. I expect that we will strongly support the Senate position and prevail in conference.

I hope that the Senate will adopt this bipartisan bill that corrects the abuses in the bankruptcy system without unfairly penalizing women and children who depend on child support and alimony, as well as older Americans and small business owners.

I want to take a moment to commend Senator DURBIN for his leadership and for working to reform our bankruptcy system in a fair and balanced manner. Senator DURBIN has served as a most effective manager of this important measure. He has been informed and exercised good judgment at every turn. He has met every challenge and maintained the bipartisanship that made this possible. Without his extraordinary efforts, there would be no bankruptcy reform legislation being considered for final passage by the Senate.

I also commend Senator GRASSLEY. I know that it has not always been easy for him to keep this legislation on course. I know that some in his caucus have criticized his efforts to be fair and to continue to work in a bipartisan fashion. I am glad that he did not succumb to that bad advice. Senator GRASSLEY and I have worked together for many years. We agree on many things and we have disagreed on some. I congratulate him for his outstanding efforts as the principal author, subcommittee chairman and floor manager of this bill. He has done a fine job and created a measure for which he deserves our thanks. In this effort I have tried to be constructive—even foregoing offering an important amendment to this particular bill, at Senator HATCH's request.

I also want to applaud the work of the staff on the Senate Judiciary Committee principally responsible for this bill: Victoria Bassetti and Anne McCormick with Senator DURBIN, and Kolan Davis and John McMickle with Senator GRASSLEY. Each worked hard on this very complex issue and helped craft a fine piece of bipartisan legislation. They were here late into many nights and worked ceaselessly for the public interest.

I urge my colleagues to support S. 1301, the Consumer Bankruptcy Reform Act. It is a bill that the Senate should pass.

Mr. FEINGOLD. Mr. President, although I object to numerous provisions in the underlying bill, S. 1301, the Consumer Bankruptcy Reform Act, I was pleased to work with the Chairman and Ranking Member to include provisions important to the farmers of this country.

Mr. President, everyone knows that family farming is a high risk business. One that's effected more by outside, unanticipated forces—for example, unstable markets, weather, and disease—than any other industry. To survive in such a volatile vocation, farmers are often given a bit of flexibility. This flexibility is the key to the survival of most family farms.

Unfortunately, some farmers become overburdened by the financial hazards associated with the business and seek assistance in dealing with their creditors. In 1986, Senator GRASSLEY added

Chapter 12 to the bankruptcy code to satisfy the unique risks and needs of family farmers. Prior to that, farmers were forced to file for bankruptcy under Chapter 11, the Small Business specific Chapter.

Although Chapter 12 has provided much needed relief for hundreds of family farmers, through the years, Chapter 12 has become outdated; its definitions, eligibility requirements and other provisions have not kept pace with changes in agriculture or in the nation's economy. Most disturbingly, the out of date eligibility requirements of this provision have excluded many who need it most and forced many farmers into Chapter 11.

I was pleased that three amendments I authored with Senators CONRAD and Bob KERREY were accepted by Senators GRASSLEY and DURBIN and included in the manager's amendment. Two of these provisions change the eligibility requirements of Chapter 12 to include those originally intended under the 1986 statute.

One provision indexes the Chapter 12 debt limit. The current maximum debt limit on Chapter 12 is $1,500,000. This limit has not been changed since the 1986 law took effect, while most other Code dollar figures have been increased for inflation and will have automatic adjustments in the future. At this point, the debt limits exclude many farmers for whom Chapter 12 was originally intended.

A second eligibility problem had been the requirement that more than 50% of a farm family's taxable income for the prior year came from a farming operation. Farm families, expecting low return on their commodities, usually seek off-farm employment for one of the household adults. A few years of low prices and negligible farm income would make many farmers ineligible under this provision. Current law assumes that farmers throw in the towel after just one bad year. I cannot think of one Wisconsin farmer that gives up that easily. They keep working and hope for better markets next year. My provision changes this requirement so that farmers have a bit more flexibility. More specifically, my amendment will allow the 50% income requirement can be satisfied in any of the past three years.

The last provision simply prohibits retroactive assessment of disposable income by the courts. To have a pay-back schedule confirmed by the bankruptcy courts, a debtor in Chapter 12 must commit projected disposable income—over and above living expenses, operating expenses and secured debt payments—to pay unsecured debtors. Some courts have started "adjusting" these payments upward in hindsight, if the debtor's income was greater than projected. My amendment will make Chapter 12 consistent with Chapter 13 and prohibit the retroactive assessment and instead modifies the coming year's payment schedule to reflect the additional income.

Again, Mr. President, I wish to thank Senators KERREY, CONRAD, GRASSLEY and DURBIN for their work on these amendments. It will give family farmers across the country the flexibility they need to make good on their debts.

Mr. WELLSTONE. Mr. President, there is no doubt that more and more Americans are turning to the consumer bankruptcy system and the financial protection it offers. More than 1.3 million families filed for bankruptcy last year. Where there is fraud and abuse we must take steps to reduce and eliminate it. But this bill will not help reduce fraud. It will encourage riskier lending habits by credit companies. It will lead to more credit being extended to poor families. It will ensure that those families will file more bankruptcies. It will force these families to file different types of bankruptcies, the kind of bankruptcy that ensures that they will never be free of their debt and able to restart their lives.

This is a complex issue and I must provide some background in order to explain my stance. There are two types of bankruptcies that individuals can file: Chapter 7 and Chapter 13. Under current law, individuals can choose either type. Chapter 7 bankruptcy allows debtors to discharge all their debt (besides child support, taxes, home loans, and student loans). Chapter 13 bankruptcies discharge no debt, but allow debtors to bargain directly with their creditors on reduced debt and payment schedules. Under the bill we passed today, Chapter 7 bankruptcies, which have provided a new start to millions of families over the years, will become a thing of the past. First of all, a judge now will have discretion to reject a debtor's Chapter 7 claim, and require her to file under Chapter 13, if it can be proven that the debtor has the ability to pay off 30% of her debt over the next five years. Secondly, any of the debtor's creditors can enter the court—without legal counsel—and require the court to make a judgement as to whether the debtor can afford this 30%. Thirdly, if the judge believes that the debtor can pay off this 30%, the debtor's attorney—and this is unheard of in the law to date—will be forced to pay the cost of the Chapter 13 Trustee. This is a hugely expensive tax on bankruptcy attorneys and they will certainly avoid taking on new Chapter 7 bankruptcies.

The truth is that this bill treats all debtors as likely criminals. Yes, bankruptcies in this country are up. But debtors now wait longer to file bankruptcy and are deeper in debt than those who filed bankruptcy a decade ago. Furthermore, increased filings can be attributed to job loss, divorce, increasing health care costs, declining real wages—and most importantly—an entire industry of easy credit which ten years ago did not exist in any where near today's scale.

Harvard Business School researchers David Moss and Gibbs Johnson state "the evidence suggests that shifts in the volume of and distribution of consumer credit—rather than declining stigma [of bankruptcies]—are the most likely sources of the recent surge in consumer filings.” They add that the surge of filings that began in the late 1980s can be attributed to “consumer creditors [which] began reaching substantially further down into the income distribution beginning in the mid 1980s.” It should also be noted that credit-card mail solicitations have skyrocketed, from 3.1 million mail solicitations in 1996 to over 881 million mail solicitations in 1997. Yet it is this consumer credit industry that benefits most from this bill; because it is this industry that will use this bill to prevent individuals from discharging their credit card debt. Simply put, this bill will increase the amount of money that credit card companies would receive from low-income bankrupt debtors. Meanwhile, opponents argue that sophisticated individuals with good legal advice will be able to get around the bill’s new changes (as is often the case with financial laws).

Who will benefit from this bill? I will quote Senator Metzenbaum, Public Citizen, and Consumers Union: “The only reason we’re having this debate is because the credit industry, primarily the credit card industry, has spent well-orchestrated millions on ads and lobbyists demonizing American families in crisis.” Even the title of a Wall Street Journal article says it all: “As Bankruptcies Surge, Creditors Lobby Hard to Get Tougher Laws; But Whether Many People Shirk Bills They Can Pay Remains Open to Debate; Changing the Lender’s Image.” I quote from that article: “As the legislation moves quickly through Congress, many academics, lawyers, and judges who specialize in bankruptcy question why. A government-appointed commission spent two years studying the matter and was deeply divided. Five of its nine members found no major abuse of the system or need for a crackdown: only two endorsed anything like the bills Congress is embracing. More than 100 jurists wrote lawmakers to urge them to slow down.* * * A major reason [for the bill]? A multi-million public-relations and lobbying blitz run largely by companies with the most to gain: credit card issuers and other lenders.”

Who will suffer under this bill? When job loss, divorce, or medical emergency strike, some families have no choice but to file for bankruptcy in order to stabilize themselves. Divorced women file for bankruptcy in greater proportions than divorced men. Victims of abuse file for bankruptcy, often from debt incurred entirely by those who abused them. Single parents are forced into bankruptcy after any substantial period of unemployment. African Americans and Hispanics are dramatically over-represented in bankruptcy. With health insurance in its current state, families that suffer even one major medical emergency often find themselves in need of bankruptcy protection. But this bill responds to the need of these families by basically re-instituting life-long debtor’s prison. All to the benefit of easy-credit companies. I could not in good conscience support this bill.

Mr. KOHL. Mr. President, the dramatic rise in bankruptcies is very troubling, regardless of whether the blame lies with credit card companies, a culture that disparages personal responsibility, the bankruptcy code or, most probably, with all of the above. While none of us wants to return to the era of “debtors’ prison,” we need to do something to reverse this trend.

But true “reform” will only occur if we prevent the most egregious abuse of the bankruptcy laws—misuse of the homestead exemption. And we will only have true reform if we target other abuses without overburdening the vast majority of debtors who truly need—and deserve—relief. And, true reform also requires a balanced approach that targets abusive practices by creditors as well as by debtors.

That is why I intend to vote for this bill. It does all three: prevents the most egregious abuses by capping the homestead exemption, uses “means testing” to deter other serious abuses without placing unfair burdens on honest debtors, and requires credit card companies to disclose the information consumers need to make intelligent choices.

In particular, let me focus on the cap on the homestead exemption that Senator SESSIONS and I introduced in subcommittee. This proposal, which was adopted by a unanimous 7-0 vote in subcommittee and was unanimously reaffirmed on the floor through a Sense of the Senate resolution, closes a loophole that allows too many debtors to shield their assets in luxury homes, while their creditors get left out in the cold. Currently, a handful of states allow debtors to protect their homes no matter how high their value. And time after time, millionaire debtors move to states with unlimited exemptions, like Florida and Texas, declare bankruptcy—yet continue to live like kings while their creditors get little or nothing. If we want to restore the stigma attached to bankruptcy, these high profile abuses are the best place to start.

Our proposal is simple and effective. It caps at $100,000 the maximum homestead exemption that an individual filing bankruptcy can claim. With the cap in place, bankrupt debtors will retain their right to a roof over their heads, but not to luxury accommodations.

I am concerned, however, that if this homestead cap is dropped in Conference, the President will veto the bill. That is, if it reaches him, because if the cap is removed, I’ll filibuster the Conference Report myself.

But since all of the conferees support the homestead cap provision, and since the Senate has now gone on record as saying that the “cap” is “essential to meaningful bankruptcy reform,” I am confident that we won’t have to go that route.

Mr. President, when people talk about bankruptcy abuse, the notion of stashing cash in a lavish Florida home is the first thing they think about. And that’s not surprising. To borrow a phrase from Bill Bennett, Congress needs to act responsibly to put “a death to this outrage.”

Overall, I commend Senators GRASSLEY and DURBIN for their hard work and close collaboration. I look forward to a final product that continues tackling the worst abuses, while still helping honest debtors.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I voted in favor of S. 1301, the Consumer Bankruptcy Reform Act of 1998, to address certain abuses regarding consumer bankruptcy laws, while providing bankruptcy protection to those who genuinely need it. Indeed, in recent years, there have been record increases in bankruptcy filings. In 1997 alone there were 1.3 million bankruptcy filings—an all-time high. While I think this increase is in part a result of the significant rise in outstanding consumer credit, I believe it is also attributable to the reduced stigma associated with filing for bankruptcy. As such, I believe that S. 1301 will be an important tool in curtailing irresponsible debtor practices.

The version of S. 1301 passed by the Senate is the product of significant compromise by both Democrats and Republicans and is much-improved over the Judiciary Committee-passed bill. I am pleased that my amendments prohibiting certain credit card terminations, limiting consumer debit card liability, and providing greater disclosure for “high LTV” loans were adopted by the Senate. Nonetheless, I am concerned about the means-testing provisions in the bill and would be inclined to oppose the Conference Report if the means-testing provisions are made mandatory or if consumer credit protections are deleted.

S. 1301 signifies a fundamental change in bankruptcy policy by establishing a system of means testing for determining eligibility for Chapter 7 relief. Heretofore, debtors have had the power to determine the type of bankruptcy relief to be sought, regardless of their ability to repay. S. 1301, however, gives a bankruptcy judge the discretion to convert a Chapter 7 case to Chapter 13 upon a motion by the creditor, if the debtor can afford to repay 30 percent of his or her debts.

My concern with the provision is that it does not contemplate whether the creditor acted responsibly and in good faith in extending credit to the debtor. Statistics showing that household debt has increased to 104 percent of household income, as compared to 24 percent in 1975, suggests that some creditors may be irresponsibly extending credit. In response to my concerns, I offered an amendment to the bill that would have required creditors to act in good faith in their dealings with debtors. Unfortunately, this amendment did not pass.

Despite my concerns with the means testing provision, I was able to support the bill because the means testing provision does not require the judge to convert a case to Chapter 13, but instead gives the judge discretion. If the Conference Report eliminates this judicial discretion and incorporates the House-passed means testing provision that requires conversion, I would have a difficult time supporting the Conference Report.

Lastly, my support for S. 1301 was in part predicated on the significant consumer credit protections incorporated in the bill. For example, the bill includes an amendment that I offered that would prohibit credit card companies from terminating a consumer's account simply because the consumer paid his or her bill in full each month. This is a detestable practice which flies in the face of the goals being promoted in S. 1301. If this provision, or other such provisions are not included in the Conference Report, I would seriously consider opposing the Conference Report.

Mr. GRAMS. Mr. President, on July 6th, the Federal Financial Institutions Examination Council (FFIEC), published for public comment in the Federal Register, its proposed changes to its Uniform Policy for Classification of Consumer Installment Credit Based on Delinquency Status. FFEIC is on the verge of adopting the changes in the proposals, with or without modifications based on the public input they received. I would like to ask my distinguished colleague, the Senator from Iowa whether the bankruptcy reform legislation currently before the Senate would significantly affect the agency's policy guidelines? My concern is that shortly after the FFIEC's new guidelines are adopted, it will have to rewrite them, according to the new bankruptcy reform legislation.

Mr. GRASSLEY. That is correct. If the bill before us is enacted this fall, it will have a substantial impact upon creditors' recovery in many consumer bankruptcy cases. It will take some time to evaluate the full impact of the new law.

Mr. GRAMS. Accordingly then, it is my view that the FFIEC should delay implementing any changes to its Uniform Policy for Classification of Consumer Installment Credit Based on Delinquency Status until it is clear whether and in what final form the bankruptcy reform is enacted.

Mr. GRASSLEY. I would agree with my colleague from Minnesota and urge FFIEC to delay implementing changes to its Uniform Policy for Classification of Consumer Installment Credit Based on Delinquency Status, in light of the pending bankruptcy reform legislation.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Are there further amendments?

 (II) by inserting ", or, with the debtor's consent, convert such a case to a case under chapter 13 of this title," after "consumer debts"; and
 (III) by striking "substantial abuse" and inserting "abuse"; and

(ii) by striking the last sentence and inserting the following:

"(2) In considering under paragraph (1) whether the granting of relief would be an abuse of the provisions of this chapter, the court shall consider whether—

"(A) under section 1325(b)(1), on the basis of the current income of the debtor, the debtor could pay an amount greater than or equal to 30 percent of unsecured claims that are not considered to be priority claims (as determined under subchapter I of chapter 5); or

"(B) the debtor filed a petition for the relief in bad faith.

"(3)(A) If a panel trustee appointed under section 586(a)(1) of title 28 brings a motion for dismissal or conversion under this subsection and the court grants that motion and finds that the action of the counsel for the debtor in filing under this chapter was not substantially justified, the court shall order the counsel for the debtor to reimburse the trustee for all reasonable costs in prosecuting the motion, including reasonable attorneys' fees.

"(B) If the court finds that the attorney for the debtor violated Rule 9011, at a minimum, the court shall order—

"(5) However, only the judge, United States trustee, bankruptcy administrator or panel trustee may bring a motion under this section if the debtor and the debtor's spouse combined, as of the date of the order for relief, have current monthly total income equal to or less than the national median household monthly income calculated on a monthly basis for a household of equal size. However, for a household of more than 4 individuals, the median income shall be that of a household of 4 individuals plus $583 for each additional member of that household."

"(B) finds the position of the party filing the claim is not substantially justified.

"(2) If the court finds that the position of a claimant under this section is not substantially justified, the court may, in addition to awarding a debtor reasonable attorneys' fees and costs under paragraph (1), award such damages as may be required by the equities of the case."

"(3)(A) A creditor may not request a determination of dischargeability of a consumer debt under subsection (a)(2) if—

SEC. 212. SENSE OF THE SENATE REGARDING THE HOMESTEAD EXEMPTION.

(a) FINDINGS.—The Senate finds that—

(1) one of the most flagrant abuses of the bankruptcy system involves misuse of the homestead exemption, which allows a debtor to exempt his or her home, up to a certain value, as established by State law, from being sold off to satisfy debts;

(2) while the vast majority of States responsibly cap the exemption at not more than $40,000, 5 States exempt homes regardless of their value;

(3) in the few States with unlimited homestead exemptions, debtors can shield their assets in luxury homes while legitimate creditors get little or nothing;

(4) beneficiaries of the homestead exemption include convicted insider traders and savings and loan criminals, while shortchanged creditors include children, spouses, governments, and banks; and

(5) the homestead exemption should be capped at $100,000 to prevent such high-profile abuses.

(b) SENSE OF THE SENATE.—It is the sense of the Senate that—

(1) meaningful bankruptcy reform cannot be achieved without capping the homestead exemption; and

(2) bankruptcy reform legislation should include a cap of $100,000 on the homestead exemption to the bankruptcy laws.

SEC. 213. ENCOURAGING CREDITWORTHINESS.

(a) SENSE OF THE CONGRESS.—It is the sense of the Congress that—

(1) certain lenders may sometimes offer credit to consumers indiscriminately, without taking steps to ensure that consumers are capable of repaying the resulting debt, and in a manner which may encourage certain consumers to accumulate additional debt; and

(2) resulting consumer debt may increasingly be a major contributing factor to consumer insolvency.

(b) STUDY REQUIRED.—The Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System (hereafter in this section referred to as the "Board") shall conduct a study of—

(1) consumer credit industry practices of soliciting and extending credit—

(A) indiscriminately;

(B) without taking steps to ensure that consumers are capable of repaying the resulting debt; and

(C) in a manner that encourages consumers to accumulate additional debt; and

(2) the effects of such practices on consumer debt and insolvency.

(c) REPORT AND REGULATIONS.—Not later than 24 months after the date of enactment of this Act, the Board—

(1) shall make public a report on its findings with respect to the credit industry's indiscriminate solicitation and extension of credit;

(2) may issue regulations that would require additional disclosures to consumers; and

(3) may take any other actions, consistent with its existing statutory authority, that the Board finds necessary to ensure responsible industrywide practices and to prevent resulting consumer debt and insolvency.

SEC. 214. TREASURY DEPARTMENT STUDY REGARDING SECURITY INTERESTS UNDER AN OPEN END CREDIT PLAN.

(a) STUDY.—Within 180 days of the enactment of this Act, the Federal Reserve Board in consultation with the Treasury Department, the general credit industry, and consumer groups, shall prepare a study regarding the adequacy of information received by consumers regarding the creation of security interests under open end credit plans.

(b) FINDINGS.—This study shall include the Board's findings regarding—

(1) whether consumers understand at the time of purchase of property under an open end credit plan that such property may serve as collateral under that credit plan;

(2) whether consumers understand at the time of purchase the legal consequences of disposing of property that is purchased under an open end credit plan and is subject to a security interest under that plan; and

(3) whether creditors holding security interests in property purchased under an open end credit plan use such security interests to coerce reaffirmations of existing debts under section 524 of the United States Bankruptcy Code.

In formulating these findings, the Board shall consider, among other factors it deems relevant, prevailing industry practices in this area.

(c) DISCLOSURE RECOMMENDATIONS.—This study shall also include the Board's recommendations regarding the utility and practicality of additional disclosures by credit card issuers at the time of purchase regarding security interests under open end credit plans, including, but not limited to—

(1) disclosures of the specific property in which the creditor will receive a security interest;

(2) disclosures of the consequences of nonpayment of the card balance, including how the security interest may be enforced; and

(3) disclosures of the process by which payments made on the card will be credited with respect to the lien created by the security contract and other debts on the card.

(d) SUBMISSION OF REPORT.—The Board shall submit this report to the Senate Committee on the Judiciary, the Senate Committee on Banking, Housing, and Urban Affairs, the House Committee on the Judiciary, and the House Committee on Banking and Financial Services within the time allotted by this section.

The foreign proceeding may be closed in the manner prescribed for a case under section 350.

“(e) The standards, procedures, and limitations applicable to an injunction shall apply to relief under this section.

Mr. GRASSLEY. Mr. President, I move to reconsider the vote.

Mr. DURBIN. I move to lay that motion on the table.

The motion to lay on the table was agreed to.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Under the previous order, the Senate insists on its amendments and requests a conference with the House, and the Chair appoints conferees.

Thereupon, the Presiding Officer (Mr. THOMAS) appointed Mr. HATCH, Mr. GRASSLEY, Mr. SESSIONS, Mr. LEAHY, and Mr. DURBIN conferees on the part of the Senate.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Iowa.

Mr. GRASSLEY. Mr. President, first of all I want to thank everyone in this body for the overwhelming vote of confidence on the work that Senator DURBIN and I have done on this bankruptcy bill. Getting to this point has been a very tough process involving a lot of compromise and a lot of refinement.

You heard me say on the first day of debate that for the entire time that I have been in the Senate and on this subcommittee on the subject of bankruptcy—maybe not on every subject, but the subject of bankruptcy—there has been a great deal of bipartisan cooperation, first of all between Senator Heflin of Alabama, now retired, and myself. Sometimes I was chairman when Republicans were in the majority. When we were in the minority, I was ranking member and he was chairman. But this legislation has always passed with that sort of tradition.

So I want to say to all of my colleagues that I not only thank them for their support but, more importantly, thank Senator DURBIN, who worked so closely with me on this legislation, and that tradition has continued. I thank him for carrying on that tradition, because I don't think we would have had the vote that we had today if it had not been for the bipartisanship that has been expressed since he first took over leadership for his party on our subcommittee.

I also want to give commendation to his staff, Victoria Bassetti and Ann McCormick; and also to Senator HATCH's staff, Maken Delrahim and Rene Augustine; and also my staff, John McMickle and Kolan Davis, because without the long hours of staff work that went into this bill, we would not have had the great compromise that we had to make this vote possible.

Mr. President, I'm pleased that we've come to the point where the Senate has passed the Grassley-Durbin consumer bankruptcy bill. Getting to this point has been a tough process involving a lot of compromise and refinement. Of course, I thank Senator DURBIN for his help and suggestions for improving the bill. I think that Chairman HATCH also deserves a great deal of credit as well.

The bill we voted is a very fair and balanced piece of legislation with broad support. The administration, in its "statement of administration policy," encourages the Senate to pass this bill. The Judiciary Committee was almost unanimous in passing the bill, and many changes have been made to the version of the bill reported by the committee to accommodate the concerns of the minority. So, this is a bill I think we can all support regardless of party. Again, Senator DURBIN has been instrumental in making this bill truly bi-partisan.

As I've said numerous times on the floor during the debate on bankruptcy reform, the American people are four-square in support of meaningful bankruptcy reform. The fact is that some people use bankruptcy as a convenient financial planning tool to skip out on debts they could repay. This has to stop.

Mr. President, there's no such thing as a free lunch. Bankruptcies of convenience are like shoplifting. Honest consumers have to pick up the tab for losses due to bankruptcy just as they pick up the tab for shoplifting. Bankruptcies of convenience impose a hidden bankruptcy tax of $400 per family of four. My bill will cut that tax.

Mr. President, it's not just consumers paying higher prices who stand to lose from bankruptcy abuse. Small businesses, a vital component of our healthy economy, can be crippled by bankruptcy losses. That's why the National Federation of Independent Business supports bankruptcy reform.

Let's cut the bankruptcy tax. Let's restore personal responsibility to the bankruptcy system. Let's help protect American consumers and small businesses.

Mr. President, I want to thank the people from the administration, because they have followed the course of this legislation. They have issued a statement of administrative policy in support of this legislation.

I ask unanimous consent that it be printed in the RECORD.

There being no objection, the material was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

EXECUTIVE OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT, OFFICE OF MANAGEMENT AND BUDGET,
Washington, DC, September 17, 1998.
STATEMENT OF ADMINISTRATION POLICY
S. 1301—CONSUMER BANKRUPTCY REFORM ACT OF

(Grassley (R) Iowa and Durbin (D) Illinois)
The Administration encourages Senate passage of S. 1301 as an important step toward balanced bankruptcy reform; however, the Administration ultimately would support enactment of bankruptcy legislation only if the essential reforms incorporated by the Senate managers' amendment are preserved and strengthened and the unbalanced and arbitrary elements of the current House bill are omitted.

The Administration supports bankruptcy reform that asks both debtors and creditors to act more responsibly. Debtors who genuinely have the ability to repay a portion of their debts should remain responsible for those debts. But creditors must also be responsible for treating debtors fairly, recognizing creditors' superior information and bargaining power.

As reported from Committee, S. 1301 focused heavily on perceived debtor abuse, with little to curtail abuses by creditors. However, if changes incorporated in the manager's amendment are adopted, the Senate bill will take significant steps to address abusive practices by both debtors and creditors. Essential changes included in the managers' amendments include: (1) new disclosure requirements to ensure that credit card companies provide consumers with the information about their accounts that they need to manage their budgets; (2) procedural protections to avoid inappropriate and unwise reaffirmations of unsecured and certain secured consumer debts; and (3) modifications made to the nondischargeability provisions in the bill so that the bill no longer inappropriately puts credit card debt in competition with child support, alimony, and other societal priorities like education loans and taxes.

The Administration also strongly prefers the discretionary approach to limiting access to Chapter 7 used in S. 1301 over the rigid and arbitrary approach in the House bill. We support changes made by the Senate bill to ensure that those debtors denied access to Chapter 7 under Section 707(b) of the Bankruptcy Code are those that have a strong likelihood of successfully completing a Chapter 13 plan.

More can and should be done to produce a truly balanced bill. The bill must address the potentially coercive effect of allowing creditors to bring 707(b) motions based on any allegation of abuse and strengthen the protections against coercive reaffirmations.

The Administration also supports financial contract netting provisions in the bill, which are important to reducing systemic risk in our financial markets and are based on a proposal from the President's Working Group on Financial Markets.

The Administration supports Senate passage of the "Omnibus Patent Act of 1998" as an amendment to S. 1301 because that bill supports American innovation through needed patent law reforms. While the Administration is disappointed that the bill does not include all of the performance based organization reforms it proposed, the provision's inclusion of the annual performance agreement is welcome.

Finally, the Senate is expected to vote on an amendment to raise wages of 12 million Americans and help ensure that parents who work hard and play by the rules do not have to raise their children in poverty. Two years ago, the President signed into law a moderate increase in the minimum wage. The results of that action are clear: it raised the wages of the lowest paid workers and did not cost jobs. Now we must continue to take actions to ensure that all Americans are benefiting from our prospering economy. That is why the Administration strongly supports raising the minimum wage by $1 over two years.

Mr. GRASSLEY. Mr. President, I thank Senator DURBIN very much for his cooperation.

Mr. DURBIN addressed the Chair.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Illinois.

Mr. DURBIN. Thank you, Mr. President.

I would like to echo the comments of Senator GRASSLEY. I really believe this vote of 97 to 1 is a tribute to his patience, endurance, and hard work. It has been a joy to be with him as part of this process. We have serious differences on many aspects of this bill. I am sure we will continue to debate them. But the core bill is a bill which I was happy to support because I think it is a more reasonable approach to reforming bankruptcy. We attempt to reform it in the responsible way, trying to stop the abuses in filing in the bankruptcy court and at the same time calling on the credit industry to accept some responsibility for those risky credit practices which lure unwitting consumers into a trap from which they cannot escape.

I want to give acknowledgment as well to staff who have made this bill possible. Seated to my left is Victoria Bassetti, my staff attorney on the Judiciary Committee, who has spent more time looking at the bankruptcy code than almost anything else in the past year; Anne McCormick, who is with us as a detailee from the Department of Justice, who has done an extraordinary job; on the majority side, John McMickle and Kolan Davis have become friends during the course of this debate and have added greatly to the work product; Makan Delrahim and Rene Augustine of Senator HATCH's staff; Kara Stein and Brooke Byers of Senator DODD's staff; Ed Pagano of Senator LEAHY's staff; Kristi Lee of Senator SESSIONS' staff; and Brian Lee of Senator KOHL's staff; as well as Joel Wiginton, who once worked on my staff and now serves Senator FEINGOLD. They all have added to the value of this bill. I thank each and every one of them.

I would like to just note four or five things that I am particularly proud of in this legislation.

We have worked back and forth in the banking industry, as well as with experts in the law, to come to a good conclusion about the ways to reduce abuse when it comes to bankruptcy filings.

We have added some provisions here which I think many consumers will appreciate because it really does bring more balance to this endeavor.

With the help of Senator DODD, who is in the Chamber today, as well as Senator SARBANES of Maryland, we have added some disclosure provisions to this bill which will make credit card statements clearer and make it more understandable when credit card companies solicit your business as to what you are going to have to do, how much you will have to pay in interest rates and what other conditions might be important to your relationship.

We have an amendment here I am particularly proud of on predatory home lending. These are those unscrupulous credit practices where lenders prey particularly on senior citizens, forcing them into a situation where they sign second mortgages on their home without any real understanding of what they are getting into. They lose the most important asset in their life because of these unscrupulous practices. This bill comes down hard on that kind of conduct.

We also have increased court supervision on reaffirmation. A person files for bankruptcy and says, Here is a debt which I will keep; I will continue to pay on it. For instance, a car loan because you need an automobile, or with a company that your family has done business with for generations. You reaffirm the debt. That is perfectly acceptable. It is something which should be encouraged where it works. But we say the court should look at it to make certain it is fair.

I salute Senator SESSIONS and Senator KOHL for the homestead exemption cap. The unlimited homestead exemption in a few states is the single worst abuse in the bankruptcy system. Our friends in the House saw it differently on a floor vote. It is up to us in conference to convince them that ours is a better way. We protect retirement income in bankruptcy, a concept which I pushed for and was happy to join with Senator HATCH in finally passing in this Chamber.

I thank Senator FEINGOLD for his efforts to protect the poorest of the poor who file in bankruptcy. I also salute Senator FEINSTEIN and others who have asked for studies which we think will improve credit practices in this country. And, finally, this bill provides for the creation of 18 new bankruptcy judgeships sorely needed in the States which will receive them.

This is the first major legislation I have had in the Chamber. I don't expect every one of them to pass 97 to 1, but it really is a good feeling to know that all of this work over this time has resulted in a truly bipartisan response to this important issue.

Thank you, Mr. President. I yield the floor.

Mr. HATCH. Mr. President, S. 1301, the Consumer Bankruptcy Reform Act of 1998, was reported out of the Judiciary Committee with strong bipartisan support and is one of the most important legislative efforts to reform the bankruptcy laws in 20 years.

I would like to begin by commending my colleagues, Senators GRASSLEY and DURBIN, respectively, the chairman and ranking minority member of the Subcommittee on Administrative Oversight and the Courts, for their tireless efforts in crafting this much needed legislation. I also want to thank them for conducting numerous important hearings at the subcommittee level on the complex issue of bankruptcy reform. I particularly appreciate the dedication they have shown to making the passage of this bill an inclusive and bipartisan process.

The compelling need for reform is underscored by the dramatic rise in bankruptcy filings each year. The Bankruptcy Code was liberalized back in 1978, and ever since that time, consumer bankruptcy filings have gone up at an unprecedented rate. Even during the economic boom years of 1994 to 1997, consumer bankruptcy filings almost doubled.

Mr. President, the bankruptcy system was intended to provide a "fresh start" for those who need it. We need to preserve the bankruptcy system within limits to allow individuals to emerge from financial ruin, which may have been precipitated by unforeseen events such as medical problems or unemployment. What we don't need is to preserve those elements of the system that allow it to be abused, and that allow some debtors to use bankruptcy as a financial planning tool rather than as a last resort. I firmly believe that by allowing people to escape from their financial obligations, we are doing them a great disservice by not encouraging them to manage their finances and control their debt.

It always has been my view that individuals should take personal responsibility for their debts, and repay them to the extent possible. Under the present system, it is too easy for debtors who have the ability to repay some of what they owe to file for Chapter 7 bankruptcy. Under Chapter 7, debtors can liquidate their assets and discharge all debt, while protecting certain assets from liquidation, irrespective of their income. Mr. President, I believe that the complete extinguishing of debt should be reserved for debtors who truly cannot repay their debts.

According to the Wall Street Journal (Nov. 8, 1996) bankruptcy protection laws give an alarming number of "obscure, but perfectly legal places for anyone to hide assets." For instance, one Virginia multimillionaire incurred massive debt, but under State law was entitled to keep certain household goods, farm equipment, and "one horse." This particular individual opted to keep a $640,000 race horse, noting that the law only limits the number of horses, but not the individual value of a horse.

While this is a particularly egregious example, these kinds of loopholes exist in the Bankruptcy Code, and people are using them to avoid paying their debts. As a result, the rest of us end up footing the bill through higher prices and higher interest rates.

S. 1301 provides a remedy for these abuses by adopting a needs-based approach to bankruptcy reform.

It is important to note that the administration has urged that bankruptcy law should "discourage bad faith repeat filings and other attempts to abuse the privilege accorded by access to bankruptcy."

This bipartisan legislation, created by Senators GRASSLEY and DURBIN, is carefully structured to achieve an appropriate balance between debtor and creditor rights. The legislation maintains the aspects of the bankruptcy system that serve those in need of a "fresh start." At the same time, S. 1301 reforms current bankruptcy laws to prevent the system from being abused at the expense of all Americans.

The impact of this important legislation will not only be to curb the rampant number of frivolous bankruptcy filings, but also to give a boost to our economy.

Mr. President, again I would like to applaud the bipartisan efforts of my colleagues who have made S. 1301 a broadly supported bill.

Mr. SARBANES. Mr. President, I would like to take this opportunity to congratulate Senator DURBIN, the Ranking Member of the Courts Subcommittee, on passage of S.1301, the Consumer Bankruptcy Reform Bill of 1998.

I especially want to thank him for insisting that S.1301 address not only the need for greater responsibility on the part of debtors, but also the need for greater responsibility on the part of creditors. In particular, this bill takes notice of the fact that credit card companies often act as enablers to individuals who end up in bankruptcy after falling prey to one too many promises of easy credit from these companies. S.1301 requires that credit card companies provide consumers with the information they need to behave in a responsible manner, rather than luring them into tighter financial straits with false promises of easy credit.

The bill that passed out of the Judiciary Committee did not take such an evenhanded approach, and I, among others both on and off the Judiciary Committee, noted the need to bring greater balance to this issue on the floor. Thanks to Senator DURBIN's leadership, the efforts of several other Democratic Senators, and the cooperation of Senator GRASSLEY and other Republicans, the bill we will soon pass is a product that, as amended, acknowledges the shared responsibility for the rise in bankruptcies between creditors and debtors, and strives to discourage reckless behavior on both sides of credit transactions.

Mr. DURBIN. I thank my colleague from Maryland for his kind words, and for his assistance in making S.1301 a bill that the Senate can be proud of.

As Ranking Member of the Senate Committee on Banking, Housing and Urban Affairs, Senator SARBANES has long been interested in the issue of consumer lending practices, and his efforts were invaluable in drawing the necessary connection between increased bankruptcy filings and the lending practices of credit card companies.

Due to the efforts of a number of Democratic Senators, including Senator SARBANES, we were able to have inserted into the managers amendment to this bill a number of important provisions dealing with consumer credit information. These provisions require credit card companies to provide in their monthly statements and initial solicitation materials information that will help consumers manage their finances in a way that will, I believe, obviate the need for bankruptcy in many cases. The bill also now provides for studies regarding (1) the extension of credit to individuals with a high debt-to-income ratio and (2) the use of credit card security interests to coerce reaffirmations of debt in bankruptcy.

In short, we now have before us a bill that is balanced and that is not simply the wish list of the credit card companies. I thank Senator SARBANES for helping to make this possible.

Mr. SARBANES. I thank Senator DURBIN for his kind words. I also note, however, that we still have much work to do in this area. None of the consumer-oriented provisions that we have succeeded in adding to S.1301 are in the House-passed bankruptcy bill, and I daresay that the credit card companies are less than thrilled with even the modest steps we have taken on behalf of consumers here in the Senate. I ask my colleague from Illinois, is it not safe to expect that there will be efforts during the bankruptcy conference to strip out some of these provisions from the conference report, and to bring to the Senate a bankruptcy bill that is, once again, merely a wish list of the credit card companies?

I further ask my colleague, will we not need to be vigilant in our efforts to preserve these consumer-oriented provisions during the conference?

Mr. DURBIN. My colleague from Maryland sadly may be correct. Neither our Republican colleagues in the House nor the credit card companies are likely to be as enthusiastic as he or I about the efforts at cooperation and compromise that went into crafting the Senate bill.

We will, indeed, have to be vigilant in regard to the consumer-oriented provisions in S.1301, and I hope that we will be joined in this effort both by our Senate Republican colleagues, who have agreed to accept most of these provisions without any debate, as well as by the White House, which has indicated the importance of preserving the Senate managers' amendment to its own consideration of bankruptcy reform legislation. We have our work cut for us, but I commit to my colleague from Maryland that I will do my utmost to ensure that the bankruptcy conference report contains the vital consumer protections we worked so hard to add to the Senate bill.

Mr. SARBANES. I thank my distinguished colleague from Illinois, and pledge my support for his efforts in this regard. Only if we are able to preserve our hard-fought gains in the Senate in conference will we be able to pass bankruptcy reform legislation that will stand the tests of time and fairness.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Arizona.

UNANIMOUS CONSENT REQUEST— S. 442

Mr. MCCAIN. Mr. President, on behalf of the leader, I ask unanimous consent that it be in order for the majority leader, after consultation with the Democratic leader, to proceed to the consideration of Calendar No. 509, S. 442, and it be considered under the following limitations:

The Commerce Committee amendment be agreed to, and the Finance substitute then be agreed to, and the substitute then be considered as original text for the purpose of further amendment. I further ask unanimous consent that the only other amendments in order to the bill be the following:

A managers' amendment; McCain-Wyden amendment extending length of moratorium; Coats, Internet porn, 1 hour equally divided; Bennett amendment, relevant; Senator Kay Bailey Hutchison amendment, relevant; Bond amendment, relevant; Bumpers amendment, mail order; three Enzi relevant amendments; Domenici, an amendment on interest rates; Graham, relevant; Abraham, Government paperwork; and Bumpers, a commission amendment.

I further ask unanimous consent that relevant second-degree amendments be in order to all amendments other than the Coats amendment.

I further ask unanimous consent that there be 2 hours of general debate equally divided on the bill. I finally ask that following the disposition of the above-listed amendments and the expiration of time, the bill be read a third time and the Senate proceed to a vote on passage of the bill with no other intervening action or debate.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Mr. DASCHLE. I object on behalf of a number of colleagues.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Objection is heard.

Mr. DASCHLE. Mr. President, let me just explain.

I support this legislation, and I hope we can come to some resolution here. Obviously, this is an important bill that ought to be passed. The problem is that, once again, we are presented with an untenable circumstance. Colleagues on this side of the aisle, certainly through no fault of the distinguished Senator from Arizona, have been precluded, to date, from offering our Patients' Bill of Rights. We are running out of time. We are running out of vehicles. We are running out of opportunities for us to have the kind of debate that we all have asked for and expected to have by this day.

Because we are again put into a difficult position of not knowing how we are going to resolve that outstanding question, recognizing that it is at least as important as this issue, in spite of the fact that I do support S. 442, we are compelled to object today.

My hope is that at some point in the not-too-distant future we can resolve the issue of how we will debate the Patients' Bill of Rights, and we will then resolve our ability to bring up the request made by the Senator from Arizona. So I object at this time with the hope that we can find some resolution at some point soon.

Mr. MCCAIN addressed the Chair.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Arizona has the floor.

Mr. MCCAIN. I ask unanimous consent that the Senate turn to the immediate consideration of S. 442 and that only amendments in order to the bill be relevant amendments.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Mr. DASCHLE. Mr. President, I object.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Objection is heard.

Mr. McCAIN. Mr. President, let me just point out that I think the Democratic leader makes a very legitimate point. Obviously, he believes there are very important issues that need to be addressed. The Patients' Bill of Rights is a very important issue. But let me also point out, Mr. President, that we have been working on this legislation for 2 years. All of Silicon Valley, especially the State of Massachusetts as well as other places where high tech is a very important part of the economy of the various States and the Nation, want this bill done.

Senator WYDEN, who is the originator of this bill, and I, along with many others, have worked very hard for a long period of time. We have made concessions after concession; we have made compromise after compromise on this bill, including having the Finance Committee play a major role in it. All I hope is that on the Democrat side we can get some agreement to address the Patients' Bill of Rights, and I also ask that we make every effort to get this bill up and passed. We have approximately 11, 12 remaining legislative days, as I understand it.

I respect and understand the objection of the Democratic leader. I hope we can get this issue resolved, up and passed so that we can ensure the future of perhaps one of the most important and vital parts of America's economy.

UNANIMOUS CONSENT
AGREEMENT—S. 2279

Mr. McCAIN. So again now, Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that it be in order for the majority leader, after consultation with the Democratic leader, to proceed to S. 2279, the FAA reauthorization, and that the bill be limited to relevant amendments only, of which we will have a list shortly.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none, and it is so ordered.

Mr. McCAIN. Mr. President, I know others will want to be recognized for comments, including maybe the Senator from Massachusetts, before we move forward with the FAA bill.

Mr. KENNEDY. I thank the Senator from Arizona.

I just wanted to join in expressing support for our leader's position in raising this extremely important issue, the Patients' Bill of Rights. Our leader, Senator DASCHLE, has indicated a willingness to enter into agreements that would be reasonable and which would permit debate and discussion of these important matters that are at the heart of concerns of millions of American families, and to do it in a way we would not interrupt the important legislation that the Senator from Arizona has identified. We have been frustrated in having that opportunity.

We had similar difficulty earlier in terms of the minimum wage. We were able to address that, not with the outcome that some of us might have hoped but nonetheless we were able to at least get a judgment on that. And we wanted to try to also get a judgment on this matter which is of central concern to families all across this country.

I want to just add my support to the objections of Senator DASCHLE and also to express appreciation to the Senator from Arizona. We know that this is not his decision at this time to be making, but it is a leadership decision.

I thank him for his courtesy and recognize it.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Connecticut.

Mr. DODD. Mr. President, let me briefly say as well, I support what the Democratic leader is doing on this HMO issue. Hopefully, that matter can be resolved.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Connecticut.

Mr. DODD. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent I be allowed to speak as in morning business. It is not on this subject matter.

Mr. McCAIN. I object unless I know how long it is.

Mr. DODD. About 5 minutes.

Mr. McCAIN. I have no objection.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator is recognized for 5 minutes.

Y2K AND MEDICAL DEVICES

Mr. DODD. Mr. President, most of us are aware that there is a very serious computer problem, the year 2000 computer problem or Y2K problem, which has the potential to dramatically disrupt our energy, transportation, banking and health sectors, just to name a few.

As most of you know, the year 2000 computer technology problem stems from the earlier programming of two digit date codes; many old programs were written assuming the year would begin with "19." Therefore the year-2000 computer problem means that if an unknown number of programs and microchips around the world aren't fixed or replaced, computers that read "00" as the year 1900, not 2000 will fail or malfunction on January 1, 2000.

To correct this problem millions of dollars have been earmarked by government and industry to identify, correct and test the millions of lines of code and embedded chips that perform mission-critical functions.

Senator BENNETT and I co-chair the Senate's Year 2000 Committee and we are actively reviewing the progress of U.S. industry and government agencies. Both must bring their own systems into compliance and the government agencies must monitor the compliance status of the areas that they regulate.

This is truly a world-wide phenomenon, and while the United States is doing a pretty good job of playing catch up, many nations of the world have hardly begun to address their own year 2000 or Y2K problems.

From time to time I will come to the Senate floor to brief the other Members and the public on the progress of the committee's work and the high-light problems areas.

One such problem area was highlighted during the committee's hearing on health concerns. Whereas, in many industries, there are areas termed mission-critical which refers to embedded or coded systems without which the primary objective of that system fails. In the health field, there are life-critical systems which sustain human life. An example of a life-critical embedded system would be a cardiac monitor in the intensive-care unit of a hospital. If it fails, the patient could lose his or her life.

With this in mind I was deeply disturbed to learn, during one of the committee's earlier hearings, that the FDA's attempts to survey and document year 2000 compliance within the medical device industry had indicated an unacceptable low level of response. At the committee's July 23, 1998 hearing on the health care industry, I was shocked by the fact that instead of taking steps to deal with this problem, the medical device industry, as a whole, at that time, seemed to be exacerbating the problem by refusing to provide information either to the FDA or to even the hospitals and clinics which use the devices every day. I made it clear that this sort of attitude was stunningly short-sighted and could only cause harm to both the makers and users of these devices. Indeed, the committee learned that the FDA on June 28, 1998 requested that the nearly 2000 medical device manufacturers immediately respond and indicate their level of year 2000 compliance. This initial lack of response was indeed irresponsible. According to the FDA, of the nearly 1,935 medical manufacturers surveyed, approximately 755 replied.

Let me repeat this. Of the nearly 2,000 manufacturers of life-critical medical devices, the FDA tells us that less than 40 percent responded to the oversight agency tasked with insuring that critical medical devices still work when you and I and the people we love are in need and might depend on this sophisticated equipment.

Again this is unacceptable. I am therefore submitting a list of those manufacturers that did not reply to the FDA's request for information to the RECORD for all Americans to see. It is my hope that these companies quickly comply and provide information as to the year 2000 readiness of these critical medical devices. It is also my hope that this will serve as a wake up call to other industries to be vigilant, responsible and pro-active in their efforts to insure that Americans wake up to a wonderful new year on January first of the year 2000.

Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent the list of these companies be printed in the RECORD. I understand the Government Printing Office estimates the cost of printing this list to be $1,426.00.

There being no objection, the list was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from North Dakota.

INTERNET LEGISLATION AND THE RIGHT TO ADDRESS KEY ISSUES

Mr. DORGAN. Mr. President, going back to the previous discussion on the Internet tax issue that the Senator from Arizona raised, I want to make a comment about both the objection raised by the minority leader, Senator DASCHLE, as well as the bill itself.

The bill started out being a very controversial piece of legislation. There was great disagreement on exactly whether and how to proceed on this issue. But I must say, the Senator from Oregon, the Senator from Arizona, and others have worked with a number of us who have had reservations and concerns about the bill. I think we have made a substantial amount of progress. I expect at some point it will get to the floor of the Senate here, and I will hope to be helpful on a compromise that I think does the right thing.

I always said if the proposition is, let us not apply punitive taxes to the Internet, I am for that. I am for a prohibition against punitive taxes on the Internet. But the way it was described initially, I have a lot of concerns about that. There have been a lot of changes made on this bill and I think the changes made a lot of progress. I compliment the Senator from Arizona and the Senator from Oregon as we continue to discuss this. But I did want to mention one additional point.

The Senator from South Dakota, Senator DASCHLE, was constrained to object. I know the Senator from Arizona understands well the concerns. It is not just about the issue of the Patients' Bill of Rights. We must also find a way to address this agricultural crisis in a satisfactory manner. If we do not, about 20 percent of the family farmers in North Dakota will not be in the field next spring. It is a devastating circumstance in the farm belt.

So the Senator from South Dakota was saying we need somehow to protect our rights to address these key issues. I know the Senator from Arizona acknowledged that he understood that. I just wanted to point out, again, it is not anybody's intention to provide roadblocks. What we want to try to do is see if we can find avenues to address significant and real issues.

Yes, the Internet bill will get here and I think get done at some point. But we need to protect the rights, as legislation brought is to the floor, to deal with the Patients' Bill of Rights and to deal with the agricultural crisis which is potentially so devastating to the farm belt in this country.

I wanted to make that point clear to reinforce the comments made by Senator DASCHLE earlier.

I yield the floor. I know the Senator from Oregon wishes to be recognized.

Mr. WYDEN addressed the Chair.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Oregon.

Mr. WYDEN. Mr. President, I will be brief. First, I thank the Senator from North Dakota for all the work he has done over the last few months on the Internet tax freedom bill. We are going to get there to no small degree because the Senator from North Dakota has worked so closely with us. I thank him for it.

In the last few minutes, we have talked about two extremely important subjects: the question of a Patients' Bill of Rights and the Internet tax freedom bill. Both of these bills are extremely important to me. In fact, shortly after I came to the U.S. Senate in 1996, I offered one of the key provisions in the Patients' Bill of Rights with Senator KENNEDY. It was legislation to ban these gag clauses, these ridiculous provisions in managed care agreements that literally keep physicians from telling their patients about all their health care options. These gag clauses are unconscionable. We received over 50 votes the first time we brought it to the floor of the U.S. Senate, at a time when people knew very little about the subject. I feel very strongly about the Patients' Bill of Rights and, hopefully, we can get an agreement, and I do think we can get an agreement that is bipartisan.

I also want to say, Mr. President, how strongly I feel about passing the Internet tax freedom legislation as well. It is time for the U.S. Senate to begin to write the rules for the digital economy. The Internet is clearly going to be the business infrastructure in the 21st century. Usage is doubling every 60 days, or thereabouts, and it is clear we don't have any ground rules to address the critical issues that involve electronic commerce.

If somebody in Iowa, for example, wants to order fruit from Harry and David's in Medford, OR, ship it to their cousin in Florida, pay for it with a bank card in New York and do it through America Online in Virginia, what are going to be the ground rules with respect to taxes?

What the Internet cannot afford is the development of a crazy quilt of discriminatory taxes with respect to this burgeoning area of our economy. That is why it is so important that the Senate move on this legislation.

I will close by saying a word about the manager of the legislation, the Senator from Arizona. Throughout these many months, the chairman of the Commerce Committee, the Senator from Arizona, and his staff have worked very closely with me and have worked very closely with a host of Members of the U.S. Senate. There have been more than 30 separate changes made in the Internet tax freedom bill from the time it was originally introduced on a bipartisan basis.

I want it understood that a bipartisan effort under the leadership of Chairman MCCAIN has been made for many, many months now, involving Senator STEVENS originally, with respect to the Universal Service Fund. Senator DORGAN has had a variety of issues with respect to treatment of the States. Senator BUMPERS has had enormous contributions and questions that we felt had to be addressed, as well as Senators GREGG and ENZI.

I am very hopeful that very shortly this week this legislation is going to be brought to the floor of the U.S. Senate, and I am very hopeful that it can be brought to the floor in a way that will also allow for the important Patients' Bill of Rights legislation to go forward.

I have spent a considerable amount of my time since coming to the U.S. Senate on both of these issues, working on both of them in a bipartisan fashion. I think both of them are now ready for consideration on the floor of the Senate.

I see the chairman of the Commerce Committee is here now and has another important bill to bring up. I will close by, again, expressing my appreciation to him for all the time that he has put in to try to get the Internet tax freedom legislation specifically before the Senate. I believe we are ready now, and certainly those Senators who have brought amendments to the chairman and myself have a right to be heard and they should be heard.

I believe we are ready for an agreement that will protect the rights of every Member of the U.S. Senate and, at the same time, allow the Senate to go forward and take the first steps—it is going to be a long journey—it is time to take the first steps to writing some of the essential rules for the digital economy, the Internet, which is going to so dominate our lives in the next century.

Mr. President, I yield the floor.

Mr. MCCAIN addressed the Chair.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Arizona.

Mr. MCCAIN. Mr. President, I say to my friend from Oregon, he is too kind in his remarks. The fact is that this legislation was originated by the Senator from Oregon. I have been glad to assist and help in that effort. He has done the heavy lifting. I appreciate his kind remarks.

I assure him that in discussions with the Democratic leader, with Senator DORGAN and others, I am confident that we will get this bill up and done in the next few days. I thank him for all of his efforts.

The Senator from North Dakota mentioned the difficulties in North Dakota. North Dakota has gotten more than its share of natural disasters this year, including one man-made in the form of an airline strike that was very damaging to the economy of his State. I certainly believe that all of us are in sympathy with the agriculture crisis in America.

Mr. President, I have been awaiting the presence of Senator FORD, who is going to manage on the other side. I am a bit reluctant to move forward, so I ask unanimous consent to proceed as in morning business for 5 minutes.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? Without objection, it is so ordered.

THE SITUATION IN KOSOVO

Mr. MCCAIN. Mr. President, in the already strife-torn region of the former Yugoslavia, the new year of 1998 was initiated with a new declaration of war. A then-small group of pro-independence rebels calling themselves the Kosovo Liberation Army announced its intention to fight for the independence of the Kosovo region of what remains of Yugoslavia. With the wounds from Bosnia still festering and U.S. and allied troops seemingly locked into an intractable peacekeeping operation with no end in sight, Europe and the United States once again found themselves with a serious dilemma involving life and death decisions. The subsequent nine months of conflict in the Albanian majority province of Serbia have illuminated the degree to which the enlightened nations of the West continue to wrestle with the most fundamental tenets of conflict prevention and resolution. The results are not impressive.

We have not lacked for rhetoric, but we have proven woefully inadequate at backing up our words with resolute action. Relatively early in the conflict, but long after the gravity of the situation was apparent, Secretary of State Albright warned that Serbia would "pay a price" for its characteristically scorched-earth military campaign against the KLA and its ethnic Albanian supporters. "We are not going to stand by and watch . . ." she declared, while ". . . Serbian authorities do in Kosovo what they can no longer get away with doing in Bosnia."

During the June meeting in Luxembourg of the European Union foreign ministers, Britain's Foreign Secretary Robin Cook was quoted as stating, "Modern Europe will not tolerate the full might of an army being used against civilian centers." A few days later, as reported by the Washington Post, Yugoslavia's reply to threats of NATO airstrikes could be heard for miles around. The nightly bombardment of border villages occupied by rebels of the Kosovo Liberation Army has unleashed a flood of tens of thousands of refugees. Caught in the cross-fire, they have seen their homes shelled, then torched by government forces in what other nations and international organizations have denounced as "ethnic cleansing".

The next day, NATO fighter jets streaked across Albanian skies in a show of force that was less than the sum of its parts. "I'm very glad," one Albanian said, "because it shows that [NATO is] for the liberation of Kosovo." In less time than it took our fighters to land at Aviano, though, U.S. and allied credibility had descended to new depths, and the victims of Serb aggression were once again lulled into a false sense of security. United States foreign policy in the Balkans has once again been shattered by the reality of a dictatorial regime adept at manipulating the anemic diplomatic process that resulted in tens of thousands of deaths in Bosnia and has now left Kosovo in ruins.

By conducting that aerial show of force back in June without following-through, and by repeatedly allowing the regime of Yugoslav President Slobodan Milosevic to employ his tactics from Bosnia of professing compliance with United Nations demands one day only to return to his policy of ethnic cleansing the next, the United Nations has failed to accomplish the overriding goal for which it was created: the resolution of conflict so that the crimes of the past would not be repeated in the future. Mr. President, the scale of human tragedy before us cries out for a European response that it has heretofore been unwilling to countenance.

There is no question that Russian and Chinese opposition to Security Council resolutions authorizing the use of force to compel Serb compliance has been a serious, and tragic, obstacle to the kind of resolute response circumstances demand. It is also inarguably difficult to castigate the United Nations while simultaneously insisting that United States and NATO policy should not be subordinate to the dictates of the U.N. with regard to a conflict so central to European stability. As is often the case in international relations these days, we do not enjoy the luxury of the level of clarity prevalent during the Cold War when Europe was firmly and evenly divided between competing centers of power.

Europe must take responsibility for the security of the Balkans. The United States cannot and should not be vested with responsibility for maintaining security in the Balkans in perpetuity. Putting aside for a moment the utter inability of the current Administration to articulate and implement a sound policy with regard to Kosovo, both the United States and Europe must come to terms once and for all with the central imperative of supporting diplomacy with force.

Right now, the Serbs are conducting a major offensive against the remnants of the KLA. In fact, this latest offensive cannot truthfully be characterized as counterinsurgency in nature; the cold, hard fact is, as with Bosnia before it, the Serb nation is carrying out the very type of brutal, inhumane ethnic cleansing for which it was universally criticized prior to the Dayton Accords. As with Bosnia, a strong, meaningful—and I emphasize “meaningful”—employment of military power against Serb military forces and associated infrastructure at the outset could have prevented the scale of devastation that has subsequently transpired. Will Europe learn? If history is a guide, the lessons for other peoples subject to domination by stronger neighbors are not positive.

Our former majority leader, Bob Dole, upon returning from Kosovo, stated that “American and European leaders have pledged not to allow the crimes against humanity which we witnessed in Bosnia to occur in Kosovo. But from what I have seen, such crimes are already happening.”

Mr. President, prominently displayed in the United Nations building in New York is Picasso’s famous and haunting “Guernica.” That painting symbolized for the artist the carnage, the human suffering on an enormous scale, that resulted from the Spanish Civil War—a prelude to the Second World War. Perhaps it is too abstract for those countries in the United Nations that oppose the use of force to stop the atrocities that have come to symbolize the former Yugoslavia, or that believe the war in Kosovo is the internal business of Serbia. A few minutes away from here is a reminder of what happens when Edmund Burke’s adage that “all that is necessary for the triumph of evil is for good men to do nothing” is ignored.

Ethnic cleansing is not an abstract concept in the Holocaust Memorial Museum. Technology has advanced to wondrous degrees during this century, but the basic nature of man remains the same. He is capable of great good; he is just as equally capable of the kind of actions that have made places like Auschwitz, Cambodia, Rwanda, Srebrenica, the Gulag Archipelego, and Nanking synonymous with sorrow. To this list, will we have to add Kosovo? The situation is clearly not at that stage, but the onset of winter could change that very quickly, with implications that I don’t want my small children to have to read about in their history books with shame.

The Europeans have never been very adept at maintaining peace within and between their boundaries. It is instructive that the longest single period of peace the continent has experienced was during the Cold War when the United States stationed over 300,000 troops there. That troop strength has since been reduced by two-thirds, and the stabilizing aspects of the bipolar structure are gone. The turbulence of the post-Cold War world demands a level of competence on the part of those entrusted with our national security and foreign policy that is sadly lacking. The history of the conflicts in Bosnia and Kosovo are histories of threats not carried out and of the strong being outmaneuvered by the weaker. This Administration’s conduct of diplomacy with regard to Serbia, North Korea and Iraq is somewhat akin to what would happen if Thucydides’ Melian Dialogue were reversed, and the weak were dictating terms to the strong.

But the stakes here are real. The situation in Kosovo is potentially more dangerous than was the case in Bosnia. The KLA’s professed long-term goal of uniting the Albanian populations of Kosovo, Macedonia and Albania into a greater Albania cannot be ignored. The conduct of Serbia’s campaign against the insurgents similarly holds the potential for spreading beyond the confines of that beleaguered province. We cannot afford the level of diplomatic ineptitude that has been prevalent with regard to the former Yugoslavia since 1992.

The United Nations’ stagnation as an instrument of conflict resolution during the Cold War was, to an extent, understandable. Its failure in the Balkans, however, is a very bad omen indeed for its ability to perform its most essential core task. The Clinton Administration’s inability to comprehend the limitations of that body—the U.N. is, after all, comprised of nations and not of ideals—do not augur well for the protection of United States security interests abroad. NATO, meanwhile, continues its contingency planning with a range of military options, but anything less than truly decisive force that makes the regime in Belgrade fear for its survival will leave us with a battle yet to be fought, just as it has in Iraq. A token number of cruise missiles will cost a lot of money, but will not accomplish our goals. Missing is a strategy for ending the conflict, vice compelling President Milosevic to agree to talk about negotiations. The employment of military force must be sufficient to destroy the internal power structure that sustains those prosecuting crimes against humanity. In short, NATO must either be prepared to do what militaries are trained to do, prevail, or it will reap limited gains of short duration.

Mr. President, people are dying. Prevarication, the modus operandi of this administration when decisive actions are required, carries a price in lives. The world will look to this body for a glimpse of the level of U.S. resolve, seeing little in the White House. That is a burden we must face with the grace and dignity and moral fortitude that comes from representing the citizens of the greatest country in history. It is a burden that carries with it implications that none should take lightly. Not just in Kosovo but elsewhere where our interests are threatened, the world must know that the United States will stand firm and will not follow the path that leads to the inclusion of more places in the list of sorrow.

Mr. President, last night I was at a function here in Washington. All of us who are Members of the Senate attend many functions, many of them nightly. This was kind of a special evening, at least for many of us, and that is because we honored Senator Bob Dole, our former majority leader of the Senate and former nominee of our party for President of the United States.

Bob Dole gave a moving, persuasive and compelling speech, probably the likes of which I have never heard him give in the many years I have been a friend and a compatriot of Senator Dole.

This speech that he gave last night, Mr. President, was so strong and so compelling that I ask unanimous consent that it, along with my introduction, be printed in the RECORD.

There being no objection, the material was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

REMARKS BY SENATOR JOHN McCAIN AWARDED THE IRI 1998 FREEDOM AWARD TO SENATOR ROBERT DOLE, SEPTEMBER 22, 1998

If you will permit me, I would now like to talk a little bit about some other attributes of Senator Dole’s character. It is my privilege tonight to present the 1998 Freedom Award to Bob, and to make a few, brief remarks explaining why the IRI Board of Directors was pleased to recognize with this award Bob’s contribution to the American cause—the cause of freedom.

I am at a little disadvantage, however. Two years ago, when Bob honored me by asking me to place his name in nomination at the Republican Convention in San Diego, I tried as best I could to state succinctly why I admire Bob so much, and why I thought he would make a great president. I fear that there is little I can offer tonight that would be a truer expression of my regard for Bob than the thoughts I offered in that speech. So I thought I would begin by doing what most politicians love to do: and that is, by quoting myself.

I wanted to open my speech in San Diego with a statement that would encompass all the reasons I believe Bob Dole to be such an honorable man; what it was that so distinguished Bob that I thought him worthy to hold the highest office in the land. After considerable thought on the matter, I came up with a description of Bob’s character that could also serve as a pretty good definition of patriotism. It reads as follows:

“In America we celebrate the virtues of the quiet hero; the modest man who does his duty without complaint or expectation of praise; the man who listens closely for the call of his country, and when she calls, he answers without reservation, not for fame or reward, but for love. He loves his country.”

Today, no less than two years ago, Bob Dole and patriotism are synonymous to me. He loves his country, and has served her faithfully and well all of his adult life. And though his country is honored by his service, he has asked nothing of his country in return save the opportunity to serve her further.

He loves his country’s cause, and has since he took up arms many years ago to defend American freedom, been a champion for the cause of freedom wherever it is opposed. He was and is an outspoken advocate for all those who are denied their God-given rights to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

His was among the first voices to bring America's attention to the terrible assault on human life and dignity in Bosnia.

For many years, he has tried to alert the world to the persecution of ethnic Albanians in Kosovo. From the Balkans to Latin America, he has distinguished himself as an ardent defender of the rights of Man, as many people who have struggled courageously to claim those rights would attest.

He has done so, I believe, because he had cause in his life to appreciate how sacred are those rights, and how great are the sacrifices that are too often necessary to defend them.

"There is nothing good about war," Bob once wrote, "for those who have known the horror of battle. Only causes can be good." And of his war, the Second World War, he wrote, "millions of servicemen like myself found a cause to justify the greatest losses."

They were losses that Lieutenant Bob Dole witnessed personally, suffered personally. But the experience did not embitter him, but only reaffirmed for him the nobility of the cause he served. And he has, since the day he lay wounded in a valley in Northern Italy, found his honor in service to that cause.

Speaking of America, Bob could have been speaking of himself when he said that in war, America "found its mission. It was a mission unique in human history and uniquely American in its idealism: to influence without conquest and to hold democratic ideals in sacred trust while many people waited in captivity."

The word "duty" was once as common to our political lexicon as the words "soundbite" and "spin control" are today. We don't hear it mentioned much anymore. Rarely do public office holders offer the pledge that we once expected of all public officials: to do their duty as God has given them light to see it.

Of course, we do have an abundance of pledges in politics today. At times, we seem to be practically drowning in them, and as another election approaches I'm sure we will hear them all more than once. But what we should hear more, what I believe every American wants to hear, is the most solemn promise of all—the promise to put the country's interest before our self-interest.

I think the American people are almost desperate to believe once again that their leaders conceive of their duty in no lesser terms than that: to put the country and its cause first, and to that end, to pledge, as our Founding Fathers once memorably pledged, our lives, our fortunes and our sacred honor.

Bob Dole always construed his duty in those terms, believing that to do otherwise would not only ill-serve his country, but shame him personally. Not once, in his long years of service, has Bob given this country any reason to doubt that he has always done his duty, that he has always put his country first.

Later in 1995, President Clinton decided to commit American troops to Bosnia in the hope that they might keep the peace while the principles of the Dayton Accords took root in that sad country. The decision was not overwhelmingly popular in Congress, even less so among many Republicans who worried that the mission was ill-defined, and the problem too distant from American interests to justify risking American lives. I must admit that I, too, harbored strong doubts, and still do about the mission.

Bob had his misgivings as well, although he believed strongly, devoutly, that rendering assistance to the victims of aggression and unspeakable human atrocities wherever they were suffering was always America's business. So, he resolved to support the President's decision, and win from the Senate he led an expression of our support as well. It was neither an easy task nor a universally popular one within our own caucus.

Bob's opponents for the Republican presidential nomination had already spoken out in opposition to the decision, and were beginning to put extraordinary pressure on Bob to do likewise.

Were he to win the nomination he would be running against the man whose controversial decision to put Americans into harm's way Bob had now resolved to defend. You will remember, at the time, most people expected our soldiers to suffer more than a few casualties. I suspect more than one of Bob's campaign consultants advised him to walk away from the issue; to let someone else assume the burden of supporting our troops. But Bob conceived his duty differently.

He is a good Republican, but he is an American first. He has personal ambitions, but they are secondary to his ideals and his ambitions for his country. The President had decided to send American soldiers to Bosnia, and so they would go. Bob Dole intended to stand with them. They would risk their lives for a just cause. Bob Dole would risk his ambitions for them.

It was a simple, and these days, all too rare act of patriotism from a public servant who cannot conceive of sacrificing his country's interests for personal gain.

I have never been prouder of any man than I was of Bob Dole on that day when he reminded me how great a love is love of country, and how richly God has blessed America to spare us leaders, when we need them most, of courage and conscience.

Bob Dole has, through all the vicissitudes and temptations of a long life in public service, stayed true to his mission, the mission he glimpsed in a long ago battle on a now tranquil field in Italy. He has done his duty, as God gave him light to see his duty. And he has been a credit to America and American ideals.

Bob's hero has always been another Kansan, Dwight David Eisenhower, and he took as the model of faithful, honorable service that exacting sense of duty that characterized Eisenhower's leadership in war and peace. In all the voluminous archives of President Eisenhower's papers, no single article expresses more perfectly his decency, his courage, and his sense of personal responsibility to America than does the statement he wrote on the night before the allied invasion of France.

Prayerful that the invasion would succeed, but prepared for it to fail, General Eisenhower sat down, alone, to write a statement that assigned the blame for the decision should D-Day prove the calamity many feared it would be. He assigned it to himself, and himself alone.

"Our landings in the Cherbourg-Havre area have failed to gain a satisfactory foothold and I have withdrawn the troops. My decision to attack at this time and place was based upon the best information available. The troops, the air and the Navy did all that bravery and devotion to duty could do. If any blame or fault attends to the attempt, it is mine alone."

When, by the end of June 6, it became clear that the allied forces had, against daunting odds, accomplished most of their initial objectives, and the invasion had been a success, Eisenhower simply crumpled up the statement and threw it into a waste basket. His foresighted aide retrieved the paper and persuaded the General to preserve it for posterity so that Americans might someday benefit from his example of patriotism and principled leadership.

It is more than fitting, Bob, that IRI's 1998 Freedom Award include as a testament to your service, a rare copy of the original hand-written note by General Eisenhower provided to us by the Eisenhower Library in Atchison, Kansas. I take great pleasure in presenting it to you along with photograph of the General addressing his troops on the eve of D-Day, and a first edition copy of his personal account of the war, Crusade in Europe.

In addition, IRI is privileged to make a contribution in your name to the cause that is today so close to your heart, and which you serve as National Co-Chairman, the World War II Memorial Campaign. We offer this award to you with the knowledge that it is but a small expression of the esteem you are held in by IRI, everyone here tonight, and by the millions of people whose aspirations IRI was formed to support.

But the most important tribute we can offer you is to simply observe of those Americans who with you once sacrificed for something greater than their self-interest—those who came home with you to the country they loved so dearly, and those who rest forever in the European cemeteries—how proud they must be of you for having honored so well, in the many years since the guns fell silent in Europe, their faith and yours in the America of our hearts, the last, best hope of Earth.

SPEECH DELIVERED BY SENATOR BOB DOLE TO THE INTERNATIONAL REPUBLICAN INSTITUTE, SEPTEMBER 22, 1998

Senator McCain, Friends, Ladies and Gentlemen: It is a genuine honor to receive the Freedom Award from the International Republican Institute. It is an honor to be recognized by the IRI and also to be in the company of previous recipients, such as President Reagan and Colin Powell.

The IRI has made promoting freedom around the world its mission. In Latin America, Africa and Europe—in countries like Burma, Cambodia, Haiti, and Mexico. Bulgaria, Romania and Belarus, South Africa and Angola, the IRI has worked to promote freedom and in so doing, has made a real difference. Ask President Constantinescu how valuable IRI's training was. The proof was in the stunning 1996 election results that finally put Romania on the road to democracy.

IRI's mission is based on the recognition that there cannot be freedom without democracy, rule of law and free market economics. The IRI's job is to turn the legacy of communism and dictatorship into a future of liberty and prosperity. This is a monumentally important task.

I would like to commend the IRI staff and join in recognizing those staff that are here from Nicaragua, Romania and South Africa. The process of democratization is not an easy one—especially in countries like these which have a recent history of great strife, inequality and lack of liberty. Because of individuals like those recognized this evening and because of organizations like IRI, there is not only hope, but amazing progress—progress that would not have been imaginable two decades ago.

Tonight, I would like to take a few minutes to talk about a matter which I believe is of great importance to America—and of direct relevance to the critically important work of the IRI in fostering freedom. That is the situation in Kosovo.

Last Friday I met with President Clinton and National Security Adviser Berger to discuss this growing crisis. I told them what I witnessed and what I believed must be done. This is what I would like to share with you this evening.

There is a war going on right now in Kosovo because the United States, for nearly a decade, did not make liberty, democracy and free market economics the priority in the former Yugoslavia.

If the United States had made its priority in the former Yugoslavia democracy as opposed to unity, if the United States had promoted reform, instead of status quo, if the United States had isolated dictator Slobodan Milosevic, instead of embracing him, I believe we would not have seen three wars in the Balkans and would not now be witnessing the fourth—and perhaps the most dangerous conflict there since 1991.

Last week, I returned from a human rights and fact-finding mission to Kosovo with the very able Assistant Secretary John Shattuck. I was last in Kosovo in 1990, when the repression against the Kosovo Albanians had just begun. The Kosovars had been stripped of their political autonomy; the beginning of an apartheid-like system was just becoming apparent. Upon my return, I joined the few voices warning the US State Department, Pentagon and White House that war would come to Yugoslavia. And, it did. First Slovenia, then Croatia and not long after, Bosnia.

As terrible as the war in Bosnia proved to be, the war that both the Bush and Clinton administrations feared most was in Kosovo—where it seemed inevitable that conflict would easily spread into neighboring countries, thus destabilizing the entire region. In 1992, President Bush warned Serbian leader Slobodan Milosevic that the United States was prepared to use military force against Serb-instigated attacks in Kosovo. When he took office, President Clinton repeated this so-called “Christmas warning.”

Now six years later, Milosevic is again on the warpath. Based on what I saw two weeks ago, there should be no doubt that Serbia is engaged in major, systematic attacks on the people and territory of Kosovo.

Prior to my trip, I had seen some television reports of the suffering in Kosovo. These few images, however, were only a pale reflection of the widespread devastation of lives, property, and society. Many homes have been firebombed; we saw one home ablaze only yards away from a Serb police checkpoint. Entire villages have been abandoned. We encountered armed Serbian police every couple of miles and twenty checkpoints in just six hours.

The Albanians we met—mostly women, children and, the elderly—are living in fear for their lives. They are afraid to go where there are Serb police or other Serb armed forces. And so, despite the near freezing temperatures at night, hundreds of thousands of Kosovar Albanians remain hiding in the hills—without adequate food, water or shelter. Many thousands no longer have homes to return to. The children, in particular, are already showing signs of a vitamin deficient diet; they have sores on their mouths and most have scabies or other skin ailments resulting from a lack of sufficient hygiene. Humanitarian aid personnel are being harassed and even attacked. These aid organizations do not enjoy freedom of access, nor can they bring in certain critical supplies because Belgrade has placed an internal embargo on them.

During our visit, we also heard chilling testimony from eyewitnesses to human rights abuses and atrocities, including direct artillery attacks on civilians; seizures at gun point; and, as in Srebrenica in Bosnia, the separation of women and children from men.

There may be some even in this audience who may think this is a terrible humanitarian disaster, but why is it important to the United States? What does it have to do with freedom and democracy and American interests?

Yes, with hundreds of thousands of displaced persons and winter fast approaching, Kosovo is a humanitarian and human rights catastrophe. However, the problem in Kosovo is not a humanitarian one. It is a political and military crisis, whose most visible symptoms are humanitarian.

And so, while more humanitarian aid is desperately needed, such assistance will not solve the problem. And not solving the problem means that stability in that entire region—from Montenegro to Albania, Macedonia and Greece—is dangerously threatened.

America cannot wait three years, as it did in Bosnia, to deal effectively with this foreign policy crisis. We cannot afford to wait three months—for humanitarian and geopolitical reasons. Tiny Montenegro has closed its doors to fleeing Kosovars, burdened under the strain of thousands already seeking refuge there and by the struggle to distance itself from Milosevic. Albania is on the brink of anarchy. In the blink of an eye, violence could spread into Macedonia and tear that fragile new democracy in two.

And what is the American policy response at this moment? Active participation in diplomatic meetings that result in policy statements calling on Slobodan Milosevic to halt his attacks on Kosovo. In short, tough talk and no action.

As in Bosnia, America is asking the victims to negotiate with those who are attacking them. As in Bosnia, there is a real attempt to impose a moral equivalence—this time between Serbian forces and the rag-tag band of Albanians, known as the KLA, who have taken up arms against them. As in Bosnia, the United States is not leading its allies, but hiding behind their indecision. As in Bosnia, instead of firing up the engines, NATO is firing up excuses.

The bottom line is that once again, Western diplomats are trying to avoid the difficult decisions and are desperate not to take on the person most responsible for the misery, suffering and instability not only in Serbia, but the region: Slobodan Milosevic. As my friend Jeane, who is here tonight, has stated, Bosnia represents the single biggest foreign policy failure of the United States since World War II.

Are we ready to repeat that failure?

As the diplomats’ argument often goes, the situation on Kosovo is “complicated” and NATO needs UN Security Council authorization to act. Both of these assertions are dead wrong. First, the situation is not complicated. Indeed, it could not be clearer: This is a war against civilians, and we know who is responsible: Slobodan Milosevic. Second, NATO does not need and should not seek UN Security Council resolution authorizing it to take action to respond to a crisis in Europe that threatens stability in the region. All NATO needs is some leadership—from the United States first and foremost, and then from Britain, France and Germany.

Let us not forget that NATO’s credibility suffered in Bosnia when it acted as a subcontractor to the United Nations. Tying NATO to the UN now—with respect to Kosovo—will repeat that mistake. And, this time it could have an even more damaging effect on the credibility and relevance of the Atlantic Alliance.

When Secretary Shattuck and I met with Milosevic two weeks ago, he did not act like a man cowering in fear of NATO action. Instead, he acted like a man who had already gotten away with murder and would be rewarded for it. Milosevic denied any offensives were underway or being planned, yet within 36 hours of our departure, a serious offensive was begun in the region of Pec.

The time is long overdue for the US to embrace a policy that will end Milosevic’s reign of terror. The United States had the opportunity to do so when Milosevic was shelling the ancient Croatian port city of Dubrovnik in 1991. It did not. The United States had the opportunity again when the citizens of Sarajevo first had to man the barricades of their city in 1992. It did not. The United States had its most significant opportunity to do so at Dayton and did not. Indeed, the Clinton Administration’s failure to address the status of Kosovo at Dayton may be the single greatest failure of the already badly-flawed Dayton peace process.

The United States and its NATO allies must press urgently for a cease-fire and a simultaneous withdrawal of Serbian police and military forces by a date certain. The KLA must also commit not to attack. NATO must back this ultimatum with a plan to use major force immediately and effectively against Serb military assets if all of the conditions laid out are not met.

Let me be clear, the only language Milosevic understands is force.

With a cease-fire and withdrawal of all Serbian police and Yugoslavia Army forces, people can safely return to their homes and rebuild their lives with international assistance.

There would also be progress on the diplomatic front. Only if civilians are not under attack can Albanians and Serbian leaders engage in genuine negotiations—on a level playing field—with the goal of achieving a sustainable peace that is built on democratic institutions. Such a peace would guarantee that instability would not spread into Montenegro, Macedonia or Albania.

Let me also emphasize that a peace based on democratic principles and the creation of democratic institutions would also serve to strengthen the position of the fledgling democratic opposition in Serbia—especially by depriving Milosevic of the opportunity to distract Serb citizens from their deteriorating economy and near-pariah position in Europe. Such a deal would provide significant momentum to the democratization process, momentum which the IRI could capitalize on by expanding its programs there.

In conclusion, let me emphasize that half-measures and interim deals will not do. The options are not easy, but that cannot be a justification for Bank-Aid diplomacy. Over the past eight years numerous opportunities have been wasted. American officials at the highest levels have publicly pledged not to allow the crimes against humanity that we witnessed in Bosnia to be repeated in Kosovo. From what I have seen first-hand, such crimes are already occurring—and the ramifications will not be limited to the plight of the Kosovars.

Freedom and liberty—the principles that America stands for—are at stake. American credibility and European stability are on the line. What is urgently needed now is American leadership and a firm commitment to a genuine and just peace in Kosovo. It is my hope that President Clinton will do the right thing and that there will be strong support—among Republicans and Democrats. Many of you here tonight can play a role in forging broad bipartisan support for American resolve to end this conflict once and for all.

Mr. McCAIN. Mr. President, Senator Dole spoke about the crisis in Kosovo. We all know that with the ongoing scandal in our Nation’s Capital, many of our important national security issues are being ignored, whether it be Iraq or Korea or the Middle East peace process. But Bob Dole focused the attention and riveted the attention of the audience last night, as he did in a recent op-ed piece in the Washington Post, on this terrible situation that exists today and the impending terrible tragedies that will ensue in Kosovo with the onset of winter.

Bob Dole pointed out that literally hundreds of thousands of people of Albanian nationality are in the mountains around Kosovo. These people will freeze to death, they will starve to death, and they will die by the thousands and thousands if something isn't done and done quickly.

Bob Dole's speech and his commitment on this issue should serve as a compelling call to this administration to act—to act—on Kosovo in consultation with the Congress of the United States and the American people.

Six months ago, the Secretary of State of the United States of America stated we will not allow the Serbs to do in Kosovo what we have prevented them from doing in Bosnia, and exactly what we prevented in Bosnia is taking place in Kosovo at the cost of possibly hundreds of thousands of innocent lives.

I urge all of my colleagues to read the speech that Bob Dole delivered last night, which has already been printed in the RECORD. Read it and take heed, because I know of no one who has the credentials that Bob Dole has to speak on not only all issues of national security but particularly this issue because of his deep and profound and prolonged involvement, and now very emotional involvement, in this issue.

Mr. SMITH of Oregon. Mr. President, I was inspired to come to the floor to respond and to support the words of my friend from Arizona as he spoke very eloquently and emotionally about the plight of the people of Kosovo. Growing up as a little boy, I have to tell you, I saw, with all Americans, reports and film footage from the Second World War where we saw a holocaust carried out in a previous decade. And I reacted with horror at things that I saw that humankind could do to one another.

It just seemed to me, at a young age, that if we had the ability to stop holocausts in our time that we should. I know we cannot be the policemen of the world, but I am here to tell you we are right now in Bosnia. We supported our President. And we are maintaining peace in Bosnia. But right next door we are witnessing a holocaust unfold before our eyes, and we apparently are paralyzed in our efforts to respond.

Winter is coming, and tens of thousands of Kosovar Albanians are in the hills and will soon die if something is not done to ensure their rights, to ensure their safety, and to stop the bloodshed.

Mr. President, I want to suggest that one person is solely and directly responsible for the catastrophe unfolding before our eyes, and that is President Milosevic of Serbia. He has indicated no willingness to negotiate a solution that will allow the Kosovar Albanians to exercise their legitimate political rights. He is interested in one thing and one thing only—the consolidating and maintaining of his power on that country and region. And he apparently will do anything to ensure that this remains the case.

Mr. President, for months the United States and our allies have stood by and watched one onslaught after another in Kosovo, rendering enormous tragedies in that land; and yet we just respond with critical statements in the face of Serb offenses. For months the United States has told Milosevic that we will not let him get away with in Kosovo what he has done in Bosnia, but yet we do nothing. We do nothing to stop his onslaught. For months, the United States has threatened the use of force if Mr. Milosevic does not take necessary actions to withdraw his forces from Kosovo and to begin a serious process of negotiation.

I am saddened to say the other day a reporter just outside this Chamber asked me if we were doing nothing as a country in the face of this holocaust because of the President's internal difficulties, because of his unwillingness to wag the dog, if you will. I cannot think of anything more indicative of why we need to make sure our Commander in Chief can respond, to have a Commander in Chief that can respond with the integrity of his office. And here we sit paralyzed in the face of unfolding, unspeakable tragedy.

I am here to say one thing to Mr. Milosevic: Our patience in the U.S. Senate is running out. I join the Senator from Arizona, and many others, in saying time has run out and that I will support vigorous and, if necessary, unilateral use of force against Serbian installations in Kosovo and in Serbia proper. It is time for American leadership in Kosovo. It is unfortunate that we have thus far not seen evidence of this from the Clinton administration.

If it is up to Congress to provide the leadership, so be it. I welcome Senator McCAIN's call for action. I understand the former majority leader, Bob Dole, has made the same call. And I join them today in support of America doing something unilaterally, if necessary, to take action to stop this tragedy, this unfolding holocaust.

Thank you, Mr. President. I yield the floor.

Mr. McCAIN. Madam President, I now ask for the regular order.

“(B) in accordance with conditions and limitations prescribed for that operator by the Administrator; and

“(C) in accordance with any effective air tour management plan for that park or those tribal lands.

“(2) APPLICATION FOR OPERATING AUTHORITY.—

“(A) APPLICATION REQUIRED.—Before commencing commercial air tour operations over a national park or tribal lands, a commercial air tour operator shall apply to the Administrator for authority to conduct the operations over that park or those tribal lands.

“(B) COMPETITIVE BIDDING FOR LIMITED CAPACITY PARKS.—Whenever a commercial air tour management plan limits the number of commercial air tour flights over a national park area during a specified time frame, the Administrator, in cooperation with the Director, shall authorize commercial air tour operators to provide such service. The authorization shall specify such terms and conditions as the Administrator and the Director find necessary for management of commercial air tour operations over the national park. The Administrator, in cooperation with the Director, shall develop an open competitive process for evaluating proposals from persons interested in providing commercial air tour services over the national park.

making a selection from among various proposals submitted, the Administrator, in cooperation with the Director, shall consider relevant factors, including—

“(i) the safety record of the company or pilots;“(ii) any quiet aircraft technology proposed for use;

“(iii) the experience in commercial air tour operations over other national parks or scenic areas;

“(iv) the financial capability of the company;“(v) any training programs for pilots; and

“(vi) responsiveness to any criteria developed by the National Park Service or the affected national park.

“(C) NUMBER OF OPERATIONS AUTHORIZED.—In determining the number of authorizations to issue to provide commercial air tour service over a national park, the Administrator, in cooperation with the Director, shall take into consideration the provisions of the air tour management plan, the number of existing commercial air tour operators and current level of service and equipment provided by any such companies, and the financial viability of each commercial air tour operation.

“(b) AIR TOUR MANAGEMENT PLANS.—

“(1) ESTABLISHMENT OF ATMPS.—

“(A) IN GENERAL.—The Administrator shall, in cooperation with the Director, establish an air tour management plan for any national park or tribal land for which such a plan is not already in effect whenever a person applies for authority to operate a commercial air tour over the park. The development of the air tour management plan is to be a cooperative undertaking between the Federal Aviation Administration and the National Park Service. The air tour management plan shall be developed by means of a public process, and the agencies shall develop information and analysis that explains the conclusions that the agencies make in the application of the respective criteria. Such explanations shall be included in the Record of Decision and may be subject to judicial review.

“(B) OBJECTIVE.—The objective of any air tour management plan shall be to develop acceptable and effective measures to mitigate or prevent the significant adverse impacts, if any, of commercial air tours upon the natural and

“(3) NEW ENTRANT AIR TOUR OPERATORS.—

“(A) IN GENERAL.—The Administrator, in cooperation with the Director, may grant interim operating authority under this paragraph to an air tour operator for a national park for which that operator is a new entrant air tour operator if the Administrator determines the authority is necessary to ensure competition in the provision of commercial air tours over that national park or those tribal lands.

“(B) SAFETY LIMITATION.—The Administrator may not grant interim operating authority under subparagraph (A) if the Administrator determines that it would create a safety problem at that park or on tribal lands, or the Director determines that it would create a noise problem at that park or on tribal lands.

“(C) ATMP LIMITATION.—The Administrator may grant interim operating authority under subparagraph (A) of this paragraph only if the air tour management plan for the park or tribal lands to which the application relates has not been developed within 24 months after the date of enactment of the Wendell H. Ford National Air Transportation System Improvement Act of 1998.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Arizona is recognized.

Mr. MCCAIN. Madam President, since Senator FORD is not here yet, I will not ask for a unanimous consent agreement because I believe he would object at this time. But what I do want to do is go over the pending amendments, as I know what they are, and urge my colleagues to call in within the next half hour or come over with any amendments they may have to this bill so that we can get a unanimous consent agreement narrowed down on the amendments to the bill.

The amendments that I now understand would be pending are: McCain-Ford amendment, which is a managers' amendment, which is 10 minutes equally divided; a McCain amendment, which is relevant, 5 minutes equally divided; a Hollings amendment, relevant, 5 minutes equally divided; a Gorton, relevant amendment, 5 minutes equally divided; a Ford amendment, relevant, 5 minutes equally divided; a Bingaman amendment, overflights, bolster Native Americans' role, 30 minutes equally divided; DeWine sense of Senate, 10 minutes equally divided; Dorgan, regional jet tax incentives, 2 hours equally divided; Dorgan, mandatory interline and joint fair agreements, 2 hours equally divided; Faircloth, sense of the Senate, 5 minutes equally divided; Inhofe, FAA emergency revocation power, 10 minutes equally divided; Mikulski-Sarbanes—two amendments—Reagan National Airport, slots and perimeter rule, 30 minutes equally divided; Roth, reintroduce title VIII to the bill, 5 minutes equally divided; Thompson, criminal penalties for airmen who fly without a certificate, 10 minutes equally divided; Torricelli, Quiet Communities Act, S. 951, 1 hour equally divided; D'Amato-Moynihan, DOT issue 70 slot exemptions at JFK Airport, 10 minutes equally divided; Lott-Frist-Moynihan, limit eligible airport size for regional jet section and Reagan National commuter slots, 10 minutes equally divided; Reed of Rhode Island, noise at Rhode Island airport, 15 minutes equally divided; Reed of Rhode Island, cost-sharing notice, 15 minutes equally divided; Robb, Reagan National Airport, slots and perimeter rule, 1 hour equally divided; Snowe, handicapped access violations, increase civil penalty, 10 minutes equally divided; Snowe, community air service grants, regional distribution, 10 minutes equally divided; Warner, prohibit new Reagan National slots and perimeter rule exemptions until Washington Metropolitan Airport Authority nominees confirmed by the Senate, 1 hour equally divided; Warner, notice, comment, and hearings before proceeding with Reagan National slots and perimeter rule exemptions.

If there are additional amendments to the bill, I would urge my colleagues to send them over so that sometime within the next hour we could try to initially propose a unanimous consent agreement at least to narrow down the list of amendments.

Madam President, I want to make clear to my colleagues the importance of this legislation and why we need to resolve it as quickly as we possibly can. Today is the 23rd of September, 1998. If we do not get a bill into conference and back and passed by the 1st of October, at least $2 billion worth of moneys out of the airport trust fund/aviation trust fund will not be allowed to move forward, and also there are many letters of intent that entail hundreds of millions more.

Madam President, we all know how important aviation is to America. We all know how important it is for us to move forward with the ever growing air traffic in the United States of America.

Madam President, I rise in support of S. 2279, the Wendell H. Ford National Air Transportation System Improvement Act of 1998. Today, I will be offering a manager's amendment to the bill as reported by the Commerce Committee on July 14, 1998. This bill, as modified by the manager's amendment, has the support of Committee Ranking Member Senator HOLLINGS, Aviation Subcommittee Chairman GORTON, Aviation Subcommittee Ranking Member Senator FORD, and myself. As I indicated on the floor last week, this is a "must-pass" piece of legislation which includes critical aviation projects such as safety, security, capacity and noise projects at airports across the Nation.

Madam President, if the Congress does not pass legislation to reauthorize the programs of the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA), the FAA will be prohibited from issuing grants to airports in every state, regardless of whether the transportation appropriations bill is signed into law. Therefore, we must act to reauthorize the programs of the FAA before we leave this year.

I would like to highlight three areas of importance which this bill addresses. First and foremost, it reauthorizes the FAA and Airport Improvement Program, AIP. Second, the bill contains essential provisions to promote a competitive aviation industry. Last but not least, it will protect the environment in our national parks from the harmful effects of excessive commercial air tour overflights. I have worked long and hard on all of these issues. And many of these long and hard times have been spent with Senator FORD, the Senator from Kentucky.

This bill provides a two-year authorization for most programs of the FAA including FAA Operations, Facilities and Equipment, and AIP, the Airport Improvement Plan, Research, Engineering and Development (RE&D) programs have already been authorized for FY 1999 by separate legislation that was signed into law on February 11, 1998. S. 2279 authorizes the AIP at $2.4 billion for Fiscal Year 1999.

The legislation also includes funding for aviation security. Two years ago, the Congress passed the 1996 FAA reauthorization bill which contained numerous provisions designed to improve security at our nation's airlines and airports. These provisions included accelerating deployment of the latest explosive detection systems; enhancing passenger screening processes; requiring criminal history record checks on screeners; and requiring regular joint threat assessments and testing baggage match procedures. While these provisions have helped secure our airlines and airports, the legislation before us builds upon the security foundation we established 2 years ago.

Madam President, S. 2279 legislation also includes several provisions to enhance competition in the airline industry. On October 29, 1997, I introduced the Aviation Competition Enhancement Act of 1997, S. 1331. The purpose of this bill was to further deregulate our domestic aviation system for the benefit of travelers and communities, by promoting more convenient options and competitive air fares for travelers. According to the General Accounting Office report of October 1996, several factors have limited entry at many airports. These factors include the dominance of routes to and from the four slot controlled airports by one or two established airlines. In April 1996, the Department of Transportation conducted a study that estimated that almost 40 percent of domestic passengers traveled in markets with low fare competition, saving consumers an estimated $6.3 billion annually in airline fares.

Due to the interest of other Senators to increase competition in the airline industry, I worked with Senators FRIST and LOTT on a substitute to Senator FRIST's competition legislation, S. 1353, which the Commerce Committee also reported out of Committee on July 14, 1998. These provisions are also included in the bill that is now before us.

The competition provisions—and I would like to again give great credit to Senators FRIST and LOTT—have three main elements. First, they would provide slot exemptions for nonstop regional jets to fly to and from so-called underserved communities and the four slot-controlled airports—Reagan National, O'Hare, LaGuardia, and JFK—would create 12 new round-trip flights at Ronald Reagan Washington National Airport, and provide limited exemptions to the perimeter rule at Reagan National and finally, would add additional slots at Chicago O'Hare. I will comment on each of these provisions.

The slot exemptions for nonstop regional jets must be approved by the Secretary of Transportation for service between a nonhub airport and a small hub airport and the high density airports which are O'Hare, LaGuardia, and JFK.

At Reagan National, the legislation would create 6 new daily round-trip flights beyond the 1,250-mile perimeter, a federally imposed restriction, and 6 new daily round-trip flights to underserved markets within the perimeter. Carriers can only use Stage 3 aircraft that meet strict noise requirements in the new slots. The new service will result in only one or two new flights per hour at the airport.

At Chicago O'Hare, the legislation as reported by the Commerce Committee would provide discretionary authority to the Secretary of Transportation to convert up to 100 unused military slots to air-carrier slots over three years at Chicago's O'Hare Airport. Due to concerns raised by some Senators, however, I have worked on a compromise regarding additional flights at O'Hare. Under the agreement which is included in the managers amendment we are offering today, the Secretary of Transportation would be directed to allocate 30 new daily take-off and landing slots over the next three years. Specifically, eighteen slots would provide service to underserved communities, and twelve slots would be available for general distribution.

I would now like to address those members of the Senate who have concerns about the possible increase in noise at O'Hare and Reagan National due to the increase in slots. The aircraft that operate in these new slots would be required to operate Stage 3 aircraft only. Stage 3 aircraft is the quietest technology available today. The entire domestic fleet is in the process of converting from Stage 2 aircraft to the significantly quieter Stage 3 aircraft. Currently, the fleet is 75 percent Stage 3. By 2000, thanks to legislation previously passed, it must become 100 percent Stage 3. Once the fleet becomes 100 percent Stage 3, the noise impact on areas surrounding airports will drop significantly.

At Reagan National, the FAA has already stated that the phaseout of Stage 2 aircraft will have a significant impact on noise at the airport. Therefore, adding a few more flights of quieter Stage 3 aircraft certainly should not cause noise levels to approach what they are today.

At O'Hare, before granting any of the exemptions, the Secretary is to study and report on the environmental considerations that are associated with the flights that would utilize the additional exemptions, including determining that there is no significant increase in noise. I want to repeat: including the Secretary must determine that there is no significant increase in noise. The Secretary must certify that sufficient capacity is available at O'Hare to accommodate the additional flights, and that the exemptions can be used safely.

Prior to issuing any of the slot exemptions, the Secretary is to provide 30-days public notice in the Federal Register. Furthermore, the Secretary is to consult with local officials on the noise and environmental issues surrounding granting of the exemptions. At the end of three years, the Secretary will again study and report on how safety, the environment, noise, access to underserved markets throughout the country, and competition at Chicago O'Hare have been impacted by the new exemptions.

Meanwhile, the revised bill will direct the Secretary to study and report on the community noise levels in the areas surrounding the four high density airports O'Hare, Reagan National, LaGuardia and JFK, once the national 100-percent Stage 3 requirement comes into effect in 2000. Among other things, the report is to compare community noise levels since enactment of the Stage 3 aircraft fleet requirements in the 1990 Airport Noise and Capacity Act. The report will also offer suggestions on improving the noise impact of these airports.

In summary, Madam President, this legislation represents over a year's work by the Commerce Committee and the Aviation Subcommittee. I cannot overemphasize the need to move quickly on this bill. As the end of the second session of the 105th Congress comes to an end, we cannot run the risk of the bill getting caught up in unrelated, politically-charged issues. This bill will have to be conferenced with the House, and we need to take the time to move through the appropriate process.

Before I conclude my remarks, I would like to comment on an important issue that is not being addressed in this bill—although I considered offering an amendment on the subject. The issue concerns the abuse of familiarization training programs at the FAA. Such programs authorize FAA employees to have free access to cockpit or cabin seating on commercial flights. Cockpit access is designed to provide these employees an opportunity to gain firsthand experience in the operational characteristics of various types of aircraft, to directly interface with cockpit crews and air traffic controllers, and to gain insight into the FAA's systems' performance.

A February 1996 audit by the Department of Transportation's Office of Inspector General found that some FAA employees violated standards of ethical conduct by using their familiarization privileges to fulfill personal travel agendas and take vacations. The IG essentially found that FAA oversight and control of the familiarization programs was inadequate. Despite the fact that the IG recommended that the FAA establish stronger guidelines and internal controls with regard to these training programs, it is my understanding that they still are not adequately managed.

Despite my concerns, I am not calling for elimination of appropriate training programs that provide valuable insight and experience for FAA employees. Taxpayers simply want to be assured that such programs are being used only for legitimate training purposes and not being abused for personal gain, by managers and controllers alike. Unfortunately, the ride-along privilege seems to have evolved from a legitimate training tool into a personnel perk that is easily subject to abuse.

I recently wrote to Secretary Slater and Administrator Garvey about this matter. I strongly urged the FAA to review each of the recommendations contained in the 1996 IG report. Without strong oversight and control of these familiarization programs, they will remain open to abuse. It is inappropriate for FAA employees to use these training programs for personal travel. This issue is particularly troublesome because it involves taking advantage of an industry the FAA is responsible for regulating. Therefore, I urged the FAA to take every action to stop the abuse of these programs and establish guidelines for their proper use.

It is my understanding that the FAA, working with the DOT-IG, has set forth a plan to take decisive action to prevent further abuse of familiarization programs. I hope that changes are implemented immediately. I will continue to follow this issue very closely.

Madam President, my message to the FAA is we should not have to pass a law in order to prevent the abuse of a relatively important training program. Clean up your act and restore the Congress' and the American people's confidence in this program or we will have to act. Sometimes when we act legislatively there are unintended consequences, as well as intended consequences.

Returning to the matter of the legislation at hand, I urge all of my colleagues to support passage of S. 2279. We cannot adjourn for the year without taking final action on this important legislation. If we fail to act, the FAA's hands will be tied and they will be unable to address needed security and safety issues in every State in the Nation.

Madam President, about a week ago I included in the RECORD the amounts of money that will be allocated to each State to take care of or begin to address many of their aviation requirements. At a later time, I will include that again in the RECORD.

The last thing we want is a disruption of not only the funding, but also the ongoing safety measures that are a part of this bill and that are a follow-on to the legislation that the Senator from Kentucky had to deal with a couple years ago.

I urge my colleagues, again, to call in their amendments. We will include them in a unanimous consent agreement which we will try to propound. I understand that there is an important function this evening which will require the Senate to go out around 6 o'clock. I would like to try, at the least, to get our agenda refined by that time.

I know that the Senator from Kentucky has remarks, so I yield the floor.

Mr. FORD addressed the Chair.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Kentucky is recognized.

Mr. FORD. I thank my friend, Senator McCAIN, chairman of the Commerce, Science, and Transportation Committee. I compliment him on his remarks. I think he fully and fairly explained the legislation that is before the Senate. One of the things I want to reiterate that he stated is that every State in this Nation has a vital part in this piece of legislation as it relates to air transportation, not only domestically but internationally. It is important. We are talking, I think, in the neighborhood of approximately $10 billion per year. It is so important, as the chairman has said, that we work hard and quickly on this bill so that we might pass it prior to adjournment. I would hate to see this piece of legislation caught up in a continuing resolution that would generally turn into a "Christmas tree."

So, Madam President, before us today is S. 2279, a bill that my good friend, Senator TED STEVENS, and this committee named after me. I hope having that name on it won't prevent it from moving expeditiously. It is an honor to have a piece of legislation named after a Member, and I thank the Senator from Alaska for his friendship and his kindness.

As many of my colleagues know, this bill is a "must" pass bill. Without it, the FAA and our nation's airports can not continue to build to meet future needs. I have watched over my career as airports in Louisville, Cincinnati, Owensboro, Hazard and many other places in my State, have benefited from the work of the FAA. We all have seen the growth in aviation throughout the country and, yes, throughout the world. Denver, for example, was a pipe dream for many years. Today, it is a vital part of the aviation system.

Past Administrators, like Linda Daschle, and Secretaries, like Sam Skinner, have also realized how critical aviation is to our economy. In naming these two individuals, I do not mean to exclude the many fine individuals who have held those posts.

The Administrator today, Jane Garvey, and the Secretary, Rodney Slater, have seen first hand how important airport improvements are to our communities.

I had hoped, in my last FAA reauthorization bill, that we could have done more. In 1996, along with Senator McCAIN and others, we tried to set a course to reforming the FAA. We worked through difficult issues together, and produced a good road map for the FAA. One piece remains missing—funding. There will be options that will be debated next year—a fee system, taking the Airport and Airways Trust Fund off budget, or keeping the current system. As long as you can ensure that the FAA has the money it needs to modernize and meet the future needs of the traveling public, you will succeed.

Today, we will lay down a managers' amendment. We have been working on it ever since the FAA bill was reported by the Commerce Committee. Many issues of concern of the Members have been addressed. Some remain unresolved.

I want to make clear that there are a few provisions that still need some work. Clarification of intent will be important.

The bill today does two critical things—it gives the FAA a road map to improve safety and to make sure that communities that have not benefited from airline deregulation have a chance to improve airline services.

I have heard the Chair's distinguished colleague, who is on our Commerce Committee, talk about the air transportation problems in small communities in their area. I am hopeful that in this piece of legislation we moved in the right direction to help those communities that have not benefited from airline deregulation and have a chance to improve their services. I will talk more about the small community needs later.

As I said earlier, I think Senator MCCAIN explained the bill very well and very fairly. I am hopeful that colleagues on my side will be more than willing to accept the managers' amendment and will be Henry Clay-like—that is, in the mood of compromise—as we move into the amendments that are not quite ready to be agreed to.

I am hopeful that we will be limited to maybe five or six votes and then final passage. If we can do that, then that will be a real victory for the legislative process. I want to express a special thanks to the staff on both sides who have worked so hard since this bill was introduced to work out many of the amendments that were being proposed and suggested.

I think we come today with a package that is almost there. I am sure that once we get into the five or six amendments that might be contentious, we will be able to work it out. Even now, as we are bringing this piece of legislation to the floor, staff are working to see if they can reach an agreement on the final pieces of legislation. I agree with my colleague, Senator MCCAIN, that we are hopeful that between now and roughly 6 p.m., we will know how many amendments will be brought to this piece of legislation, how many would need a vote, and how many we would need to discuss. We are hopeful that we can be very close at the end of the day to getting this bill prepared to pass here tomorrow and send it to conference, so that we can include this must-pass bill in our agenda before we leave here somewhere around October 9.

Again, I thank my colleague for all of his hard work. He is a pretty tenacious fellow. When there are things that he believes should be done, even though he may not have a majority with him at that time, look out, here he comes. So we are down to five or six amendments, I believe, and we are still working to try to see if an accommodation can be made, because when we are talking about the transportation and the industrial development, those things are so important to this country and our ability to move in the international sphere that we must pass this bill before we leave here.

So I am ready to work. I will meet with our colleagues any time. Our staffs are prepared to meet, and we will do whatever is necessary to spend the time to work out these final few amendments. Before we leave here this afternoon, I look forward to having some kind of a finite list, if we can get it, of those that we will be considering in the next 24 hours.

Madam President, I thank the chairman for his courtesy and the time. I yield the floor.

Mr. MCCAIN. Madam President, again, I thank the Senator from Kentucky. I argue that if I possess any legislative skills, a major part of the reason for that is that I learned from a master for several years. I was privileged to serve as the ranking member of the Aviation Subcommittee of which the distinguished Senator from Kentucky was the chairman. I watched the Senator from Kentucky masterfully, with enormous skill and bipartisanship, pass several pieces of landmark legislation. He did it in a way that I will always remember, and he did it even though issues may have been rather controversial, and he did it without rancor. I believe that the contributions that he has made to aviation in America will be remembered long past his time here in the U.S. Senate.

Madam President, we do have a managers' amendment, which I will bring forward in just a minute, as we attempt to get amendments. By the way, I also know that there are Members, especially from the States of Maryland, Virginia, Illinois and New York, who have very strongly held views on this issue, and I welcome their presence on the floor to help educate me and Senator FORD further on their views and the impact of this legislation on their airports and surrounding communities.

Mr. FORD. Madam President, I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

The assistant legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. BYRD. Madam President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. BYRD addressed the Chair.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from West Virginia is recognized.

OUR CONSTITUTIONAL RESPONSIBILITY TO AMERICA'S WORKING FAMILIES

Mr. BYRD. Madam President, once again, I come to the floor to express my opposition to fast-track procedures. Fast-track procedures were soundly defeated last year by this body, but were resurrected by the Senate Finance Committee as part of a trade bill reported under its jurisdiction.

In reviewing the trade bill reported by the Senate Finance Committee, I am reminded of a remark attributed to Napoleon in referring to one time political-supporter-turned-foe, Charles Maurice de Talleyrand-Périgord. Purportedly, Napoleon referenced Talleyrand as "a silk stocking filled with mud," believing that Talleyrand's costume and charm covered nothing but light-mindedness and egotism. Regardless of the legitimacy of Napoleon's remark, "a silk stocking filled with mud" is exactly my expectation of what would result from the provisions of the trade bill reported by the Senate Finance Committee. The bill's supporters have proclaimed a trade package promising lucrative U.S. economic gains, and have tried to stake out a claim to the moral high ground in the name of free trade. The rhetoric may extol a very pretty package, indeed, but, I am not sold by packaging. American workers simply cannot afford pleasing packaged rhetoric that in reality might leave them in an uphill fight, through an international thicket, to save their jobs.

In addition to the certainty that current fast-track trade negotiating authority offers no guarantee to the average American worker, my colleagues should take heed that, likewise, no certainty exists that rosy international economic predictions linked to fast-track authority would come true. Take a look at the current global economic crisis. There are no guarantees.

I have listened to my colleagues who urge support of the fast-track process, but I cannot, and I will not, vote to undermine a responsibility assigned to Congress through the Constitution. That responsibility is "to regulate Commerce with foreign Nations" and to "lay and collect * * * Duties, Imposts and Excises"—a responsibility that this legislation appears bent on diminishing.

Clearly, under the Constitution, the Senate is to have a meaningful role in trade negotiations. Likely, the Founding Fathers recognized the different institutional interests that affect trade negotiations and, thus, crafted provisions to provide checks and balances to ensure that the broad interests of the states—and the people—are protected. By side-stepping the Senate's authority in trade negotiations, we are circumventing the framework set up by the Founders to help guarantee that the total national interest is met. We are playing dangerously with the basic premises that underlie our system of checks and balances, and separation of powers.

I note that many of my colleagues feel that the fast-track legislation under consideration sufficiently revises past trade negotiating authority to ensure that Congress' constitutional role in the regulation of foreign trade is preserved. Particularly, in this regard, supporters are touting the bill's beefed-up notice and consultation provisions as achieving the proper balance of power between the executive and legislative branches of government.

I am supportive of continuous dialogue between the Administration and the Congress throughout any trade negotiating process. That would seem like a commonsense approach to me. But guidelines and cursory oversight provisions simply do not fulfill the Senate's constitutional role in foreign trade, and these new consultation and notification provisions can not overshadow the bill's basic shortcomings. That basic flaw is that the Congress through this measure hands the President broad authority to initiate, negotiate, and present trade agreements to the Congress. The Congress must then consider those agreements by an up-or-down vote with little or no debate and no opportunity to offer amendments.

That is where we get off the track. They may call it the fast-track process. But that is where we leave the constitutional track. That is where we leave the track, which under the Constitution, says that the Senate has the right to offer amendments.

While the Members on the committees of jurisdiction may have the opportunity to influence and develop the implementing legislation, for all practical purposes, this bill obliterates the voices of most of the Members of Congress when it comes to international trade agreements.

The Constitution says that revenue measures shall originate in the House of Representatives but that the Senate may amend as on other bills. But here in this so-called fast track, the agreement is presented to the Senate to accept—up or down, with no amendments in order.

Take it all or nothing. Frankly, I have little faith that consultations with the administration will have much impact—this or any other administration, if we are to be guided by recent administrations.

Such consultations—with this or any administration—usually do not yield significant results. They have not thus far, in recent years certainly.

So consult and notify as you will, but I am well aware of the likelihood that the President will sign an agreement, an implementing bill will stealthily materialize, and Senators will be provided with an immense document which they have little ability to change.

It is take it or leave it. This is where we leave the track. This is where we part company as far as I am concerned. Under this bill, Senators' "meaningful" role in trade pacts will continue to be a yes-or-no vote on legislation that can affect millions of American workers and their communities.

Perhaps I would be more enthusiastic about fast-track procedures if I believed that past trade agreements implemented under fast-track rules were beneficial to the nation as a whole.

Regrettably, I believe that past agreements, such as the North American Free Trade Agreement, NAFTA, which I voted against, have poorly represented the concerns of the average American worker.

By eroding the carefully crafted checks and balances provided under the Constitution, our current trade policy poorly represents the broader interests of American society.

Why can't the Senate be given an opportunity to at least offer 1 or 2 or 3 or 4 amendments? I am not suggesting that the Senate ought to be the arbiter over every little, teensy-weensy item in a trade agreement. I am not suggesting that at all. Obviously, we can't do that. But to say that the Senate cannot amend, can offer no amendments is off the track. To me that doesn't comport with the Constitution which provides that the Senate may offer amendments to bills.

Trade agreements, in principle as well as in practice, always have winners and losers. I believe the underlying issue for the average American worker is precisely who benefits most from our trade negotiations. I believe that the average American worker perceives that a select few U.S. industries keep winning, while other domestic industries keep losing, and that the promised "trickle down" of benefits from the winners to the losers never actually trickles.

Some will say that the benefits have not yet had time to trickle down. But data available today demonstrate a most distressing trend toward U.S. income inequality. That is: the rich keep getting richer and the poor keep getting poorer. Under fast-track rules, Senators cannot challenge trade provisions that appear inappropriate or unfair. They cannot question trade provisions which seem to contain juicy deals for specific industries or companies, but hold few guarantees for the average American worker just trying to make ends meet, take care of family responsibilities, and save a little bit for retirement.

Thus, it should be no mystery to Members of Congress as to why the American public is increasingly skeptical about our trade policies. During the NAFTA debate there were promises that the agreement would create lucrative economic gains for Americans—all Americans. American workers remember this promise, and they have judged that the promised gains have not materialized.

We need to wise up. Our trade negotiators are under strong pressures from certain influential industry sectors in our economy to negotiate deals which benefit them. To achieve these deals, our negotiators often offer our trading partners concessions, such as tariff reductions that adversely affect less influential U.S. industries. Such concessions, I believe, are not usually properly reviewed. Too often, the benefits achieved in our trade agreements are insignificant compared with the costs to the individual workers, and the total costs to the economy. Worse, many of the negotiated provisions to benefit U.S. industries fail to materialize because our trading partners fail to implement the promised reforms.

Therefore, we end up imposing enormous costs on various groups and segments of our economy and wind up with nothing to show for the damage. We end up with that pretty silk stocking filled with worthless mud.

Average American workers live in my state of West Virginia. They work hard for their money, very hard indeed. They labor in the coal mines, on small family-operated farms, in steel, glass or chemical manufacturing plants. These hard-working families deserve a fair slice of the pie. These and other American workers elected the various members of this body to look after their interests in national trade matters. Senators simply cannot adequately fulfill this obligation under fast-track procedures.

The Constitution established a system of government that has served the United States well for over 200 years. It created a nation filled with the promise of opportunity for all. It is our duty to do our best to make certain that the interests of every American are considered when it comes to matters of trade.

We live in an increasingly globalized world economy. I am not a protectionist and I am not against fair and free trade. But I would vote to preserve the Senate's essential role in its right to amend bills and in regulating foreign commerce. I would vote against fast-track procedures, as I have in the past, procedures that camouflage provisions that simply might not be acceptable to the majority of Americans.

I urge my colleagues to carefully consider the institutional and practical problems that fast track presents. The Constitution is clear: Congress is assigned the power "to regulate Commerce with foreign Nations; and to "lay and collect duties, imposts and excises."

The Constitution is also clear on the point that the Senate has the power and the right to amend legislation that comes before this body.

Let us not again so easily relinquish our constitutional power when it comes to issues of such importance to American working families.

I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

The assistant legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. GREGG. Madam President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. GREGG. I ask unanimous consent to speak as in morning business for a period of 5 minutes.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. FORD. Reserving the right to object, how much time?

Mr. GREGG. Five minutes.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, the Senator from New Hampshire is recognized.

BUDGET DISCIPLINE

Mr. GREGG. Madam President, I wanted to return to the floor; I have spoken about this issue before, but I wanted to continue to raise the issue because as we move into the final weeks of this session of the Congress, it is one of the core issues we have to address; that is, the question of budget discipline as a Congress.

It has taken us a long time—29 years, I believe—to get to a surplus, but this year we finally have a surplus. The American people place great faith in that and appreciation in that, and we as a Congress, obviously, are proud of the fact we finally reached a surplus. It was done as a result of a lot of hard work. We made some difficult decisions. We tightened down on the spending of the Federal Government and we especially maintained fiscal discipline here in the Congress. We did that through the use of what are known as caps. We set a budget in place, we had a 5-year budget agreement with the President last year, and it has led us on a glidepath to a surplus. The key to that budget agreement was that we set spending limits. We said: “We shall not exceed those spending limits.”

Unfortunately, as we move towards the closing days of this Congress, we appear to be at the point of almost saying that the caps are irrelevant, that the disciplining effects which they had which got us to this surplus are going to be cast overboard. That is because we have something coming at us called an emergency supplemental.

An emergency supplemental is not an emergency, it is simply a bunch of spending which is going to be done outside the budget process, independent of the caps. On top of the spending which we said we would make, we are going to add new spending. It is as if you were running a household and you had income of $100 a week and you set your spending on your grocery bills and your electric bills so they would meet that $100. And then suddenly you said, “I happened to make $110 this week so I am going to spend $110—well, no, maybe I’ll spend $120. I am not going to limit my spending by what I had originally planned, I am simply going to raise it arbitrarily.”

That is what is happening here. We are using a vehicle called an emergency supplemental to arbitrarily increase the spending of the Federal Government. The projection now is that we are going to have an emergency supplemental somewhere in the vicinity of $20 billion. That is a lot of money. That is going to have a very dramatic impact on the surplus, because the surplus is projected to be not a great deal higher than $20 billion. It could literally, depending on the economic effects of the Asian situation and the slowdown of the American economy, it could literally slow down arriving at the surplus if we spend $20 billion more than we budgeted for, to exceed the caps in that way.

Why does it get designated as an emergency? It gets designated as an emergency because, if it didn’t get designated as an emergency, it would be subject to a point of order and you would have to get 60 votes in order to spend it. But if it is designated as an emergency, it does not get hit with a point of order and therefore it can be spent with just a majority of Congress supporting it. So the budget discipline is lifted off.

What are these emergencies? One of the emergencies is that the year 2000 is coming. As my colleague from North Carolina, Senator FAIRCLOTH, who happens to be one of the more original folks around here, said: Are we just suddenly learning that the year 2000 is coming? That is hardly an emergency. We know and we have known for a long time that the year 2000 is coming. Thus, the additional $3 billion to address that is not an emergency. It should have been budgeted for.

Another emergency is Bosnia. Did we suddenly find out that we are in Bosnia? No. We have known we have been in Bosnia for quite a while. Obviously, that is not an emergency.

Another emergency happens to be the farm program. Originally it was asking for $2 billion in emergency spending. Now it is up to $4 billion. The leader on the other side wants to make it $7 billion. I have to tell you, every year that I have been in the Congress the farm program has come to us and asked for an emergency spending bill. There is no emergency here, other than the fact that that is the way the money gets spent—outside of the budget process. We all know that certain areas of this country every year are going to have problems with their farm program. It is simply a function of weather and factors like weather. In this case, it is a function of the international economy going flat. But every year we have this. It is a predictable event, so it is not an emergency. It is something that we should be anticipating.

Then we hear also that the President is going to come forward with emergency spending for defense. Clearly, defense needs more money. It is rather unusual that the President should be saying this, because for the last 6 years he has essentially tried to cut defense and increase spending on all the other programs in the Federal Government on the back of defense, and now it suddenly becomes an emergency that he has figured out that after 6 years he has cut defense so dramatically that it is in a horrendous situation and we are basically heading towards a military establishment which may be a shell, which may not be able to deliver the defense of the United States.

That may be an emergency in the sense that it is a clear threat to this country, but from a fiscal standpoint it was a known action which was taken by this administration over the last 6 years, to savage the defense budget, which has led us to this point. If it is the desire of the administration to suddenly increase defense funding, they should do it within the context of the budget process and take money from some of their beloved programs for which they have moved money out of defense and into those programs—take it back from those beloved programs and put it back in defense spending so this country is adequately defended.

So the fact is, as we head towards the closing days of this session, we confront a potential hemorrhaging of the budget process through an emergency supplemental. We are hearing with crocodile tears, I think, a lot of talk from the leader of the other body and from the Vice President, and even the President to some degree, that any tax cut would be an attack on the Social Security trust fund because any tax cut would come out of surplus and thus would be taken from the Social Security trust fund. That is the mantra, now, of the political operatives of this world who work for the Democratic Party, the James Carvilles. That is what they are going to try to label Republicans: “You are going to cut taxes and you are going to cut Social Security, because that’s going to come out of the surplus.”

What is good for the goose is good for the gander. If that is the case when the President sends up here a $20 billion supplemental request, many of which are not emergencies but which are predictable events—like the year 2000, like the agricultural situation, like Bosnia, like the defense issues—if they are going to send that amount of money up and ask that it come out of the emergency supplemental funding process, which means it comes directly out of the surplus, that also is an attack on Social Security in the same context as a tax cut on the Social Security trust fund. You can’t have it both ways, Mr. President and members of the administration. You can’t be saying a tax reduction has an impact on Social Security but the emergency supplemental doesn’t. They both do, because the surplus is a function of excess tax revenue coming in under the Social Security trust fund.

What should we do? The proper fiscal thing to do is to offset this funding, these expenditures which we are going to undertake on the emergency supplemental. Granted, we can’t do it all, I accept that, but we should certainly offset a large percentage of it. So before we come out here and hemorrhage the discipline that got us to a surplus, undermining the core elements that gave us fiscal solvency as a Nation for the first time in 29 years, I think we should pause and think about that and say, “Listen, maybe we ought to step back, try to figure out a way to pay for this supplemental so we don’t undermine the budget process and undermine the surplus and, to some degree, undermine the Social Security trust fund.”

Madam President, I yield the floor.

Mr. FORD addressed the Chair.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Kentucky.

Mr. FORD. Madam President, I appreciate the remarks of the Senator from New Hampshire. Many of the economists give credit for the financial position of this country to the President and those who voted for the 1993 Budget Act, for which not a one on the side of the Senator from New Hampshire voted.

Secondly, the CBO, which is an appointment of the majority party, has said there will only be a $31 billion surplus in the general fund at the end of 10 years. He is partially right in saying if we have an emergency supplemental that it would come from the surplus, which is basically Social Security. Any tax break that is given comes from Social Security. I think whatever we might believe about the President, if a bill that goes to his desk that takes part of the Social Security trust fund money and spends it for a tax break or anything else that he will veto it, because the economic situation of this country is still an amazement to the rest of the world, how we have put our economy and our economic position in place.

What is an emergency? I think the rules are basically something similar to this. I don't have it before me to read. But it is something that doesn't come all the time, it is unexpected. The Senator from New Hampshire says you can expect a drought, or you can expect too much water, or you can expect all these things, so you should fund for it. I have gone through years when we didn't have an emergency in the farm community. I have gone through years when we did not have an emergency appropriations. So, therefore, you didn't need to budget it.

Secondly, the emergency is something that occurs and is not in perpetuity. The tax cut goes on; it doesn't stop. If you have an emergency now, you try to take care of that emergency; if it doesn't occur again, you don't have to do it again. If you give a tax break, that goes on forever, in perpetuity. So there is a difference between a tax cut and an emergency supplemental appropriations. It isn't something that reoccurs; you do it one time.

As we look at the Freedom to Farm bill that was heralded as the savior for the farm program, we see now that it really doesn't work; there is no safety net for the farmers. There is a crisis in the Midwest. The farmers who raise the grain have had a lot of trouble, and it is not necessarily no rain, a drought, and so forth, but prices. The North American Free Trade Agreement, which only seven of us in the Senate voted against at the time, has now come back to bite us. When you find farmers standing at the border between the United States and Canada preventing those 18 wheelers from coming in, it is somewhat understandable that we should be concerned about it.

I hope we can sit down and work out whatever moneys are necessary as it relates to an emergency supplemental, particularly for our farmers and particularly in defense.

I did not want the Senator from New Hampshire to get up and say all these things as fact without having a little bit of the other side from whom some people refer to as a moderate Senator from Kentucky. I yield the floor.

Several Senators addressed the Chair.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. GORTON). The Senator from Arizona.

WENDELL H. FORD NATIONAL AIR TRANSPORTATION SYSTEM IMPROVEMENT ACT OF 1998

The Senate continued with the consideration of the bill.

Mr. McCAIN. Mr. President, I say to my friend from Kentucky, I believe we now have an agreement on the managers' amendment.

AMENDMENT NO. 3618

(Purpose: To make minor additions and corrections to the reported bill)

Mr. McCAIN. Mr. President, I send the managers' amendment to the desk and ask for its consideration.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will report.

The legislative clerk read as follows:

The Senator from Arizona [Mr. McCAIN], for himself and Mr. FORD, proposes an amendment numbered 3618.

Mr. McCAIN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the reading of the amendment be dispensed with.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

(The text of the amendment is printed in today's RECORD under "Amendments Submitted.")

Mr. McCAIN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the amendment be considered as part of original text for purpose of amendment.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is the body ready to vote on the amendment?

Mr. McCAIN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the amendment be considered as part of the original text for the purpose of amendment. This is a substitute amendment.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection to the adoption of the amendment and inclusion as part of the original text?

Mr. FORD. Reserving the right to object, let's be sure we have the parliamentary procedure correct. This is a managers' amendment that is a part of the original bill as filed subject to amendment.

Mr. McCAIN. Subject to amendment.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. It will be considered as part of the original text for the purpose of amendment and will be subject to amendment.

Mr. FORD. I wanted to be sure. There is not any hanky-panky going on here, I know that. Every once in a while, we find we have to make a unanimous consent request to get us out of a parliamentary problem.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection to the adoption of the amendment? Without objection, the amendment is agreed to.

The amendment (No. 3618) was agreed to.

Mr. McCAIN. Mr. President, now I ask that my colleagues, again, who are interested in this bill—we have a little less than 2 hours remaining—who wish to debate this bill, who wish to discuss it, who wish to amend it, please come to the floor and do so. The Senator from Kentucky and I intend, again, to achieve a final list of amendments for tomorrow. We have every intention of completing this bill by tomorrow evening.

I want to put my colleagues on notice. We have been working on this bill for a long, long time. If there are not Members who come to the floor to propose their amendments, then I will move to go to third reading of the bill, because there is no point in us going all the way tomorrow and into Friday and not having completed this legislation. I repeat, it must pass.

I have heard personally from a number of Members who have strongly held views on this legislation, particularly the Senators from Maryland and Virginia. I will point out, Mr. President, that one of the Senators from Virginia, Senator WARNER, has had a tragedy in his family, which is why he is not here to debate the bill at this time.

I, again, urge my colleagues to come to the floor in the next couple of hours to either propose amendments or debate the bill.

Mr. BRYAN addressed the Chair.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Nevada.

Mr. BRYAN. I thank the Chair.

Mr. President, I would like to preface my comments by commending the floor leaders, my good friends, Senator McCAIN and Senator FORD, for the leadership they have provided in getting this piece of legislation through the committee and on to the floor. I am not unmindful of the fact there are some points of contention, but both of them have provided the kind of leadership and experience and real statesmanship we have come to expect from both of these two leaders. And I, for one, want to praise them for their leadership.

I want to talk about one of those points that has become historically somewhat vexing when we deal with an FAA piece of legislation, and that is the so-called perimeter rule. The perimeter rule is extremely important to my State, Nevada, and particularly the expanding markets in southern Nevada. Within the next year, 20,000 new hotel rooms will come on line. It will be critically important to have additional air capacity going into southern Nevada in order that those new hotel rooms can be filled. The Metropolitan Las Vegas area will have in excess of 120,000 hotel rooms within the next 18 months.

I know of no place in the world that has that concentration of hotel rooms. It is no secret that the mainspring of the economy in southern Nevada, as well as the entire State, has been for decades tourism. And because of the relative remoteness and isolation of southern Nevada, air transport is a critical factor for our continued economic viability and the expansion that we have enjoyed over the years.

I was able, with the support of the distinguished chairman of the committee, the senior Senator from Arizona, to convene a hearing in Las Vegas earlier this spring, because one of the challenges that we face in providing additional air service to southern Nevada are some economic changes that are occurring in the airline industry itself.

During the time in which the economy was relatively soft and business travel was not particularly robust, it was much easier for us in southern Nevada to get the kind of air service and the number of flights that we needed. As a result of the expanding economy and business travel expanding quite rapidly, the airlines have reached an economic judgment which, although hard to quarrel with, nevertheless has had some profound implications for us in Las Vegas. And that is to say that business travel, as opposed to recreation travel, generates more revenue per seat mile than does resort, tourist destination travel.

So the airlines, to some extent, have shifted some of their capacity to the more profitable business routes. That change poses some real challenges to us in trying to fill those hotel rooms, I mentioned earlier in my comments, that are coming on line. That would be the largest influx of new hotel rooms in the history of Las Vegas for any given period of time. So as part of this hearing that we held in Las Vegas, we looked at a number of factors that might help to alleviate that problem.

One area in which we desperately need expanded air service is from longer distance destinations, from the east coast. And one of the things that was pointed out as part of the barrier to that new service is that there are some artificial barriers that are created either by act of Congress or by policy, and to the extent that we can remove those barriers, it will be easier for us to get expanded air service.

One of those barriers that was created by an act of Congress is the perimeter rule, established in 1986 as part of Federal legislation. That was part of the Metropolitan Washington Airport Act.

Some history of the perimeter rule. In its initial origin, there may have been some justification for it. At the time, there was considerable concern that Dulles would not attract the kind of airline service needed to fully utilize that facility if, indeed, longer distance flights could originate out of Washington National or could come to Washington National.

So this perimeter rule—which has kind of taken on a life of its own and has been exalted almost to divine status, something that is so sacrosanct that we should never touch it under any circumstances—is in point of fact an act of Congress' creation, and it is not inappropriate for the Congress to revisit that rule.

The General Accounting Office, in examining airline competition, bolsters the argument that was made at our hearing in Las Vegas when it describes the perimeter rule as "a barrier to entry service." It points out that the rules limit the ability of airlines based in the West to compete because those airlines are not allowed to serve—LaGuardia is another airport which has a perimeter rule, as well as National Airport—from the markets where they are strongest. By contrast, because of their proximity to LaGuardia and National, each of the seven largest established carriers is able to serve those airports from its principal hub. So there is an invidious discrimination in the very existence of these perimeter rules.

This report, as well as others, has suggested to the Congress that we grant authority to allow exemptions to the perimeter rule. I believe that is a sound recommendation and one that has been carefully crafted by my colleagues and friends who provide the leadership for us in the Commerce Committee, because a compromise has indeed been offered.

Let me add an additional basis, it seems to me, for that compromise to occur. Not only does this invidious discrimination make it very difficult for new entrants to come into the market, but the original justification for the rule in 1986—if it ever had any validity, if one assumes arguendo that it may have been well founded at the time of its enactment—no longer exists.

You will recall that the original or ostensible justification was to make sure that Dulles as an airport had plenty of activity and airline service, and therefore this artificial creation of the perimeter rule was designed to make sure that the longer distance flights emanated from Dulles. Having been to Dulles many times in the last month, none would argue that this airport is underutilized. It is a robust, healthy air terminal, and all of us are pleased for that.

On two bases, it seems to me, the argument can be made: No. 1, that the original rationale and predicate of the perimeter rule no longer has any operative merit; and No. 2, the competitive aspect in the discrimination which I have alluded to in citing from the airline competition, "The Barriers to Entering Into Domestic Markets," published by the General Accounting Office.

I think for that reason the provisions that have been crafted into this piece of legislation dealing with additional slots at National, particularly those 12 which will be allowed to fly outside the perimeter, represent sound policy and a reasonable compromise.

Again, I commend the chairman of the committee, Senator MCCAIN, and the ranking member of the subcommittee, Senator FORD, for their leadership. I hope we can get this enacted. I salute them for their leadership.

I yield the floor.

Mr. MCCAIN. Mr. President, I thank the Senator from Nevada not only on this issue but for his continued activity as a valued member of the Commerce Committee on all aviation issues. He is knowledgeable. He is given to bipartisan cooperation. I appreciate very much the opportunity to work with him not only on aviation issues but a variety of other issues, including the sport of boxing.

As I mentioned earlier in my remarks, there is a list that I had included in the RECORD about a week ago of all the different formula funds, entitlement State allocations, totaling $2.1 billion, that would be delayed at this time. In the case of the State of Washington, the amount would be $7,410,694, to randomly pick a State; for the State of Kentucky, it is $4,932,788.

Mr. FORD. What airports do they go do?

Mr. MCCAIN. I do not know exactly which airports they go to, although there are some letters of intent that I had printed in the RECORD. One is the Greater Cincinnati airport, $6 million; and Louisville, $18.243 million. These are letters of intent following fiscal year 1999 grant allocations that are already in preparation.

Texas: I see the New Austin at Bergstrom, $11.43 million; Dallas/Ft. Worth International, $12.5 million. Washington: Seattle-Tacoma, known as SeaTac Airport, $4,400,000.

Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent this list be printed in the RECORD.

There being no objection, the material was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

Mr. MCCAIN. Mr. President, I will be prepared shortly, perhaps in half an hour, to propound a unanimous consent agreement on amendments. Again, I urge my colleagues to have their amendments. I repeat our determination to have completed legislative action on this legislation by the close of business tomorrow night.

I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

The legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mrs. FEINSTEIN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mrs. FEINSTEIN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that I may be recognized to speak as in morning business.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

THE BLOODSHED IN KOSOVO

Mrs. FEINSTEIN. Mr. President, I note that both Senator MCCAIN and Senator SMITH came to the floor to present their thoughts on Kosovo. I would really like to join them and second their remarks.

Mr. President, it is estimated that at least 250,000 Kosovar Albanians have been displaced by the violence and bloodshed of the past several months, and that many are currently living in the forests, without access to adequate food, shelter or medical care. With winter soon approaching, we are on the verge of a major humanitarian catastrophe in Kosovo, which is the direct result of a cruel and intentional policy directed by President Milosevic and carried out by Serbian security forces in Kosovo.

The time has come—indeed, it is my belief that the time came long ago—for the United States, our NATO allies, and the entire international community, to back with resolve that what happened in Bosnia must not be allowed to happen again in Kosovo. For too long, we have stood by passively while Milosevic has acted in bad faith. He has made numerous commitments to halt the violence, such as that contained in his joint statement with President Yeltsin on June 16, and he has honored none of them.

In July, the Senate unanimously passed a bipartisan resolution which called on the United Nations War Crimes Tribunal to indict President Milosevic for his crimes in Bosnia. That resolution has not yet been carried out. In my mind, the time has come for the United States to call an end to the charade of taking at face value the word of a man the U.S. Senate believes should be indicted as a war criminal.

If thousands, or tens of thousands, of people in Kosovo now die because they have been systematically forced from their homes, forced into the forests, denied access to food, warmth, shelter and medical care, it is a crime worthy of the world's condemnation.

With winter imminent in the Balkans, the U.N. Security Council is prepared to vote on a resolution threatening force under article 7 of the U.N. Charter unless Milosevic calls a cease-fire and negotiates with Kosovo's Albanian separatists.

At the end of this week, Secretary Cohen will be meeting with other NATO defense ministers. According to press reports, the Clinton administration has already asked the North Atlantic Council to seek commitments of arms, material and troops from NATO members to complete plans for a multinational force.

I hope and trust that this means that a plan of action to halt the violence and bloodshed in Kosovo—a plan with clear benchmarks for success and a clear exit strategy—will be at the top of the NATO defense minister's agenda.

I trust that Secretary Cohen will take a strong leadership position at this meeting, and that Secretary Albright is taking an equal stand on this issue in discussions with her counterparts. Although I wish it were not the case, we have seen all too often that when Washington hesitates, our Europe allies become paralyzed.

And, lastly, I hope and trust that this time NATO, acting in coordination with the United Nations, will develop a plan consistent with this pressing humanitarian need, which will be quickly implemented, and not just talked about.

Mr. President, it took us 4 years to develop the courage to join and urge NATO to intervene in Bosnia at the cost of 200,000 dead and 2 million displaced. Hundreds, if not thousands have already been killed in Kosovo, and hundreds of thousands have been forced from their homes. What more needs to happen before the international community acts?

There is no doubt that the search for peace in Kosovo has thus far proved elusive, and that finding a solution which provides Kosovar Albanians with full political rights and civil liberties will be difficult.

But the time has come for the international community to take action: We must keep our promise not to allow Kosovo to become another Bosnia, and, unless Milosevic halts the violence immediately and unambiguously, to commit ourselves to the course of a much-needed humanitarian intervention in Kosovo.

Mr. President, I thank the Chair. I yield the floor, and I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

The legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. KENNEDY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

PATIENTS' BILL OF RIGHTS

Mr. KENNEDY. Mr. President, I was over in my office earlier in the afternoon. I heard the quorum calls. Now again we are wasting time in the middle of the afternoon. We are talking about a Wednesday afternoon at about quarter of 5. The Senate is in a quorum call when we could be debating the issue of the Patients' Bill of Rights.

I have taken the opportunity at other times to remind the Senate about the importance of that debate. Last week, we had the Republican leadership effectively close down the Senate for 5 hours, by essentially prohibiting Members of the U.S. Senate to speak at that time on the issue of the Patients' Bill of Rights. And, as has been pointed out by our Democratic leader, Senator DASCHLE, the Republican leadership shows an unwillingness to debate this issue during the evening times, which would allow us to do the country's business and do the people's business.

I rise again today to talk a bit about this issue, and the importance of it, because it is of such compelling importance to millions of Americans—more than 160 million Americans.

Every time I go back to Massachusetts—and I think it is generally true with others as they travel across the country to their States—I run into the people who have faced the kinds of situations that I will mention in just a moment or two. These are situations that cry out for action. Still we don't take the action.

We have considered other pieces of legislation that have some importance. But I daresay that none of the recent pieces of legislation that we have considered, I believe, rise to the importance of the debate and discussion on the Patients' Bill of Rights.

Mr. President, I want to include in the RECORD today the testimony and the comments of some leading American citizens who are very concerned about ensuring adequate protections for consumers of mental health services—protections that are included in the Patients' Bill of Rights, which has been introduced by Senator DASCHLE, and are not included in the Republican proposal.

In the forum that was held this afternoon, 36 groups—representing patients, families, psychiatrists, psychologists, social workers, and others who are concerned about quality of health care for people with mental illness—begged the Senate to act to pass the Patients' Bill of Rights. With every day that passes, these patients and their families are suffering because of abuses by the managed care systems. In too many instances, the stories they told were tragic. They involved suicide, spousal abuse, anxiety attacks inflicted on a Vietnam veteran, and successful courses of treatment cruelly interrupted because insurance companies are putting their bottom line first and their obligations to patients last.

One of our speakers, the president of the National Alliance for the Mentally Ill, NAMI, focused on an important provision of our legislation that has not received as much attention as some of the other issues—access to needed prescription drugs that are not on a health plan's approved list. For mental patients, the last few decades have seen a significant growth in the number of new medicines that can treat their diseases. For many patients, these new drugs represent genuine medical miracles and opportunities to resume lives that have been devastated by these cruel diseases. But too often managed care plans have said "no" to these patients and their doctors. They say: "The new drugs are too expensive. You will have to make do with older, cheaper drugs that are on our approved list. If they don't work for you, that is just too bad." That should be unacceptable to every American.

Our legislation will guarantee that no family with a mentally ill member will ever be subjected to this kind of abuse again.

Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to have printed in the RECORD the statement of the Mental Health Liaison Group.

There being no objection, the material was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

MENTAL HEALTH LIAISON GROUP,
Alexandria, VA, September 23, 1998.

Hon. TRENT LOTT,
Senate Majority Leader,
Capitol Building, Washington, DC.

DEAR SENATOR LOTT: The undersigned members of the Mental Health Liaison Group (MHLG) are writing to urge the Senate to pass meaningful legislation protecting consumers now enrolled in managed care before the end of the 105th Congress. If Senate passage is accomplished in an expeditious manner, ample time remains to initiate a conference committee with the House and achieve final passage of this important legislation.

Our community has a large stake in timely consideration of consumer protection legislation. Today, over 160 million Americans receive their mental health care from a mere handful of managed care plans. Virtually every organization signing onto this correspondence has received reports of:

Consumers being denied access to emergency services despite being in psychiatric crisis.

Health care plans applying rigid utilization review criteria that radically reduce the availability of outpatients mental health services.

Treatment plans, diagnoses and related clinical decisions being reviewed by health plan personnel with no prior medical or mental health training whatsoever.

HMO drug formularies insisting upon the lowest-cost psychotropic medications, which may be clinically inappropriate for individuals with more serious mental disorders.

Procedural disputes should not inhibit free and fair debate of consumer protection legislation on the floor. Key issues like access to specialists, medical necessity, point of service, legal accountability and related matters should now be considered by the full Senate. The starting point for debate could involve any of the wide array of comprehensive bills now pending, including the measures endorsed by the House and Senate Republican leadership.

In our view, at this time, the only bill that represents meaningful reform is S. 1890, the Patients' Bill of Rights Introduced by Senator Daschle.

Mr. KENNEDY. Mr. President, we heard today from Jackie Shannon. She is the president of the National Alliance for the Mentally Ill, NAMI, and the mother of a son with schizophrenia. I would like to read from her very, very moving testimony. This passage refers to a woman named Pam Childs from Miami, Florida and her problems with manic-depressive illness:

Pam was a Ph.D. psychologist who specialized in treating children and adolescents . . . Repeatedly, Pam's HMO told her that the treatment being recommended by her doctors were "not part of the plan." On several occasions, doctors who made progress in treating Pam were later told that they were "being taken off the plan." Pam Childs never got the treatment she needed, and this story did not have a happy ending. On July 2 of this year, at 34 years of age, Pam took her own life by leaping from the window of her father's 15-story apartment.

Mr. President, Jackie Shannon also told us about the problems the mental health community faces in terms of access to various prescription drugs. The prescription drug formularies used by insurance companies limit access to the newest and most effective medications. I would like to read from her testimony:

Over the past decade, the most far-reaching advances in the treatment of brain disorders such as schizophrenia and manic-depressive illness have all been in the area of prescription drugs. These new medications are highly effective in treating severe symptoms, without many of the disturbing side effects associated with older medications. While some of these medications may cost more at the front end, they deliver significant long-term savings through fewer and shorter hospitalizations, and, more importantly, a higher quality of life for consumers.

Unfortunately, managed care plans too often use formularies—restrictive lists and bureaucratic rules—to limit access to the newer, more effective medications. What kind of rules? A 1997 survey of managed behavioral health plans by NAMI revealed widespread use of policies such as prior authorization, and what they call “twice-fail” requirements as parts of the formulary.

These “twice fail” rules are especially offensive to the NAMI members. Our survey found that some managed care plans actually require patients to fail on older, cheaper medications multiple times before being able to access the newer medication. NAMI believes that psychiatrists and their patients should be able to select the medication that is right for them based on clinical effectiveness, not on a managed care plan’s financial bottom line. The best treatment available should be the treatment of first choice.

Do we understand that, Mr. President? The best treatment available ought to be the treatment of first choice. The Democratic version of the Patients’ Bill of Rights guarantees that. It would allow the doctors to overrule a plan’s restrictive drug formulary when it is in the patient’s interests. The Republican bill would not.

Now, Mr. President, this is an issue of particular importance to persons with mental illness who need these newer drugs. We hear case after case of patients who would be helped if they had access to the newest and most effective medications. We heard of one young person whose plan required him to use the cheaper drugs and demonstrate their failure not just once, but twice, before they would even be eligible for the right drugs. This is one of the reasons that we provide this kind of protection in our Patients’ Bill of Rights. We believe it is important to ensure that the doctor can to say, This is the kind of prescription drug that is necessary to deal with your particular health need and that the plan will cover it, if the plan offers drug coverage.

That is a very important protection. We would like to debate that issue. If the Republican leadership does not believe that we ought to provide that kind of protection, they should come to the floor of the Senate and let’s call the roll. This is not a complicated issue. It is not a very complicated issue. But it is one of the very important protections that exist in our bill and which does not exist in the Republican bill.

The American people have been effectively denied—with the various proposals that have been offered by the majority leader in terms of the debate of the Patients’ Bill of Rights—from seeing where the Senate stands on these important issues. The leadership has said, in reference to their proposal, You can either take it or leave it. They are attempting to gag not only the doctors in this country from giving the best advice on health care needs, but they are also attempting to gag the Senate from having any kind of debate or discussion on these issues, let alone a vote on them. That is very, very important, Mr. President. The National Association of Mentally Ill feel that access to prescription drugs is of enormous importance to their membership. Their view is shared by all of the leading mental health organizations. That is why the 36 different groups have indicated strong support for the Democratic Patients Bill of Rights.

Mr. President, I refer right here to this chart that compares our Patients’ Bill of Rights, which puts patients before profits, and the Republican legislation. Right here, No. 11—access to doctor prescribed drugs—the question is whether you will be able to get the kind of prescription drug—new or old, perhaps somewhat more expensive—that your doctor recommends, or be forced to take only those medications that are listed on the HMO plan and just do not work for you.

Mr. President, this forum that we had was just the most recent one in which we heard patients and doctors and nurses pleading with the Republican leadership to act on real managed care reform before the end of the year.

At today’s forum, I spoke about a particularly tragic set of circumstances surrounding the case of a man who died because his plan denied necessary treatment. In this case, however, like too many others, the plan was not held accountable for its abusive actions. Let me just tell you, Mr. President, about this very tragic case.

Richard Clarke of Haverhill, MA, was struggling to deal with a serious problem of substance abuse. His health plan clearly covered 30 days of inpatient rehabilitation. But when Mr. Clarke’s doctor admitted him to a detoxification program, the plan provided only 5 days of treatment. His treatment was cut short, and his pattern of abuse and inadequate treatment continued. Shortly after the first hospitalization, his doctor again tried to admit him. But his HMO approved just 8 days of inpatient rehabilitation. And 24 hours after this discharge, Mr. Clarke attempted suicide. Again, he was referred for additional inpatient treatment, but this time the HMO refused to pay for any additional services—even though his policy clearly should have covered 17 additional days.

At this point, a judge committed Mr. Clarke to a State correctional center. Mr. Clarke was abused in that center and received only minimal treatment. Tragically, just a few weeks after being discharged from the correctional center, Mr. Clarke committed suicide at age 41. He left a widow and four children and 17 days of inpatient rehabilitation coverage on his insurance policy—17 days that were not used, 17 days that were repeatedly denied by the HMO. And he took his life.

His widow took the insurance plan to Federal court. But Judge William Young had no choice but to reluctantly dismiss the case because the Federal law protected the HMO from accountability for its actions.

Judge Young was frank in his opinion:

Federal law has evolved in a shield of immunity that protects health insurers. . . and other managed care entities from potential liability for the consequences of their wrongful denial of health benefits. The Federal law thwarts the legitimate claims of the very people it was designed to protect.

There it is, Mr. President, an example of an individual who needed help, consolation, rehabilitation, and attention, but was denied it by the HMO. A tragic, tragic ending, with the HMO responsible—I believe, just from a reading of these facts—or certainly contributing to the anxiety and ultimately to the untimely death, and the loss of this father of four children. And, under current law, the HMO is able to stand back and say, no, we can’t be sued. And they cannot be, Mr. President.

That particular issue is addressed in our legislation. Right here on the chart where we say “ability to hold plans accountable.” But it is not in the Republican legislation. We looked through their bill. It is not there, but it is in ours. Another issue to debate. Another issue to discuss. Another issue to vote on. It is not very complicated. Are you going to hold a plan accountable when its decisions result in the death or serious injury of an individual who may be the breadwinner for a family? Are you going to deny a family the opportunity to hold insurance companies responsible if a loved one has been the recipient of negligent treatment?

We ought to be able to vote on that. It is not very complicated. But no, no, we cannot even bring that up. We cannot even debate it. It is a crucial matter, certainly, to the Clarke’s or any other family in this situation. It is a crucial matter to millions of other families.

Mr. President, there are millions of Americans who have that kind of protection today, but it is not guaranteed to over 120 million Americans who receive their insurance through employers in the private sector. It is not guaranteed. It is effectively excluded. Mr. President, more than 40 million Americans can hold their HMOs accountable, but more than 120 million others cannot. The others cannot. Why not, we might ask? Because the power of the special interests will not permit us to get to this legislation, to consider it, debate it, and call the roll on it.

Mr. President, this forum was just the most recent one in which we have heard the patients and doctors and nurses pleading with the Republican leadership to act on real managed care reform. Several weeks ago, we heard from Dr. Charlotte Yeh, an emergency doctor from Boston who also is a leader in the American College of Emergency Physicians. In fact, we have had the leaders of many of these professional groups appear in these forums—representatives of from many of the more than 180 different groups of patients and doctors, nurses, health professionals that support our legislation.

Dr. Yeh described cases where HMOs denied treatment that patients needed because of managed care penny-pinching. She indicated she was appearing at the forum "representing the concerns of 20,000 emergency physicians, on behalf of 90 million patients we see every year." She went on to say, "For emergency physicians protecting patients is not just a job, it is our lives." They are strongly in support of our legislation. They strongly believe that we ought to have an opportunity to debate this legislation. They are strongly opposed to Republican leadership, and are concerned about the leadership's refusal to let us have an opportunity to debate the legislation. This is what Dr. Yeh commented on:

For the last several years, the tactics of the managed care industry with respect to coverage of emergency care has become a national issue.

We've all heard the stories.

In Detroit, a 46-year old woman collapsed in her husband's arms and was rushed to the hospital by ambulance. She died of cardiac arrest after a failed resuscitation attempt. Unbelievably, her managed care plan later denied payment for her treatment because she did not call for prior approval.

In Boston, a boy's leg was seriously injured in an auto accident. At a nearby hospital, emergency doctors told the parents he would need vascular surgery to save his leg and a surgeon was ready and available in the hospital.

Unfortunately, for this young man, his insurer insisted he be transferred to an "in-network" hospital for the surgery. His parents were told if they allowed the operation to be done anywhere else, they would be responsible for the bill. They agreed to the move. Surgery was performed three hours after the accident. But by then, it was too late to save his leg.

These are not episodes from the TV program, "ER". These are not anecdotes. They are real people with real lives.

A bipartisan majority in the Congress has called for enactment of standards that will put an end to episodes like the ones I just described. Last year, the Congress adopted the prudent layperson standard and other protections for Medicare and Medicaid patients seeking emergency care. Millions of Medicare and Medicaid beneficiaries have these protections, but not the 160 million people outside of those programs. They do not have these protections.

She continues:

We thought there was consensus on this issue. . . . But we are very disturbed about the way in which the emergency service protections were drafted in the Republican "Patient Protection Act." As a physician, it seems that a little unnecessary surgery was performed on the "prudent layperson" standard to the point where barely recognizable as the consumer protection we envisioned.

Mr. MCCAIN. Will the Senator from Massachusetts yield?

Mr. KENNEDY. Yes.

Mr. MCCAIN. Just for a question. The Senator from Massachusetts, I know, wants to indulge his colleagues. We have Senator INHOFE on the floor on an amendment on pending legislation, and Senator ROTH to follow him. So if he could perhaps very quickly allow the amendment process to proceed, I would appreciate it very much. I thank the Senator from Massachusetts.

Mr. KENNEDY. Seeing Senators are here and ready to move ahead, I will just make some few concluding remarks on this issue and then get back to it at another time. I think we could have been debating this, rather than just filling in the time with the quorum calls, which we have been doing frequently. So I indicate to colleagues, I will make some concluding remarks for just a few more minutes and then yield the floor. Again, from Dr. Yeh's testimony:

What's the difference between the real "prudent layperson" standard included in the Balanced Budget Act and the Democratic Patients Bill of Rights and the imposter that has been included in the GOP Patient Protection Act?

The GOP Patient Protection Act would establish a weaker coverage standard for privately insured patients than what exists for Medicare and Medicaid patients.

This is not Senator DASCHLE or myself making this statement, this is a leading member of the American College of Emergency Physicians—doctors who deal with this problem every single day—talking about how the GOP Patient Protection Act is a fraud.

She continues along. I ask unanimous consent to have her full statement printed in the RECORD.

There being no objection, the statement was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

TESTIMONY OF CHARLOTTE YEH, MD, FACEP, CHAIR, FEDERAL GOVERNMENT AFFAIRS COMMITTEE, AMERICAN COLLEGE OF EMERGENCY PHYSICIANS

Thank you very much. I am Dr. Charlotte Yeh, a practicing emergency physician at the New England Medical Center in Boston, MA. I am here today representing the concerns of nearly 20,000 emergency physicians and on behalf of the 90 million patients we see every year. For emergency physicians, protecting patients is not just a job, it's our life.

For the last several years, the tactics of the managed care industry with respect to coverage of emergency care has become a national issue. I'm pleased to be here today as we try to enact meaningful patient protections that will ensure that patients get not only the care they deserve, but that they also get the coverage that their managed care plan promised them.

We've all heard the stories.

In Detroit, a 46-year old woman collapsed in her husband's arms and was rushed to the hospital by ambulance. She died of cardiac arrest after a failed resuscitation attempt. Unbelievably, her managed care plan later denied payment for her treatment because she did not call for prior approval.

In Boston, a boy's leg was seriously injured in an auto accident. At a nearby hospital, emergency doctors told the parents he would need vascular surgery to save his leg and a surgeon was ready and available in the hospital.

Unfortunately, for this young man, his insurer insisted he be transferred to an "in-network" hospital for the surgery. His parents were told if they allowed the operation to be done anywhere else, they would be responsible for the bill. They agreed to the move. Surgery was performed three hours after the accident. But by then, it was too late to save his leg.

These are not episodes from the TV program, "ER". These are not anecdotes. They are real people with real lives.

A bipartisan majority in the Congress has called for enactment of standards that will put an end to episodes like the one I just described. Last year, the Congress adopted the prudent layperson standard and other protections for Medicare and Medicaid patients seeking emergency care. We thought there was a consensus on this issue!

Just a few weeks ago, we were delighted to see that Republican Task Forces in both the House and Senate had decided to include the "prudent layperson" standard in their respective patient protection measures.

But we are very disturbed about the way in which the emergency services protections were drafted in the Republican "Patient Protection Act." As a physician, it seems that a little Unnecessary surgery was performed on the "prudent layperson" standard to the point where it is barely recognizable as the consumer protection we envisioned.

What's the difference between the real "prudent layperson" standard included in the "Balanced Budget Act" and the Democratic "Patient's Bill of Rights" and the "imposter" that has been included in the GOP "Patient Protection Act?"

The GOP Patient Protection Act would establish a weaker coverage standard for privately insured patients than what exists for Medicare and Medicaid patients.

The Democratic bill would provide the same protections for all patients.

The GOP Patient Protection Act establishes a two-tiered test for coverage of emergency services and guarantees coverage only for a "screening examination."

The Democratic bill would require that health plans cover all services necessary to evaluate and stabilize the patient to anyone who meets the prudent layperson standard—no questions asked!

The GOP Patient Protection Act sets no limits on the amount of cost-sharing the managed care plans would be allowed to charge patients who seek emergency services from a non-network provider.

The Democratic bill would protect patients who reasonably seek emergency services to protect their health from being charged unreasonable co-pays and deductibles.

The GOP Patient Protection Act provides sets no guidelines for the coordination of post stabilization care, making it impossible for emergency physicians to coordinate and obtain authorization for necessary follow-up care with the managed care plans.

The Democratic bill would require health plans to adhere to new federal guidelines that require managed care plans to be available to coordinate post stabilization care, instead of just permitting the managed plan to turn off the phone at 5:00 o'clock.

Obviously, we are very troubled by the changes to the "prudent layperson" standard in the "Patient Protection Act."

Our assessment is that this legislation—Will provide less protection for privately insured patients than for Medicare and Medicaid patients; Will lead to more coverage disputes, not less; Will create even more barriers, not fewer; and Will create new loopholes for managed care plans to deny coverage of emergency services.

In four years, we have come so far, but we cannot support these provisions in their current form. We will do everything in our power to ensure that the "prudent layperson" standard that is enacted will be consistent with the meaningful protections that Congress enacted for Medicare and Medicaid beneficiaries. Hard-working Americans who pay their premiums deserve no less.

Mr. KENNEDY. We heard from cancer patients, and their doctors, who explained that the Patients' Bill of Rights is critical to ensuring patients access to quality clinical trials. These trials are often the only hope for patients with incurable cancer or other diseases where conventional treatments are ineffective. They are the best hope for learning to cure these dread diseases.

Insurance used to routinely pay the doctor and hospital costs associated with clinical trials, but managed care plans are refusing to allow patients to participate. Our bill forces the insurance companies to respond to these needs, but the Republican bill does not. And they refuse to debate this issue. Here it is on the chart, "Access to Clinical Trials." We provide this protection, and they do not.

Yet, this is very important for women who are battling breast cancer. It is important for children—like my own son, Teddy, who was able to get into a clinical trial when he had osteosarcoma at age 12, and survive that dread disease. He is alive today because he was in a clinical trial.

Mr. President, as I have pointed out before, these are the guarantees that are in our legislation. Under our proposal, the doctor, the medical professional, will make the decisions on medical treatment for the patient—be that you or your spouse or your child or your grandchild. Medical decisions will not be made by an insurance company accountant. That is what is at the heart of the differences between the two pieces of legislation.

We welcome an opportunity to just say we will take 10 of the issues on this list, and vote on those measures and vote on the legislation, while permitting our Republican friends to have a similar number of amendments. But let us at least get about it in these final days. It is not too late. It must not be too late, or we would not see the kinds of activity to deny or delay action on this legislation by our Republican friends each day.

Just in conclusion, earlier in the day—although this was not advanced, it was circulated by the majority—there was a unanimous consent that was going to be proposed on the Internet tax legislation. I will include the whole provision in the RECORD.

This was circulated to see whether there would be any objection on the Democratic side. It basically allowed all types of amendments—unlimited first and second degree amendments or amendments that are not relevant to the Internet tax issues in the underlying bill—but, and this is important, no health care amendments. Here is the text that would have been spoken by the Majority leader, "I further ask that during the Senate's consideration of S. 442 or the House companion, no amendments relative to health care be in order." There you have it: One piece of legislation, with possibilities for all other legislation, except one—health care, the Patients' Bill of Rights, guaranteed protections for more than 160 million people. Under this proposal from the Republican leadership, we are permitting other kinds of amendments, but we are going to say no amendments relative to health care be in order.

Thankfully, our Democratic leader rejected this, so it was not offered. But these are the tactics we are facing. We are as committed as ever to ensuring that we will have an opportunity to debate this issue—even if not on this particular measure. So we are going to continue to pursue it.

I thank the Chair and I yield the floor.

WENDELL H. FORD NATIONAL AIR TRANSPORTATION SYSTEM IMPROVEMENT ACT OF 1998

The Senate continued with the consideration of the bill.

Mr. McCAIN. I yield to Senator ROTH to offer an amendment.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Delaware.

AMENDMENT NO. 3621

(Purpose: To extend the Airport and Airway Trust Fund expenditure authority)

Mr. ROTH. Mr. President, I send an amendment to the desk on behalf of Senator MOYNIHAN and myself.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will report.

The bill clerk read as follows:

The Senator from Delaware [Mr. ROTH], for himself and Mr. MOYNIHAN, proposes an amendment numbered 3621.

Mr. ROTH. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the reading of the amendment be dispensed with.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The amendment is as follows:

At the end of the bill add the following:

TITLE IV—EXTENSION OF AIRPORT AND AIRWAY TRUST FUND EXPENDITURE AUTHORITY

SEC. 801. EXTENSION OF EXPENDITURE AUTHORITY.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Paragraph (1) of section 9502(d) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (relating to expenditures from Airport and Airway Trust Fund) is amended—

(1) by striking "October 1, 1998" and inserting "October 1, 2000"; and

(2) by inserting before the semicolon at the end of subparagraph (A) the following "or the Wendell H. Ford National Air Transportation System Improvement Act of 1998".

(b) LIMITATION ON EXPENDITURE AUTHORITY.—Section 9502 of such Code is amended by adding at the end the following new subsection:

"(f) LIMITATION ON TRANSFERS TO TRUST FUND.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—Except as provided in paragraph (2), no amount may be appropriated or credited to the Airport and Airway Trust Fund on and after the date of any expenditure from the Airport and Airway Trust Fund which is not permitted by this section. The determination of whether an expenditure is so permitted shall be made without regard to—

"(A) any provision of law which is not contained or referenced in this title or in a revenue Act; and

"(B) whether such provision of law is a subsequently enacted provision or directly or indirectly seeks to waive the application of this subsection.

"(2) EXCEPTION FOR PRIOR OBLIGATIONS.—Paragraph (1) shall not apply to any expenditure to liquidate any contract entered into (or for any amount otherwise obligated) before October 1, 2000, in accordance with the provisions of this section."

Mr. ROTH. Mr. President, this amendment contains the necessary conforming changes to the Tax Code required by this reauthorization bill. This amendment does not affect Federal revenues. Therefore, this bill remains a nonrevenue bill. This amendment will allow expenditures from the Airport and Airway Trust Fund to occur as authorized by the underlying legislation relating to airport construction, maintenance and technology.

It will also help ensure our air traffic control system continues to provide safe and efficient services.

It is my understanding that this amendment is acceptable to both sides of the political aisle. At the appropriate moment, I will urge its adoption.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there further debate on the amendment?

Mr. McCAIN addressed the Chair.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Arizona.

Mr. McCAIN. Mr. President, I thank the distinguished chairman of the Finance Committee. As always, he has been extremely cooperative and helpful as we have this kind of legislation out of the Commerce Committee, which sometimes has tax implications. I am very grateful for the continued cooperation and effort to not encroach on the jurisdiction of the Finance Committee and also to make sure that their views and their authority are well recognized.

The crucial programs in this legislation are directly dependent upon the ability of the FAA to spend moneys out of the aviation trust fund, and the trust fund itself is supported by revenues from the aviation excise taxes which are paid by all air travelers.

I thank Senator ROTH for his cooperation in our effort to keep necessary funds flowing to aviation programs. His amendment will help keep the FAA on sound financial footing.

He and his staff have been very helpful in our efforts on this bill. I want to clarify with the chairman that this amendment merely authorizes expenditures from the trust fund for 2 years and prevents expenditures from the trust fund without an authorization in place?

Mr. ROTH. Mr. President, I say to my distinguished colleague, that is correct; that is the intent of the amendment.

Mr. McCAIN. Mr. President, I am not aware of any objection. In fact, I support the amendment. I will urge adoption of the amendment after the Senator from Kentucky speaks.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Kentucky.

Mr. FORD. I thank the Chair. There is no objection to the distinguished Senator's amendment on this side.

Mr. ROTH. I urge adoption of the amendment.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? Without objection, the amendment is agreed to.

The amendment (No. 3621) was agreed to.

Mr. McCAIN. Mr. President, I move to reconsider the vote by which the amendment was agreed to.

Mr. ROTH. I move to lay that motion on the table.

The motion to lay on the table was agreed to.

PRIVILEGE OF THE FLOOR

Mr. FORD. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Dan Alpert and Walter Dunn, fellows in the office of Senator BINGAMAN, be granted the privilege of the floor during consideration of S. 2279.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. INHOFE addressed the Chair.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Oklahoma.

AMENDMENT NO. 3620

(Purpose: To provide for the immediate application of certain orders relating to the amendment, modification, suspension, or revocation of certificates under chapter 447 of title 49, United States Code)

Mr. INHOFE. Mr. President, I have an amendment at the desk, and I ask for its immediate consideration.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will report.

The bill clerk read as follows:

The Senator from Oklahoma [Mr. INHOFE] proposes an amendment numbered 3620.

Mr. INHOFE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the reading of the amendment be dispensed with.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The amendment is as follows:

At the appropriate place, insert the following:

SEC. ____ . AMENDMENTS, MODIFICATIONS, SUSPENSIONS, AND REVOCATIONS OF CERTIFICATES.

Section 44709 of title 49, United States Code, is amended—

(1) in subsection (e)—

(A) by striking "When" and inserting "(1) Except as provided in paragraph (2), if"; and

(B) by striking "However, if" and all that follows through the end of the subsection and inserting the following:

"(2) If the Administrator determines, in the order, that an emergency exists and safety in air commerce or air transportation requires the order to be effective immediately—

"(A) subject to subparagraph (B), the order shall be in effect unless the Administrator is not able to prove to the Board, upon an inquiry of the Board, the existence of an emergency that requires the immediate application of the order in the interest of safety in air commerce and air transportation; and

"(B) the Board shall—

"(i) not later than 5 days after the filing of an appeal under paragraph (1), make a disposition concerning the issues of the appeal that are related to the existence of an emergency referred to in subparagraph (A); and

"(ii) not later than 60 days after the filing of an appeal under paragraph (1), make a final disposition of the appeal.

"(3) If the Administrator determines, in the order, the existence of an emergency described in paragraph (2)(A), the appellant may request a hearing by the Board on the issues of the appeal that are related to the existence of the emergency. Such request shall be made not later than 48 hours after the issuance of the order. If an appellant requests a hearing under this paragraph, the Board shall hold the hearing not later than 48 hours after receiving that request."; and

(2) in subsection (f), by inserting "by further order" after "the Administrator decides".

Mr. INHOFE. Mr. President, this amendment is one that should not be controversial. I can recall as recently as the Oshkosh meeting this last August where they voted—and we are talking about 250,000 people who were involved—to say this is the No. 1 issue for general aviation in America this entire year and perhaps for several years.

It has to do with a process that is very similar to something we went through a few years ago. When the FAA exercises its power to invoke an emergency revocation of a license, they can do so for an indefinite period of time and that person will lose that license. In many cases, it may be this person's only way of making a living.

We have worked for several years to come up with some type of a compromise that will allow an individual to recover his license in the event that it is shown there is nothing dangerous in the way that individual had been flying. It is very unfortunate that in any bureaucracy, there are a few people who will occasionally do something that is not justified.

I share with you, Mr. President, a case of an individual named Ted Stewart who had been employed by American Airlines as a pilot for more than 12 years and presently serves as a Boeing 767 captain. No complaints had ever been registered against him or his flying.

In January of 1995, the FAA suspended Mr. Stewart's examining authority. And the reason? Possibly improper issuing of ratings. He complied with the FAA request that he provide log books and/or other reliable records for inspections. On May 16, 1995, an emergency revocation was issued, and he lost his airman certificates.

June 19, 1995, the National Transportation Safety Board Administrative Law Judge Mullins ruled in Mr. Stewart's favor on all counts. In July of 1995, the full NTSB upheld Judge Mullins' initial decision. All pilot certificates were returned. I point out, this is almost 2 months after the revocation. In January of 1996, he was awarded approximately 60 percent of the money spent to defend himself. The FAA appealed the ruling and it is still pending before the full NTSB.

What I am getting at is, we have case after case where individuals have lost their ability to make their living for their families when there was not any type of an emergency, there was not any type of a hazard in their performance in terms of their acting as a pilot.

What we are trying to do is similar to what we did successfully a few years ago under the civil penalties provision, and that is, insert into the process an unbiased source that will be able to participate in the process. In the case of civil penalties, we had the NTSB to hear the cases after they have been ruled on by the FAA. This has been working very well since that time.

My amendment, as far as it addresses the emergency revocation, addresses the problem prudently by providing an airman—that is the pilot—48 hours after receiving an emergency revocation order the opportunity to request a hearing before the NTSB on the emergency nature of the revocation. This is not on the offense, this is on the emergency nature as to whether or not this would be an emergency. The NTSB then has 48 hours to hear the arguments. Within 5 days of the initial request, the NTSB must decide if a true emergency exists. During this time, the emergency revocation remains in effect.

In other words, the certificate holder loses use of his certificate for a maximum of 7 days. However, should the NTSB decide an emergency does not exist, then the certificate will be returned to the certificate holder, and he can continue to use it while the FAA pursues their revocation case against him.

Keep in mind, no emergency exists, nothing is done to impose a hazard on himself or the public.

If the NTSB decides that an emergency does exist, then emergency revocation remains in effect and the certificate holder cannot use his certificate while the case is adjudicated. That would revert back to the way the law is today. That individual would not be able to fly. So all we are talking about is whether or not there is an emergency nature in this case.

Please do not misunderstand, in no way do I want to suggest that the FAA should not have emergency revocation powers. I believe it is critical to safety that the FAA can ground unsafe airmen or other certificate holders. However, I also believe that the FAA must be judicious in its use of the extraordinary power.

The FAA will argue that because emergency certificate actions are only a small percentage of overall certificate actions, there is no reason for this concern. However, review of recent emergency cases clearly demonstrates a pattern by which the FAA uses their emergency powers far more frequently than the circumstances warrant.

For instance, of the emergency revocation orders issued during fiscal year 1990 through 1997, 50 percent occurred 4 months to 2 years after the violation occurred. In only 4 percent of the cases was the emergency revocation issued within 10 days or less of the actual violation. In fact, the median time lapse between the violation and the emergency order was a little over 4 months. That is 132 days, Mr. President. I suggest to you, how can that be considered an emergency if nothing happened until 132 days after the alleged violation?

I think clearly at issue is what constitutes an emergency. Simply defined, an emergency is "an unexpected situation or sudden occurrence of a serious and urgent nature that demands immediate action." Yet, as discussed above, the "urgent nature" of the revocation which "demands immediate action" has more often than not occurred several months previously.

There are far too many cases where the FAA unfairly uses this necessary power to prematurely revoke certificates when the circumstances do not support such drastic action.

Mr. President, I have other cases that I could drag out here and talk about, such as the case of Bob Hoover. I have had the privilege of flying in airshows with Bob Hoover for over 30 years. Bob Hoover—probably if you were to ask anyone in the aviation community who the best pilot in America is, they would probably say Bob Hoover. Yet he was the victim of the emergency revocation. We had to go to bat for him, and we had literally thousands of letters from all over America coming to the aid of Bob Hoover because everybody knew there is nothing wrong and nothing of an emergency nature to the revocation of his ability to fly.

So, Mr. President, I feel that this being the No. 1 concern and issue of general aviation today—it is a sense of fairness issue, something that has worked very well in the case of civil penalties—it is one that I feel should be changed in the FAA regulations.

Mr. President, I yield the floor.

Mr. GRAMS addressed the Chair.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Minnesota.

Mr. GRAMS. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent I be allowed to speak as in morning business for up to 5 minutes.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Mr. FORD. Mr. President, I do not mean to end this, but we are getting to the point where we have amendments up. And apparently no one wants to vote tonight, but we would like to get our amendments up. And Senator AKAKA has remarks as it relates to the legislation itself. I do not want to prevent—

Mr. GRAMS. This will be very brief.

Mr. FORD. Fine.

Mr. GRAMS. I thank the Senator from Hawaii. I did talk to him and ask if it was all right.

Mr. FORD. We are trying to move this legislation forward. And I did not want to cut the Senator from Oklahoma off either.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, the Senator from Minnesota is recognized as in morning business.

Mr. GRAMS. Thank you, and I again thank the Senator from Hawaii for allowing me to make a brief statement.

TRIBUTE TO MURIEL HUMPHREY BROWN

Mr. GRAMS. Mr. President, I rise today to pay tribute to Muriel Humphrey Brown, who was the widow of the late Senator and Vice President Hubert Humphrey and known to many throughout my state as Minnesota's "First Lady."

Mrs. Humphrey Brown passed away on Sunday at the age of 86. Throughout her life, she remained steadfast in her dedication to family and her interest in politics. In her last public appearance, just 5 days before her death, she was on hand to congratulate her son, Skip Humphrey, for winning the Minnesota DFL gubernatorial primary.

Many of my colleagues knew her, respected her, and join me in offering our heartfelt condolences to her husband, Max Brown, her sons Hubert, Doug and Bob, her daughter Nancy, and the entire Humphrey family.

Muriel Humphrey Brown was born on February 20, 1912, in Huron, SD. After marrying Hubert Humphrey, she became a devoted mother and enthusiastically took on the role of a political wife.

She played an active part in her husband's numerous campaigns. After Hubert's death in 1978, Muriel was appointed to his Senate seat, the same Senate seat that I am proud to hold today. By finishing out her late-husband's term, Muriel Humphrey Brown became Minnesota's first and only female U.S. Senator and just the 12th woman to serve in the U.S. Senate. In fact, she was the only woman serving in the Senate at that time.

In carrying out her husband's Senate term, Muriel Humphrey Brown was an inspiration to women throughout Minnesota as she accepted the call to public service even in her time of great personal loss. Rather than being known simply as the wife of the most popular politician in Minnesota, Muriel left her own mark on those issues of public policy about which she felt so strongly.

Her calm and gentle manner did not mute her passionate voice on behalf of social programs, labor issues, and the mentally disabled. She once described her term in the Senate as, "the most challenging thing I have ever done in my whole life." In 1979, she married Max Brown and lived the rest of her life out of the political spotlight. Her devotion to family and public service is truly an inspiration to all Minnesotans, and I am proud to say that her legacy will remain. It is a special honor for me to hold the Senate seat she once held, in the Chamber where she served with such grace, dignity, and honor.

Thank you very much, Mr. President. I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Hawaii.

WENDELL H. FORD NATIONAL AIR TRANSPORTATION SYSTEM IMPROVEMENT ACT OF 1998

The Senate continued with the consideration of the bill.

Mr. AKAKA. Mr. President, I support S. 2279, the Wendell H. Ford National Air Transportation System Improvement Act of 1998. This measure will enhance the safety and efficiency of our air transportation system, upon which the island state of Hawaii is uniquely dependent. I am pleased that this weighty legislation is named for the departing senior senator from Kentucky, whose contributions to aviation are legion. I am especially supportive of Title VII of the bill which addresses the issue of air tour operations at national parks.

Mr. President, Title VII of S. 2279 establishes a comprehensive regulatory framework for controlling air tour traffic in and near units of the National Park System. The legislation requires the Federal Aviation Administration, in cooperation with the National Park Service and with public input from stakeholders, to develop an air tour management plan (ATMP) for parks currently or potentially affected by air tour flights.

Under the ATMP process, routes, altitudes, time restrictions, limitations on the number of flights, and other operating parameters could be prescribed in order to protect sensitive park resources as well as to enhance the safety of air tour operations. An ATMP could prohibit air tours at a park entirely, regulate air tours within half a mile outside the boundaries of a park, regulate air tour operations that impact tribal lands, and offer incentives for the adoption of quieter air technology. An ATMP would include an environmental determination.

S. 2279 also creates an advisory group comprising representatives of the FAA, Park Service, the aviation industry, the environmental community, and tribes to provide advice, information, and recommendations on overflight issues.

As embodied in the ATMP process, this bill treats overflights issues on a park-by-park basis. Rather than a one-size-fits-all approach, the legislation establishes a fair and rational mechanism through which environmental and aviation needs can be addressed in the context of the unique circumstances that exist at individual national parks.

I am pleased that this procedural approach, in addition to requirements for meaningful public consultation and a mechanism for promoting dialogue among diverse stakeholders, mirrors key elements of legislation—the National Parks Airspace Management Act, cosponsored by my colleagues Senator INOUE and Senator FRIST—that I have promoted in the last three Congresses.

Mr. President, adoption of this bill is essential if we are to address effectively the detrimental impacts of air tour activities on the National Park System. Air tourism has significantly increased in the last decade, nowhere more so than at high profile units such as Grand Canyon, Great Smoky Mountains, and Haleakala and Hawaii Volcanoes national parks in my own state. A 1994 Park Service study indicated that nearly a hundred parks experienced adverse park impacts, and that number has assuredly risen since then. Such growth has inevitably conflicted with the qualities and values of many park units, in some instances seriously.

While air tour operators often provide important emergency services, enhance park access for special populations (e.g., the handicapped and elderly), and offer an important source of income for local economies, notably tourism-dependent areas such as Hawaii, unregulated overflights have the potential to harm park ecologies, distress wildlife, and impair visitor enjoyment of the park experience. Unrestricted air tour operations can also pose a safety hazard to air and ground visitors alike.

It is therefore vital that we develop a clear, consistent national policy on this issue, one that equitably and rationally prioritizes the respective interests of the aviation and environmental communities. Congress and the Administration have struggled to develop such a policy since enactment of the National Parks Overflights Act of 1987, Congress's initial, but limited attempt to address the overflights issue. S. 2279 will finish where the 1987 Act left off, providing the FAA and Park Service with the policy guidance and procedural mechanisms that are essential to balancing the needs of air tour operators against the imperative to preserve and protect our natural resources.

Mr. President, the overflights provisions of this bill are the product of good faith efforts on the part of many groups and individuals. They include: members of the National Parks Overflights Working Group, whose consensus recommendations form the underpinnings of this legislation; representatives of air tour and environmental advocacy organizations such as Helicopter Association International and the National Parks and Conservation Association; and, officials of the FAA and Park Service, notably Park Ranger Wes Henry, the Park Service's long-serving point man on overflights, who has served as the agency's institutional memory and conscience on this issue.

However, Title VII is above all the product of the energy and vision of Senator JOHN MCCAIN. As the author of the 1987 National Parks Overflights Act, Senator MCCAIN was the first to recognize the adverse impacts of air tours on national parks, and the first to call for a national policy to address this problem. Since then, he has employed his moral authority and legislative acumen impel progress on this subject. For his leadership in writing this bill and for his long advocacy of park overflight issues, Senator MCCAIN deserves our lasting appreciation.

Mr. President, I am tremendously honored to have worked closely with Senator MCCAIN over the last year to formulate an overflights bill that promotes aviation safety, enhances the viability of legitimate air tour operations, and protects national parks from the most egregious visual and noise intrusions by air tour helicopters and other aircraft. Left unchecked, air tour activities can undermine the very qualities and resources that give value to a park; these must be protected. I believe that the pending measure reasonably and prudently balances these sometimes opposing considerations, and urge my colleagues to support this legislation.

That concludes my remarks, Mr. President. Before closing, however, I would like to recognize the staff of the Commerce Committee—including John Raidt, Mike Reynolds, Charles Chambers, Sam Whitehorn, and Ann Choiniere—for their hard work in putting this legislation together. Ann Choiniere especially deserves mention for her day-to-day management of this issue. I would also like to recognize former members of my own staff, Kerry Taylor, Bob Weir, and Steve Opperman, who made important contributions to this issue. Steve in particular has served as an expert resource whose tireless, and largely unheralded contributions have shaped the overflights debate in a major way.

I yield the floor.

Mr. MCCAIN. Before my dear friend from Hawaii leaves the floor, let me thank him for his kind words. As always, he is too modest. For many years now he and I have worked together on this issue. His dedication to the protection and preservation of Haleakala's and Hawaii's volcanoes is notable. It is noteworthy and it is in keeping with his incredible dedication, passion and efforts on behalf of his Native Hawaiians, as well as all citizens of his most beautiful State.

I thank the Senator from Hawaii for his kind remarks.

Mr. FORD. I associate myself with the remarks of the distinguished chairman, and thank my friend from Hawaii for his kind remarks about me personally. It seems that more of these remarks are coming as the days near the end, and maybe I won't want the days to end, but I do thank my friend from Hawaii very much.

AMENDMENT NO. 3620

Mr. MCCAIN. Mr. President, I want to go back to the amendment of the Senator from Oklahoma. I admire the tenacity and commitment to aviation of the Senator. Also, I have had the privilege of personally experiencing his piloting skills while being with him in the great State of Oklahoma. Although I must admit that my willingness to ride in an airplane with him while he was at the controls had more to do with my conviction that because of my colorful history associated with aviation having long ago convinced me I was not intended to die in an airplane, as I watched my dear friend from Oklahoma fly into what one would describe as "threatening weather" with intrepid courage and skill, I have grown to appreciate him even more.

Associated with that kind of piloting skills is his dedication to aviation and his tenacity associated with this issue specifically. I don't agree with the amendment of the Senator, but I do believe and I am convinced we can work out something which will be agreeable, because the Senator from Oklahoma does identify a problem. I don't agree with the Senator from Oklahoma that it is as big a problem, but when someone like Mr. Hoover, who he just described, is subjected to what he was subjected to, then there is a problem. But I am just not convinced that the remedy that the Senator from Oklahoma is prescribing is the proper remedy. He certainly, in a very articulate fashion, describes the problem we need to work together and address.

The FAA uses its emergency authority only as a remedial measure when a certificate holder lacks the necessary qualifications to hold the certificate, and the continued exercise of the privileges of the certificate would be contrary to public safety in air commerce or air transportation. All emergency suspensions are premised on a reasonable suspicion as to the certificate holder's qualifications.

FAA policy since approximately 1990 has generally been that an emergency exists in which a certificate holder lacks the technical qualifications, or the care, judgment, or responsibility to hold an FAA certificate, and remains in a position to use the certificated skills. In such cases, the FAA has reasoned that it intolerably threatens air safety to permit pilots, aircraft mechanics, or air carriers, for example, to operate or repair aircraft when the FAA has reasonably concluded that they do not possess the qualifications necessary to perform those functions. If it is clear that a certificate holder will be unable to exercise the privileges of the certificate, the FAA will not invoke an emergency suspension.

An emergency order is effective immediately upon issue, rather than being stayed pending conclusion of the adjudicative process. An expedited adjudication process is initiated since the certificate holder immediately loses his or her privileges. The FAA respects the privilege of holding a certificate, but must ensure as its primary mission the highest standards of aviation safety. Retaining authority to take immediate action in emergency situations is integral to the FAA's ability to carry out this mission.

While S. 842 would not limit the FAA's ability to immediately revoke a certificate, it would complicate the process of appealing such an order by providing new avenues of appeal in addition to those already existing. Currently, a person subject to an emergency revocation order may appeal the emergency nature of that order to the U.S. Court of Appeals. There is no deadline for the Court of Appeals to act although the FAA claims that the court will usually rule within 5 to 7 days. According to the GAO, few choose to do this and even fewer prevail.

This amendment changes this procedure for challenging the emergency nature of a suspension. Rather than appealing to the Court of Appeals, the emergency nature of the revocation could be appealed to the NTSB. Under the amendment, the NTSB would have 5 days to decide whether it was really an emergency. If the person does not prevail before the NTSB, he or she would then be able to appeal to the U.S. Court of Appeals under the same circumstances as currently exist. This risks placing substantial strain on limited agency resources by creating a right to appeal to the NTSB, when there is no demonstrable need for such change.

Between 1993 and 1997 the FAA initiated an average of only 2.55% of its total enforcement caseload as emergency actions. This average demonstrates the FAA's commitment to using this authority only in those cases where the FAA finds that a serious question exists as to a certificate holder's qualifications, and no other action will suffice to ensure the highest standards of safety are maintained. Additionally, the FAA prevails on the vast majority of emergency actions before the NTSB, supporting its position that it has acted properly and not abused its authority. From 1990 through 1997, the FAA was reversed in only 2% of the cases in which emergency orders or revocation were issued, and in only 1% of the cases in which emergency orders of suspension were issued.

The FAA opposes S. 842. The agency argues that the bill does not alter what may be appealed, merely who would have jurisdiction of an appeal. The FAA believes that S. 842 does not make the process more effective or efficient, but rather creates several new final agency decisions, all of which would be subject to appeal in the Courts of Appeals, which in turn would complicate and potentially prolong, not streamline, the process.

The FAA has stated that, even if the bill is enacted, an equal number of emergency actions can be expected to be issued with the only result being the additional strain on FAA and NTSB resources in response to more appeals regarding the existence of an emergency. On the other hand, if the legislation results in a significant enough strain on FAA resources that the agency is discouraged from its current use of its emergency authority, the FAA argues that it would permit allegedly unqualified certificate holder to operate one to two years or longer, while the non-emergency litigation is ongoing. In sum, the FAA does not believe that its actions and record before the NTSB support the need for any change in the current system.

Mr. President, I am always reluctant, whenever we are talking about safety—and maybe it is a bit of cowardice, but I think it is good sense when we are talking about safety to be very, very, very serious about the recommendations of those agencies that we entrust with those responsibilities.

Obviously, the NTSB is one of those. As the Senator from Kentucky will attest, we have had the NTSB before our committees on many occasions—not just aviation, but many others. They are comprised of very outstanding, knowledgeable people. Mr. Hall, in particular, has impressed us a great deal.

I understand the Senator from Oklahoma will want a recorded vote. I want to assure him that if he doesn't prevail on this vote, I want to work with him because he has cited serious examples of abuse of power—or certainly injustice, if not abuse of power. The Senator from Oklahoma deserves, as those people who have not been fairly treated or where there is the appearance of unfair treatment—I won't allege that it actually happened, but certainly if there is an appearance of it, I want to work with him in getting something added in the bill to provide additional protections. At the same time, I hope that whatever we do, we can achieve the support and cooperation of both the FAA and the NTSB, which is not the case with this amendment.

I yield the floor.

Mr. FORD addressed the Chair.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. ABRAHAM). The Senator from Kentucky.

Mr. FORD. Mr. President, I join my chairman in his remarks. I thought they were excellent and to the point. I agree with Senator MCCAIN that we ought to work with the Senator from Oklahoma to see if we can get something in the bill that will at least recognize the problem that he has brought forth here this afternoon.

As of now, I will join with my colleague and oppose Senator INHOFE's amendment. It is my understanding that GAO, FAA, and the Department of Transportation IG have all looked at FAA's use of its emergency authority. There are only a few cases where the FAA has been reversed. GAO found that FAA used its authority in only 3 percent of its enforcement cases from 1990 to 1997. It shows a great deal of restraint that they only use it in cases where they think it is an emergency. And, as my friend from Arizona has said, most of those cases have been upheld. So FAA must have the authority—must have the authority—to revoke certificates on an emergency basis.

The National Transportation Safety Board, FAA, and GAO all oppose any change. Beyond that, I think I will join with my friend from Arizona in trying to work out something that might be satisfactory, rather than just to look at it a little closer than we have been looking at it. We can all find one or two horror stories. I don't know how many certificates were revoked. I don't know how many charges were presented to the FAA. Those figures are not here. But in all cases, the percentage that Senator MCCAIN represented—2 percent or 1 percent—and then only 3 percent, from 1990 to 1997, of its enforcement cases have they revoked certificates. So I think it indicates that there is a concern on the part of FAA that they not do anything irrational, but that they look at the cases thoroughly and then make a judgment as it relates to emergency authority only.

So I hope that the Senator from Oklahoma will give us an opportunity to sit down and work with him. I hate to be in opposition to all the amendments that are brought, but this is one that I will have to be opposed to and would encourage my colleagues to vote against if the Senator insists that we go on.

He stops in my hometown on occasion, I say to my friend from Arizona, and buys gasoline from the chairman of the Republican Party in my county. He is keeping the Republican Party going. I want him to continue to fly over the Owensboro stop and fill up with gasoline and keep our economy going. I would not want him to not stop in Owensboro. I gave you a hometown reason for us to try to help the Senator from Oklahoma to work something out. I look forward to him agreeing to that. If not, I could not agree to a vote tonight. I am sure the Senator would not want one either. We would have to wait and set a time certain for tomorrow because I understand that his side has a little shindig tonight that they would like to get to. We will accommodate him as they accommodated us last night. We ought to reciprocate, under the circumstances.

I yield the floor.

Mr. INHOFE. Mr. President, first of all, let me respond to the distinguished Senator from Kentucky. I can assure him that I will continue to stop in Owensboro to get my gas as I fly. There is good reason for that; it is the cheapest gas between Tulsa, OK, and National Airport.

Mr. FORD. We also have mighty fine barbecue there, too.

Mr. INHOFE. I eat at the Moonlight Cafe, which is owned by the chairman of the Democratic Party.

Mr. FORD. See, he is neutral.

Mr. INHOFE. Mr. President, I don't disagree with some of the statements made here. I have a little different interpretation. I think the Senator from Arizona is correct when he says 2.55 percent of those were of an emergency nature. The numbers equate to about roughly 300 people.

Now, all too often, we stand down here and say it is such a small number that, if there is an injustice, it doesn't affect that many people. I think that is probably true, but those individuals who are affected, it is a matter of taking away their livelihoods. I disagree with the way the system works. When I look at the average between the time of the alleged offense and the emergency revocation, the average time of those in this last entire year was 132 days. I ask the question, How could there be an emergency nature to these revocations if it takes 132 days before that license is revoked?

I also comment on the extreme cases that we bring out, such as the Ted Stewarts and the Bob Hoovers. There are many others out there like that. Again, we are not talking about anything that is going to impair the safety of the flying public or the pilots because we are setting aside a process whereby there are a certain number of hours to appeal this to the NTSB. It goes back to using the same argument that was successfully used when we changed the rules having to do with civil penalties. With civil penalties, we argued that you can't have just the FAA be the judge and jury and appellate court; and, of course, it has worked out very well since then.

While I respectfully disagree with my colleagues from Arizona and Kentucky, I say that there is no interpretation that can be put on my amendment that is going to do anything to make flying more hazardous, or to keep a person from holding a certificate if there is an emergency nature to the revocation. If there is an emergency nature to the revocation, as determined by the NTSB—and that is their job—then, of course, they will keep the certificate and that individual will not have the ability to fly an airplane.

Let me just make one comment about the NTSB because, while it has been stated that the NTSB and FAA are both opposed to this amendment, I can assure you we talked as recently as yesterday to Dan Campbell, the chief counsel for the NTSB, and he says, no, it is natural that they generally don't want a heavier workload than they currently have. But he feels that this is a fair approach, and they don't have an official position against it.

Does the FAA? Yes. I think any time you are dealing with a bureaucracy—I don't care if it is the IRS, the FDA, the EPA, or the FAA, or any of the rest of them—they don't like to give up anything. This way, they would be giving up part of this appellate process. This is a matter of fairness.

I recognize that we will not be voting until tomorrow. However, I ask for the yeas and nays.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there a sufficient second?

There is a sufficient second. The yeas and nays were ordered.

Mr. INHOFE. I thank the Chair.

Mr. FORD. There we go. We are working together again.

Mr. INHOFE. That is right.

Mr. President, I will make one last comment. In the event that my amendment will not prevail tomorrow, I look forward, of course, to working with both the Senator from Kentucky and the Senator from Arizona to try to make it more workable.

I yield the floor.

AIRPORT PROTECTION FROM FORCED SCHEDULED SERVICE

Mr. ALLARD. Mr. President, today I am speaking in support of an amendment to address a problem facing small reliever airports that do not accept scheduled service operations. Centennial Airport is a small reliever airport near Denver, Colorado, where operations consist primarily of small private chartered and business planes. A unique situation exists at Centennial Airport involving certain charter services and a loophole in the federal regulations governing scheduled flights.

Centennial Airport is not certificated for scheduled flight service. In fact, the Airport Authority, with strong local backing, has banned scheduled service at Centennial. According to federal law, the Federal Aviation Administration cannot force any airport to become certificated. The airport is not equipped with a terminal, baggage system, or passenger security. Furthermore, Denver International Airport is less than 25 miles from Centennial, and has the capacity to handle additional scheduled service operations.

A situation arose more than three years ago when a company called Centennial Express Airlines, Inc. began charter service at Centennial, but immediately announced that the airline's service would continue as scheduled service. The Airport Authority sued and the County District Court ordered the flights stopped. In April of this year the Colorado Supreme Court ruled in favor of Centennial Airport Authority's ban. The Court cited the safe operation of the airport as a priority, and upheld the airport's discretion to prohibit scheduled passenger service.

While this decision protected the airport's right to refuse scheduled service, a similar situation recently arose with another company, Colorado Connection Executive Air Services, and the result has been detrimental for Centennial Airport.

In 1997, Colorado Connection proposed to start public charter passenger service pursuant to a regular and public schedule. Colorado Connection, which is entirely owned by Air One Charter, tried using a combination of Department of Transportation and Federal Aviation Administration exemptions to offer scheduled service. Air One Charter indicated intent to market 6-12 daily flights to various Colorado cities and to contract baggage services for their flights.

The Centennial Airport Authority unanimously voted to deny airport access to Colorado Connection's scheduled service. The vote took place in April 1998 and a month later the FAA initiated a Part 16 investigation. The FAA claims that the Airport Authority's move to deny service is unjustly discriminatory. Recently, the FAA issued a decision to pull federal funding for Centennial Airport if the ban on scheduled service is not lifted.

This decision is in direct conflict with the Colorado Supreme Court's ruling on the issue. It is the result of a loophole in a law that was not intended to force small airports to take on the responsibility and burden of supporting scheduled service.

Immediately following the announcement of the FAA's decision, the owner of Centennial Express was reported by the Denver Post to have plans to begin scheduled flights from Centennial Airport.

I have proposed legislation to rectify this situation and uphold the authority of airports like Centennial to ban all scheduled service if they choose to do so. This proposal allows a general aviation airport to deny access to a public charter operator that operates as a scheduled service, and clarifies that such action would not be in violation of requirements for federal airport aid. This will not require any airport to do anything, and it will not allow an airport to discriminate against one scheduled service operator and not another.

This measure, which is included in the manager's amendment, is nearly identical to language that the House Commerce Committee has included in its FAA Reauthorization Act. It would prohibit the FAA from charging discrimination if an airport chooses to deny access to scheduled service operators. It will only apply to reliever airports that are not certificated under Part 139 to handle scheduled service and airports within 35 miles of a large hub airport.

I appreciate my colleagues' support for the rights of small airport authorities and surrounding communities to retain control over their airports.

BANNING COMMERCIAL TOUR OVERFLIGHTS AT ROCKY MOUNTAIN NATIONAL PARK

Mr. President, I begin by thanking Chairman McCAIN and the other Committee members for their efforts to mitigate the problems presented by scenic overflights at national parks. Tour overflight disturbances are a growing problem at a number of parks. This is an issue that I have been involved in for the last four years, and I recognize that other Members of Congress have tried to address this issue.

While I support the plan put forth by the Committee, I am offering an amendment to modify the overflights bill to address a specific Colorado issue. I appreciate the Chairman's willingness to work with me on this problem.

In particular, I am concerned that helicopter sightseeing tours at Rocky Mountain National Park would seriously detract from the enjoyment of other park visitors and would have a negative impact on the resources and values of the park itself, and I worry about the serious safety risks involved with overflights in this area.

Rocky Mountain National Park is a relatively small park in the Rockies, about 70 miles from Denver. The park receives nearly three million visitors each year, almost as many as Yellowstone national park, which is eight times its size. The park is easily accessible, yet continues to provide quiet, solitude, and remoteness to visitors, especially in the back country. Trail Ridge road provides a unique experience for visitors that are not able to hike in the park. It is the highest paved highway in the United States, and crosses the park from east to west. Spectacular views of peaks and valleys can be seen from the road and nearby overlooks in every direction, similar to what you could see during a helicopter tour. Trail Ridge Road reaches above the timber line and travels for 4 miles above 12,000 feet and for 11 miles above 11,000 feet.

Several problems are specific to this mountainous national park. The elevation of the Park does not allow for a large minimum altitude to minimize noise, therefore, according to the National Park Service, natural quiet is unlikely if overflights are permitted at all. The terrain, consisting of many 13,000 foot peaks and narrow valleys, coupled with unpredictable weather presents serious safety concerns. Also, the unique terrain of Rocky Mountain National Park would cause air traffic to cumulate over the popular, lower portions of the park as pilots are forced to navigate around the dangerous peaks and high winds. Not only would the overflights be concentrated directly over the most popular portions of the park, but more powerful, and louder, helicopters must be used to achieve the necessary lift at a high altitude.

Rocky Mountain National Park has been fortunate enough to be free from overflights to this point, partially because local towns have discouraged companies that might provide such services. Last year the FAA issued a temporary ban on sightseeing flights over Rocky Mountain National Park.

In light of these distinctive qualities, one can assess that the best solution to overflight disturbance is a ban on commercial tour flights at Rocky Mountain National Park. My proposed ban will apply to commercial tour overflights only, with exceptions granted for emergency flights and commercial airlines and private planes. Both the senior Senator from Colorado and I are strongly behind this effort to permanently ban overflights at the park.

A ban would be completely consistent with the recommendations of the overflights task force. There has been public involvement and preparation of an air tour management plan. There is no need to repeat the steps required under this legislative proposal at Rocky Mountain National Park.

A commercial tour overflight ban has wide spread support throughout my state. State and local officials in areas adjacent to the park strongly support a ban on overflights. In fact, local ordinances already exist to protect the quiet at the Park. The entire Colorado delegation and Colorado's Governor are on record in support of an overflight ban. My proposal is supported by the business community, including the local Chambers of Commerce, as well as the local environmental community.

In 1995, one of our top Denver newspapers editorialized that the FAA should make Rocky Mountain National Park off-limits to low-flying aircraft use, "the sooner the better." Now, three years later, we have finally taken the opportunity to place a permanent restriction on scenic overflights.

Mr. FORD. Mr. President, I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

The assistant legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. WELLSTONE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

PRIVILEGE OF THE FLOOR

Mr. WELLSTONE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that John Bradshaw, who is a fellow in my office, be allowed to be on the floor for the duration of this statement.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. WELLSTONE. I thank the Chair.

KOSOVO

Mr. WELLSTONE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that a letter which I sent to the President about Kosovo be printed in the RECORD.

There being no objection, the material was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

SEPTEMBER 22, 1998.

President BILL CLINTON,
The White House,
Washington, DC.

DEAR MR. PRESIDENT: As NATO Defense Ministers, including Secretary Cohen, gather in Portugal this week to consider the situation in Kosovo, I write to express my deep concern over the growing humanitarian crisis there. Unless immediate and determined action by the U.S. and our western allies is taken to address this situation, it is clear we will begin to face a catastrophic loss of civilian lives with the onset of winter in the region as early as mid-October.

Despite tight constraints on their reporting by the government of Serbia, the western media daily offers new reports on the rapidly deteriorating situation there. Candid assessments by Administration officials acknowledge the growing crisis. Systematic and brutal military action by Serbian forces, accelerated during their summer-long offensive against UCK forces, has forced an estimated 300,000 or more ethnic Albanians to flee their homes. While many have fled as refugees to neighboring countries, most of these displaced persons remain inside Kosovo and are now vulnerable to exposure, starvation, disease and further Serb military attack. I understand that Assistant Secretary for Refugees Julia Taft concluded during her recent visit there that over 210 villages in the region have already been looted, and many torched, by Serbian security forces.

Serbia has failed utterly to comply with the persistent demands of the Contact Group to: (1) cease attacks on civilian populations, and withdraw its forces used to repress civilians; (2) permit the establishment of an effective international observer group in Kosovo; (3) allow refugees and displaced persons to return to their homes safely, under international supervision; (4) allow unimpeded access for humanitarian organizations and supplies; and (5) make rapid progress in the dialogue with the Kosovar leadership.

While Ambassador Hill is to be commended for his persistent diplomatic efforts, it is clear that the time has come for a more vigorous and sustained high-level multilateral effort to pressure President Milosevic to comply fully with Contact Group demands. I urge you therefore to proceed immediately with a series of steps designed to prevent the looming humanitarian crisis and to prepare for possible implementation of more forceful options developed by NATO planners. These actions include:

Moving forward now, under NATO auspices, with the pre-deployment phase of NATO military plans on Kosovo, including securing base rights agreements in the region, immediately assessing the contributions of each NATO member in the event military action is necessary, and then forward-deploying appropriate levels of NATO military forces and equipment, thus preparing us to take any appropriate military action that may be necessary to secure Serb compliance with Contact Group demands, and with international law regarding the treatment of Kosovar civilians;

Bolstering border security efforts through preventive NATO force deployments which can increase regional stability and assist in international monitoring and anti-arms smuggling efforts;

Leading an immediate multilateral effort, at the United Nations and through regional bodies like the European Union, to tighten the existing sanctions regime on Serbia, and to re-impose the trade embargo, total airlift and investment bans, and other sanctions lifted after signing of the Dayton Peace Accords, coupled with renewed enforcement initiatives to prevent the flourishing of black markets under a full embargo;

Accelerating U.S. and NATO logistical support for the ongoing international humanitarian aid effort in Kosovo, including pre-deployment of humanitarian supplies in Kosovo in anticipation of winter distributions by NGOs—but only in a way which avoids absolutely the prospect of a repeat of the disgraceful "safe haven" disaster of Srebrenica;

Pressing for more extensive access for human rights monitoring in Kosovo by internationally-recognized organizations, including the Organization for Security and Cooperation in Europe, and non-governmental monitors, and providing appropriate support and assistance for their efforts;

Encouraging the International Criminal Tribunal for the Former Yugoslavia immediately to send its Chief Prosecutor to Belgrade and Kosovo; increasing aid and intelligence support to the Tribunal; and assisting them in placing forensics teams on the ground there, thus signaling to all parties that the Tribunal is committed to prosecuting war crimes committed in Kosovo, including attacks on innocent civilians, and has begun to actually gather evidence to support potential indictments against perpetrators—and their commanders and political leadership to whom they answer;

I believe it is essential that these actions be taken as quickly as possible. We must act now, before the onset of winter in Kosovo, to prevent a potential humanitarian tragedy of historic proportions. I also recognize that these steps in themselves may not be sufficient to force Serbia to comply with the Contact Group's demands in a timely manner, and that further NATO military actions may need to be considered if the situation in Kosovo has not substantially improved, the massacres of civilians continues, and unimpeded access for humanitarian relief workers has not been granted.

Thanks you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

PAUL D. WELLSTONE,
United States Senator.

Mr. WELLSTONE. Mr. President, I thank my colleagues who have come to the floor today to speak about Kosovo for their words.

Mr. President, I rise to call for urgent Presidential action to forestall a humanitarian catastrophe in Kosovo. Unless immediate and determined action by the U.S. and our western allies is taken to address this situation, it is clear we will begin to face a massive loss of civilian lives with the onset of winter in the region as early as mid-October.

The western media offers new reports daily on the rapidly deteriorating situation there. Candid assessments by Administration officials acknowledge the growing crisis. Systematic and brutal military action by Serbian forces, accelerated during their summer-long offensive against UCK forces, has forced an estimated 300,000 or more ethnic Albanians to flee their homes. In recent weeks Serb forces have shelled entire villages, not just rebel positions, forcing more civilians to flee. While many have fled as refugees to neighboring countries, most of these displaced persons remain inside Kosovo and are now vulnerable to exposure, starvation, disease and further Serb military attack. I understand that Assistant Secretary of State for Refugees Julia Taft concluded during her recent visit there that over 210 villages in the region have already been looted, and many torched, by Serbian security forces.

With winter approaching, international relief agencies now fear that tens of thousands of refugees without food or shelter could face death. By some estimates there are 50,000 to 100,000 people in Kosovo living out in the open, without any shelter. Unless they can return to their homes or be provided adequate shelter within the next few weeks they may die of exposure.

Our respected former colleagues Senator Bob Dole recently returned from Kosovo warning that there is a "human catastrophe in the making." President Clinton said last week that there is a potential for a "major humanitarian disaster" in Kosovo and that it is "important that we move as quickly as possible with our allies to avert a tragedy." The President cautioned: "We don't want a repeat of Bosnia."

The President is right. We cannot wait any longer to take more vigorous action to force Serbia to cease making this crisis worse and to allow necessary humanitarian relief into the area. Serbia must comply with the persistent demands of the Contact Group: (1) cease attacks on civilian populations, and withdraw its forces used to repress civilians; (2) permit the establishment of an effective international observer group in Kosovo; (3) allow refugees and displaced persons to return to their homes safely, under international supervision; (4) allow unimpeded access for humanitarian organizations and supplies; and (5) make rapid progress in the dialogue with the Kosovar leadership.

In recent days there have been some positive developments in the UN Security Council and in NATO which indicate that those organizations may be ready to take necessary action. The Security Council is contemplating a resolution stating that the situation in Kosovo "constitutes a threat to peace and security" that impels the council to demand an immediate cease-fire. This demand would be in accordance with Chapter 7 of the UN charter. There are indications that Russia may be willing to support this resolution. The resolution does not call for the use of force, but I note that Chapter 7 authorizes the use of armed force by NATO members to compel compliance with the council's orders.

Parallel progress is being made at NATO headquarters in Brussels where the U.S. has asked the North Atlantic Council to canvass member countries to determine which countries are willing to provide personnel and equipment to military operations in Kosovo. This action will be useful in precipitating consultations between NATO governments and their respective parliaments and bringing into the open the debate on military options.

I applaud these developments and call on the UN and NATO to accelerate them.

I also want to commend U.S. Ambassador Chris Hill for his persistent diplomatic efforts. The U.S. should continue to work toward a political solution to this problem along the lines pursued by Ambassador Hill. At the same time, though, we must also proceed with a more vigorous and sustained high-level multilateral effort to pressure President Milosevic to comply fully with Contact Group demands.

Mr. President, I want to outline some steps that I hope the administration will proceed with.

I urge the Administration therefore to proceed immediately with a series of steps designed to prevent the looming humanitarian crisis and to prepare for possible implementation of more forceful options developed by NATO planners.

I urge the administration today on the floor of the U.S. Senate to proceed immediately with these steps.

These actions include: Moving forward now, under NATO auspices, with the pre-deployment phase of NATO military plans on Kosovo, including securing base rights agreements in the region, immediately assessing the contributions of each NATO member in the event military action is necessary, and then forward-deploying appropriate levels of NATO military forces and equipment, thus preparing us to take any appropriate military action that may be necessary to secure Serb compliance with Contact Group demands, and with international law regarding the treatment of Kosovar citizens; bolstering border security efforts through preventive NATO force deployments which can increase regional stability and assist in international monitoring and anti-arms smuggling efforts; leading an immediate multilateral effort, at the United Nations and through regional bodies like the European Union, to tighten the existing sanctions regime on Serbia, and to re-impose the total airflight and investment bans, and other sanctions lifted after signing of the Dayton Peace Accords, and to consider reimposing the trade embargo, coupled with renewed enforcement initiatives to prevent the flourishing of black markets under a full embargo; accelerating U.S. and NATO logistical support for the ongoing international humanitarian aid effort in Kosovo, including pre-deployment of humanitarian supplies in Kosovo in anticipation of winter distribution by NGOs—but only in a way which avoids absolutely the prospect of a repeat of the disgraceful "safe haven" disaster of Srebrenica; pressing for more extensive access for human rights monitoring in Kosovo by internationally recognized organizations, including the Organization for Security and Cooperation in Europe, and non-governmental monitors, and providing appropriate support and assistance for their efforts; and encouraging the International Criminal Tribunal for the Former Yugoslavia immediately to send its Chief Prosecutor to Belgrade and Kosovo; increasing aid and intelligence support to the Tribunal; and assisting them in placing forensics teams on the ground there, thus signaling to all parties that the Tribunal is committed to prosecuting war crimes committed in Kosovo including attacks on innocent civilians, and has begun to actually gather evidence to support potential indictments against perpetrators—and their commanders and political leadership to whom they answer.

I believe it is essential that these actions be taken as quickly as possible. We must act now, before the onset of winter in Kosovo, to prevent a potential humanitarian tragedy of historic proportions. I also recognize that these steps in themselves may not be sufficient to force Serbia to comply with the Contact Group's demands in a timely manner, and that further NATO military actions may need to be considered if the situation in Kosovo has not substantially improved, the massacres of civilians continues, and unimpeded access for humanitarian relief workers has not been granted.

Mr. President, again, I thank my colleagues who have spoken today on this matter. I do think it is important that we speak out. I think in the last couple of days we have seen positive developments in the U.N. Security Council and NATO which indicate that these organizations may be ready to take necessary action. But I wanted to outline today some options which I believe we need to consider and which I think will communicate a message to Milosevic that we are deadly serious; to talk actually about taking military action is very serious. It is always the last option. But I believe, at the minimum, we can do some predeployment phases of NATO military plans.

I think we can bolster some of our border security efforts. I think we can tighten the sanctions regime on Serbia. I think we can accelerate United States and NATO logistical support for international humanitarian aid efforts in Kosovo. I think we can press for more extensive access for human rights monitoring by some internationally recognized organizations. And I think we can make it clear that we are going to give the International Criminal Tribunal all the support it needs as well.

None of this may be enough—I want to say this one more time in this Chamber. None of these steps may be sufficient to force Serbia to comply with the contact group's demands in a timely manner and further military action may be necessary. But if these actions are not taken as quickly as possible, we are—Senator Dole is right—going to see a humanitarian crisis of tragic proportions. We are going to see a lot of men, women and children who are going to die unless we take action.

I yield the floor.

Mr. FORD. Mr. President, we are about—

Mr. WELLSTONE. Mr. President, could I ask my colleague for his indulgence for 2 minutes?

Mr. FORD. I have no objection.

Mr. WELLSTONE. I know it is the end of the day and colleagues are anxious to go home.

Mr. FORD. Mr. President, we are trying to wrap up the aviation bill.

Mr. WELLSTONE. I am sorry.

Mr. FORD. We gave the Senator time off the aviation bill. We have some amendments.

Mr. WELLSTONE. I did not realize that.

Mr. FORD. But the 2 minutes are fine.

Mr. WELLSTONE. I thank the Senator.

SENATOR MURIEL HUMPHREY

Mr. WELLSTONE. I want to mention to my colleague from Kentucky that tomorrow in Minnesota we are going to have a service for Muriel Humphrey—Senator Humphrey. Both Humphreys were Senators. I wish to express the appreciation, love and affection all of the people of Minnesota feel toward the Humphrey family.

Much has been written about Muriel Humphrey. I had a chance to get to meet her. I did not know her nearly as well as other Minnesotans, but I can tell you she was a wonderful person, very caring toward her family, very caring toward the great Senator Hubert Humphrey, a really fine Senator—the first woman to serve in the Senate from the State of Minnesota in her own right—and, I think most important of all, a wonderful, wonderful model for public service. It is a great loss for Minnesota. It is a great loss for our country. Muriel Humphrey will be a very special person to all of us in Minnesota for many years to come. We will never forget her.

I yield the floor.

WENDELL H. FORD NATIONAL AIR TRANSPORTATION SYSTEM IMPROVEMENT ACT OF 1998

The Senate continued with the consideration of the bill.

AMENDMENTS NOS. 3623, 3624, AND 3625, EN BLOC

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Arizona.

Mr. MCCAIN. On behalf of Senator SNOWE, I send three amendments to the desk and ask unanimous consent that they be considered en bloc.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will report the amendments.

The assistant legislative clerk read as follows:

The Senator from Arizona [Mr. MCCAIN], for Ms. SNOWE, proposes amendments en bloc numbered 3623, 3624 and 3625.

The amendments are as follows:

AMENDMENT NO. 3623

(Purpose: To provide increased civil penalties for violation of the prohibition against discrimination against handicapped individuals, and for other purposes)

On page 121, line 1, strike “INTERNATIONAL”.

On page 121, line 3, before “The” insert “(a) ESTABLISHMENT OF HIGHER INTERNATIONAL STANDARDS.—”.

On page 121, between lines 9 and 10, insert the following:

(b) INCREASED CIVIL PENALTIES.—Section 46301(a) is amended by—

(1) inserting “41705,” after “41704,” in paragraph (1)(A); and

(2) adding at the end thereof the following:

“(7) Unless an air carrier that violates section 41705 with respect to an individual provides that individual a credit or voucher for the purchase of a ticket on that air carrier or any affiliated air carrier in an amount (determined by the Secretary) of—

“(A) not less than $500 and not more than $2,500 for the first violation; or

“(B) not less than $2,500 and not more than $5,000 for any subsequent violation, that air carrier is liable to the United States Government for a civil penalty, determined by the Secretary, of not more than 100 percent of the amount of the credit or voucher so determined. For purposes of this paragraph, each act of discrimination prohibited by section 41705 constitutes a separate violation of that section.”.

On page 89, strike the item relating to section 507 and insert the following:

Sec. 507. Higher standards for handicapped access.

AMENDMENT NO. 3624

(Purpose: To require human weather observers for ASOS stations until the automated system reports consistently on changing conditions)

At the appropriate place, insert the following new section:

SEC. . AUTOMATED SURFACE OBSERVATION SYSTEM STATIONS.

The Administrator of the Federal Aviation Administration shall not terminate human weather observers for Automated Surface Observation System stations until—

(1) the Secretary of Transportation determines that the System provides consistent reporting of changing meteorological conditions and notifies the Congress in writing of that determination; and

(2) 60 days have passed since the report was submitted to the Congress.

AMENDMENT NO. 3625

(Purpose: To provide that communities participating in the community-carrier air service program will be selected from all regions of the country)

On page 147, line 4, after “program.” insert the following: “For purposes of this subsection, the application of geographical diversity criteria means criteria that—

“(1) will promote the development of a national air transportation system; and

“(2) will involve the participation of communities in all regions of the country.”.

Ms. SNOWE. Mr. President, I thank the Chairman, Senator MCCAIN, and the ranking member, Senator FORD, for their assistance with my three amendments.

One way that the FAA reauthorization bill will improve the nation's air service is through the new Community Carrier Air Service Program. This program will provide assistance to communities so that underserved markets can attract carriers.

The Secretary of Transportation will select communities to participate in this program based on geographic diversity and other unique circumstances that presently hinder communities from attracting adequate air service. It is important to note that the intent of this language is to ensure that participation in the program will promote the development of a national air transportation system. And my amendment will ensure that it involves the Transportation must ensure this diversity so that every region of the nation can benefit from the program.

An important provision for Maine's pilots is included in my amendment on the ASOS program. This amendment requires that the Federal Aviation Administration retain human observers at the automated surface transportation system stations which have had a high rate of reporting error. The language in the amendment requires the FAA to correct the problems and notify Congress that the problems have been solved before it can remove a human observer from an ASOS station.

ASOS is an automatic weather observance system which uses electronic sensors, computers and display units to detect weather. It is fully automated and computerized and is intended to replace human observers of on-the-ground weather conditions in specific locales. Information from ASOS sensors are transmitted to a computer, and users, like pilots, can call a special phone number or tune into a special radio frequency to obtain information.

ASOS is intended to make weather information collection and dissemination more cost-effective by replacing the human element with electronics. The problem is that in the northern tier states, such as Maine, the ASOS system has problems discerning certain weather conditions. For example, sleet falls faster than snow so ASOS records it as rain and recently heavy smoke from Canadian forest fires caused the ASOS at the Houlton airport to report heavy fog at the airport. Needless to say, flying through fog is very different than flying through smoke. This is a very serious matter and could result in life threatening problems if a pilot does not have the proper weather information.

The ASOS systems in Maine have been very unreliable. The station in Houlton recorded more than 1,400 mistakes in one year. A letter from the FAA dated May 26, 1998, to you admits the problems with the system.

My third amendment increases fines for those airlines which chose to discriminate against the handicapped. Although the airlines have been working to improve their treatment of the handicapped, there have been some incidents which warrant a sizable fine by the Department of Transportation.

For example, one of my constituents, Ms. Alice Conway, of Portland, Maine was returning from Mexico in 1994 after attending a disabilities related conference. Her story is a very unfortunate one and clearly illustrates the need for penalties which will deter such treatment by the airlines and their employees.

The problem began for Alice in Mexico City. There a mechanical problem forced a 45 minute delay in departure. While other passengers were able to exit the plane, nobody offered to help Ms. Conway off the plane. After the flight finally got underway, Ms. Conway, who is paraplegic, asked to use the aisle chair in order to visit the restroom. Ms. Conway was denied access to the restroom because the chair had been forgotten.

At one point of the flight, the plane landed in Indianapolis. On the ground there, the flight attendants refused to bring her a chair and denied her any assistance which would have allowed her to visit the restroom. As the flight traveled to Chicago, she asked if she could scoot along the aisle of the aircraft to get to the restroom, a flight attendant told her that sitting in the aisle was illegal and if she did so, she would be arrested when they landed.

Finally, after seven hours of travel, an attendant gave her a blanket and a bottle so that she could empty her colostomy pouch while sitting in her seat.

She had to empty her colostomy pouch in her seat!

How can any of us condone such behavior? Thankfully, this bill contains language that will create stiff penalties for those who violate the law.

Again, I thank the Senator from Arizona and the Senator from Kentucky and their staff for their assistance in coming to agreement on these three amendments.

Mr. McCAIN. Mr. President, I understand that these amendments have been cleared on both sides. I support them.

Mr. FORD. Mr. President, I have no objections and support the three amendments of the Senator from Maine, Ms. SNOWE.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There being no further discussion on the amendments, without objection, the amendments are agreed to.

The amendments (Nos. 3623, 3624, and 3625) were agreed to.

Mr. McCAIN. Mr. President, I move to reconsider the vote.

Mr. FORD. I move to lay that motion on the table.

The motion to lay on the table was agreed to.

AMENDMENT NO. 3626

(Purpose: To make technical corrections in the managers' amendment)

Mr. McCAIN. Mr. President, on behalf of myself and Senator FORD, I send an amendment to the desk.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will report the amendment.

The assistant legislative clerk read as follows:

The Senator from Arizona [Mr. McCAIN], for himself and Mr. FORD, proposes an amendment numbered 3626.

Mr. FORD. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that reading of the amendment be dispensed with.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The amendment is as follows:

On page 48 of the managers' amendment, strike "additional" in line 12, line 16, and line 23.

Mr. McCAIN. Mr. President, this amendment is in the nature of technical corrections, and I ask for its immediate consideration.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There being no further debate, without objection, the amendment is agreed to.

The amendment (No. 3626) was agreed to.

Mr. McCAIN. Mr. President, I move to reconsider the vote.

Mr. FORD. I move to lay that motion on the table.

The motion to lay on the table was agreed to.

Mr. McCAIN. Mr. President, shortly we will have a list of agreed upon amendments for tomorrow. We do not have time agreements on those amendments, I am sorry to say, but we at least have the list narrowed down, and I am confident we are now approaching the point where there are probably only two or three controversial amendments.

My friend from Kentucky can correct me, but I think the majority leader, in consultation with the Democratic leader, will decide at what time the vote on the Inhofe amendment will take place.

Mr. FORD. The Senator is correct. And I am more than willing to work out whatever time is agreeable to the two leaders. I agree with my friend that we need to move on. We are down to just very few votes on this piece of legislation. We have worked awfully hard on our side. We have been able to clear up two or three that we worked on pretty hard. The Snowe amendments we have agreed to, the technical corrections amendment we agreed to, and those have been taken care of.

So we are moving on, even though it does not appear there is much action on the floor. Once the legislation is before the Senate, a vacuum is created. I learned that a long time ago. You may not have everything put together, but once you get started it creates a vacuum, and I think we are on our way to being able to pass this piece of legislation sometime tomorrow.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Arizona.

Mr. McCAIN. Mr. President, we are awaiting the approval from the cloakrooms of this list. So while we are awaiting that, I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

The legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. McCAIN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. GREGG). Without objection, it is so ordered.

UNANIMOUS CONSENT AGREEMENT

Mr. McCAIN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the following amendments be the only amendments in order to S. 2279, that they be subject to relevant second-degree amendments, and that they be considered under time agreements where listed, and that any second-degree amendment be accorded the same time as the first degree to which it is offered, and that the previous requirement of relevancy be in effect.

The following is the list of the amendments: McCain-Ford amendment, a managers' amendment; McCain amendment which is relevant, 5 minutes equally divided; Hollings amendment, relevant, 5 minutes equally divided; Gorton, relevant amendment, 5 minutes equally divided; Ford, relevant, 5 minutes equally divided; Bingaman, overflights, bolster Native Americans' role, 30 minutes equally divided; Boxer amendment, relevant; Daschle, two relevant amendments; DeWine, SOS, 10 minutes equally divided; Dorgan, regional jet tax incentives, 2 hours equally divided; Dorgan, mandatory interline and joint fare agreements, 2 hours equally divided; Faircloth, SOS, 5 minutes equally divided; Feinstein, National Airport perimeter slots; Harkin, relevant; Harkin, slots; Inhofe, FAA emergency revocation power—and, Mr. President, that is the pending amendment No. 3620, the Inhofe amendment on FAA emergency revocation power; Landrieu, relevant amendment; Lott, relevant amendment; Moynihan, airport improvement, 1 hour equally divided; Mikulski-Sarbanes, three amendments, Reagan National, slots, and perimeter rule, 30 minutes equally divided for each of these three amendments; Roth, reintroduce title VIII to bill, 5 minutes equally divided—

Mr. FORD. That has been taken care of.

Mr. McCAIN. That amendment would be removed.

Thompson, criminal penalties for airmen who fly without a certificate; Torricelli-Lautenberg, Quiet Communities Act, 1 hour equally divided; Torricelli, relevant; D'Amato-Moynihan, DOT issue 70 slot exemptions at JFK Airport, New York, 10 minutes equally divided; Lott-Frist-Moynihan amendment, limit eligible airport size for regional jet section, and Reagan National commuter slots, 10 minutes equally divided; Reed of Rhode Island, noise at Rhode Island airport, 15 minutes equally divided; Reed of Rhode Island, code-sharing notice, 15 minutes equally divided; Robb, Reagan National Airport, slots and perimeter rule, 1 hour equally divided; Warner, prohibit new Reagan National slots and perimeter rule exemptions until MWAAs nominees confirmed by the Senate, 1 hour equally divided; Warner, notice, comment and hearings before proceeding with Reagan National slots and perimeter rule exemptions, 1 hour equally divided; Domenici amendment regarding Taos; D'Amato, travel agents, 20 minutes equally divided; Coats, Reagan National Airport slots; Daschle, relevant.

Mr. FORD. McCain-Ford managers' amendment.

Mr. McCAIN. I did that at the start.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. McCAIN. Before I proceed further, I do want to say that although it looks like there are a lot of amendments, we are working out agreements on almost all of them. So I urge my colleagues to get with us tomorrow. We can work out these agreements and have two or three amendments and hopefully get this legislation passed today.

Before I proceed, I ask if the distinguished Senator from Kentucky has any remarks.

I yield the floor.

Mr. FORD. Mr. President, I have no disagreement with the unanimous consent proposal, particularly retaining the relevancy that is in effect now. There is only one question I might have. There is a Torricelli-Lautenberg Quiet Communities Act amendment that should be for both, I think. And just so long as that is understood that it is not two amendments; it is only one.

Mr. McCAIN. That is a Torricelli-Lautenberg amendment.

Mr. FORD. One amendment rather than two. If we could cut an amendment off now, we ought to do it instead of waiting until tomorrow. So I agree with my colleague, we have an opportunity to finish this bill tomorrow. And it is one of those "must-pass" bills. And I am very hopeful that we can do it. We are here. Our staff is available. We are very amenable right now and probably more so tomorrow; but toward noon and a little after we may get intolerable. So let's hope we can do things early in the morning after our first vote.

I thank the Chair and thank my colleague.

Mr. McCAIN. Mr. President, just for the record, I want to make it clear that these are first-degree amendments only.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The RECORD will so reflect.

MORNING BUSINESS

Mr. McCAIN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that there be a period for the transaction of routine morning business with Senators permitted to speak for up to 5 minutes each.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT OF SENATOR HAGEL'S 100TH PRESIDING HOUR

Mr. LOTT. Mr. President, I have the pleasure to announce that Senator CHUCK HAGEL is the latest recipient of the Senate's golden gavel award, marking his 100th hour of presiding over the U.S. Senate.

The golden gavel award has long served as a symbol of appreciation for the time that Senators contribute to presiding over the U.S. Senate—a privileged and important duty. Since the 1960's, Senators who preside for 100 hours have been recognized with this coveted award.

On behalf of the Senate, I extend our sincere appreciation to Senator HAGEL and his diligent staff for their efforts and commitment to presiding duties during the 105th Congress.

PREPARING FOR FUTURE BATTLEFIELDS

Mr. BYRD. Mr. President, in June 1997, Senator GLENN, Senator LEVIN, and I requested the General Accounting Office (GAO) to examine the Department of Defense's (DOD) approach for addressing U.S. troop exposures to low levels of chemical warfare agents. That report is being released today. This kind of exposure, most recently experienced in the immediate aftermath of the Persian Gulf War—and possibly during it—is likely to become an ever greater threat, as more nations seek a battlefield advantage by employing the "poor man's bomb," chemical weapons. Our concern was to ensure that the Department of Defense had, in fact, learned the lessons of the Persian Gulf War and had taken effective steps to address any weaknesses that might result in the soldiers of future wars being needlessly harmed by exposure to low levels of chemical weapons. It is one thing to suffer casualties on the battlefield due to the misfortunes of war; it is quite another thing to inflict on American service men and women unnecessary wounds caused by a lack of foresight and planning. That is unacceptable.

Unfortunately, what the GAO discovered is that, as far as chemical weapons and chemical battlefields are concerned, the United States military is still in Cold War mode. DOD's focus in this area is still to enable U.S. forces to survive, fight, and win in the dreaded all-out nuclear, biological, and chemical battlefields of the Cold War. DOD has no strategy to address low-level exposures to chemical warfare agents. None. Nada. Zip. Despite the fact that existing DOD-conducted research indicates that low-level exposures to some chemical warfare agents may result in adverse short-term performance and long-term health effects, the Department of Defense has not stated a policy or developed doctrine on the protection of troops from low-level exposures to chemical warfare agents on the battlefield. Apparently, DOD prefers to concentrate on "winning," and hand off any chemical casualties to the Department of Veterans Affairs with a "no longer my business" attitude. I think we need to look at the bigger picture and give the safety of our military personnel the consideration they certainly deserve.

Even in the wake of disclosures by DOD that approximately 100,000 U.S. troops might have been exposed to some harmful level of chemical nerve and blister agents resulting from the destruction of a single Iraqi munitions dump, less than two percent of DOD's chemical and biological defense research and development program funds have been allocated to low-level chemical exposure issues in the two years since those disclosures. DOD claims that there is "no validated threat" of low-level chemical exposure to warrant greater effort, even as it continues to analyze other incidents during the Gulf War that may result in more troops being notified that they may have been exposed to low doses of chemical warfare agents. Moreover, the GAO report notes that DOD did a study just last year analyzing the impact of state sponsored terrorist attacks using low levels of chemical warfare agent to clandestinely disrupt U.S. military operations.

It seems both prudent and reasonable to at least begin the conceptual work to address the issue of low-level exposures to chemical warfare agents. But what GAO found instead was a few uncoordinated efforts by concerned offices to look into this current and future threat. This issue demands a top-down approach, in which the broad strategy or framework can guide the development of research, new technology, and operational practice to better defend American men and women, our sons and daughters, grandsons and granddaughters, when they don the uniform of the United States and defend our interests in the hardest and most courageous manner.

For this reason, and based upon the material which the GAO investigators had uncovered, I authored an amendment, which Senator GLENN cosponsored, to this year's Department of Defense Authorization bill to require the Secretary of Defense to review and modify chemical warfare defense policies and doctrine. The review calls upon DOD to address providing adequate protection from any low-level exposure, whether singly or in combination with other hazards, and whether to a single agent or to multiple agents and hazards over time. This amendment also requires the Secretary to address the reporting, coordinating, and retaining of information on possible exposures, including monitoring the health effects of those exposures by location, so that other mistakes of the Persian Gulf War are not extended to future battles. Additionally, this amendment calls upon the Secretary to develop and carry out a research program on the health effects of low-level exposures that can guide the Secretary in the evolution of policy and doctrine on low-level exposures to chemical warfare agents. I am very pleased that the amendment was retained in conference, and I look forward to the report on the review, which is due on May 1, 1999.

I am also pleased with the fine and useful work done by GAO on this report, particularly by Dr. Sushil Sharma and Mr. Jeffery Harris. I hope that the Department of Defense finds their analysis and their conclusions helpful as it begins the review mandated in the Department of Defense Authorization conference report. And finally, I thank Senator LEVIN and Senator GLENN for their interest in this matter.

U.S. FOREIGN OIL CONSUMPTION FOR WEEK ENDING SEPTEMBER 18

Mr. HELMS. Mr. President, the American Petroleum Institute reports that for the week ending September 18, the U.S. imported 7,411,000 barrels of oil each day, 1,115,000 barrels a day less than the 8,526,000 imported during the same week a year ago.

While this is one of the rare weeks when Americans imported slightly less foreign oil than the same week a year ago, Americans nonetheless relied on foreign oil for 54 percent of their needs last week. There are no signs that the upward spiral will abate. Before the Persian Gulf War, the United States imported about 45 percent of its oil supply from foreign countries. During the Arab oil embargo in the 1970s, foreign oil accounted for only 35 percent of America's oil supply.

All Americans should ponder the economic calamity certain to occur in the U.S. if and when foreign producers shut off our supply—or double the already enormous cost of imported oil flowing into the U.S.: now 7,411,000 barrels a day at a cost of approximately $89,006,110 a day.

THE VERY BAD DEBT BOXSCORE

Mr. HELMS. Mr. President, at the close of business yesterday, Wednesday, September 22, 1998, the federal debt stood at $5,515,818,621,727.95 (Five trillion, five hundred fifteen billion, eight hundred eighteen million, six hundred twenty-one thousand, seven hundred twenty-seven dollars and ninety-five cents).

One year ago, September 22, 1997, the federal debt stood at $5,378,804,000,000 (Five trillion, three hundred seventy-eight billion, eight hundred four million).

Five years ago, September 22, 1993, the federal debt stood at $4,395,748,000,000 (Four trillion, three hundred ninety-five billion, seven hundred forty-eight million).

Ten years ago, September 22, 1988, the federal debt stood at $2,587,230,000,000 (Two trillion, five hundred eighty-seven billion, two hundred thirty million).

Fifteen years ago, September 22, 1983, the federal debt stood at $1,354,474,000,000 (One trillion, three hundred fifty-four billion, four hundred seventy-four million) which reflects a debt increase of more than $4 trillion—$4,161,344,621,727.95 (Four trillion, one hundred sixty-one billion, three hundred forty-four million, six hundred twenty-one thousand, seven hundred twenty-seven dollars and ninety-five cents) during the past 15 years.

NOMINATION OF AMY ROSEN TO AMTRAK REFORM BOARD

Mr. WYDEN. Mr. President, earlier today, I called in a hold on the nomination of Amy Rosen to the Amtrak Reform Board. Consistent with my policy of publicly disclosing holds, I am including the following statement in the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD, stating my reasons for placing a hold on this nomination:

I am placing a hold on the nomination of Amy Rosen to the Amtrak Reform Board because of her role as an Amtrak Board member in voting to terminate Amtrak's Pioneer route. A subsequent GAO report indicates that at the time Ms. Rosen approved terminating the Pioneer, other Amtrak routes that were even less profitable than the Pioneer were kept in service. Before I will allow Ms. Rosen's nomination to move forward, I am seeking certain assurances from Ms. Rosen that if confirmed as a member of the Amtrak Reform Board, she will insist that Amtrak make decisions about passenger rail service on the basis of objective financial criteria.

Subsequent to calling in my hold on Ms. Rosen's nomination, I and my staff had conversations with her to discuss my concerns. During those conversations, I received assurances from Ms. Rosen that as an Amtrak Board member, she would insist that decisions about Amtrak routes and services would be made on the basis of objective financial criteria and that she would work with me and other Members of Congress to address the needs of rural communities for passenger rail service. As a result of these conversations, I am withdrawing my hold on Amy Rosen's nomination to the Amtrak Reform Board.

MESSAGES FROM THE PRESIDENT

Messages from the President of the United States were communicated to the Senate by Mr. Williams, one of his secretaries.

EXECUTIVE MESSAGES REFERRED

As in executive session the Presiding Officer laid before the Senate messages from the President of the United States submitting sundry nominations which were referred to the appropriate committees.

(The nominations received today are printed at the end of the Senate proceedings.)

REPORT CONCERNING THE CONTINUATION OF THE NATIONAL EMERGENCY WITH RESPECT TO UNITA—MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT—PM 159

The PRESIDING OFFICER laid before the Senate the following message from the President of the United States, together with an accompanying report; which was referred to the Committee on Banking, Housing, and Urban Affairs.

To the Congress of the United States:

Section 202(d) of the National Emergencies Act (50 U.S.C. 1622(d)) provides for the automatic termination of a national emergency unless, prior to the anniversary date of its declaration, the President publishes in the Federal Register and transmits to the Congress a notice stating that the emergency is to continue in effect beyond the anniversary date. In accordance with this provision, I have sent the enclosed notice, stating that the emergency declared with respect to the National Union for the Total Independence of Angola ("UNITA") is to continue in effect beyond September 26, 1998, to the Federal Register for publication.

The circumstances that led to the declaration on September 26, 1993, of a national emergency have not been resolved. The actions and policies of UNITA pose a continuing unusual and extraordinary threat to the foreign policy of the United States. United Nations Security Council Resolutions 864 (1993), 1127 (1997), 1173 (1998), and 1176 (1998) continue to oblige all member states to maintain sanctions. discontinuation of the sanctions would have a prejudicial effect on the Angolan peace process. For these reasons, I have determined that it is necessary to maintain in force the broad authorities necessary to apply economic pressure to UNITA to reduce its ability to pursue its aggressive policies of territorial acquisition.

WILLIAM J. CLINTON.

THE WHITE HOUSE, September 23, 1998.

STATEMENTS ON INTRODUCED BILLS AND JOINT RESOLUTIONS

By Mr. KEMPTHORNE:

S. 2512. A bill to establish a National Resources Institute at the Idaho National Engineering and Environmental Laboratory; to the Committee on Environment and Public Works.

NATIONAL RESOURCES INSTITUTE LEGISLATION

• Mr. KEMPTHORNE. Mr. President, today I introduce the Natural Resources Institute legislation. Congressman CRAPO, who represents the second Congressional district in my state of Idaho, introduced the Natural Resources Institute legislation in the House, on September 17, 1998. I believe this legislation will help find solutions to many of the problems that affect the health of our environment.

This country is faced with the challenge of protecting the environment, while maintaining economic growth. The use of our nation's natural resources touches all of our lives every day. However, this use has left a legacy of fragmented land-use and regions of environmental degradation, including areas in my home state of Idaho.

Unfortunately, there has not been a comprehensive and coordinated effort to address these environmental issues or an organized effort to help other communities from making similar mistakes. I believe that many of these problems could be avoided if the communities faced with land-use decisions had access to sound scientific research.

The Natural Resources Institute Act, utilizing expertise from national laboratories and universities, will provide communities with access to sound scientific research when making environmental and land-use decisions. In addition, the Natural Resources Institute Act will coordinate research efforts to solve real-world environmental problems. It will be particularly helpful in addressing problems associated with agriculture, logging, grazing, hydro-power, fishing, mining, recreation and other natural resource activities.

Mr. President, I believe this important legislation gives state and local governments the necessary tools to make sound informed decisions regarding land-use decisions. I would like to commend Congressman CRAPO for his leadership on this important issue. •

By Mr. SMITH of Oregon:

S. 2513. A bill to transfer administrative jurisdiction over certain Federal land located within or adjacent to Rogue River National Forest and to clarify the authority of the Bureau of Land Management to sell and exchange other Federal land in Oregon; to the Committee on Energy and Natural Resources.

OREGON PUBLIC LAND TRANSFER AND PROTECTION ACT OF 1998

• Mr. SMITH of Oregon. Mr. President, today I am introducing legislation to transfer the administrative jurisdiction over certain lands within or adjacent to the Rogue River National Forest and to clarify the authority of the Bureau of Land Management to sell and exchange Oregon and California Railroad grant lands (O and C lands) in Oregon. The bill represents a thoughtfully crafted compromise agreed to by the majority and minority in the other body, and the O and C counties and the timber industry in my state.

Title I of the bill would consolidate the management over certain parcels of federal land by transferring jurisdiction over these parcels between the Forest Service and the Bureau of Land Management. The status of any O and C lands transferred will not change, regardless of which agency has jurisdiction over the lands following the transfer. This is not a land exchange in the traditional sense, but rather the transfer of jurisdiction between two agencies of lands already in federal ownership. It is my understanding that the Administration supports this transfer.

Title II of the bill provides that, over successive ten-year periods, there will be no net loss of acres designated as O and C lands. These lands are somewhat unique in the federal inventory, and are managed in accordance with the Act of August 28, 1937, and other applicable federal statutes.

There have been concerns on the part of the O and C counties that the O and C lands will be used by the federal government in land exchanges and sales, thereby diminishing the total acreage over time. Since the counties rely on revenues from these lands, it is important to clarify that it is the intent of Congress that the acreage remain constant.

Mr. President, this bill is non-controversial, and I would ask for the support of my colleagues on enactment of this measure before the end of this Congress. I ask unanimous consent that the full text of the bill be printed in the RECORD.

There being no objection, the bill was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

S. 2513

AMENDMENT NO. 3615

Mrs. FEINSTEIN (for herself, Mr. DURBIN, and Mr. JEFFORDS) proposed an amendment to the bill, S. 1301, supra; as follows:

At the appropriate place in title VII, insert the following:

SEC. . ENCOURAGING CREDITWORTHINESS.

(2) SENSE OF THE CONGRESS.—It is the sense of the Congress that—

(a)(1) certain lenders may sometimes offer credit to consumers indiscriminately, without taking steps to ensure that consumers are capable of repaying the resulting debt, and in a manner which may encourage certain consumers to accumulate additional debt; and

(2) resulting consumer debt may increasingly be a major contributing factor to consumer insolvency.

(b) STUDY REQUIRED.—The Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System (hereafter in this section referred to as the "Board") shall conduct a study of—

(1) consumer credit industry practices of soliciting and extending credit—

(A) indiscriminately;

(B) without taking steps to ensure that consumer are capable of repaying the resulting debt; and

(C) in a manner that encourages consumers to accumulate additional debt; and

(2) the effects of such practices on consumer debt and insolvency.

(c) REPORT AND REGULATIONS.—Not later than 24 months after the date of enactment of this Act, the Board—

(1) shall make public a report on its findings with respect to the credit industry's indiscriminate solicitation and extension of credit;

(2) may issue regulations that would require additional disclosures to consumers; and

(3) may take any other actions, consistent with its existing statutory authority, that the Board finds necessary to ensure responsible industrywide practices and to prevent resulting consumer debt and insolvency.

HARKIN (AND OTHERS) AMENDMENT NO. 3616

Mr. HARKIN (for himself, Mr. DORGAN, Mr. CONRAD, Mr. WELLSTONE, Mr. BRYAN, and Mr. KERREY) proposed an amendment to the bill, S. 1301, supra; as follows:

At the appropriate place, insert the following:

SEC. ____ SENSE OF THE CONGRESS REGARDING INTEREST RATES.

(a) FINDINGS.—The Congress finds, as of the date of enactment of this Act, that—

(1) real interest rates are at historically high levels, the highest in 9 years;

(2) the Federal Funds rate is 5.5 percent, where it has been since March 1997, despite an inflation rate of 1.6 percent;

(3) between 1992 and 1994, the Federal Funds rate averaged 3.6 percent, while inflation was at 2.8 percent;

(4) to confirm that real interest rates are historically high, the Chairman of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, Alan Greenspan, said during his Humphrey-Hawkins testimony before the Committee on Banking and Financial Services of the House of Representatives on February 24, 1998, "Statistically, it is a fact that real interest rates are higher now than they have been on the average of the post-World War II period.";

(5) inflation over the 2 years preceding the date of enactment of this Act was at its lowest level since the 1960's;

(6) interest rates on 30 year Treasury bonds have sunk to record lows and are below the Federal funds rate, a signal that the United States economy could be headed for a recession;

(7) United States corporate earnings in the second quarter of 1998 were down 1.3 percent from a year earlier;

(8) a reduction in interest rates would increase resources for business growth;

(9) the farm debt is at its highest level since 1985, and broad commodity price indexes are extremely low;

(10) there are significant, widespread signs of global deflation, to which the United States has not been exposed since the Great Depression;

(11) there has been a deterioration in a number of economies around the world, which will negatively impact the United States through fewer purchases of United States exports and a greater influx of cheap imports to the United States;

(12) the United States economy is a large, healthy economic engine, and if the United States economy does slow, it would be exceedingly difficult for the world-wide economy to recover;

(13) a decline in equity values could dampen confidence and slow consumer and business spending, which together represents four-fifths of the United States economy;

(14) a decline in United States interest rates would help bolster the currencies of countries throughout the world suffering from economic hardships; and

(15) a reduction in interest rates would strengthen the United States economy over the next year while the world's weakened economies recover.

(b) SENSE OF THE CONGRESS.—It is the sense of the Congress that the Federal Open Market Committee should promptly reduce the Federal Funds rate.

GRASSLEY AMENDMENT NO. 3617

Mr. GRASSLEY proposed an amendment to the bill, S. 1301, supra; as follows:

(b) FINDINGS.—This study shall include the Board's findings regarding:

(1) whether consumers understand at the time of purchase of property under an open end credit plan that such property may serve as collateral under that credit plan;

(2) whether consumers understand at the time of purchase the legal consequences of disposing of property that is purchased under an open credit plan and is subject to a security interest under than plan; and

(3) whether creditors holding security interests in property purchased under an open end credit plan use such security interests to cover reaffirmations of existing debts under section 524 of the United States Bankruptcy Code.

In formulating these findings, the Board shall consider, among other factors it deems relevant, prevailing industry practices in this area.

(c) DISCLOSURE RECOMMENDATIONS.—This study shall also include the Board's recommendations regarding the utility and practicality of additional disclosures by credit card issuers at the time of purchase regarding security interests under open end credit plans, including, but not limited to:

(1) disclosures of the specific property in which the creditor will receive a security interest;

(2) disclosures of the consequences of non-payment of the card balance, including how the security interest may be enforced; and

(3) disclosures of the process by which payments made on the card will be credited with respect to the lien created by the security contract and other debts on the card.

(d) The Board shall submit this report to the Senate Committee on the Judiciary, the Senate Committee on Banking, Housing, and Urban Affairs, the House Committee on the Judiciary, and the House Committee on Banking and Financial Services within the time allotted by this section.

Insert at an appropriate place:

SEC. 522. TOURISM.

(a) FINDINGS.—Congress finds that—

(1) through an effective public-private partnership, Federal, State, and local governments and the travel and tourism industry can successfully market the United States as the premiere international tourist destination in the world;

(2) in 1997, the travel and tourism industry made a substantial contribution to the health of the Nation’s economy, as follows:

(A) The industry is one of the Nation’s largest employers, directly employing 7,000,000 Americans, throughout every region of the country, heavily concentrated among small businesses, and indirectly employing an additional 9,200,000 Americans, for a total of 16,200,000 jobs.

(B) The industry ranks as the first, second, or third largest employer in 32 States and the District of Columbia, generating a total tourism-related annual payroll of $127,900,000,000.

(C) The industry has become the Nation's third-largest retail sales industry, generating a total of $489,000,000,000 in total expenditures.

(D) The industry generated $71,700,000,000 in tax revenues for Federal, State, and local governments;

(3) the more than $98,000,000,000 spent by foreign visitors in the United States in 1997 generated a trade services surplus of more than $26,000,000,000;

(4) the private sector, States, and cities currently spend more than $1,000,000,000 annually to promote particular destinations within the United States to international visitors;

(5) because other nations are spending hundreds of millions of dollars annually to promote the visits of international tourists to their countries, the United States will miss a major marketing opportunity if it fails to aggressively compete for an increased share of international tourism expenditures as they continue to increase over the next decade;

(6) a well-funded, well-coordinated international marketing effort—combined with additional public and private sector efforts—would help small and large businesses, as well as State and local governments, share in the anticipated phenomenal growth of the international travel and tourism market in the 21st century;

(7) by making permanent the successful visa waiver pilot program, Congress can facilitate the increased flow of international visitors to the United States;

(8) Congress can increase the opportunities for attracting international visitors and enhancing their stay in the United States by—

(A) improving international signage at airports, seaports, land border crossings, highways, and bus, train, and other public transit stations in the United States;

(B) increasing the availability of multilingual tourist information; and

(C) creating a toll-free, private-sector operated, telephone number, staffed by multilingual operators, to provide assistance to international tourist coping with an emergency;

(9) by establishing a satellite system of accounting for travel and tourism, the Secretary of Commerce could provide Congress and the President with objective, thorough data that would help policy-makers more accurately gauge the size and scope of the domestic travel and tourism industry and its significant impact on the health of the Nation's economy; and

(10) having established the United States National Tourism Organization under the United States National Tourism Organization Act of 1996 (22 U.S.C. 2141 et seq.) to increase the United States share of the international tourism market by developing a national travel and tourism strategy, Congress should support a long-term marketing effort and other important regulatory reform initiatives to promote increased travel to the United States for the benefit of every sector of the economy.

(b) PURPOSES.—The purposes of this section are to provide international visitor initiatives and an international marketing program to enable the United States travel and tourism industry and every level of government to benefit from a successful effort to make the United States the premiere travel destination in the world.

(c) INTERNATIONAL VISITOR ASSISTANCE TASK FORCE.—

(1) ESTABLISHMENT.—Not later than 9 months after the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary of Commerce shall establish an Intergovernmental Task Force for International Visitor Assistance (hereafter in this subsection referred to as the "Task Force").

(2) DUTIES.—The Task Force shall examine—

(A) signage at facilities in the United States, including airports, seaports, land border crossings, highways, and bus, train, and other public transit stations, and shall identify existing inadequacies and suggest solutions for such inadequacies, such as the adoption of uniform standards on international signage for use throughout the United States in order to facilitate international visitors' travel in the United States;

(B) the availability of multilingual travel and tourism information and means of disseminating, at no or minimal cost to the Government, of such information; and

(C) facilitating the establishment of a toll-free, private-sector operated, telephone number, staffed by multilingual operators, to provide assistance to international tourists coping with an emergency.

(3) MEMBERSHIP.—The Task Force shall be composed of the following members:

(A) The Secretary of Commerce.

(B) The Secretary of State.

(C) The Secretary of Transportation.

(D) The Chair of the Board of Directors of the United States National Tourism Organization.

(E) Such other representatives of other Federal agencies and private-sector entities as may be determined to be appropriate to the mission of the Task Force by the Chairman.

(4) CHAIRMAN.—The Secretary of Commerce shall be Chairman of the Task Force. The Task Force shall meet at least twice each year. Each member of the Task Force shall furnish necessary assistance to the Task Force.

(5) REPORT.—Not later than 18 months after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Chairman of the Task Force shall submit to the President and to Congress a report on the results of the review, including proposed amendments to existing laws or regulations as may be appropriate to implement such recommendations.

(d) TRAVEL AND TOURISM INDUSTRY SATELLITE SYSTEM OF ACCOUNTING.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary of Commerce shall complete, as soon as may be practicable, a satellite system of accounting for the travel and tourism industry.

(2) FUNDING.—To the extent any costs or expenditures are incurred under this subsection, they shall be covered to the extent funds are available to the Department of Commerce for such purpose.

(e) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—

(1) AUTHORIZATION.—Subject to paragraph (2), there are authorized to be appropriated such sums as may be necessary for the purpose of funding international promotional activities by the United States National Tourism Organization to help brand, position, and promote the United States as the premiere travel and tourism destination in the world.

(2) RESTRICTIONS ON USE OF FUNDS.—None of the funds appropriated under paragraph (1) may be used for purposes other than marketing, research, outreach, or any other activity designed to promote the United States as the premiere travel and tourism destination in the world, except that the general and administrative expenses of operating the United States National Tourism Organization shall be borne by the private sector through such means as the Board of Directors of the Organization shall determine.

(3) REPORT TO CONGRESS.—Not later than March 30 of each year in which funds are made available under subsection (a), the Secretary shall submit to the Committee on Commerce of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation of the Senate a detailed report setting forth—

(A) the manner in which appropriated funds were expended;

(B) changes in the United States market share of international tourism in general and as measured against specific countries and regions;

(C) an analysis of the impact of international tourism on the United States economy, including, as specifically as practicable, an analysis of the impact of expenditures made pursuant to this section;

(D) an analysis of the impact of international tourism on the United States trade balance and, as specifically as practicable, analysis of the impact on the trade balance of expenditures made pursuant to this section; and

(E) an analysis of other relevant economic impacts as a result of expenditures made pursuant to this section.

ADDITIONAL STATEMENTS

PROSTATE CANCER RESEARCH FUNDING

● Mr. REID. Mr. President, I rise today to call the attention of my colleagues to a subject that many of us, especially men, do not like to discuss publicly—prostate cancer. However, as one of the most frequently diagnosed cancers in the country, prostate cancer is a subject that we cannot afford to ignore.

In my home state of Nevada, it is estimated that 1,100 men will be diagnosed with prostate cancer this year alone. Nationwide, 200,000 men will be diagnosed with prostate cancer in 1998. This deadly disease will take the lives of 40,000 American men this year alone. Prostate cancer kills as many Americans yearly as AIDS or breast cancer.

The increase in regular screenings for prostate cancer over the past few years is encouraging. Last year, I had the opportunity to participate in the Senate Special Committee on Aging's hearing on prostate cancer. Nevada's Governor Bob Miller, along with former Senate Majority Leader Bob Dole, NFL Hall of Famer Len Dawson and General Manager of the New York Yankees, Bob Watson all testified about their personal experiences with prostate cancer. These men shared a common message that was clear and urgent: get tested for prostate cancer as early as possible, because early detection increases survival rates tremendously.

While the importance of early detection through regular screenings cannot be overstated, we can and we must do more. In each of the last two fiscal years, Congress has appropriated $40 million for new, cutting-edge peer-reviewed research at the Department of Defense. In instituting the program, the DOD found it necessary to combine the funds from both years to meet the needs of the grant proposals received in the first cycle. Consequently, the President announced the first cycle of prostate cancer research grants—releasing $60 million in June and July for peer-reviewed research.

In this year's Defense Appropriations Bill, we have provided $40 million for prostate cancer research. The House bill has only allocated $10 million for this purpose. These numbers fall short of what is needed to fund crucial research initiatives. I hope that when the Defense Appropriations Bill is in Conference this week, funding levels for prostate cancer research will be increased. Without adequate resources, promising research into causes and treatments for prostate cancer will go unfunded. For lack of research, millions of men and their families will face critical unanswered questions about screening, diagnosis, treatment, prevention and cures for prostate cancer.

Yesterday, 110 American men died of prostate cancer. That same number will die today, tomorrow, and every day until research identifies a cure. I hope that my colleagues will make more funds available for the prostate cancer research program at the Department of Defense so that we may offer hope to the millions affected by this deadly disease.●

JIM SOLOMON AND HIS RETIREMENT AS THE ALABAMA ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINIONS DIVISION CHIEF

● Mr. SESSIONS. Mr. President, I would like to take a few moments to speak to you about Jim Solomon, who is retiring from his position as head of the Alabama Attorney General's Opinions Division after 35 years of service to the state of Alabama.

This division fields legal advice requests from all over the state of Alabama, with the majority of the requests coming from local government officials having various questions concerning ambiguities in state laws. While opinions are not legally binding, they are used as guidelines by the various entities in developing public policy. Therefore, correct interpretation of Alabama laws are essential to the smaller communities and agencies that do not have a legal staff. Mr. Solomon's contributions to this effort have been extraordinary and should be noted.

I had the honor of working with Mr. Solomon during my term as the Attorney General of Alabama. He was an outstanding employee who believed in service above self. He never strayed from this work ethic during his 19 years in that office. He served as a role model to others and was someone who could always be counted on regardless of the job or the circumstances. His administrative and supervisory abilities were superior and he was greatly loved by those with whom he worked. One of his most impressive achievements was the indexing of all Opinions from 1979 forward, making it possible for the public to have access to them on the Internet.

During Mr. Solomon's employment in the Opinions Division, he was responsible for writing approximately 8,000 Opinions for state and local officials. One of the most memorable opinions caused the previously closed state legislative committee meetings to open to the public.

Jim Solomon is more than a great public servant. He possesses in rich measure the qualities that made for a great citizen, a strong churchman, a faithful family man and a good friend to many. He sets high standards and a good example for all of us.

Mr. President, I appreciate being able to make these brief comments to my fellow colleagues because it is important that Jim Solomon be recognized for his years of outstanding service to Alabama.●

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION ON MENTAL RETARDATION ILLINOIS CHAPTER'S 1998 DIRECT SERVICE PROFESSIONAL AWARD WINNERS

● Ms. MOSELEY-BRAUN. Mr. President, it is my distinct pleasure to join the Illinois chapter of the American Association on Mental Retardation in honoring the recipients of the 1998 Direct Service Professional Award. These honorees are being recognized for their outstanding commitment and contributions to the lives of people in Illinois with developmental disabilities.

These award winners have distinguished themselves through their compassion, dedication, patience and professionalism. Their work not only enriches the lives of those who they care for, but also enriches all of our lives and sets an example of service for all Americans to follow.

It is important to note that the individuals being honored are professionals who spend at least 50 percent of their time directly working with and assisting their clients in the clients' life-space. These people are not supervisors or managers. Instead, they are direct service providers on the front-lines of our nation's mental health care system, delivering much needed and much appreciated care and assistance.

It is indeed my privilege to recognize and celebrate the achievements of the following Illinois direct service professionals: Henry Barrington, Raymond Betke, Shelly Cross, Caroline Frost, Patty Hart, Zarina Hasham, Debbie Huff, Carolyn Johnson, Molly Kuster, Preston McBride, Pearlene McDougal, Patricia Mercer, Lisa Pyle, Della Reese, Michael Smith, Marie Thompson, Marcia Weidman, Jodie White, Katie Whiteford and Sabrina Willis. It is my honor to serve these dedicated professionals in the United States Senate.

I am confident that my colleagues here in the Senate will take this opportunity to join me in saluting the winners of the 1998 Direct Service Professional Award. These awardees represent the best spirit of community service.●

TRIBUTE TO CONNIE DRAKELEY

● Mr. GREGG. Mr. President, I come to the floor today with the sad task of informing the Senate of the passing of one of my staff, Connie Drakeley. Connie died in her sleep last week and coming to terms with her sudden passing has been difficult.

Connie was a very important member of my staff and will be greatly missed. She will be missed not only for the large contributions she made to the office, but also because she was our friend.

Connie joined my staff in March, 1995 in the position of Editor. She came aboard during a time when the mail was building up and a significant backlog was forming—in short order, Connie alleviated the problem.

The mail we receive from our constituents and, in return, answer is the lifeblood of our representative government. It was in this context and with this attitude that Connie worked as Editor on my staff. She, in many ways, had the hardest job in the office—with red pen, she pointed out everyone's mistakes! But she always worked very diligently, professionally and responsibly. She worked long hours and often took work home with her; she made us all better writers. She labored in this manner to make sure that my mail was without fault.

Connie was always ready with advice and assistance when someone on staff needed help right away with a letter, speech or a press release. Though the work load sometimes could have overwhelmed her, she always rose to the challenge and kept her promises to get her editing done on time.

She was very knowledgeable and up-to-date on legislation—she watched the floor, read Congress Daily—she didn't just correct grammar, but content as well. She knew the issues and could spot a mistake a mile away. We realized how much the entire process depended on her whenever she took vacation. Mail came first to Connie! I will always be thankful for her remarkable commitment to a demanding and stressful job and her respect for the English language.

Connie dedicated her life to being the best editor one can be. Before she came to my office, she worked as an editor for Senator HARRY REID, for the National Archives, for Bechtel, and as a picture researcher for LIFE magazine.

I would like to extend my deepest sympathies to Connie's daughter, brother and other family members. On behalf of my entire office, I wish to let them know that our prayers and thoughts are with them.

Connie was an indispensable member of our team; her energy, vitality, and dedication will be missed for a long time. We simply couldn't have accomplished what we did on a weekly basis for the past few years without her. Personally and professionally, we have lost a good friend and coworker.●

NATIONAL MISSILE DEFENSE

Mr. DODD. Mr. President, in light of the recent vote on national missile defense, I feel compelled to explain my position on this important issue. In short, I agree with this Nation's senior military officers, the Joint Chiefs of Staff. Each of them opposes the National Missile Defense bill, and they provided a detailed explanation of their position in a letter they sent to Capitol Hill prior to the vote.

The National Missile Defense bill would require that a national missile defense system be deployed as soon as it is "technologically feasible." Conversely, the current plan calls for the Defense Department, by the year 2000, to research and develop such a system and then be able to deploy it within three years. This policy allows us to develop our capabilities in view of developing threats rather than run the risk of deploying a system that proves to be ineffective. In the absence of a current long range ballistic missile threat from a rogue state, this is the most reasonable policy.

Research and development of a National Missile Defense system is advancing at an accelerated pace. Most weapons systems require six to twelve years before they are fully developed and ready to be deployed, but under the current timetable, the National Missile Defense system will spend as little as three years in the development phase. This represents the Defense Department's strong commitment to protecting the United States from an intercontinental missile attack. That commitment is backed by billions of dollars in funding. The nation will spend nearly a billion dollars on national missile defense during the next fiscal year alone.

The National Missile Defense bill would not have advanced the timetable for developing and deploying a missile defense system. What it would have done is lock this nation in to buying a yet-to-be-developed system against an unknown threat for an unidentified sum of money. A decision to buy a system at such an early stage would not only have been unprecedented, but it could have sapped funding from programs that are directed at addressing existing threats. For example, the Joint Chiefs of Staff pointed out that a weapon of mass destruction may presently be delivered through unconventional, terrorist-style means, yet a national missile defense system would not address that threat.

This bill would have had a detrimental impact on arms control agreements. Had the United States gone forward to deploy a National Missile Defense system as the bill required, this nation would have violated the Anti-Ballistic Missile (ABM) Treaty. Additionally, it might have caused Russia to withdraw from the START I Treaty and certainly would have prevented the ratification of the START II Treaty. The intercontinental ballistic missile threat to this nation will be intensified if Russia retains hundreds of additional nuclear weapons as a result broken agreements. The current policy, continued research and development of a system, would not violate arms control agreements or cause Russia to withdraw from treaties that place important limitations on both nations' missiles.

In conclusion, although I oppose this National Missile Defense bill, I feel strongly that there is an important place for missile defense in our national security strategy. There have been some important advancements in the development of both theater and national missile defense systems that will surely benefit this nation in the future. Our efforts along these lines must continue. Considering all of our defense and non-defense priorities, however, now is not the time to rush forward with a decision to deploy an undeveloped national missile defense system.

RECOGNIZING THE 50TH ANNIVERSARY OF THE AMERICAN RED CROSS BLOOD SERVICES

• Mr. FRIST. Mr. President, yesterday I submitted a concurrent resolution recognizing the 50th anniversary of the American Red Cross Blood Services. I ask that the text of remarks made at the 50th Anniversary Bicentennial Celebration by Mrs. Elizabeth Dole, President of the Red Cross, be printed in the RECORD.

The remarks follow:

Thank you, Paul, for that kind introduction and ladies and gentlemen, thank you so much. And special thanks to Donna Shalala, Secretary of Health and Human Services, and David Kessler, Dean of the Yale Medical School and former Commissioner of the Food and Drug Administration. We are delighted you could be with us today as we mark the 50th anniversary of the most important of our national reserves: America's reserve of life, the American blood supply. Thank you, Donna and David, for your continued leadership, and for your steadfast dedication to the safety and quality of American health.

Aren't we thrilled to have Garth Brooks here. Garth, you have a magical hold on the spirit of our people. What a joy it is that you would share that bond with us. We are enormously grateful.

What a day! We are also so very pleased to be joined by the Oak Ridge Boys! Boys, your music puts the party in the birthday, and we thank you.

Also, many thanks to the other wonderful celebrities with us today—Lynda Carter, Kennedy, and William Moses. We sincerely appreciate your generosity in joining us to celebrate our 50th birthday of Biomedical Services. And, welcome to Councilwoman Charlene Drew Jarvis, the daughter of Dr. Charles Drew, renowned plasma pioneer for the American Red Cross and leading authority on transfusion. The Charles Drew Institute honors his memory. Thank you, Charlene, for your support over the years.

As we observe this 50th anniversary, of American Red Cross Blood services, it's a time to take satisfaction in our past and pride in where we've been. The Red Cross started collecting blood during World War II in order to save soldier's lives, and our efforts were credited with reducing the death rate among these soldiers to half that of their World War I counterparts. When peace came, we created America's first nationwide, volunteer blood collection and distribution system, assuring all our citizens access to one of the great medical advances of this century.

But health events in the last two decades rocked us to our very foundations. The age of blood-borne diseases such as AIDS and new forms of hepatitis swooped down on us with a vengeance. We knew we could no longer operate at the Red Cross as we had done for so many years. Which is why this year, our 50th anniversary, is a year to look forward, rather than back. Today I take great joy in announcing an historic achievement:

As the year closes, the American Red Cross will celebrate the completion of our nearly seven-year, $287 million dollar transformation of our blood operations. This long-awaited milestone is the reason I stand here with so much confidence—and hope—for the future. The accomplishment of Transformation is a great, triumphant victory in our common endeavor to expand what is possible in health care.

And I'm also pleased to announce today that, following this speech, I am leaving on a nation-wide tour of blood drives and celebrity events to focus attention on the safety revolution in America's blood supply. Many of our citizens are still frightened of transfusions, and they should not be! Many millions still mistrust those red bags of life, and they must not! We have achieved a new American miracle in blood, and I will take that message across America. We will celebrate and we will educate but first, let me ruminate.

When I came to the Red Cross in February 1991, the legal and financial vulnerabilities of our blood operations threatened the very viability of the Red Cross. The country was pretty worried about the safety of America's blood supply back then. And as the person newly responsible for half of it, so was I. Some of our Board members wanted us to get out of blood banking altogether, believing our duty to safeguard the rest of our historic organization demanded that we abandon this mission field. Between Congressional hearings, media exposés and enormous regulatory pressure, there were days when I wanted to get out, too.

Still, the question haunted us: if we left blood banking, who would fill our shoes? The Red Cross is not a public agency, but what we do—especially in blood—is a public trust. We weren't going to let America down. Not on our watch.

The blood supply was as safe as the current blood systems and contemporary scientists knew how to make it. But in the age of AIDS and other blood borne infectious diseases, wasn't there more we could do? We had to "think outside the box" with respect to existing science, blood supply management, and safety approaches.

We dreamed, in 1991, of where we wanted to go. But we did more than that. We mustered our courage and embraced Transformation as our ticket to ride. It was the most ambitious project the Red Cross had ever undertaken; the total redesign of how we collect, process, test, and deliver nearly half of America's blood supply. I dare say it is the most profound change any non-profit organization has made in recent memory!

At the time, it felt the way I imagine a Shuttle astronaut must feel on her first space walk letting go of the ship, taking her first step into the unknown. It felt as if our whole organization had let go . . . let go of the security of status-quo standards, let go of the financial certainty underpinning our entire operation, let go of what we knew, in search of what we hoped to find—but knowing that each step was backed up by a truly exceptional scientific team entirely committed to forging new frontiers. I feel so fortunate that Jim Ross with Brian McDonough and each member of his outstanding team answered my call to complete this challenge.

In 1993, the Food and Drug Administration imposed a consent decree on our blood services operations. But as David will tell you, we were already more than two years into Transformation. The consent decree was basically a codification or ratification of our far-reaching plan, with timelines and milestones for measuring our progress. And today, as we conclude Transformation, we also are wrapping up our last requirements under the decree.

With the completion of Transformation this year, we will have forced ourselves from the mind set of always doing things the way we had done them before. We already have left behind our days in the comfort of industry average to become the undisputed leader in blood banking. Once we were weighed down with 53 non-standardized blood centers running 28 computer systems in a patchwork quilt of regions, each with its own operating procedures and business practices. Today we have one set of operational procedures, one set of business practices, and one state of the art computer system—which gives us the best national donor deferral system and the largest blood information data base in the world for transfusion medicine research.

We determined that today's demands were best met in high-volume, state-of-the-art, centralized labs, so we replaced our 53 testing facilities with 8 state-of-the-art, high-tech laboratories that today are the leading centers of their kind in the world. This enables us to quickly incorporate medical technology as it evolves.

Perhaps most importantly, today we no longer fear finding our own faults. We actively seek them out, report them and then fix them, ourselves. We hired a leader in quality assurance who created an independent program, providing more than 200 experts to audit and consult with all of our fixed sites. We actively monitor for more than 150 possible deviations in manufacturing. And our folks, can and on occasion have shut down a process immediately, when they have found a serious deviation from standard operating procedure.

In short, we have a new, centralized management structure, a new information system, and the best quality assurance program in existence. We have consolidated and modernized testing and have strictly standardized procedures and training across our system. As a matter of fact, we now run the highly acclaimed Charles Drew Biomedical Institute—and provide leadership to the entire blood banking community.

We have moved to a position of leadership in an industry which has achieved phenomenal success in the face of frightening odds: In 1991, an American's risk of HIV transmission from a blood transfusion was one in 220,000. Today, is it nearly one in 700,000—more than a three-fold reduction in risk. I'd say that is worth cheering about, wouldn't you?

Today, I can say what I could not seven years ago: the Red Cross is in the blood business to stay. We are sure of our mission and we know how to fulfill it. No longer an organization constrained by yesterday's technology, we operate today with the gleaming precision and efficiency of what is still, for most in the world, only tomorrow's possibilities. We offer Cadillac quality coupled with Volvo security. Don't get me wrong: every car on the lot meets the government standard for safety. But like Cadillac and Volvo, we have set standards of our own.

Unlike car companies, however, we don't do what we do for a profit. The pins on our lapels and the patches on our sleeves remind us daily that we are in this business to fulfill a national trust, to live up to our moral commitment to do the best we can to ensure the well-being of the American people. We are also reaching out to the rest of the world, sharing the lessons we have learned from Transformation to help improve the safety and reliability of the world's blood supply.

Of course, modernization and improvement is a process that must never end. As David Kearns, the former chairman of Xerox, once said, "In the race for quality, there is no finish line." This could never be more true than in the blood banking business. We're determined to remain not only the industry leader in quality and safety, but to place ourselves in the forefront of new product development.

uating and monitoring possible threats to the blood supply and working on many other new, cutting-edge technologies—some of which we will share with you today.

But all this technology wouldn't be worth a thing without the Red Cross who make it work for America. They are the reason and the inspiration for our service. We have 1.3 million volunteers, 32,000 paid staff, and 4.3 million blood donors—that's 20,000 donors every day—I'd like to stop just a minute give those heroes a loud round of applause.

Yes, after 50 years in Blood Services—and spending the last seven years transforming them, the American Red Cross has much to celebrate. In addition to enhancing blood safety, our investment has given us the knowledge and confidence to shape our own future.

Before Transformation, the Red Cross and other blood banks around the country waited for signals from the FDA that change was required. Today, the Red Cross is a leader of change. While Transformation the program is nearly complete, Transformation the process will be never ending.

There is a story I love about Supreme Court Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes. When Justice Holmes was in his 90s, he took a trip on the Pennsylvania Railroad. As he saw the conductor coming down the aisle, he began patting his pockets, looking for his ticket. The conductor, recognizing the famous jurist, said "Don't worry, Mr. Justice. I'm sure you'll find your ticket when you leave the train, and certainly the Pennsylvania Railroad will trust you to mail it back later."

Justice Holmes looked up at the conductor with some irritation and said, "My dear man, the problem is not, where is my ticket. The problem is, where am I going?"

Ladies and gentlemen, the American Red Cross knows where it's going! As we have led the nation in blood transformation, so we will set a new credo of business for businesses of the heart. But more than that, we are dedicated to saving and improving every life we can. We at the Red Cross want to be the model for non-profits in the next century. The status quo is no longer our milieu. Well into the new millennium, the Red Cross will seek out the cutting edge; we will be the people who question the range of possibilities—in blood banking as well as in every other aspect of our mission.

But we know we cannot accomplish all of our dreams by ourselves. We need the time and money, the brainpower and the lifeblood of Americans like you. Together, we will continue to imagine the unimaginable and attain the unattainable. Together, we will be privileged to touch, and in so doing transform, the millions of individual lives we are dedicated to serve.

On behalf of our entire Red Cross family, thank you for all you've done, and for all you continue to do. And on this special day, thanks for coming to our party.●

BUDGET SCOREKEEPING REPORT

● Mr. DOMENICI. Mr. President, I hereby submit to the Senate the budget scorekeeping report prepared by the Congressional Budget Office under Section 308(b) and in aid of Section 311 of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974, as amended. This report meets the requirements for Senate scorekeeping of Section 5 of S. Con. Res. 32, the First Concurrent Resolution on the Budget for 1998.

This report shows the effects of congressional action on the budget through September 21, 1998. The estimates of budget authority, outlays, and revenues, which are consistent with the technical and economic assumptions of the 1998 Concurrent Resolution on the Budget (H. Con. Res. 84), show that current level spending is below the budget resolution by $17.1 billion in budget authority and above the budget resolution by $1.9 billion in outlays. Current level is $1.0 billion below the revenue floor in 1998 and $2.9 billion above the revenue floor over the five years 1998–2002. The current estimate of the deficit for purposes of calculating the maximum deficit amount is $176.4 billion, $2.9 billion above the maximum deficit amount for 1998 of $173.5 billion.

Since my last report, dated September 8, 1998, there has been no action that has changed the current level of budget authority, outlays, and revenues.

The report follows:

U.S. CONGRESS,
CONGRESSIONAL BUDGET OFFICE,
Washington, DC, September 22, 1998.

Hon. PETE V. DOMENICI,
Chairman, Committee on the Budget,

DEAR MR. CHAIRMAN: The enclosed report for fiscal year 1998 shows the effects of Congressional action on the 1998 budget and is current through September 21, 1998. The estimates of budget authority, outlays, and revenues are consistent with the technical and economic assumptions of the 1998 Concurrent Resolution on the Budget (H. Con. Res. 84). This report is submitted under Section 308(b) and in aid of Section 311 of the Congressional Budget Act, as amended.

Since my last report, dated September 3, 1998, there has been no action that has changed the current level of budget authority, outlays, and revenues.

<sup>1</sup> Section 8102 of this Act directed that direct spending and revenues associated with Title VIII be excluded from the PAYGO scorecard. At the request of committee staff, this scoring has also been excluded from current level. The estimates in 1998 are $365 million in budget authority and $165 million in outlays for student loans.

Notes.—Amounts shown under "emergencies" represent funding for programs that have been deemed emergency requirements by the President and the Congress. Amounts shown under "contingent emergencies" represent funding designated as an emergency only by the Congress that is not available for obligation until it is requested by the President and the full amount requested is designated as an emergency requirement.

AUTHORIZING TESTIMONY AND REPRESENTATION BY SENATE LEGAL COUNSEL

Mr. MCCAIN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Senate proceed to the immediate consideration of S. Res. 281, submitted earlier by Senators LOTT and DASCHLE.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will report.

The assistant legislative clerk read as follows:

A resolution (S. Res. 281) to authorize testimony and representation of employees of the Senate in United States v. Alphonso Michael Espy.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection to the immediate consideration of the resolution?

There being no objection, the Senate proceeded to consider the resolution.

Mr. LOTT. Mr. President, this resolution concerns a criminal prosecution brought against former Secretary of Agriculture Mike Espy, alleging acceptance of illegal gratuities and related charges. The Independent Counsel, who is bringing this prosecution, seeks testimony at trial from two present and one former employee of the Senate about communications with meat and poultry processing industry representatives and Executive Branch officials about a labeling rule promulgated by the Agriculture Department in 1993. The trial is scheduled to begin on October 1.

In keeping with the Senate's practice regarding similar matters, this resolution would authorize testimony by employees of the Senate, except where a privilege should be asserted, with representation by the Senate Legal Counsel.

Mr. MCCAIN. I ask unanimous consent that the resolution be agreed to, the preamble be agreed to, the motion to reconsider be laid upon the table, and that any statements relating to the resolution appear at the appropriate place in the RECORD.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The resolution (S. Res. 281) was agreed to.

The preamble was agreed to.

The resolution, with its preamble, reads as follows:

S. RES. 281

Resolved,
Whereas, in the case of United States v. Alphonso Michael Espy, Criminal Case No. 97-0335, pending in the United States District Court for the District of Columbia, a trial subpoena has been served upon Galen Fountain and Jo Nobles, employees of the Senate, and Leslie Chalmers Tagg, formerly an employee of the Senate;

Whereas, pursuant to sections 703(a) and 704(a)(2) of the Ethics in Government Act of 1978, 2 U.S.C. §§288b(a) and 288c(a)(2), the Senate may direct its counsel to represent employees of the Senate with respect to any subpoena, order, or request for testimony relating to their official responsibilities;

Whereas, by the privileges of the Senate of the United States and Rule XI of the Standing Rules of the Senate, no evidence under the control or in the possession of the Senate may, by the judicial process, be taken from such control or possession but by permission of the Senate;

Whereas, when it appears that evidence under the control or in the possession of the Senate may promote the administration of justice, the Senate will take such action as will promote the ends of justice consistently with the privileges of the Senate: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved That Galen Fountain, Jo Nobles, Leslie Chalmers Tagg, and any other employee from whom testimony may be required, are authorized to testify in the case of United States v. Alphonso Michael Espy, except concerning matters for which a privilege should be asserted.

SEC. 2. That the Senate Legal Counsel is authorized to represent Galen Fountain, Jo Nobles, Leslie Chalmers Tagg, and any other employee of the Senate, in connection with testimony in United States v. Alphonso Michael Espy.

ORDERS FOR THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 24, 1998

Mr. MCCAIN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that when the Senate completes its business today, it stand in adjournment until 9:30 a.m. on Thursday, September 24. I further ask that when the Senate reconvenes on Thursday, immediately following the prayer, the Journal of proceedings be approved, no resolutions come over under the rule, the call of the calendar be waived, the morning hour be deemed to have expired, and the time for the two leaders be reserved.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. McCAIN. I further ask unanimous consent that the Senate then immediately proceed to vote on the motion to invoke cloture on the motion to proceed to S. 2176, the so-called Vacancies Act.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. McCAIN. I further ask unanimous consent that following the cloture vote, and if cloture is not invoked, the Senate resume consideration of S. 2279, the FAA authorization bill. I further ask that there then be 10 minutes equally divided for closing remarks on the Inhofe amendment, and at the conclusion of debate time the Senate proceed to vote on or in relation to the amendment. I further ask that no second-degree amendments be in order to the Inhofe amendment prior to the vote.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

PROGRAM

Mr. McCAIN. For the information of all Senators, when the Senate reconvenes on Thursday, there will be an immediate vote on the motion to invoke cloture on the motion to proceed to the so-called Vacancies Act. Following that vote, the Senate will resume consideration of the FAA authorization bill, with 10 minutes of debate remaining on an Inhofe amendment regarding emergency license removal. At the conclusion of that time, the Senate will proceed to a vote on or in relation to the Inhofe amendment. Following that vote, the Senate will continue consideration of the FAA bill, with amendments being offered and debated throughout tomorrow's session. Therefore, Members should expect rollcall votes during the day and into the evening on Thursday in relation to the FAA bill or any other legislative or executive items cleared for action.

ADJOURNMENT UNTIL 9:30 A.M. TOMORROW

Mr. McCAIN. If there is no further business to come before the Senate, I now ask unanimous consent that the Senate stand in adjournment under the previous order.

There being no objection, the Senate, at 6:37 p.m., adjourned until Thursday, September 24, 1998, at 9:30 a.m.

EXTENSIONS OF REMARKS

THE STARR REPORT AND THE CONGRESSIONAL RESPONSE

HON. LEE H. HAMILTON

OF INDIANA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, September 23, 1998

Mr. HAMILTON. Mr. Speaker, I insert my Washington Report for Wednesday, September 23, 1998 into the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD.

THE STARR REPORT AND THE CONGRESSIONAL RESPONSE

On September 9, 1998 Independent Counsel Kenneth Starr submitted his report to Congress regarding President Clinton's relationship with Monica Lewinsky. The U.S. House of Representatives now begins the process of reviewing the evidence the Independent Counsel has gathered from his grand jury investigation as well as evidence provided by the President and others. The House, after reviewing the Starr report and other evidence, will decide whether to proceed with formal impeachment hearings. The key judgment will be for the House to determine whether the President's conduct amounts to "High Crimes and Misdemeanors," the Constitutional standard for removing a President from office.

The Starr report: The 453-page Starr report alleges that President Clinton committed acts that may constitute grounds for impeachment. The report lays out in graphic detail the chronology of events surrounding the President's affair with Ms. Lewinsky, and concludes that the facts may establish 11 possible grounds for impeachment, including lying under oath in the Paula Jones case and before Starr's grand jury, obstructing justice, witness tampering, and abuse of power.

The President has acknowledged that he had an inappropriate relationship with Ms. Lewinsky and that his conduct was wrong, but rejects the view that he committed the offenses catalogued in the Starr report. Furthermore, the President's attorneys contend that his conduct, while inappropriate and wrong, does not rise to the level of "High Crimes and Misdemeanors," and therefore does not warrant Congress proceeding with an impeachment inquiry.

Presidential conduct: I have read the Starr report in full, and like many Americans, am shocked and dismayed by its contents. I recognize, of course, that the report represents only the prosecutor's assessment of the facts and that Congress has a duty to examine all the evidence, including evidence which tends to exonerate the President.

Putting the Starr report to one side, I have nonetheless been deeply disappointed by the President's conduct. The sexual misconduct was offensive but that really was not the worst of it. He misled his wife, his staff, and the country. His pattern these last several months to hide his improper relationship has been to conceal, fabricate, stonewall, and attack Starr. He surely could have saved the country much agony by making a confession months ago. His legalistic hair-splitting on the issue of lying insults the common sense of most of us.

Where we go from here: Congress now faces the grave responsibility of deciding whether to move ahead with a formal impeachment proceeding against the President. Overturning the results of a popular election is very serious business. Next to declaring war, Congress perhaps has no greater duty under our Constitution. Hence, we must proceed in the weeks and months ahead with deliberate speed, but with caution and fairness, to seek the truth and make a judgment. This process is not about partisan political advantage, but about the future of our country.

The key question will be whether the President's conduct, disgraceful as it is, constitutes, "High Crimes and Misdemeanors." The Framers of the Constitution borrowed the expression from the English common law to suggest grave offenses against the state—offenses which undermined the integrity of the Presidency or our constitutional system of government—but did not define what precisely those offenses might be, aside from treason and bribery. "High Crimes and Misdemeanors" has been generally understood to encompass public misdeeds, such as abuse of official power that threatens the country, but not private misconduct.

Nature of process: The impeachment process is a mix of law, politics, and public opinion. It should not be used to remove a President with whom Congress has political differences, nor should it be limited to possible violations of criminal law. Rather, it should primarily ask whether a President's conduct is so bad that he can no longer be trusted to serve. President Clinton's ability to govern the country has been damaged. The looming question is whether he retains enough of the confidence of the American public that he will be able to govern effectively.

Congress will pay close attention to public opinion as this process unfolds. In effect two processes are now taking place: one in Congress and one in the public. Both are necessary. Of the two, the process in the American public is more important. The public deliberation taking place over the next several weeks will drive this process and will eventually drive congressional action.

Thus far, the American public does not support impeaching the President. The public is of two minds about the President. They believe Clinton is doing a good job as President and is a strong leader in touch with their problems. On the other hand, they do not like his morals and question his integrity and his character. The public today appears to favor some form of censure of the President, short of impeachment, and wants Congress to get through this process and back to the people's business as quickly as possible.

My assessment: The Starr report presents a strong case of Presidential misconduct. The evidence that the President lied under oath about the relationship with Ms. Lewinsky is persuasive. The President does not challenge the basic facts of the report, which paint a devastating portrait. Starr's charges of obstruction and, particularly, abuse of power are less compelling, and there is considerable conflicting testimony relative to these charges. I have doubts, at this point, whether the President's misconduct rises to the level of "High Crimes and Misdemeanors" to warrant his removal from office.

I am not advocating at this time censure, resignation or impeachment. Congress has the Constitutional obligation to weigh the evidence presented by the Independent Counsel very carefully as well as evidence presented by the other side. I do not see how we can make a judgment about the President until we have had a chance to evaluate all the evidence. I do not think the Congress should adjourn while these issues about the President's future are unresolved.

The question on my mind is how best to get through the next two years with the least harm to the country. We must be very careful with the institution of the Presidency. We must avoid a paralysis of the Presidency and the inability of the President to lead effectively. I do think some kind of judgment needs to be given on the President's conduct. What kind of judgment it is will depend on the evidence. But even on the basis of the information we now have, we cannot permit the impression to prevail that the President's behavior is acceptable.

WELCOMING AND CONGRATULATING PRIME MINISTER ATAL BIHARI VAJPAYEE OF INDIA

HON. ROBERT MENENDEZ

OF NEW JERSEY

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, September 23, 1998

Mr. MENENDEZ. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to welcome Prime Minister Atal Bihari Vajpayee of India on his visit to the United States and meeting at the United Nations. This is Mr. Vajpayee's first visit to the United States since he was sworn in as Prime Minister for the second time on March 19, 1998.

On September 24th, the Prime Minister will address the 53rd Session of the United Nations, and shortly thereafter Mr. Vajpayee will receive the distinguished Dr. Ambedkar Award for this tremendous government service on behalf of the Indian people. The award will be presented by the founder and president of the Ambedkar International Mission U.S.A., Mr. Hardyal Singh. Dr. Ambedkar was the author of the Indian Constitution and was India's most prominent and vocal proponent of equal rights for Scheduled Castes.

Prime Minister Vajpayee's long and impressive parliamentary career began in 1957 when he was just 22 years old. Mr. Vajpayee was briefly Prime Minister in 1996 and later became the Opposition Leader.

The Prime Minister is also known as a scholar and an articulate speaker. He has published several collections of his poems and speeches including "Lok Sabha Mein Atalji", "Mrityu Ya Hatya", and "Amar Aag Hai." Mr. Vajpayee has also been an editor of several Hindi newspapers.

Prime Minister Atal Bihari Vajpayee has dedicated his career to the uplifting of Scheduled Castes and Tribes, promoting women's rights, and defending child welfare.

On behalf of the House of Representatives I welcome this able leader to our country and hope his stay proves to be a productive one.

"STRAIGHT-UP" PROGRAM HAILED

HON. PAUL E. KANJORSKI

OF PENNSYLVANIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, September 23, 1998

Mr. KANJORSKI. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to four outstanding constituents of mine who have made a real contribution to fighting drugs in Northeastern Pennsylvania: Gene Fischl, Al Ottensman, Paul O'Malia, and David Stefanoski.

These four men are the founders of an anti-drug initiative called the "Straight-Up" program that involves prisoners at the Luzerne County Correctional Facility travelling to area high schools and colleges to tell students about life in prison and how drugs ruined their lives and led to their incarceration. The detailed, first-person stories conveyed by these prisoners can convey a powerful message to teenagers about the dangers of drug abuse. Given rising concern in Northeastern Pennsylvania and throughout the nation about the perils of teenage drug abuse, this sort of innovative program is an eminently worthy endeavor.

The "Straight-Up" program could not have survived since April of 1996 were it not for the dedicated work of Luzerne County Correctional Facility Warden Gene Fischl, and Sergeant David Stefanoski, Lieutenant Al Ottensman, and Lieutenant Paul O'Malia of the Luzerne County Correctional Facility. Their efforts have already affected over 21,000 Luzerne County youth. I am pleased to have had this opportunity to bring their accomplishment to the attention of my colleagues and I wish them and the "Straight-Up" program future success.

TRIBUTE TO DR. HERATCH
DOUMANIANHON. PETER J. VISCLOSKY

OF INDIANA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, September 23, 1998

Mr. VISCLOSKY. Mr. Speaker, it is my distinct honor to pay tribute to one of Northwest Indiana's leading physicians, Dr. Heratch Doumanian, of Merrillville, Indiana. On Sunday, September 30, 1998, Heratch will be honored by the Asian American Medical Society for his selfless, exemplary service to society, the community, and the medical profession. This Sunday, for his dedicated, consistent community work, Heratch will be awarded the Crystal Globe Award, the Asian American Medical Society's highest service award.

Each year, the Asian American Medical Society honors a prominent, extraordinary resident of Northwest Indiana for their outstanding contributions to the community. In recognition of their tremendous efforts for the betterment of Northwest Indiana, they are honored at a banquet and awarded the prestigious Crystal Globe.

This year's recipient, Dr. Heratch Doumanian, is one of the most caring, dedicated, and selfless citizens of Indiana's First Congressional District. As a physician, Heratch serves as not only a respected member of the medical community, but also as a teacher, a mentor, and a community volunteer. He offers his services and time to many professional organizations including the Radiologic Society of North America, the American Medical Society, the Lake County Medical Society, the Indiana State Medical Society, the American College of Radiology, and the Asian American Medical Society. In addition, Heratch served as the President of St. Mary's Medical staff in 1995, is a present member of the St. Mary's Medical Quality Assurance Committee, and served as the President of the Asian American Medical Society in 1988.

Since 1966, Heratch has served as a Radiologist at both the Diagnostic Outpatient Center, and the St. Mary Medical Center. In addition, he shares his knowledge as a teacher at the Indiana University Northwest Medical School. Before starting his work in 1966, Heratch attended the American University, in Beirut, Lebanon, and in 1957 he graduated from its Medical School. After graduation, Dr. Doumanian came to the United States and completed two Internships in Chicago, Illinois, at the St. Bernard Hospital from 1957-1958, and the Michael Reese Medical Center from 1959-1960. In 1960-1962, Heratch served our country as a Captain in the United States Army Medical Corps. After his military service, he completed a Residency at the University of Chicago Hospital, and he earned a Fellowship from the University of Minnesota, in Minneapolis, Minnesota. When his Fellowship ended in 1966, he moved to Northwest Indiana and began his successful medical and community work for the people of this region.

While Heratch has dedicated considerable time and energy to his work as a physician, he has always made an extra effort to give to the community. He is currently very involved in the Armenian Assembly of America, and serves the organization as a Fellow Trustee. Additionally, he is a Parish Council Member of the St.

Joachim and Anne Armenian Church, and is a member of the Armenian General Benevolent Union, Chicago Chapter. Although his work and community service often limits his time, Heratch has never limited the time he gives to his most important interest, his family. He and his wife, Sonya, have three children: Greta, a lawyer; John, a medical student; and Leo, also a medical student.

The Hippocratic Oath discusses how a doctor or medical professional should conduct his life, public and private. ". . . I will lead my life and practice my art in uprightness and honour; that into whatsoever house I shall enter, I shall be for the good of the sick to the utmost of my power, holding myself far aloof from wrong, from corruption . . ." When Heratch moved to Northwest Indiana in 1966, he brought with him a dedication to uprightness and honor that has touched many lives. His dedication to the community and his family, in addition to his commitment to the unfortunate and sick are clear examples of one man working to the utmost of his power and ability. We in Northwest Indiana are lucky to be the recipients of his service.

Mr. Speaker, I ask that you and my other distinguished colleagues join me in congratulating Dr. Heratch Doumanian for receiving the 1998 Crystal Globe Award from the Asian American Medical Society. Truly, Heratch has earned this recognition. His service, dedication, and altruism inspire us all to greater deeds.

IN HONOR OF HIS HOLINESS POPE
SHENOUDA IIIHON. ROBERT MENEDEZ

OF NEW JERSEY

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, September 23, 1998

Mr. MENEDEZ. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to welcome Pope Shenouda III of the Coptic Orthodox Church to the United States and specifically the New Jersey/New York region.

The Coptic Church is responsible for many contributions to Christianity, including the Nicene Creed which is today recited by Christian churches around the world and thousands of biblical and theological texts produced by the early Coptic Church. Today those texts are valued by historians and theologians alike.

Pope Shenouda III is a profound theologian, an eloquent preacher, an accomplished author, and an able leader of Christian unity. Before his consecration as Pope, His Holiness was a successful student, a charismatic teacher, and a pious monk.

Since his consecration in 1971, Pope Shenouda III has led the Coptic Orthodox Church to a world-wide resurgence. In North America alone, the Coptic Church has established over 70 new churches in the last twenty years.

Pope Shenouda III has traveled around the globe in the interest of Christian unity. In 1973, His Holiness was the first Coptic Pope to visit the Vatican in over 1,500 years. His Holiness has also kept in close contact with sister Orthodox churches with visits to Constantinople, Moscow, Romania, Bulgaria, and Antioch. Pope Shenouda III has also advanced relations with many Protestant churches as shown by his dialogue with the World Alliance of Reformed Churches in 1993.

Before I conclude my remarks, I would like to thank the Consul General of Egypt in New York, Soheir Zaki, for hosting a reception for His Holiness today.

On behalf of my colleagues, I welcome Pope Shenouda III on his visit to this country, and hope that his stay is a pleasant and fruitful one.

IMPLEMENTATION OF THE UNITED NATIONS SETTLEMENT PLAN FOR WESTERN SAHARA

HON. LEE H. HAMILTON

OF INDIANA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, September 23, 1998

Mr. HAMILTON. Mr. Speaker, I believe the 1997 Houston Accord, negotiated under the leadership of U.N. Secretary General Kofi Annan by his Personal Envoy, former Secretary of State James A. Baker III, offers the best hope for achieving a just and lasting solution to the question of the Western Sahara. However, I am concerned that the parties to the plan—the Government of Morocco and the Polisario Front—are not doing enough to meet their commitments under this agreement. A lack of cooperation by the parties is impeding the progress of the U.N. Mission for the Referendum in Western Sahara (MINURSO). On August 7, 1998 I wrote to President Clinton concerning MINURSO and implementation of the Houston Accords, and on August 31, 1998 I received a reply. The text of the correspondence follows:

COMMITTEE ON INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS, HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,

Washington, DC, August 7, 1998.

The PRESIDENT,
The White House,
Washington, DC.

DEAR PRESIDENT CLINTON: I write to urge you to support actively the full implementation of the United Nations Settlement Plan for Western Sahara. I commend the commitment by UN Secretary General Kofi Annan to resolving this decades-long conflict as well as the extraordinary leadership and accomplishments of his Personal Envoy, former Secretary of State James A. Baker III, in successfully negotiating the 1997 Houston Accord. I believe this agreement offers the best hope for achieving a just and lasting solution to the question of the Western Sahara.

The parties to the plan—the Government of Morocco and the Polisario Front—are not doing enough to meet their commitments under this agreement. Implementation of the first phase of the Houston Accord is already some six months behind schedule, with further delays likely. I believe the United States has an important interest in the full and timely implementation of both the Houston Accord and the underlying UN Settlement Plan.

I would like to bring to your attention three areas where a lack of cooperation is impeding the progress of the UN Mission for the Referendum in Western Sahara (MINURSO).

First, the two parties, as well as Algeria and Mauritania, have not concluded a status-of-forces agreement (SOFA) to facilitate the deployment of MINURSO-formed military units—including some U.S. forces. To ensure the orderly, peaceful conduct of the referendum, those forces are set to be increased as the Houston Accord enters its second phase.

I do not see how the United Nations can deploy this force without a clear, prior agreement from all parties on the conditions under which they would operate.

Second, the UN High Commission for Refugees (UNHCR) does not yet have an agreement with the Government of Morocco to formalize its presence in the Western Sahara, as is required by the Houston Accord. Without an agreement allowing it to operate freely, the UNHCR has made no progress on organizing the safe and voluntary repatriation of the Western Saharan refugees from camps in Algeria and Mauritania.

Third, the Government of Morocco has imposed restrictions on MINURSO aircraft. I am concerned about attempts to dictate to the United Nations who it may and may not transport on its own planes, and urge you to encourage the Moroccan government to refrain from such interference with MINURSO's work.

I believe U.S. support is critical to the successful implementation of this peace plan. The United States should have its own officials on the ground to report on MINURSO's progress, should press the parties directly to carry out their commitments to the peace plan, and should give strong support to the efforts of former Secretary Baker. I understand that Secretary Baker, acting on behalf of the UN Secretary General, may reconvene the Houston conference that produced this agreement, and I hope you will support his diplomacy in full.

Sincerely,

LEE H. HAMILTON,

THE WHITE HOUSE,
Washington, August 31, 1998.

Hon. LEE H. HAMILTON,
House of Representatives,
Washington, DC.

DEAR LEE: I received your letter concerning the Western Sahara, and I agree with your views on the importance of full implementation of the United Nations settlement plan. I also share your concern over the slow pace of progress.

United States officials at the United Nations and in the region constantly monitor developments affecting the U.N. Mission for the Referendum in Western Sahara (MINURSO). As you are aware, the United Nations is working with Morocco, Algeria, and Mauritania to conclude a status of forces agreement (SOFA). We recognize the importance of having a SOFA in place and will continue to urge progress.

Regarding the U.N. High Commission for Refugees (UNHCR), I am encouraged by the recent agreement between Moroccan and UNHCR delegations in Geneva to allow UNHCR to operate freely. UNHCR is awaiting confirmation from the Government of Morocco before proceeding, but anticipates a favorable decision.

We continually discourage Government of Morocco restrictions concerning who may and may not travel on MINURSO aircraft. As the recent presence of congressional staff on MINURSO flights demonstrates, Moroccan restrictions have not affected our ability to support the U.N. process. That said, we continue to urge the Government of Morocco to lift these restrictions, which cause Morocco to be viewed in an unfavorable light by the international community.

The U.S. embassy closely follows the settlement process in the Western Sahara through visits to Western Sahara proper and to refugee camps in Tindouf. We have also placed a U.S. official, on a short-term basis, in Western Sahara to observe and report on developments. The United States will continue to take every opportunity to urge the Government of Morocco and the Polisario to work with the United Nations in resolving this longstanding dispute.

Again, thank you for sharing your concerns on this important issue. I appreciate the active interest and positive involvement of Congress in supporting the U.N. peace process and the full implementation of the Houston Accords.

Sincerely,

Bill.

AN "OUTSTANDING COMMUNITY"

HON. RON KLINK

OF PENNSYLVANIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, September 23, 1998

Mr. KLINK. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize the great township of Cranberry, Pennsylvania for being honored by the Pennsylvania Commerce of Business and Industry as "Outstanding Community" 1998. The award was presented on September 14, 1998, in Hershey, PA.

Founded in 1804, Cranberry has grown into a thriving township that offers a prosperous job market and a high quality of life for its citizens. Since 1990 alone it has gained more than 1,180,000 square feet of new commercial construction. Their economy is a model for the modern economy based in retail trade and the service industry. For these reasons the Pennsylvania Commerce of Business and Industry chose to honor them this year.

This is a great accomplishment for Cranberry Township as they are the first township of this size to receive the award. They provide an example for other small communities in this country on how to succeed and compete economically.

CELEBRATING KIDS DAY AMERICA

HON. MARGE ROUKEMA

OF NEW JERSEY

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, September 23, 1998

Mrs. ROUKEMA. Mr. Speaker, I rise to call attention to the annual Kids Day America, a nationwide event that educates children about the importance of good health. Taking places at thousands of doctors' offices, Kids Day America offers health screening, educational program, fingerprinting and identification photos, among other services. This event is intended to protect the health and safety of our children—our most precious treasures.

In my Congressional District, Kids Day America was held Saturday, September 19, at the Rochelle Family Chiropractic Center in Rochelle Park, headed by Dr. David Hager. The funds raised this year will go to the Conklin Youth Center's Caring and Sharing Project in Hackensack. This important program provides care for abused children who have been removed from their parents' homes.

Free scoliosis screening and dental screening was offered to children who attended Saturday's event. In addition, the Rochelle Park Police Department fingerprinted and photographed children for identification purposes. Police officers also explained the DARE anti-drug program. McGruff the Crime Dog, Joey the Clown and free balloons helped make the event fun and entertaining for children.

Promotion of DARE—Drug Abuse Resistance Education—is one of the two most important components of Kids Day America. Before DARE was established in 1983, U.S. schools had virtually no formal program to teach children about the dangers of illegal drugs and provide them with the skills to resist drugs. The DARE program is a 17-week-long course taught from elementary to high school levels by specially trained police officers across the country. The program now reaches an estimated 26 million children in 75 percent of our nation's schools.

The other key component of Kids Day America is health care for children. This program recognizes that it is essential that our children receive the highest quality of health care and that is a goal to which I am unequivocally committed. I have strongly supported programs to make health insurance more widely available to children of the working poor—those whose parents fall in the vast chasm between Medicaid eligibility and the ability to afford private health insurance. The health of our nation's children is far too valuable to allow it to be threatened by the lack of adequate insurance coverage. The impact of poor health care is far greater for children than it is for adults: stunted growth, lifetime disabilities and even early death can result from failure to properly treat childhood disease. To allow innocent children to suffer when proper care is available is unconscionable.

Mr. Speaker, health and safety are key factors in the development of our children into active, productive adult citizens. If started in childhood, proper health and safety habits can be maintained for a lifetime. This event helps promote those values.

I ask my House Colleagues to join me in congratulating the sponsors of this event on their spirit of caring for our young people.

IN HONOR OF EDUARDO L. DURAN

HON. ROBERT MENENDEZ

OF NEW JERSEY

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, September 23, 1998

Mr. MENENDEZ. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to an exceptional gentleman, Mr. Eduardo L. Duran, for his many years of honorable service to the community.

Mr. Eduardo L. Duran arrived in America 38 years ago in search of his long lost love and now wife Xiomara. Over the years, Mr. and Mrs. Duran experienced economic and social struggles as they raised their four children. Their struggles were due to the inability of speaking English and leaving a successful business behind in their native land. Mr. Duran, after several business ventures, was fortunate and successful enough to have his wife dedicate herself to raising their children, Alexander, Diane, Eduardo II, and Claudia Tatiana. After establishing his businesses, Mr. Duran became involved in his community. He is a member of the Hispanic Mercantile Federation, active partner of the Cuban American Foundation, member of the Lions Club, and founding member of the Latin American Kiwanis Club of West New York.

Mr. Duran along with Jose Alvarado, Jorge Quintana, and Joseph Menendez helped found and charter the Latin American Kiwanis Club of West New York in February 15, 1995. Today, as one of the five Board of Trustee members, he holds the title of the second vice-president. The other trustees are his son Alexander, President; Robert Arreaga, first vice-president; Maria E. Smith, Secretary, and Maria Elena Pacheco, Treasurer. In my regards, Mr. Duran should be honored and recognized for his unique contributions to the community.

It is an honor to have an outstanding gentleman such as Mr. Eduardo L. Duran residing in my home state serving the residents of my district. I ask that my colleagues rise with me and applaud this remarkable example of community service at its best.

IN MEMORY OF REV. DONALD SELMER LINTVET

HON. IKE SKELTON

OF MISSOURI

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, September 23, 1998

Mr. SKELTON. Mr. Speaker, recently, my hometown of Lexington, MO, lost one of its most beloved citizens. Rev. Donald Selmer Lintvet, 77, passed away at his home on August 13, 1998.

Rev. Don Lintvet was born in Hawley, MN, on March 4, 1921. He attended school there, and after graduating from Lake Park High School, he received degrees from the Industrial College of Minnesota and the Detroit Lakes Business College. In addition, he attended both Baylor University and Rockhurst College for several years, as well as Trinity Theological Seminary, San Francisco Seminary, and Toledo Bible College.

Don's studies were interrupted by his service to the United States in the U.S. Army. Immediately before World II, Don served as a finance officer in Panama at the Panama Canal Zone. During World War II, he served state-side in the 2nd Armored Division at Fort Benning, GA, the Paratrooper Division at Indianapolis, IN, and at Fort Hood, TX.

After the conclusion of the war, Don came to Lexington, MO, the hometown of his wife, George Lynn. In Lexington, he once again served in military uniform, as Assistant Commandant at Wentworth Military Academy. Soon thereafter, he was recalled to active duty by the Army during the Korean War.

For years, Don worked in the credit and banking industry. He worked at the Bureau of Internal Revenue and at Riss and Company in Kansas City. He was also employed for twenty years as a Retail Credit Manager at Western Auto in Kansas City. While working at Western Auto, Don was appointed Vice President of the International Consumers Credit Executive Association.

Don joined the Bank of Tulsa in 1968, and also served as Vice President of the Bank Americard (now known as VISA) Center for several years. In 1972, he instituted the Bank of Americard facility in St. Louis and oversaw the development of the facility. Later, Don joined the Noland Road Bank of Independence, MO, and became an executive member of the Board of Advisors to the Bank of America in San Francisco, CA.

Don Lintvet ended his active business career in 1979 due to health problems, however, his professional life took a turn which led him to the Christian Church. On October 10, 1980, Don was ordained as a minister in the Disciples of Christ church, and he served as a minister at churches in Lexington, Dover, Bates City, and Hardin. His most admired contribution to the ministry was as a volunteer chaplain at the Lafayette Regional Health Center. From 1980 to 1990, Don served more than 11,000 hours of volunteer service at the hospital.

Early in his life, Don played baseball for the minor league Fargo-Morehead Twins at Fargo, ND, and the major league Cleveland Indians, and of his many affiliations, Don enjoyed being on the committee of the Board of Amateur Sports Hall of Fame in Kansas City. He was also a music enthusiast and he was an active member of the Tulsa Opera Company and the Christian Church choir in Tulsa, OK. He was a 58-year member of the Masonic Lodge AM FM #149, a member of the Lexington American Legion/Thomas Cullom Post, and a member of the Masons in Balboa Canal Zone. In addition, Don was one of ten Missourians nominated for the Outstanding Senior Volunteer for the state of Missouri.

Don is survived by his wife, George Lynn, one son, one sister, two grandchildren, two step-grandchildren, one niece, two nephews, two great-nieces, and one great-nephew.

Mr. Speaker, Rev. Donald Lintvet was a man of honor and dignity. His service to his nation, to his community, and to his God are highly commendable. He is truly a role model for all Americans. I am certain that the Members of the House will join me in paying tribute to this honorable Missourian.

THE 424TH MEDICAL LOGISTICS
BATTALIONHON. JIM SAXTON

OF NEW JERSEY

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, September 23, 1998

Mr. SAXTON. Mr. Speaker, I rise to congratulate and pay tribute to the men and women of the 424th Medical Logistics Battalion headquartered at Pedricktown, New Jersey. In particular, I wish to salute the 14 soldiers who are returning home from an eight month deployment to Bosnia. On October 4th, 1998, the 424th Medical Logistics Battalion will welcome home these 14 members in a celebration at the 424th Reserve Center in Pedricktown, New Jersey.

The detachment, commanded by Captain Linda Estacio, deployed last September and was stationed at the Blue Factory near the town of Tuzla, Bosnia. The detachment was responsible for all of the medical supplies, blood products, and medical equipment repair for all of the American forces and some multinational units in the northern section of Bosnia, a responsibility that cannot be overestimated nor underappreciated.

Today, U.S. servicemen and women continue to serve in Bosnia in an effort to again secure peace in Europe. These dedicated individuals, who have served so honorably, have the difficult task of fulfilling the commitments made by American foreign-policy makers. The members of the 424th represent the steadfast dedication and honorable service that continue to make our nation proud of our Armed Forces.

I wish to commend these soldiers, Cpt Linda Estacio, 1LT Carmen Bellthomas, SFC Frank Newhart, SFC John Vangeyten, SFC Richard Czeponis, SGT William White, SGT Ronnie Simons, SGT Bruce Phillips, SGT David Lewis, SPC Ronald Meixsell, SPC Kenneth Johnson, SPC Pamela Jones, SPC Michael Mills and SPC Derrick Sterling, for they are the inspiration for those who serve our country today.

100TH ANNIVERSARY OF HAWTHORNE, NEW JERSEYHON. MARGE ROUKEMA

OF NEW JERSEY

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, September 23, 1998

Mrs. ROUKEMA. Mr. Speaker, I rise to congratulate the Borough of Hawthorne on its 100th anniversary as an independent borough in the State of New Jersey. The people of Hawthorne this year are celebrating the many virtues of their wonderful community. Hawthorne is a good place to call home. It has the outstanding schools, safe streets, family oriented neighborhoods, civic volunteerism and community values that make it an outstanding place to live and raise a family.

Hawthorne was officially incorporated as a borough one century ago, but its qualities have been known for nearly three centuries. Among the earliest settlers of Hawthorne were the Ryerson brothers, who purchased 600 acres of land in 1707. Their property extended from the Passaic River to what is now Diamond Bridge Avenue and from the crest of Goffle Hill to Lincoln Avenue. One of the Ryerson's homes, built in 1740 and destroyed by fire in 1950, served as General Lafayette's headquarters during the Revolutionary War. A monument erected by the Passaic County Park Commission marks the spot at 367 Goffle Road. Another Ryerson home survives as a restaurant.

Saw mills were the earliest industrial operation in Hawthorne, as trees cut to clear land for farming were turned into lumber for construction. Grist mills followed to process the grain raised by the farmers.

Located in Passaic County, Hawthorne originally was part of Manchester Township, which also included communities now known as Totowa, Haledon, North Haledon, Prospect Park and part of Paterson. Hawthorne was established as an independent borough on March 24, 1898. The other communities eventually declared their independence as well and Manchester Township ceased to exist.

There are two theories on the origin of the borough's name. One is that it was named for the profuse growth of the thorny Hawthorne bushes early farmers had to clear from their land before cattle could safely graze. The other is that it was named for the author Nathaniel Hawthorne. The true answer is lost to history. Nonetheless, the name is honored and revered and deserves the good reputation it has enjoyed for a century. It is one of the finest communities in our state.

Hawthorne's first mayor, Dr. Sylvester Utter, was elected April 12, 1889. Adam Vreeland was chosen as assessor and William H. Post as tax collector. The councilmen were Albert Rhodes, Frank Post, Daniel Van Blarcom, Martin Marsh, John V.B. Terhune and Arthur F.J. Wheatley.

At the turn of the century, farms were already disappearing to make room for housing development and Hawthorne's population stood at 2,500. By 1908, large tracts of land were being developed for homes. The Arnold Brothers Co. developed land from Elberon to Tuxedo Avenues. The Rea Land Co. developed the northern end of town and Hawthorne Parks Estates developed the eastern section. By 1910, the population totaled 3,500.

One of the new government's first steps was to secure $19,000 in loans to renovate school buildings, including the Lafayette School, the Washington School and a one-room schoolhouse on Goffle Road. The Franklin School was built in 1910. The Lafayette School eventually became the borough municipal building but was destroyed by fire in 1979. A new municipal building was constructed on the same site.

The post-World War I boom of the 1920s brought more new homes, a variety of industrial and commercial enterprises and two new schools. Goffle Brook Park was established in 1927 by the Passaic County Park Commission, quickly becoming the setting for band concerts and baseball games. The park remains a setting for community events to this day. The First National Bank of Hawthorne, the Hawthorne Public Library and the Masonic Temple were all opened in 1928. The same year, the Hawthorne Chamber of Commerce was established and local chapters of the American Legion, Rotary Club and Veterans of Foreign Wars were opened.

The 1930s saw construction of Hawthorne High School, the beginning of the Hawthorne Women's Club and the Hawthorne Child Welfare League. The population in 1930 soared to 12,000—a 13 percent increase from 1920 reported to be the second-highest increase in the United States.

Hawthorne today has a population of more than 17,000 and plays an essential role in the active economy of the region. Hawthorne has enjoyed a history of good, sound local government, a tradition carried on today by Mayor Fred Criscitelli, Council President Joseph Metzler, Council Vice President John Lane and Council Members Marge Shortway, Lois Cuccinello, Richard Goldberg, Patrick Botbyl and Eugene Morabito. Former Mayor Louis Bay 2nd, who retired in 1987 after 40 years of continuous service, set a record for consecutive terms as mayor.

Hawthorne is one of the finest communities in the State of New Jersey. This community is symbolic of traditional American values. The residents work hard, are dedicated to their families, support their schools and volunteer to help their neighbors. I ask all my colleagues to join me in wishing all its residents continued success as their borough enters its second century.

IN HONOR OF DOVER, MO, CHRISTIAN CHURCH'S 150TH ANNIVERSARYHON. IKE SKELTON

OF MISSOURI

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, September 23, 1998

Mr. SKELTON. Mr. Speaker, today, I wish to pay tribute to the parishioners, past and present, of the Dover, Missouri, Christian Church, who will celebrate the Church's 150th anniversary this year.

The long history of the Dover Christian Church, located just east of my hometown of Lexington, MO, began in the decades before the War Between the States. In the early part of the 19th Century, two men, Thomas and Alexander Campbell, father and son, came to Missouri from Virginia. These men brought with them the idea of a new faith which fostered the dream of uniting all Protestant denominations. The little town of Dover accepted this tenet, and in August of 1824, the Dover Christian Church was organized.

The tradition of the Church's August meeting began in 1824. Over the years, this event has become the binding tie to the members of the Church and to the community of Dover. These meetings have been one of the biggest and most looked-forward-to events in the community. From 1824 to 1848, before there was a church building, Dover Christian Church's annual August meetings were held beneath three large elm trees that stood near a small bridge south of Dover. The current church facility was not completed until 1848.

Mr. Speaker, for over 150 years, the members of the Dover Christian Church have been gathering in friendship and in prayer. I am certain that the Members of the House will join me in paying tribute to the Church and its parishioners.

TRIBUTE TO ANTHONY MOCERI

HON. JERRY F. COSTELLO

OF ILLINOIS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, September 23, 1998

Mr. COSTELLO. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to Anthony (Tony) Mocerì. The International Brotherhood of Boilermakers Local 363 in Belleville, Illinois is naming their new hall for Tony Mocerì.

Tony Mocerì was a great union member. He got his union card in San Francisco and was initiated into Lodge 363 in 1942. He was a dedicated, hardworking member until his retirement in 1984. Mr. Mocerì was elected Lodge Assistant Business Agent in 1963 and moved to Business Manager in 1966—a position he held for nearly twenty years. Under Mr. Mocerì's leadership, an apprenticeship program was developed. This program, initiated by Mr. Mocerì in 1974, has proven extremely successful.

Mr. Mocerì was on the State Boiler Board and the Building Trades Committee. He also had the honor and distinction of serving on Senator Percy's Labor Task Force Committee.

Tony Mocerì was married to his wife, Vera, for 44 years.

I would like for my colleagues to give special recognition in honor of Local 363 naming their new facility for Tony Mocerì.

SARDINE FACTORY COCKTAIL LOUNGE AND RESTAURANT CELEBRATES ITS 30TH ANNIVERSARY

HON. SAM FARR

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, September 23, 1998

Mr. FARR of California. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor the Sardine Factory Cocktail Lounge and Restaurant on its 30th anniversary. The Sardine Factory is a local landmark, rising above Cannery Row. The founding owners, Ted J. Balestreri and Bert P. Cutino, have created a venue that is as trendy as it is historic.

The old oak bar in the Sardine Factory is reputed to have sailed to the West Coast around Cape Horn in southern Chile in 1919. In the Captain's Room, elegant antiques evoke the opulence of an Old World drawing room, with a risqué touch of the Barbary coast. Historic photographs and oil portraits of sea captains line the walls, overseeing diners enjoying a fireside dinner. The glass dome of the Conservatory reflects the sparkling cut-glass of a spectacular chandelier, which hangs over a marble fountain amidst the verdure of a garden setting.

Ted Balestreri moved to the Monterey Peninsula with his family as a teenager and worked as a busboy to pay for his education. Ted, recognizing the possibilities of the hospitality industry, set out to Lewis Hotel Management School in Washington, D.C. to learn more. When Ted and Bert established the Sardine Factory, Ted took charge of the marketing and management, making sure the guests were warmly welcomed by personally greeting arrivals at the door.

Bert Cutino grew up near Cannery Row in a fishing family. After his start as a dishwasher at age 13, Bert's innate ability in the culinary field took him to the position of manager of a full scale restaurant by the age of nineteen. Bert became the culinary heart of the Sardine Factory whose creations continue to receive national recognition.

The Sardine Factory is widely known for its impeccably prepared fresh seafood, accompanied by superb wines, and exemplary service. Over these 30 years, celebrities, visitors and long-time residents and their guests, have sought out the Sardine Factory, to create new traditions in a setting evocative of long-ago times.

The Sardine Factory has grown in success and stature over its first thirty years. May it continue to achieve similar achievements long into the future.

INTRODUCTION OF LEGISLATION TO PROVIDE A TEMPORARY SOLUTION TO ENABLE FAMILIES TO RECEIVE THE FULL BENEFITS OF THE CHILD TAX CREDIT AND EDUCATION CREDITS FOR 1998

HON. RICHARD E. NEAL

OF MASSACHUSETTS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, September 23, 1998

Mr. NEAL of Massachusetts. Mr. Speaker, today I am introducing legislation which provides a temporary waiver for taxable year 1998 of the minimum tax rules that deny many families the full benefit of nonrefundable personal credits, pending enactment of permanent legislation to address this inequity.

Recently, I introduced H.R. 4489, legislation which would allow nonrefundable personal tax credits (i.e., the child tax credit, the HOPE and lifetime learning credits, and the dependent care credit) to offset both the individual's regular income tax liability and the minimum tax liability and repeal the rule that reduces the additional child credit for families with three or more children by the amount of the minimum tax liability. Last week, the Committee on Ways and Means reported out the "Taxpayer Relief Act of 1998" which included a substantially identical provision to address the interaction between the minimum tax and nonrefundable personal credits.

H.R. 4489 and the "Taxpayer Relief Act of 1998" provide a permanent solution to ensure that families receive the full benefits of the child credit and the education credits. However, the "Taxpayer Relief Act of 1998" will almost certainly receive a Presidential veto and even if it were signed, I recently learned that Internal Revenue Service (IRS) would not be capable of implementing these changes in time for the 1998 tax year. For these reasons, I am introducing this new legislation that would provide a one year solution for 1998 to enable substantially all families to receive their full credits.

Under current law, the total allowable amount of nonrefundable personal credits may not exceed the amount by which the individual's regular income tax liability exceeds the individual's tentative minimum tax. For families with three or more children, an additional child credit is provided and this is reduced by the amount of the individual's minimum tax liability.

Under current law, all taxpayers who claim the child credit with incomes above $45,000 for joint filers and $33,750 for single filers will have to make at least a rudimentary minimum tax calculation. Many of these taxpayers will also have to fill out the full alternative minimum tax (AMT) form. Not only is the AMT complicated, it can penalize middle-income taxpayers who claim some of the new tax credits such as the child credit and the Hope Scholarship credit. The Department of Treasury estimates that in 1998, the alternative minimum tax will cause 800,000 taxpayers to fail to receive the full benefits of the child credit (Hope Scholarship credit and lifetime learning credit).

My new legislation makes nonrefundable personal credits allowable against the entire amount of an individual's regular tax liability for 1998 and it would repeal the rule that reduces the additional child credit for families with three or more children by the amount of the minimum tax liability. This is a one year solution for 1998 and the IRS is capable of making this change in time for the 1998 filing season.

Without enactment of this legislation, taxpayers who are planning to claim the child tax credit should be warned that the computation of their taxes will be difficult, time consuming, and unnecessarily complex. Without simplifying the child tax credit, the child tax credit form that will be required on next year's tax return is a nightmare. In a recent Wall Street Journal article, a tax expert stated that many people "will be totally overwhelmed" by required forms. The instructions and required forms total eight pages. The Internal Revenue Service has completed a time analysis for completing the AMT form which will be required for many taxpayers claiming the child credit and it takes approximately 5 hours to complete this form.

This legislation makes claiming the new credits, especially the child credit, simple compared to the draft forms that have been released by the IRS. Not only is this solution simplification for the 1998 tax year, it enables substantially all families to receive credits that they are entitled to for 1998. We need to enact this legislation to prevent the average family from having to pay a tax return preparer to receive the benefits that were promised.

I urge you to join me in cosponsoring this important legislative fix which should be enacted before Congress adjourns. This solution should be added to revenue neutral legislation to extend the expiring provisions. Also, we should continue to work on a permanent solution to ensure taxpayers receive their full credits.

THE JOHN MARSHALL LAW SCHOOL MARKS ITS CENTENNIAL "A LEGACY OF OPPORTUNITY, A LIFETIME OF ACHIEVEMENT"

HON. NANCY L. JOHNSON

OF CONNECTICUT

HON. THOMAS W. EWING

OF ILLINOIS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, September 23, 1998

Mrs. JOHNSON of Connecticut. Mr. Speaker, my colleague THOMAS EWING and I submit the following tribute.

One hundred years ago, a group of Chicago lawyers shared a vision of legal education. They believed that there existed "the need for a school where men and women compelled to earn their own livelihoods could get a legal education." That vision became a reality when the John Marshall Law School opened its doors in 1899 with three students.

Over the years, the John Marshall Law School has added to its vision of legal education, most notably through several innovations. It has expanded the curriculum to include cutting-edge programs and degrees; it has increased its students services to include legal and writing professionals skilled in training students for the practice of law; and it has improved the law school facilities to include a three-building campus with a moot courtroom complex, a computer classroom, lecture halls and a modern conference center.

As the John Marshall Law School has succeeded through a century of opportunity and innovation, its alumni have reaped a legacy of achievement. Their success are a tribute to the John Marshall Law School . . . A Legacy of Opportunity, A Lifetime of Achievement.

LT. GERALD D. WHEATON TO RECEIVE THE BRONZE STAR

HON. THOMAS E. PETRI

OF WISCONSIN

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, September 23, 1998

Mr. PETRI. Mr. Speaker, on Saturday, September 26th, I plan to be present—votes permitting—for a long overdue ceremony in Ripon, Wisconsin, for a true American hero.

It was December 15, 1967. Most Americans were getting ready for Christmas. But 1st Lieutenant Gerald D. Wheaton's artillery battalion had just taken over a position near Chu Chi in South Vietnam previously assigned to another battalion. Wheaton was the Battalion Ammunition Officer, and he knew he had a job on his hands when he found that his predecessor had left him with broken boxes, mixed lots, and in some cases missing charges. So he got to work—a time consuming and exacting job. The battalion had no ammunition trucks, so he had to beg and borrow vehicles for resupply.

Six weeks later, the North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong violated a ceasefire in order to launch their mammoth surprise Tet offensive throughout the Republic of Vietnam. The first days of the offensive were chaotic. Wheaton's brigade was given the mission to keep the main supply route open from Quang Tri Province to Camp Evans about 30 miles away. A North Vietnamese regiment attacked the garrison at Hi Lang and cut the supply road to Camp Evans.

Lt. Col. Robert E. Lee, Jr. (then a Major) says:

I ordered Lt. Wheaton to move his ammunition section from Phu Bi to Quang Tri City and be prepared to resupply C Battery in the vicinity of Quang Tri City, a battery in the vicinity of Hi Lang and a 155 battery at LZ Jane. The batteries were approximately thirty miles apart. Lt. Wheaton loaded his section on two helicopters. At the time, we were not aware of the magnitude of the Tet offensive. The helicopters came under heavy ground fire and one turned back. Lt. Wheaton insisted his helicopter continue the mission. Lt. Wheaton's decision ensured his battalion was resupplied with ammunition.

Keeping his own battalion and a reinforcing artillery battery resupplied was a monumental challenge which Lt. Wheaton met despite great personal risk from land mines, sniper fire and ambush. Indeed, later Lt. Wheaton was seriously injured when his jeep drove over a land mine. His passenger was killed.

As a result of his efforts before and during the Tet offensive, Col. Lee believes that Lt. Wheaton's actions saved the lives of many American soldiers, so he recommended Lt. Wheaton for a Bronze Star.

But then, nothing happened. During the hectic days following the offensive the original recommendation was somehow misplaced.

During a reunion, Lt. Col. (Ret.) Lee learned that Lt. Wheaton had failed to receive the recognition he was due. So in July of last year Col. Lee contacted my office to see if we could right a wrong and help with a resubmission of the recommendations for Lt. Wheaton's awards. I was happy to help. The Army requires extensive procedures to make sure the awards it makes are merited, but over the course of a year we were able to demonstrate our case.

On Saturday, September 26 at 11 a.m. at the Ripon, Wisconsin VFW I plan to be on hand to offer my personal gratitude to Gerald Wheaton. We will be joined by Col. Lee and by Wheaton's former Battalion Commander, Col. (Ret.) William Malouche as Gerald D. Wheaton receives the Bronze Star for meritorious service, and the Bronze Star with a "V" Device for valor. I believe Lt. Wheaton deserves the full measure of recognition and congratulations that can be extended by this House on behalf of a grateful nation.

Mr. RADANOVICH. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to John Wallace on his being honored as the Muscular Dystrophy Association's Humanitarian of the Year. Mr. Wallace has distinguished himself as a dedicated member of the community and is a highly regarded member of the media.

John Wallace grew up in San Rafael, California and went on to accomplish great things for himself and his community. A graduate of the University of Arizona, the College of Marin and the Borden School of Radio, John served in the United States Marine Corps Reserve before coming to the Central Valley and KYNO Radio. Currently the host of "47 This Morning" on KJEO-TV, John's Career has spanned 31 years and 15,000 broadcasts ranging from famine in Ethiopia to the Gulf War live from the Middle East. He and his wife Cheri have 5 children: Taylor, Carson, Cameron, Paige and Cassandra.

Dedicated to excellence in journalism and with a strong devotion to his family, John finds the time to serve his community in numerous capacities. He currently is in his sixth term as President of the Foundation for Clovis Schools. Additionally, John is a board member of West Care Inc., the Boys and Girls Clubs of America, and Chairman of "Journey into Sherwood," a Valley Children's Hospital benefit. In the past, Mr. Wallace had the honor of serving as President of the California Raisin Bowl, President of the Fresno State "Time Out Club," and as a member of the Fresno Police Activities League.

John Wallace is no stranger to honor, as he is continually receiving recognition for his outstanding dedication to community service. He was voted Leadership Fresno's "Alumnus of the Year" in 1989, in 1993 John was voted "Clovis Citizen of the Year," and in 1996 received the Volunteer Bureau's "Angel Award." John Wallace has proven himself a distinguished community leader.

Mr. Speaker, it is with great honor that I pay tribute to John Wallace for his selection as the Muscular Dystrophy Association's Humanitarian of the year. Mr. Speaker, I ask my colleagues to join me in recognizing these gentlemen for their dedication, accomplishments and years of service.

I wish them good health and happiness as they move forward in their lives.

DOLLARS TO THE CLASSROOM ACT

SPEECH OF

HON. ROBERT A. UNDERWOOD

OF GUAM

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, September 18, 1998

The House in Committee of the Whole House on the State of the Union had under consideration the bill (H.R. 3248) to provide Dollars to the Classroom:

Mr. UNDERWOOD. Madam Chairman, we have been charged by our constituents to construct and introduce wise legislation, yet today we are considering legislation which will severely hamper our Nation's efforts to improve our children's education. The Dollars to the Classroom Act is riddled with faults, such as providing no mechanism for accountability of Federal funds as well as funding general operating expenses rather than national educational priorities.

One of the major setbacks of this legislation is that it does not ensure that Federal education funds will reach our neediest students. The discretion will be left to the States, which in general have resulted in less targeted fund distribution when compared to Federal programs. In addition, past experience has proven that the consolidation of Federal programs into block grants has resulted in decreased appropriations for varied reasons, such as the lack of distinct Federal priorities and the lack of accountability language.

I am a parent and educator and I know that certain improvements can be made with our American educational system; but H.R. 3248 is not one of these improvements. If education is one of our top priorities in Congress, then we should not pass H.R. 3248. I urge my colleagues to vote no on this legislation.

ESTABLISH YOUTH SUICIDE AS A COMPELLING NATIONAL PRIORITY

HON. RON PACKARD

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, September 23, 1998

Mr. PACKARD. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to urge support for a resolution I introduced last week that is of fundamental importance to every person who has ever had children and to every family that has suffered the loss of a loved one through suicide.

During this summer, while I was home in my district, I had the opportunity to meet my constituent Lisa Dove, the mother of Justin Dove who tragically committed suicide at age 16. Justin was a well liked child who lived with clinical depression and Attention Deficit Disorder. Despite several years of medical psychological treatments and antidepressant medications, Justin decided to take his own life.

The purpose of this bill would be to recognize the week of September 20–26, 1998, as Yellow Ribbon Youth Suicide Awareness and Prevention Week. This bill would also recognize that there is a need to increase awareness about youth suicide and make it a national priority. Finally, this legislation also encourages communities nationwide to increase awareness about and prevent youth suicide.

I would like to thank my original co-sponsor of this bill, the Honorable David Skaggs of Colorado. I would also like to recognize the Light For Life Foundation of America and their founders, the Emme family, who tragically lost their teenage son, Michael to suicide in 1994. It was through the vision of the Emme family that the Yellow Ribbon Program, which is now responsible for saving over 1,000 teenage lives since its inception, has become a reality.

Mr. Speaker, I hope this resolution will increase awareness and help reduce the number of teenage suicides.

THE VETERANS PERSONAL SECURITY ACT

HON. RODNEY P. FRELINGHUYSEN

OF NEW JERSEY

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, September 23, 1998

Mr. FRELINGHUYSEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to introduce the Veterans Personal Security Act. This bill is the direct result of several incidents at the Lyons VA Medical Center in my district.

In late May, a Korean War Veteran who was a psychiatric patient at Lyons walked away from his ward, unnoticed. Several hours later, when he was discovered missing, the VA police began to search the medical center's extensive campus. That search, however, was called off, allegedly because the VA could not pay police overtime to continue. Two days later, the patient was found dead in a ditch adjacent to the main administration building. This veteran's death, and the lack of a proper search, is an atrocity.

In that incident, the VA did notify the local Bernards Township Police Department, but a coordinated search was not requested. I also understand that Lyons VA medical center has had a series of alleged rapes reportedly occur on its campus. These incidents have not been reported to local law enforcement agencies, and as a result, rumors have been circulating among veterans, as well as the local community, about what has actually happened at the medical center. Is there a threat to the safety and security of the community at large? One local police chief said that knowing the facts of these incidents will help him answer questions posed by his community, and hopefully help him ease their concerns that these crimes will spread beyond the medical center's boundaries.

The Veterans Personal Security Act would require the VA police to immediately notify local law enforcement agencies if a serious crime or similar incident occurs. That notification must be followed up within 48 hours with a more detailed, written notification. The VA would be required to notify local police if one of several crimes or alleged incidents occurs, including: a missing patient, the abuse or beating of a patient or staff member, the use or distribution of illegal drugs by a patient or staff member or an alleged rape or any other felony.

Additionally, the Veterans Personal Security Act would grant local law enforcement agencies jurisdiction to go onto VA property to investigate these crimes, or to help VA police search for missing persons, or provide whatever assistance is needed to resolve these incidents.

I recognize that many local law enforcement agencies are kept busy meeting the demands of their communities. However, it is oftentimes in the local communities' best interests that these situations are brought to their attention and that the police are made aware of them. The veterans who are treated at these facilities, the staff who work there, and the residents in the surrounding communities deserve to know when a crime or other alleged incident occurs. More importantly, they deserve to be protected. Their safety and security must not be compromised by weak links in communication between VA police and the local law enforcement officials.

Mr. Speaker, a veteran should not just "disappear" from a VA medical center, like the tragic incident at Lyons. When a veteran checks into a VA hospital anywhere in America, he or she expects and deserves peace of mind. The Veterans Personal Security Act should ensure that veterans seeking treatment at VA medical facilities will be protected from further harm.

SISTERLY LOVE

HON. PHILIP M. CRANE

OF ILLINOIS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, September 23, 1998

Mr. CRANE. Mr. Speaker, as all of us know, family is the center of American life and I want to share with my colleagues an article which exemplifies the strong family ties found among our healthiest and happiest of families. The article was written by Courtney Toft about her sister, Nicole, who has Rett syndrome. The affection and devotion with which she writes permeates each word and demonstrates the unconditional love both girls have for one another. The close relationship between Courtney and Nicole is a direct reflection of the family life created by their mother, Carol Toft, who works in my District Office in Lake Villa, Illinois. Knowing of Carol's commitment and love for her family, my heart was touched by Courtney's comments about her sister and I simply wanted my colleagues to have an opportunity to read her article as it appeared in the September 1998 issue of the Rett Syndrome Association of Illinois Newsletter.

SISTERHOOD

(By Courtney Toft (age 16))

My sister, Nicole, turned nineteen on August 3. Her personality has changed throughout the years, but she has always kept the sparkling eyes and the smile that lights up the room. People always say, "I think she understands!" I know she understands! She knows so much more than we give her credit for. She is just like every single one of us except she can't express her feelings in words like the rest of us can. Having a sister with Rett syndrome has taught me so much. If Nicole had been "normal" our family would have had a different outlook on life.

Nicole has always been there for me. She listens to my deepest secrets and doesn't tell a soul. She laughs at all my jokes even if they are not funny and basically puts up with all my annoying habits. Of course, Nicole has her bad habits that the rest of the household has to put up with. Not that I'm complaining, but nineteen years of the Muppets and Sesame Street can be a little extreme. I think Nicole has been a blessing to our entire family. I don't know what we would have done without her.

There are so many stories to tell, but most of them are the ones that only a mother, or sister, could tolerate. Whenever you have a family with two girls close in age, there is competition. You would think that with us there wouldn't be any. Big mistake. Nicole has a boyfriend named Jason (cute couple!). I have a boyfriend named Jeff (cuter couple!) Nicole figures she should have both guys so she hits on mine. The sad part is, my boyfriend falls for her mischievous ways. Thinking from her point of view, I guess we really don't compete. She has everyone wrapped around her finger, and I think she knows it, too.

I might have missed out on some things related to sisterhood, like the part where Nicole was supposed to break Mom in to parenting a teenager. You know, all the bad habits: boyfriends, curfews, driving, and all the other things that every parent looks forward to. Things I haven't missed include time together styling her hair, polishing her nails, and going shopping. We recently had our first adventure together where she and I picked out some really cool clothes for her. Her eyes and smile told me that she thought it was the coolest thing!

We've grown up not only physically, but emotionally. We've developed an admiration for one another, and I'm very lucky to have a sister like her.

THE C-130 PROGRAM

HON. BOB WEYGAND

OF RHODE ISLAND

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, September 23, 1998

Mr. WEYGAND. Mr. Speaker, there has been a great deal of debate over the past couple of months regarding the C-130 aircraft included in the FY99 National Security Appropriations bill. These planes have been referred to as wasteful, unnecessary pork. I must respectfully disagree. Continuation of the C-130 program is of critical importance to our national security because it allows for a more complete integration of the Air National Guard with their active duty counterparts.

Although these aircraft have provided consistent and reliable service to our country, some of the ANG's fleet of C-130s are approaching 40 years of service. After the numerous years of activity, time has taken its toll on the planes. Some of the aircraft are heavily corroded and nearing the end of their service life. Mr. Speaker, replacing outdated aircraft is not "pork;" it's an operational necessity. Replacing outdated aircraft is not "pork" it's a safety issue.

For example, the 143rd Airlift Group of the Rhode Island Air National Guard is one of six units in the country still using the C-130Es. The requirements of the ANG and the active forces have outgrown the capability of the C-130Es. The cost of maintaining and updating these 30-year-old planes to operationally safe standards exceeds the cost of the modern, more capable C-130J or H aircraft. In addition, the Rhode Island ANG planes lack defensive systems that are a necessity in today's global climate. In particular, Rhode Island's C-130s have documented corrosion due to their years of service in the Pacific.

While serving our nation in Operation Desert Storm/Shield, Operation Provide Hope and in Bosnia, the 143rd was forced to use aircraft from other states due to their own inadequate fleet. Despite this hardship, the 143rd performed admirably.

Modernization of the fleet is a priority of the ANG and replacing the C-130 aircraft is a significant component of their plan. The ANG has outlined a modernization roadmap to reach their goals. This roadmap, based on sound operational necessity, calls for allocating aircraft based on military need, a plan endorsed by Maj. Gen. Paul A. Weaver Jr., Director of the ANG. As I am sure you are aware, the 143rd is scheduled to receive the next eight C-130s, which moves the Air Guard one step closer to completing its modernization.

In my view, modernization of our forces is an absolute necessity if we are to maintain an effective national security strategy. By first replacing the oldest and most inefficient aircraft, we can ensure our armed forces will be well equipped should the time come to act. I believe allocating the eight C-130s will be a significant step toward modernizing the ANG's fleet.

HONORING THE PHILADELPHIA PROTESTANT HOME

HON. ROBERT A. BORSKI

OF PENNSYLVANIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, September 23, 1998

Mr. BORSKI. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor the Philadelphia Protestant Home on the occasion of the grand opening of their new healthcare center, Pathways at PPH. This outstanding organization has a 108 year tradition of caring for the senior citizens of all faiths of Philadelphia.

Located in Northeast Philadelphia, PPH provides care for seniors from that area and the surrounding counties. Over the years, the non-profit home has grown from one small rowhome on York Street to a bustling 12 acre campus housing over 500 residents. PPH offers independent living, assisted living, and skilled health care. PPH strives to provide quality, affordable care and to create an environment in which seniors can enjoy their retirement years to the fullest. That environment includes a full activities program with concerts, swimming, bowling, exercise classes, crafts, religious services, trips, and other events. Each year, PPH provides almost one million dollars in benevolent care for seniors who have exhausted their resources.

PPH strives to be a good neighbor and assist other community groups. They provide assistance to seniors who remain in their homes through their non-profit home healthcare agency, CareMasters of PPH. They contribute to the quality of life in their neighborhood by opening their facility to these groups so that they have a place to meet and conduct their work. They sponsor free community events and always try to assist seniors from the community and their families and caregivers.

Pathways at PPH was made possible, in part, through the generous donations of time and money from many PPH residents, employees, family members, community members, supporting congregations, PPH Ladies Auxiliary, local businesses, and numerous others. I am grateful to them for their support of the senior citizens of Philadelphia and commend them for their dedication and hard work.

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, September 23, 1998

Mr. JENKINS. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to explain my vote on House Resolution 525. Rollcall vote 425 took place on Friday, September 11. #### IN HONOR OF HISPANIC HERITAGE MONTH

HON. DENNIS J. KUCINICH

OF OHIO

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, September 23, 1998

Mr. KUCINICH. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to celebrate Hispanic Heritage Month, a month long celebration beginning on September 15, and lasting until October 15.

America strives on the diversity of its people. As a nation, we pride ourselves on the fact that our national character is magnified by citizens who assert and respect cultural customs brought from other lands. Hispanics, nearly five-hundred years ago, came to this country in search of democracy, freedom and a better way of life.

Throughout history, Hispanic Americans have immensely contributed to the well-being and advancement of our nation. Through science, business, government, agriculture, academics and the Armed Forces, Hispanic Americans have made their presence known in American history. They have undauntedly fought to preserve democracy in America, having served in the United States Armed Forces in dimensions much larger than their percentage of the population.

Hispanic Heritage month is a time to acknowledge the contributions that Hispanic Americans have made to our country, and are continuing to make. Communities all over the nation are celebrating Hispanic Heritage Month, each in their own distinct manner. In Cleveland, the Cuyahoga Community College Hispanic Steering Council is coordinating the Festival Hispano, featuring performances, workshops and lectures celebrating Hispanic culture and tradition.

My fellow colleagues, please join me in sending a special thanks to the following organizations for their outstanding contributions to making the Cleveland Festival Hispano, such a success: Beck Center for Cultural Arts, Case Western Reserve University, Centro Cultural Hispano de Cleveland, City of Cleveland, The Cleveland Cinematheque, Cleveland State University, John Carroll University, Julia de Burgos Cultural Art Center, Cleveland Public Library, M.Q. Productions, Cleveland Museum of Art, Ohio Hispanic Social Service Workers Association, The Cleveland Orchestra, Phantasmagoria Gallery, Spanish American Committees, Cuyahoga Community College, and the Westside Vet Center.

FOREIGN OPERATIONS, EXPORT FINANCING, AND RELATED PROGRAMS APPROPRIATIONS ACT, 1999

SPEECH OF

HON. DAN BURTON

OF INDIANA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, September 17, 1998

The House in Committee of the Whole House on the State of the Union had under consideration the bill (H.R. 4569) making appropriations for foreign operations, export financing, and related programs for the fiscal year ending September 30, 1999, and for other purposes.

Mr. BURTON of Indiana. Mr. Chairman, Today I want this Congress to focus on a government that has spent years practicing torture on its own people. However, when you go home and turn on the evening news, good luck trying to find any story that reveals this particular human rights issue. And better luck getting this administration to pay any attention to the plight of thousands of innocent civilians.

We speak of tragedies all over the world this time of the year. We speak of the struggles in Africa, Cambodia, and Burma. We reprimand China for its draconian abortion policies and illegal human organ sales. We threaten to stop international military and educational training (IMET) from Indonesia for abuses in East Timor. We even criticize long-standing allies like Turkey for its treatment of its Kurdish citizens without addressing the brutal murders carried out by the PKK, a Kurdish Marxist terrorist organization.

Unfortunately, there is one human rights issue that continues to escape the attention of this administration, some Members of Congress and the media. That issue involves the plight of the Sikhs in Punjab or Khalistan; the plight of the Kashmiris; the plight of Christians in Nagaland; and the plight of the "untouchables", the lowest caste in India's caste system.

Mr. Speaker, the Indian Government is one of the world's worst human rights abusers. You may ask, well if that's true, why doesn't the world know?

Since the 1970's, Amnesty International and other human rights groups have been barred from India. Mr. Speaker, even the Government of Cuba allows Amnesty into their country.

In fact, there are half-million Indian soldiers occupying Punjab, and another half-million troops occupying Kashmir. Since 1947, India has killed over 200,000 Christians in Nagaland; 250,000 Sikhs in Punjab from 1984-1992; and 53,000 Muslims in Kashmir since 1988.

For the last sixteen years, I have been coming to this well to call attention to Punjab, where the Indian military receives cash bounties for the slaughter of innocent children. And to justify their actions, they are labeled "terrorists".

According to our own State Department, India paid over 41,000 cash bounties to police for killing innocent people from 1991-1993!

Also in Punjab, Sikhs are picked up in the middle of the night only to be found floating dead in canals with their hands and feet bound together. Some Kikhs are only so fortunate, many are never found after their abduction.

Recently, the India Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI) told the supreme court that it had confirmed nearly 1,000 cases of unidentified bodies that were cremated by the military!

And it does not get any better in Kashmir. Women, because of their Muslim beliefs, are taken out of their homes in the middle of the night and are gang-raped while their husbands are forced to watch and wait inside at gunpoint.

It was hoped that the new governments in Delhi and Punjab would stop the repression which the Indian Supreme Court describes as "worse than a genocide!"

Mr. Speaker, opponents will say the recent election in Punjab of a Sikh dominated coalition and the fact that an "untouchable" is now the President of India is evidence of their democratic progress.

But, I can tell you that this new government in Punjab is closely aligned with the authoritarian BJP Prime Minister Gudjaral of India and India's "untouchable" president is merely a figurehead. Mr. Speaker, would democracies continue the rampant campaign of genocide?

On July 22, 1998, Baljit Singh, a Sikh youth of Burj Dhillwan Village, died of complications from torture-style brutality inflicted by the Punjab police.

Also in July of 1998, police picked up Kashmira Singh of the village of Khudial Kalan on the pretext that they were investigating a theft. They then tortured him for 15 days. They rolled logs over his legs until he couldn't walk; they submerged him in a tub of water; and they slashed his thighs with razor blades and stuffed hot peppers into the wounds.

On April 1, 1998, Brother Luke, a Roman Catholic priest was murdered in the eastern state of Bihar. His body was found with a bullet hole through the head. He was a member of Mother Teresa's world-renowned charity organization. This is the fourth priest in 2 years that has been murdered in India.

On October 30, 1997, Reverend A.T. Thomas was found beheaded also in Bihar, apparently killed for aiding the no-caste "untouchables." Amnesty International has linked the Bihar state government to the murder of Rev. Thomas! The Catholic Bishops conference of India has criticized the government for doing nothing to protect Catholic priests and for failing to prosecute those responsible.

On July 12, 1997, in Bombay, 33 Balits (black touchables) were killed by Indian police during demonstrations.

On July 8, 1997, 36 people were killed in a train bombing in Punjab. Two ministers of the Punjab Government have blamed the Punjab police. The bombing occurred a day after 9 policemen were convicted of murder!

On March 5, 1997, a death squad picked up Kashmir Singh, an opposition party member. He was thrown in a van, tortured, and murdered. Finally, his bullet-ridden body was dumped out on the roadside.

These military forces operate beyond the law with complete impunity!

Mr. Speaker, the United States should not support a government that condones widespread abuses with our hard-earned tax dollars! It is time India is held accountable for its continued violation of basic human rights!

The Sikhs, Muslims, Christians, "untouchables," and women of India are desperately looking to this Congress for help. The time has come for action, it is time for America to take a stand!

Considering all this, the President still requested $56.5 million in development assistance for India in fiscal year (FY) 1999. That is an increase of almost $1 million over last year.

As everyone is aware, as a result of India's recent nuclear test, the President has imposed a broad range of sanctions on India for violation of section 102(b) of the Arms Export Control Act. Also known as the Nuclear Proliferation Prevention Act of 1994, or more popularly, the Glenn Amendment—it prohibits a variety of assistance and commercial transactions between the U.S. and any country if the President determines that that country—if it is a non-nuclear-weapon state—has detonated a nuclear explosive device.

India has disregarded regional and international stability by placing missiles and exploding thermonuclear weapons, fission weapons, and hydrogen bombs near the Pakistan border. Indeed, their behavior has been clearly unacceptable, and they are being properly punished. I applaud the President for his fortitude.

And, if the President continues to follow through with the current law, this should send a strong signal to the Indian Government that it is not going to be business as usual with the United States.

Mr. Speaker, the American people are tired of helping bullies who punish their own people and threaten neighbors. India is still the 5th largest recipient of U.S. foreign aid in the world; India is the world's largest borrower from the World Bank with more than $44 billion in loans; India votes against the U.S. at the United Nations more often than any other country, except Cuba.

It does not justify sending more hard-earned tax dollars to a country that claims to be the largest democracy in the world, but obviously shares none of our most cherished values.

Democracies don't commit genocide!

Let's put the brakes on the foreign aid gravy train to India!

Ask the President not to waver on his stance with India!

80 YEARS OF HISTORY OF MCGEE AVENUE BAPTIST CHURCH, BERKELEY, CA 1918-98

HON. BARBARA LEE

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, September 23, 1998

Ms. LEE. Mr. Speaker, from an idea conceived by the late Reverend Silks Lincoln Tillman, a tiny Mission was organized in 1918 at 1934 Bonita Avenue in Berkeley, California. The purpose of the Mission was to meet the spiritual needs of the citizens in the rapidly growing city of Berkeley. The name, Mt. Pleasant, was given to the Mission because of the great love Reverend Tillman had for Mt. Pleasant Baptist Church in his native home of Mississippi. Rev. Tillman served both as Pastor and Sunday School Superintendent of Mt. Pleasant Mission.

During the early years, several ministers were called to the church during the period from 1921 through 1930. In 1930, the church was moved from its original location to its present site on the corner of McGee Avenue and Stuart Streets in Berkeley. During the Great Depression, the Mt. Pleasant Church building was destroyed by fire and was rebuilt under the direction of Pastor C. Brown. In 1935, Reverend James Dee Wilson accepted the pastorate of Mt. Pleasant Baptist Church. Through his leadership and ministry, Mt. Pleasant became a moving force in the life of Berkeley. In 1944, the name of the church was changed from Mt. Pleasant to McGee Avenue Baptist and incorporated during the same year.

Reverend Wadie H. Sybert, serving in the capacity of Assistant Pastor, accepted the call as pastor of the Church in 1950. He was a man of versatility and was an accomplished pastor as well as an educator. The mortgage of the Church was burned under his leadership and Rev. Sybert retired in 1971. Reverend James H. Stewart accepted the pastorate in October 1971. He took the reins of leadership with enthusiasm and expanded the church programs to great proportions. He upgraded the existing facilities and acquired additional properties.

During the late 70's and early 80's the church expanded its mission to feed the indigent and unemployed. Two hundred to three hundred persons are provided hot meals three days a week. After 21 years as pastor, Rev. Stewart retired in June, 1992. On February 21, 1993, Rev. D. Mark Wilson was installed as pastor of McGee Avenue Baptist Church. Within a 6-year period, Rev. Wilson has led the Church to new heights. McGee Avenue Baptists Church became a strong and well-represented Church in the American Baptist Churches USA and as a member of the Progressive National Baptist Convention.

Under Pastor Wilson's administration, the thousand members historic black Baptist Church has strengthened spiritual witness and fellowship with the congregation and in the local community. The Church has received funding from the City of Berkeley to expand its social justice ministries. It continues in collaborative efforts with local community-based organizations in establishing outstanding programs for youth and adults: HIV and Aids Education, Computer Literacy, Educational Aid and Bible Study.

Pastor Wilson is well known throughout the country as a dynamic preacher, musician and social justice activist. He has served on numerous boards and organizations as past Chair of the Political Action and Human Rights Committee of the Progressive Baptist State Convention and a former Northern California Regional Convenor of the American Baptist Black Caucus.

In 1996, the Church created the McGee Avenue Baptist Church Community Development Corporation for senior housing and facilities for the Church outreach program. Pastor Wilson, with the congregation, defined the motto and mission statement of the Church. On September 8, 1997, construction began on the McGee Avenue Baptist Church Kitchen Remodeling and its completion assured the continuation of its food project. McGee Baptist Church established a fully equipped Community Computer Center, instituted Home Bible Studies and has licensed and ordained a growing number of ministers of the gospel.

I join in joyous celebration with Pastor Wilson, the McGee Avenue Baptist Church members and its friends and look forward to continued growth, worship, grace and service to God and the people.

A SALUTE TO FATHER AUSTIN R.
COOPER, SR.

HON. LOUIS STOKES

OF OHIO

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, September 23, 1998

Mr. STOKES. Mr. Speaker, I am proud to rise today to pay tribute to Father Austin R. Cooper, Sr. Later this month, Father Cooper, who serves as a rector at Saint Andrew's Episcopal Church, will retire after 38 years of ministry and service to the church and community. As Father Cooper prepares to depart, the St. Andrew's Church family is hosting a series of special events to commemorate Father Cooper's extraordinary and distinguished career. I join St. Andrew's and the greater Cleveland community in saluting Father Cooper on this occasion. I want to share with my colleagues and the nation some information regarding this outstanding individual.

Austin Rellins Cooper, Sr., is the son of the late Benjamin and Louise Cooper. His parents were two very devout Anglicans from the Bahama Islands who came to America as teenagers. Father Cooper graduated from St. Augustine's College in Raleigh, North Carolina, receiving a Bachelor of Arts degree in Sociology. He received his Master of Divinity degree from Seabury-Western Theological Seminary in Evanston, Illinois.

Mr. Speaker, on September 15, 1970, Father Cooper was installed as rector at Saint Andrew's Episcopal Church. Before coming to Cleveland as a pastor, Father Cooper held other positions in the Episcopal Church including assignments which found him in Florida, New York and Texas. Father Cooper is greatly admired by his parishioners for his spiritual guidance, management of the church and leadership of the congregation. In fact, every place that Father Cooper has served has been touched by his determination and commitment.

When Father Cooper was installed as rector of St. Andrew's Church, the parish was suffering financially. Undaunted, Father Cooper wrote "A Master Plan for St. Andrew's Parish." The plan included parish renewal, neighborhood outreach, property acquisition and economic development. Under Father Cooper's leadership, an endangered church became a financially sound institution that bought its mortgage ahead of time.

With Father Cooper at the helm, Saint Andrew's Church has also been a beacon of light in the Cleveland community. The church has placed a strong emphasis on education, providing mentoring and tutoring programs for the youth of our community. As a testament to his efforts, I am proud to note that Father Cooper has served longer than any other priest in the history of St. Andrew's.

In addition to his work at Saint Andrew's, Father Cooper is a member of the Standing Committee of the Diocese of Ohio and he is listed in Who's Who Among Black Americans and Notable Americans. Additionally, he is the cofounder and past president of the Union of Black Episcopalians, and the past president and a life member of the NAACP, having received that organization's "Black Church Religious Leadership Award" and its "Distinguished Service Award."

Mr. Speaker, as he prepares to depart St. Andrew's, Father Austin Cooper, Sr., will be remembered as a strong leader whose selfless devotion is unmatched. I have been privileged to share a special friendship with Father Cooper and members of his family. He is someone whom I respect and admire. He is also a confidant whose wisdom and guidance has meant a great deal to me. I extend my best wishes to Father Cooper, his devoted wife of 37 years, Patty, and the Cooper children; Austin Rellins II, Angela and Patricia. I join the St. Andrew's Church family in wishing him Godspeed in the years to come.

DOLLARS TO THE CLASSROOM
ACT

SPEECH OF

HON. ADAM SMITH

OF WASHINGTON

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, September 18, 1998

The House in Committee of the Whole House on the State of the Union had under consideration the bill (H.R. 3248) to provide Dollars to the Classroom.

Mr. ADAM SMITH of Washington. Mr. Chairman, I would like to take this opportunity to explain my support for the Dollars to the Classroom Act. As a strong supporter of local control of the public education system in our country, I believe a top priority of Congress should be to assure Federal funds for education go to the local level where members of our community can determine the best use of these funds. In light of this view, I support the concepts encompassed in this legislation of block granting select education programs and assuring 95 percent of Federal funds go to the local level. I will vote for this bill because I see it as a step in the right direction.

The underlying question we must ask in this debate is "Do we believe in local control?" If we say that our local teachers, administrators, and parents should have control over the education of students, we must carry through with that ideal and hand over the decision making authority for education dollars to these individuals. I fundamentally believe in local control because the people in my community who dedicate their lives to educating children know better than Members of Congress how funds could best serve our students.

In addition, when I visit schools in my district, teachers and administrators tell me they need more funds for education and fewer regulatory requirements from the Federal Government. This legislation begins to focus on the problem of Federal Government regulations and takes step to eliminate the requirements for funding with which teachers and administrators must comply. For example, I strongly support the expansion of the ED-FLEX program to all 50 States included in this bill. This program provides the regulatory flexibility that the schools in my area are asking for and I am an advocate of expansion.

I share the concerns of my Democratic colleagues that historically block grants lead to cuts in funding over time. I plan to be vigilant in assuring that the Federal Government continues to provide adequate education funding.

As always, this battle will be fought in the appropriations process, and I plan to be a leader in assuring education funds are not cut. Supporters of education must continue to work within the constraints of the budget to assure education is made a top priority.

While I feel this bill is a small step in the right direction, there is still much work to be done to improve our public school system. I will support this bill but I feel very strongly that we cannot let the changes incorporated in the legislation lead to cuts in education funding.

SALUTING SESQUICENTENNIAL CELEBRATION FOR OUR LADY OF VICTORY CHURCH ROCHESTER, NY

HON. LOUISE McINTOSH SLAUGHTER

OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, September 23, 1998

Ms. SLAUGHTER. Mr. Speaker, today I rise to pay special tribute to the legacy of Our Lady of Victory Church in Rochester, New York. The parish will celebrate its 150th year of ministry during a special Jubilee Celebration on Sunday, September 27, 1998.

Our Lady of Victory Church in Rochester was organized in 1848, after Bishop John Timon saw the need for his small congregation of French parishioners to have a church of their own. The church, which was established with approximately 300 parishioners, was known from that time until 1868 as St. Mary's French Catholic Church. Their building was located at the corner of Ely Street and Minerva Place in Rochester, New York.

Under the capable leadership of its pastors, the parish thrived and grew. New worship sites were erected over the years. Throngs of people attended daily Mass, Novenas, adoration of the Blessed Sacrament, and confession in the 1950's 1960's and 1970's.

Today, 150 years after its establishment, the parish at 210 Pleasant Street, Rochester, New York, enjoys its designation as a National Historic Landmark. There are 400 congregants and over 100 people attend their noon Mass each day. The parish, which is centrally located in the downtown area, also serves as a haven for many who have no home.

I am very proud of this long established and influential parish in my home district. Today, I ask that my colleagues pause with me to honor the legacy of one of America's thriving parishes: Our Lady of Victory Church in Rochester, New York. I am greatly honored to join many others in congratulating Our Lady of Victory for their service to humanity.

TRIBUTE TO ELIZA BRIGGS

HON. JAMES E. CLYBURN

OF SOUTH CAROLINA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, September 23, 1998

Mr. CLYBURN. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to Ms. Eliza Briggs of Summerton, South Carolina, who died at the age of 81 on September 15 of heart failure. Ms. Briggs and her late husband Harry Briggs were among the principle petitioners in the lawsuit Briggs v. Elliott, which became the first of the five lawsuits which became collectively Brown v. Board of Education of Topeka, Kansas. Those cases began the process of desegregating our nation's public schools.

Eliza Briggs' place in history has been often overlooked. She and her husband signed the lawsuit in 1949 that challenged fairness of Clarendon County's segregated school system. For decades following the lawsuit, the Briggs family suffered through stress and unrest due to their decision. The Briggses were fired from their jobs and forced to move to Florida to be freed of the community backlash. Later in life the Briggses returned to Clarendon county, and over time have were accorded the respect they deserved for their self-sacrifice in order to make South Carolina better.

Ms. Briggs has been described by friends and family as a humble woman full of grace and charm. She was one of many unsung heroes during the Civil Rights Movement that should be celebrated and remembered for putting her country before herself. She was presented the Order of the Palmetto, the highest commendation a South Carolina citizen can receive.

Mr. Speaker, I ask you to join me today in honoring Eliza Briggs for her great work as a Civil rights Movement trailblazer. Her hard work should be remembered and celebrated by this House. Ms. Eliza Briggs will be sorely missed.

IN MEMORY OF SYLVIA KLING

HON. PETER DEUTSCH

OF FLORIDA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, September 23, 1998

Mr. DEUTSCH. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor the memory of Sylvia Kling. Sylvia passed away last Sunday and she will be greatly missed in the South Florida community.

After spending a large portion of her life in her native New York, Sylvia and her husband moved to Plantation, Florida, in 1973. This is where they both began their extraordinary work improving the lives of South Floridians.

For more than 15 years, Sylvia Kling volunteered at the Broward County Democratic Executive Committee's headquarters. Her devotion to the principles of the democratic process kept her very busy. Sylvia was continually active making fliers, working at phone banks, putting cards in doors, and standing at the polls with candidates of her choice. This dedication did not go unrecognized. Five years ago, she was honored by the county's Executive Committee as its volunteer of the year. In addition, Sylvia was elected as a delegate to the 1996 Democratic National Convention in Chicago.

Though the political arena was very important to Sylvia Kling, Sylvia's dedication to other causes was truly remarkable, as well. She worked to connect Jewish women with their roots in her association with Hadassah. Furthermore, Sylvia was interested in international matters as she was a member of both the Women's League of Israel and the Jewish War Veterans women's auxiliary. Sylvia was also a loving wife, mother, sister, grandmother, and aunt. Mr. Speaker, I can't think of anything more important than one's relationship with their family.

It is clear to all who knew her and knew of her that Sylvia Kling was an extraordinary woman whose tireless devotion to the residents of South Florida will be forever remembered. Her family will miss her, South Florida will miss her, and I will miss her.

A TRIBUTE TO ST. ADALBERT CONGREGATION

HON. GERALD D. KLECZKA

OF WISCONSIN

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, September 23, 1998

Mr. KLECZKA. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to St. Adalbert Church in South Milwaukee, Wisconsin, on the occasion of the congregation's 100th anniversary. I join with the Rev. Herbert B. Schubert and his parishioners in celebrating this very special event.

The congregation was named in honor of St. Adalbert, a 10th Century patron saint of Bohemia and Poland. Its beginnings were rather humble, but with great determination and hard work, a small church was built in 1898, with a rectory built two years later. Rev. Ladislaus Mscisz was St. Adalbert's first pastor, and served until 1912.

By 1905, Franciscan Sisters of St. Francis replaced lay teachers, and the church and school were enlarged. Rev. Bernard Burant succeeded Rev. Mscisz, but remained only nine months, after which Rev. Clement Zych was appointed as the congregation's third pastor. Rev. Zych faithfully served St. Adalbert's for 24 years, and during that time the congregation continued to grow. By 1927, a new church, school and convent was built.

The years following the stock market crash of 1929 were difficult for St. Adalbert's, but the congregation was determined to survive. With the depression came some very trying times, with increasing debts. In 1937, Rev. Zych was transferred to St. Adalbert's in Milwaukee, and Rev. Ladislaus Bednarski became pastor. During Rev. Bednarski's tenure as pastor, the debt was refinanced, but problems remained.

Rev. Theodore Lepak became pastor in 1950 after Rev. Bednarski was transferred to Blessed Sacrament in Milwaukee, but he became ill shortly thereafter and passed away in 1951. Rev. Michael Staczak was appointed pastor in 1951, and served until his retirement in 1975. During that time, due to the generosity of the congregation, the mounting parish debt was retired, and a new addition was added to the school. Unfortunately, shortly after completion, a gas explosion destroyed most of the new building. In 1968, the building was rebuilt and dedicated.

In July of 1975, the present pastor, Rev. Herbert Schubert, was appointed by Archbishop William Cousins. Since then, St. Adalbert's has seen the addition of kindergarten and junior kindergarten classes, a new pipe organ, and a number of updates to the facilities.

St. Adalbert Congregation has been truly blessed in 100 years of service to the Lord and to the community. Congratulations to St. Adalbert's and all its members on this very special anniversary. May the congregation continue to grow and prosper as it begins its second century of service.

CHILD LABOR IN AGRICULTURE:
CHANGES NEEDED TO BETTER
PROTECT HEALTH AND EDUCATIONAL OPPORTUNITIESHON. TOM LANTOS

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, September 23, 1998

Mr. LANTOS. Mr. Speaker, on Thursday, September 17, 1998, my colleagues, Congressmen HENRY WAXMAN and BERNIE SANDERS, and I made public an important GAO report which we requested on the use of child labor in US domestic agriculture at a press conference in front of the US Capitol. Joining us for the release of that report was the U.S. Secretary of Labor Alexis Herman.

The report—entitled “Child Labor in Agriculture: Changes Needed to Better Protect Health and Educational Opportunities”—finds that current legal protections, enforcement, and educational opportunities for children of the fields are grossly inadequate.

Although these findings are quite disturbing, they validate what I and others have suggested for some time.

Taken as a whole, the GAO report establishes that (1) we must have more and better information about children working in the fields and the consequences of this work for their future, (2) we must provide better protections for these children, and better enforcement of existing laws, and (3) we need better assurances that current programs designed to help these children are really working.

In its report, the GAO found that children who work as migrant and seasonal workers are treated as an underclass with few opportunities to improve their future. The report acknowledges that we in Congress no longer have the time or luxury to debate whether there is a domestic child labor problem; the report finds that there is a serious problem that must be addressed without further delay by the Congress.

The GAO report reached a number of very disturbing conclusions: (1) hundreds of thousands of children work in U.S. agriculture with severe, often fatal, consequences for their health, well-being, and academic achievement; (2) children working in agriculture receive less protection under the law, allowing them to work at younger ages, longer hours, and in more hazardous tasks than their counterparts working in other industries; (3) weaknesses in enforcement and data collection procedures mean that child labor violations are not being detected; and (4) a number of programs are available to help educationally and economically disadvantaged children, but little is known about how they help migrant and seasonal farmworker children.

Given these findings, it would be irresponsible to stand by and do nothing. In fact, the GAO in this report challenges the Congress to carefully evaluate whether current federal laws adequately protect children working in agriculture.

As GAO pointed out, current law may not only be inconsistent with the emphasis our nation places on the safety, health, and academic achievement of children, but also with the long-term economic changes in agriculture. This particular field of economic activity no longer merits separate—and unequal protections—for children. Agriculture is no longer dominated by family farms, with parents and children working together in a family enterprise and with parents who look out for their children's health and well-being. Today, Mr. Speaker, major agricultural conglomerates control much of agricultural production and the workforce are hired employees—not family members who are working together on a family farm. Given these and other changes, the GAO report raises serious questions about why children in agriculture should be treated any differently than children working in other industries.

Under current federal law, children working in agriculture receive less protection than children working in other industries, because of many outdated and outmoded exceptions which have been included in the law for family farms. For example, children age 12 and 13 can work unlimited hours outside of school in nonhazardous agricultural occupations, but children that same age are absolutely prohibited from working in nonagricultural occupations. This means that a 13-year-old cannot be paid to do clerical work in an air-conditioned office, but the same youngster can pick strawberries under the blazing summer sun. In some instances, children as young as 10 years old are working in the fields harvesting our nation's produce.

Mr. Speaker, I have introduced legislation to deal with many of these problems that have been identified in the GAO report. My bill is H.R. 1870, the “Young American Workers Bill of Rights Act,” and I am a cosponsor of H.R. 4450, the “Children's Act for Responsible Employment (CARE),” which would take children under the age of 14 out of the fields. This legislation was introduced by the Democratic Leader, Congressman RICHARD A. GEPHARDT of Missouri.

Both of these bills would create an exception only for the family farm, where children would still be able to assist their parents in working on their own farms. These bills would raise the level of protections that are provided for children working in agriculture to be equal to the protections that are provided for children working in other industries.

Mr. Speaker, I call for hearings in the next Congress to evaluate the adequacy of our existing child labor laws, particularly as they apply to children in agriculture. I also intend to submit legislation in the next Congress—if the voters of San Mateo County and San Francisco, California, make the decision that I deserve to continue to represent them in this body—to provide additional protection for children in agriculture and to deal with the specific inadequacies that have been identified in this GAO report.

It is clear from this GAO report that changes are needed in how we protect children working in agriculture. I am pleased to see that the US Department of Labor has already responded to some of GAO's recommendations, and—under the outstanding leadership of Labor Secretary Herman—it has implemented some of its own initiatives to deal with child labor in agriculture within the confines of current law. It is time for the Congress to enact legislation which rids our nation of unequal protection for children working in agriculture. It is time to pass the Young American Workers' Bill of Rights Act and the CARE Act.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to placed in the RECORD two statements which were made at our press conference last week releasing the GAO report on children working in agriculture.

First, I include the statement of Secretary of Labor Alexis Herman. During Secretary Alexis Herman's tenure, the Department of Labor has undertaken new efforts to combat illegal child labor, and she has focused specifically on child labor in agriculture. This summer, the Labor Department placed major enforcement emphasis on “salad bowl” crops such as lettuce, tomatoes, cucumber, onions, and garlic. As a result of the “Operation Salad Bowl” initiative, the Department of Labor has found children as young as six years old in the fields harvesting our nation's produce, and significant fines were levied against the perpetrators.

Secretary Herman also initiated the “Work Safe This Summer” program which launched a major effort on promoting child labor compliance through education and outreach in agriculture and rural communities. The Department of Labor is also creating partnerships with employers who have agreed to take extraordinary, pro-active steps to promote compliance with our nation's child labor laws by the agricultural industry.

Mr. Speaker, we must give our Secretary of Labor the tools necessary to combat illegal child labor by supporting the President's new child labor budget, in order to have the resources to fight against abusive child labor both at home and abroad. The President's initiative to fight abusive child labor and address child labor problems will: (1) make the US the world leader in supporting programs to reduce abusive child labor around the world; (2) will reduce the potential supply of child workers in agriculture by providing an increase in migrant education to ensure that children are in the classroom, not in the fields; (3) will reduce the demand for illegal child labor for enhanced enforcement and better data; and (4) will help us review and update child labor hazardous occupation orders which regulate child safety in the workplace.

STATEMENT OF ALEXIS M. HERMAN, U.S.
SECRETARY OF LABOR

Thank you Congressman Lantos for your introduction and leadership. Let me also thank all of the other Members of Congress for joining us today and for helping to put the spotlight on children who toil on America's farms.

Let me begin by saying I am here today because fighting abusive child labor is one of my top priorities. And I wanted to be here to say that we welcome the General Accounting Office review of the Department of Labor's efforts. We are committed to ensuring that our child labor program is as effective as possible.

As Secretary of Labor, my bottom-line is simple: One child working in abusive conditions is one too many.

I want to see that young kids all over this country * * * grow up safe and secure * * * that they learn in schools instead of labor on the farms * * * that they spend their time on homework, not fieldwork.

And that is a commitment shared by President Clinton. We must do better—and we must do more to end abusive child labor. And the President made this clear in his State of the Union address in January of this year. That's why we requested the largest increase in our nation's history to fight international child labor.

But we know we can't lead internationally if we don't clean up our own backyard. And so we have pledged to work with Congressman Lantos, Senator Harkin and others to modernize our nation's domestic child labor laws. And we have launched a strategy to end illegal child labor here a home based on three principles: enforcement, education and partnerships.

When it comes to enforcement, we have launched an initiative which focuses on five commodities—lettuce, tomatoes, cucumbers, garlic and onions. I call it "Operation Salad Bowl". We are sending strike forces to the fields to literally root out worker abuses. And we're getting results.

As of the end of June, we have already completed 33 targeted sweeps. Thirteen focused on the "salad bowl" commodities. These sweeps include 735 separate investigations with 205 in the "salad bowl" commodities. And we found scores of children working illegally—including a child as young as four-years-old working in the onion fields in Arizona.

We are committed to doing even more in enforcement—but we know that's not enough. Success takes education and it takes partnerships.

Last month, we launched the Fair Harvest/Safe Harvest campaign—a bilingual educational effort to reduce farm injuries and keep kids safe.

We are also partnering with community organizations such as the National Consumers League and the Association of Farmworker Opportunity Programs. We are partnering with the business community. And I want to make sure one other organization is a key partner in our effort—and that's the United States Congress.

Because the best way to enhance our effectiveness and ensure the goal of ending abusive child labor is this: Pass the President's budget request.

Pass the President's request for $30 million to make the U.S. the leader in reducing child labor around the world.

And pass the request for over $60 million to beef up our child labor enforcement efforts, and strengthen the education of migrant children and migrant job training.

The Senate has fully funded these proposals, but the House bill falls far short. So far, the House has refused to fund any of the President's increase in enforcement to fight abusive child labor.

Let's back up our resolve with resources. And let's make a real difference in the lives of children across our country and around the world.

Mr. LANTOS. Mr. Speaker, I would also like to place in the RECORD a copy of Ms. Diane Mull's statement at our press conference last week. Diane Mull is Executive Director of the Association of Farmworker Opportunity Programs, the leading national organization which represents the interests of our farmworker population. Ms. Mull is recognized both nationally and internationally as one of the leading experts September 22, 1998 on child labor in agriculture. In her statement, Diane vividly explains some of the important reasons why we need to take a hard look at ensuring that we adequately protect our nation's most precious resource—our children.

STATEMENT OF L. DIANE MULL, EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR, ASSOCIATION OF FARMWORKER OPPORTUNITY PROGRAMS, SEPTEMBER 17, 1998

Thank you, Congressmen Lantos, Waxman, Sanders and Secretary Herman for this opportunity to speak today regarding the GAO report on child labor in agriculture. I am extremely pleased that a critical step to document the problem of child labor in America has been accomplished. This can help arm the Administration and the Congress to make needed changes within the Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA) and its regulations to raise the level of protection of farmworker children and make it equal to that of all other children. And lastly, Congressman Lantos, I want to thank you for the leadership role that you have taken on this issue in the House of Representatives.

I want to applaud the recent efforts of the Department of Labor. Through the Fair Harvest/Safe Harvest campaign, much needed information is being made available to the farmworker population. I hope that this will be an ongoing and expanded effort, until we are assured that every farmworker family in America knows and understands their rights and how to protect their children from the dangers in the agricultural workplace.

Although agriculture is one of the most dangerous industries in the United States, children are legally allowed to work at very young ages, for unlimited hours before school and after school. The work is affecting their education. As many as 45 to 55 percent of farmworker children are dropping out of school. This is affecting these children's chance for a good education—an education that can help them break out of this cycle of poverty.

Children are dying and being injured in our fields. Children are being sprayed with pesticides, being run over by tractors, being injured and hurt in order to put food on tables across America and around the world. Just recently, a 9 year old was run over and killed by a tractor while working in a blueberry field in Michigan, a 13 year old was knocked off a ladder where he was picking cherries in Washington state and was run over by a trailer being pulled by a tractor, and a 17 year old while picking peaches and pruning apple trees in Utah was sprayed twice with pesticides in one week, he died of a massive brain hemorrhage. Children are dying and are being injured and their precious lives and futures are being stolen.

As the custodians of our children, we, as a nation, are charged with safeguarding their futures. We are charged with protecting them from exploitation on the job by prohibiting child labor for children under the age of 14 and by preventing children and minors from working in hazardous occupations that endanger their lives. Farmworkers, as an occupational group, are often excluded from such basic job protections as the federal minimum wage, workers compensation, unemployment insurance, and overtime pay. Because farmworker adults cannot earn a living wage working in agriculture and do not typically collect public assistance, farmworker families are forced to bring their children to the fields in order to put food on their table. It becomes an economic necessity for their children to work so that the family can survive.

At hand are issues that reflect how we view the rights of individuals within our society. If we fail to protect adequately all segments of the work force job hazards, we risk the creation of a class system that defines the rights of some workers as superior to those of others. To continue to allow inequity in labor standard protections calls into question our integrity as a civilized society. To know that these individuals are large minority and immigrant workers speaks to an even more egregious form of discrimination.

The Association of Farmworker Opportunity Programs through the Children in the Fields campaign supports both the Children's Act for Responsible Employment (CARE) and the Young American Workers Bill of Rights—badly needed legislation that addresses these disparities by providing equal protection and equal standards for children who work as hired workers in agriculture.

The fruits and vegetables we eat are washed with the blood, sweat and tears of America's farmworker children. It is time for action. It is time that we stop this injustice and provide protection for these children. We must act before any more children lose their lives or are injured. We must act before more children sacrifice their futures to put food on our tables.

Mr. LANTOS. Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to take these thoughtful and carefully considered views on children working in agriculture into account and support efforts in fighting abusive child labor in this country.

OF VIRGINIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, September 23, 1998

Mr. WOLF. Mr. Speaker, I want to bring to the attention of our colleagues the following story from the September 22 Northern Virginia Daily honoring the life of Mr. Hugh D. McCormick, a noted lawyer, author and Civil War historian who was also a World War II veteran. Mr. McCormick passed away on Tuesday, September 15, 1998, in Front Royal, Virginia, which is in my district. He was 95 years old.

In his book, Confederate Son, Mr. McCormick describes how his father and uncle participated in Pickett's Charge in the Battle of Gettysburg during the Civil War.

We send our condolences to Mr. McCormick's widow Virginia H. McCormick and their family.

Also included for the RECORD is a resolution honoring Mr. McCormick which was offered in a special session of the Circuit Court of Warren County, Virginia on September 21, 1998.

[From the Northern Virginia Daily, Sept. 22, 1998]

"CONFEDERATE SON" MCCORMICK GIVEN LEGAL FAREWELL

(By Donna Dunn)

Hugh D. McCormick, called a "true son of the Confederacy," was honored Monday by the lawyers and judges he influenced in a career that spanned a half-century.

During a special session of Warren County Circuit Court, members of the local Bar Association introduced a resolution praising McCormick, a lawyer who died last Tuesday in Front Royal at age 95.

McCormick, who practiced into his 90s and was a Civil War historian, author, World War II veteran and former Town Council member, was remembered for his zest for life.

Retired General District Judge John F. Ewell read the association's resolution "to perpetuate the memory of their departed friend."

"We gather to pay our respects to a self-sufficient, goal-oriented man," he read.

McCormick, born Jan. 14, 1903, in Pittsylvania County, received a bachelor's degree in 1927 and a law degree in 1947 from the University of Virginia. Between college and law school, he worked for McCormick & Co. of Baltimore and served in the Marines in World War II. He practiced law in Front Royal from 1967 to 1995 and served as commonwealth's attorney and town attorney. He also served eight years on the council.

McCormick's wife, Virginia McCormick, and son, Hugh D. McCormick Jr., attended the ceremony.

The younger McCormick said his father's accomplishments are impressive, but he would have wanted to be remembered for something more.

"He would want to be remembered as honest, hard-working, for his optimism and his enthusiasm for history," he said. "He always tried to show that optimism."

McCormick remained in good health until just a few months before his death.

Mrs. McCormick said she was "lucky."

"How can you grieve for a man who lived 95 years and enjoyed life," she said.

A past president of the Samuels Public Library, Bar Association and Front Royal Rotary Club, McCormick also organized the First Federal Savings and Loan Association and Peoples Bank of Front Royal.

Circuit Judge John E. Wetsel Jr. remembered McCormick "for his energy and intelligence."

"He was literally a son of the South in the best sense," he said.

McCormick funded a teaching chair for the Civil War Institute at Shenandoah University. He was an active member of John S. Mosby Camp 1237 of Sons of Confederate Veterans and served as its commander from 1962 to 1965. McCormick's father, William Logan McCormick, served in the 38th Virginia Infantry and charged the Union lines with Gen. George E. Pickett at Gettysburg.

Circuit Judge Dennis L. Hupp said he met McCormick early in his legal career and found a friend in the older man.

"Hugh McCormick was a real son of the Confederacy and my mother was a true daughter of the Confederacy. When I told him this, he took a liking to me," Hupp said.

McCormick published his memoirs, "Confederate Son," in 1993 and gave the proceeds to the Civil War Institute.

The 176-page book recounts McCormick's family heritage and his own life, including his youth in rural Virginia and success as a professional.

Former Front Royal Mayor Robert Traister recalled in the preface of "Confederate Son" his first meeting with McCormick.

The elderly lawyer's office was at the top of a steep set of stairs. But Traister noticed that a motorized chair was positioned at the bottom—for McCormick, he assumed.

After climbing to the top-floor suite, Traister was greeted by McCormick with a firm handshake and a rapid-fire explanation of the lift.

"You should've called on the intercom and I'd of motored you up to the top . . . I keep it there for my elderly clients . . . don't use it myself . . . the walk up here every day is good for my back . . . good for my golf game," McCormick told him.

Hugh McCormick Jr. said his father left the memoirs as his legacy.

"He said he wanted to leave it so his family would understand his life," he said. "And it's an interesting part of Americana."

Delivered into this world by a midwife who was a former slave, McCormick respected all people, his son said.

"He liked people and met them wherever they were," he said.

In the epilogue to "Confederate Son," McCormick shared his philosophy on life:

"Do not fear the future. Whenever a challenge presents itself, pursue it with all of the intelligence and energy at your command. To do so guarantees success in any of its myriad forms. To do less is not only abhorrently wasteful of the human spirit, it is undignified."

Between college and law school he worked for McCormick & Co., Inc. of Baltimore, Maryland. He was a WW II veteran serving in the U.S. Marine Corps and U.S. Marine Corps Reserve. #### A TRIBUTE TO ROBERT L. "LARRY" DAVIS

HON. JERRY LEWIS

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, September 23, 1998

Mr. LEWIS of California. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in order to pay tribute to Colonel Robert L. "Larry" Davis, the Commander and District Engineer for the Los Angeles District of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers. Thanks to a recent promotion, Larry will soon undertake a new assignment as the Chief of Staff of Fort Leonard Wood, U.S. Army Engineer School in Fort Leonard Wood, MO.

Colonel Davis was born on May 25, 1951 in Woodbury, NJ. Commissioned in the Army, he entered active duty in June, 1974 after graduation from Auburn University with a Bachelor of Science degree in Industrial Engineering. In addition, he holds a Master of Science degree in Operations Research from the Georgia Institute of Technology and is a registered professional engineer in the State of Virginia. His military education includes the U.S. Army Command and General Staff College, and the U.S. Air Force Air War College. His initial assignments after the Engineer Officer Basic Course were as a platoon leader and executive officer with the 249th Engineer Battalion in Karlsruhe, Germany.

After completing the Engineer Officer Advanced Course, his assignments included

Army Engineer Battalions at Ft. Belvoir, VA; Fort Campbell, KY; and Fort. Benning, GA. He was also with the 5th Special Forces Group at Fort Campbell where he served as Group Engineer. In addition to these assignments to troop units, Colonel Davis has served as a Project Officer in the Pentagon and was a U.S. Exchange Officer to the Australian School of Military Engineering in Sydney. He also participated in Operation Desert Shield and Operation Desert Storm in Saudi Arabia and Kuwait and in Operations Restore Hope and Continue Hope in Somalia. He also took part in the Hurricane Andrew Relief Operations in Florida.

Colonel Davis is the recipient of numerous commendations and decorations including the Legion of Merit, Bronze Star, Meritorious Service Medal, Armed Forces Expeditionary Medal, and the Southwest Asia Service Medal with three campaign stars. He has also earned the Parachutist and Air Assault Badges.

I especially want to thank Colonel Davis for his tremendous assistance with the Santa Ana Mainstem flood control project including the Seven Oaks Dam and San Timoteo elements. This effort, which is nearing completion, will result in flood protection for millions of citizens and billions of dollars of personal property in San Bernardino, Riverside and Orange Counties in California.

Mr. Speaker, I ask that you join me and our colleagues in recognizing the talents and remarkable skills of Colonel Davis as he prepares to take on the position of Chief of Staff of Fort Leonard Wood in Missouri. I would also like to express our appreciation to his wife Barbara and their two children, Kimberly Anne and John. For his many years of service and dedication, I believe it is only appropriate that the House recognize Colonel Davis today.

FOREIGN OPERATIONS, EXPORT FINANCING, AND RELATED PROGRAMS APPROPRIATIONS ACT, 1999

SPEECH OF

HON. CHARLES E. SCHUMER

OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, September 17, 1998

The House in Committee of the Whole House on the State of the Union had under consideration the bill (H.R. 4569) making appropriations for foreign operations, export financing, and related programs for the fiscal year ending September 30, 1999, and for other purposes:

Mr. SCHUMER. Mr. Chairman, I rise today to join my colleagues in strong support of maintaining Section 907 of the Freedom Support Act in the Foreign Operations Appropriations for Fiscal Year 1999. Section 907 was enacted in 1992 in response to Azerbaijan's illegal blockades of Armenia and Nagorno-Karabagh, and it remains a vital tool in United States policy towards the Caucasus.

Section 907 does not prohibit humanitarian aid, democracy building assistance, commercial assistance to United States businesses, or non-proliferation and disarmament assistance to Azerbaijan. It merely restricts direct government to government economic and military assistance to a regime known for their human rights abuses and corruption within the government. Azerbaijan has received over $130 million in United States humanitarian aid since 1992, and will continue to do so; however, it is essential that we maintain Section 907 as a matter of United States foreign policy in the region.

The Government of Azerbaijan has restricted the transport of food, fuel, medicine, and other essential supplies to Armenia and Nagorno-Karabagh. Even after the devastating earthquakes in 1994, Azerbaijan failed to take any measures aimed at easing these blockades. Section 907 has not even stopped United States oil companies from sharing in the wealth of Azerbaijan oil resources.

The decision to lift Section 907 is left in the hands of the Government of Azerbaijan. When they begin to take the necessary steps toward lifting their destructive blockades of Armenia and Nagorno-Karabagh, then and only then should the repeal of Section 907 be considered.

IN HONOR OF THE KING OF SPORTS BROADCASTING

HON. GEORGE MILLER

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, September 23, 1998

Mr. MILLER of California. Mr. Speaker, as the baseball season comes to an end with all of its excitement of the homerun derby and the incredible performance of the New York Yankees, we in the San Francisco Bay Area have something else to celebrate and that is the remarkable career of sports announcer Bill King who has been the voice of the Oakland A's, The Oakland Raiders, and the Golden State Warriors.

Bill King has been calling games for forty years and providing so many days of enjoyment for the fans. His calls are a major part of the legends of American sports broadcasting.

Mr. Speaker, I have had the privilege the past few years to spend time with Bill King in social settings. It is a wonderful evening to experience and enjoy his stories, his understanding of sports in America, as his desire to talk sports, art, history and politics.

Recently, the San Francisco Examiner ran an article celebrating Bill King's Career in the San Francisco Bay Area. I would like to share it with my colleagues. The article follows:

[From the San Francisco Examiner, Aug. 23, 1998]

BILL KING HAS BEEN THE DISTINCTIVE VOICE OF BAY AREA SPORTS FOR 40 YEARS

(By Michelle Smith)

Bill King came to the Bay Area 40 years ago, without a beard or a legacy. Both have long since been firmly established.

King, however, does not do legacy, the same way he doesn't do shoes and socks, fancy cars or pants in the booth on a hot summer day.

He chooses to let his career speak for itself, and so it does.

In his years as the radio play-by-play voice of the A's, Warriors and Raiders, King has been the consummate messenger.

He has delivered some of the most memorable moments in local sports history with a style and conviction that earned him universal respect among his peers. And King's identity is so strong that even though he has done most of his work in a non-visual medium, he is instantly recognizable behind his distinctive handlebar mustache and beard.

King's voice is not the traditional baritone of those born-to-be-broadcasters. His staccato delivery and ability to summon an evocative description for the big moments trigger memory, emotion and goose bumps.

Like in 1970 when he called a game-winning 51-yard field goal by George Blanda against Cleveland and declared Blanda had just been elected "King of the World." Or in 1977 when King called "The Ghost to the Post," Dave Casper's touchdown catch that gave the Raiders a playoff win in Baltimore. Or his 1978 call of the "Holy Roller" game-winning fumble recovery in San Diego, when he interpreted an official ordering coach John Madden to "get his big butt out of here."

King's calls of the Warriors' 1975 NBA championship sweep of the Washington Bullets and the A's 1989 World Series sweep of the Giants remain etched in the minds of listeners. As does his signature call "Holy Toledo" each time he sees something that needs extra emphasis.

"It is always nice when people have good responses to you—it's a lot better than the alternative," King said. "You don't want them saying, 'Get that idiot off the air!'"

Beyond that, King is reluctant to dig deeply into the reasons for his success and longevity. He has been working for a half-century, having called his first minor-league baseball game in Peoria, Ill., in 1948 at age 19.

"I am not a terribly introspective person," King said. "I don't do a lot of examining about why this or why that or why I feel this way or that way."

SMALL-TOWN SIMPLICITY

King is a man of simple ideals—the only evidence of his small-town Illinois upbringing—eclectic interests and a limitless passion for painting a visual picture.

"I love being on the air, I really do," King said. "I am a verbal person. I get a tactile feeling on my tongue. To not be able to verbalize is almost crippling to me. Some people would probably say 'I know, you never stop.'"

King shows no sign of stopping. He continues to work full-time at a time when popular Bay Area contemporaries like Lon Simmons and Hank Greenwald have cut back or retired altogether. King just signed a new three-year contract with the A's that keeps him as the team's radio voice through the 2001 season.

He keeps working simply because, he says, "There's no reason not to. I like what I'm doing. I get paid well for doing it and I can't think of anything that would be more desirable at this point."

He admits there no longer is time to do some of the things he loves, like sailing and traveling to places that don't have a baseball diamond within 50 miles. The commute to the ballpark from Sausalito sometimes takes twice as long as it used to, and the preparation—which has been a source of equal parts pride and obsession for King—is not nearly as straight-forward as it used to be, given the vast amounts of information now available.

King estimates he spends three hours a day preparing for a broadcast. "I can't imagine what it would be like to be on the computer. I won't do it."

UNIQUE PHONE SYSTEM

For many years in the 1960's, when King was doing both Warriors and Raiders games, he did not have a telephone in his home. A select few knew how to reach him on a downstairs neighbor's number.

"I had this boat hook and I'd lower it down, he'd put the phone on the hook and I'd pull it upstairs," King said. "To let us know if there was a call, he'd bang on the ceiling."

King still refuses to put an answering machine in his office and would never consider carrying a cellular phone. His scaled-down mentality applies to transportation as well. King owns two cars, a 1983 Firebird and a 1980 Mercury four-door, both of which perform the minimal function of getting him to and from the ballpark with no regard to style.

If King prefers to keep things simple, one would never know from his varied pursuits. He is a devout patron of the arts, a frequent attendee at the opera, ballet and symphony. He is a talented painter and a lover of all things nautical. He still owns a sailboat and has sailed around the world, taking open-sea trips to Hawaii, Canada and up and down the West Coast. In the 1960s King lived on the boat with his companion of the last 39 years, Nancy Stephens.

"Bill has a wonderful mind, and he is interested in so many things," Stephens said. "When he gets interested in something he pursues it and he learns it thoroughly. When we first met, he wasn't well-versed in classical music, and I was. Before I knew it, he knew way more than I did."

SELF-TAUGHT MAN

King traveled to the Soviet Union in the late 1970s after teaching himself to read, write and speak Russian, mostly on long flights during trips with the Warriors and Raiders. This thirst for self-taught knowledge is either ironic or appropriate for a man who did not go to college, choosing instead to begin his broadcasting career.

King's culinary tastes are legendary. He will concede only that he likes "things that people might consider unusual."

King has been known to dip entire pats of butter into a tub of popcorn during a game, and eat raw onions in the booth during the stifling days of summer. His morning favorite is peanut butter and chopped onions on warm tortillas.

"His latest concoction is this thing they make up for him at the ballpark and it has onions, tomatoes, salsa and nacho cheese sauce over popcorn," said A's broadcast partner Ken Korach. "It's like he eats whatever pops into his head."

"Bill is unique," said Franklin Mieuli, the former Warriors owner.

Mieuli was so enamored with his play-by-play man that he went to bat for King when KTVU-TV refused to put him on camera because of his beard, paid fines to the league for King when he criticized officials on the air, and answered the telephone calls when King uttered a profanity during a 1968 game that is recalled by those in the know as "NBA Mother's Day."

King came to the Bay Area in 1958, hired by KSFO radio to be a fill-in baseball broadcaster for Lon Simmons and Russ Hodges when the Giants and 49ers seasons began to overlap.

CAUGHT WITH HIS PANTS DOWN

"Chub Feeney owned the Giants at that point," said Simmons, who was King's partner for 15 years with the A's. "He was from New York, very much a suit-and-tie person. The first time Bill walked into the broadcast booth and took off his pants to do a broadcast, I think Chub almost had a heart attack."

To clarify, King only takes off his pants on hot days, and only after he's removed his shoes and socks first.

"In any weather, I don't like shoes and socks," King said "But in hot and humid weather, I don't like sitting at a ballgame and then getting up after three hours and feeling like I've just taken a shower in my pants. So from the time I've been doing minor-league baseball, when I would work solo, I operated in my skivvies. Now in Texas or Baltimore, I always have a pair of trunks with me."

King's voice defined the golden eras of both the Warriors and Raiders. King called Warriors games from 1962-83 and Raiders games from 1966-92.

"It gives me chills when I hear some of those old calls," said former Raiders coach and current Fox-TV analyst John Madden. "Those are things that stay with you all your life, the Clarence Davis catch against Miami, the San Diego call Anyone who has ever been a Raider fan will always associate Bill as the voice of the Raiders."

Given that many NFL and NBA games were not televised in the 1960s and 1970s, King was more than the voice of the game, he was its mind and body as well.

"Nobody has even been able to rise to an exciting moment and bring the excitement into the sound of their voice like Bill," said Giants announcer Jon Miller, an East Bay native. "It's not just shouting, it's the theatrical flair that he brings to it. Sometimes in an exciting moment, I find myself trying to do Bill."

LONG-LASTING IMPACT

To this day, every Warriors broadcaster finds himself compared to King, who hasn't done an NBA game in 15 years.

Greg Papa called Warriors games on the radio for nearly a decade. "I would be at a gas station or something and I would tell people what I did and they'd say, 'Oh, Bill King does that,'" Papa said. "His power over this market is immense."

Raiders fans clamored for King's return when the team moved from Los Angeles back to Oakland three years ago. King passed because he enjoyed the free time his baseball-only schedule allowed. He quit as the Raiders voice in 1992 after a falling out with the Southern California company that held the team's radio rights.

"It was very flattering," King said. "But in my mind, once I did baseball alone, I wouldn't think of doing another sport, and that was the operative reason there."

King is so happy with his schedule he has set no retirement date.

Said King, "It depends on whether I like what I'm doing, and whether I think—and I'm a fairly harsh personal critic—I'm still good at it, and whether people think I'm still good at it, because that's the most important thing."

Congressional Record

The public proceedings of each House of Congress, as reported by the Official Reporters thereof, are printed pursuant to directions of the Joint Committee on Printing as authorized by appropriate provisions of Title 44, United States Code, and published for each day that one or both Houses are in session, excepting very infrequent instances when two or more unusually small consecutive issues are printed at one time. ¶Public access to the Congressional Record is available online through GPO Access, a service of the Government Printing Office, free of charge to the user. The online database is updated each day the Congressional Record is published. The database includes both text and graphics from the beginning of the 103d Congress, 2d session (January 1994) forward. It is available on the Wide Area Information Server (WAIS) through the Internet and via asynchronous dial-in. Internet users can access the database by using the World Wide Web; the Superintendent of Documents home page address is http://www.access.gpo.gov/su\_docs, by using local WAIS client software or by telnet to swais.access.gpo.gov, then login as guest (no password required). Dial-in users should use communications software and modem to call (202) 512-1661; type swais, then login as guest (no password required). For general information about GPO Access, contact the GPO Access User Support Team by sending Internet e-mail to gpoaccess@gpo.gov, or a fax to (202) 512-1262; or by calling Toll Free 1-888-293-6498 or (202) 512-1530 between 7 a.m. and 5 p.m. Eastern time, Monday through Friday, except for Federal holidays. ¶The Congressional Record paper and 24x microfiche will be furnished by mail to subscribers, free of postage, at the following prices: paper edition, $150.00 for six months, $295.00 per year, or purchased for $2.50 per issue, payable in advance; microfiche edition, $141.00 per year, or purchased for $1.50 per issue payable in advance. The semimonthly Congressional Record Index may be purchased for the same per issue prices. Remit check or money order, made payable to the Superintendent of Documents, directly to the Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402. ¶Following each session of Congress, the daily Congressional Record is revised, printed, permanently bound and sold by the Superintendent of Documents in individual parts or by sets. ¶With the exception of copyrighted articles, there are no restrictions on the republication of material from the Congressional Record.
